

Sound Values—Good Service—Courteous Treatment

THESE are the advantages you gain by trading with the I H C local dealer. He is a good judge of values in farm machines. He sells machines of guaranteed quality, and stands behind them to see that they make good. When he sells you an

I H C Manure Spreader

Kemp 20th Century, Corn King, or Cloverleaf

he sets up the machine, tests it, and makes sure that everything is right before he delivers it. He shows you how to use the machine, to make it last longest. In case of accident he can furnish repair parts promptly—repairs that fit. He gives you service worth far more than it costs you.

I H C manure spreaders are made in both return and endless apron styles, but all aprons run alike on large rollers. Non-friction roller bearings are used wherever practical, making the machine easy on the horses. The feed is variable and positive. The machines pulverize the manure and distribute it evenly in a light or heavy coat, as may be needed. Because they distribute manure properly, I H C spreaders use less than half as much manure as fork spreading to cover the same amount of ground. They make one ton of manure go as far as two, and do better fertilizing with far less labor than the old-fashioned method.

The I H C local dealer has the style and size best suited to your needs. See him for catalogues and full information, or write Maryland Republicanism.

In last week's issue of the Cecil Whig its editor, whose uncompromising Republicanism comes out with every dip of his pen, indulges in a line of thought which has long been alarming to Democrats and is the gravest proposition in practical politics with which our Republican friends have to deal. Discussing recent violations of the Corrupt Practices Act in his county during the Taft primary campaign, he says:

"This colored vote was cast in block. The white voters divided on the basis of opinion or preferences. The colored vote can be 'manipulated' in mass, by proper (or improper) influences. It follows, of course, that in any division of opinion among the white Republican vote, the controlling factor is going to be the manipulation of the colored vote—whether by the influence of money or otherwise. It needs no argument, in extension, to show the dangers which lurk in such a possibility. It raises a forbidding prospect on the horizon of the Republican party's future in this State—and that at the very time when that party was coming to the place of political standing and influence for which we have so long contended. It needed no prophet to foresee this condition of things if the direct primary becomes obligatory upon the Republican party. For this reason, among others, we have been set against the adoption of the direct primary.

"And now we want to say in these columns what we have said personally elsewhere, to the colored voters themselves. The solution of this problem lies largely in their hands, and that solution can only come by their refusing to vote as 'herded cattle,' by their dividing their vote on questions where other men divide. If they make themselves the mere chattels of 'bread and butter' politicians, if they permit it to be understood that the Republican party's policies and nominations can always be dictated by their controlling vote as a race then that party (which has been their only political hope in this State) will go steadily backward instead of forward, and they will become the sufferers from their own short-sighted course."

All of which means:

1—That the colored vote is unthoughtful and hence dangerous.

2—That the Republican party cannot trust its voters to name its ticket, and hence its nominations must be made by the few instead of by the body of the voters.

3—That the colored man will never command respect as a voter until he becomes a thoughtful voter.

4—That without their vote as a race there is practically no Republican opportunity in Maryland.

We do not often turn to a Republican journal for an expression of our political views, but we do not see how any man could have more forcefully expressed the weakness and dangers of the Republican party in Maryland today.

The Whig makes it plain beyond a doubt that the Republican party in this State is controlled solely by the few, and that by putting it into the hands of the many through the primaries it is not safe to trust it with power.—Bel Air Aegis.

DEAN RICH RESIGNS.

Tenders His Resignation to Trustees of Trinity Cathedral.

Rev. E. R. Rich, D. D., who for the past fifteen years has been Dean of Trinity Cathedral, tendered his resignation this week to the trustees of the Cathedral, giving as his reasons advancing years and uncertain health, coupled with the fear that his strength would be unequal to the needs of the church.

At a meeting of the trustees on Thursday evening it was unanimously decided to decline to accept the resignation, and Mr. Rich was waited upon and asked to reconsider the matter. This he has consented to do, and it is hoped that he will continue to serve this parish.

Mr. Rich has been in active ministry for forty-five years, much of it in the Diocese of Easton. He has been in Easton longer than any other minister here, and it is safe to say that no one in the town is more beloved or more highly regarded, irrespective of church lines. Trinity Cathedral's loss would be equally a loss to the town and it is generally hoped that Dean Rich will consent to withdraw his resignation.—Easton Star-Democrat.

Eccleston Memorial Unveiling.

The date of the unveiling of the Eccleston memorial in Emmanuel Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore, has been changed from the second to the last Sunday in September.

The campaign for the memorial fund was started a year ago by a committee of women of Emmanuel Church. The sum set as a goal was $20,000. This money was desired for the erection of a mural monument to Dr. J. Houston Eccleston, the rector of the church for so many years, and for the purpose of paying the expenses of a visiting nurse or parish visitor to the poor. Miss Ethel Knight, treasurer of the fund, said that about $16,000 of the fund has been subscribed and that the books were still open. The mural monument, which is the work of the Baltimore sculptor, Hans Schuler, is completed and has been put into place ready for unveiling. The memorial contains a life-size figure of the lamented rector.

Preparing for Jewish New Year.

Preparations are being made in practically all of the Jewish homes of the world for the observance of the Jewish New Year, or Rosh Hashonah on the evening of September 11. It will mark the beginning of the year 5673, which, according to the Old Testament, is the present age of this world. Solemn services will be held in all the Jewish synagogues and temples throughout the world. The sound of the shofar, which inspires every Jewish heart to renewed religious fervor, will be heard.

The holiday will be observed for two days by the Orthodox Hebrews and but one day by the Reformed Jews. Ten days after Rosh Hashonah is known as the pentitential period and every morning prayers are offered in the places of worship. The final day is the most solemn of the Jewish calendar—Yom Kippur—the time when the Almighty, according to the Jewish people, sits in judgment. The day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, is spent in fasting and praying.

Got Whiskey, But Not the Drinkers.—Sheriff Mckee, accompanied by State's Attorney H. W. Vickers made a raid on a whiskey and gambling joint at Lambson's station Sunday night. The sheriff found the place securely locked and barred but chairs around a table, empty bottles, decks of cards, and cold bottles of beer, indicated that it had been but recently vacated. More than twenty-five gallons of whiskey and other liquors were confiscated and brought to town as evidence to go before the grand jury.
