LIVE MAIL CAN BE SENT.

The Parcels Post Bill in Effect January 1, 1913 will Allow Live Chickens.

Postmaster General Hitchcock let it be known recently that the proposed parcels post plan enacted into law when President Taft signed the new postoffice appropriation would be put into effect as soon as possible. The Bourne-Lewis parcels post plan goes into effect January 1, 1913, so far as the establishment of the parcels post rates and zones are concerned, and Mr. Hitchcock will endeavor to have the details worked out by that time.

Under this legislation it is provided that hereafter fourth-class mail matter shall embrace all other matter, including farm and factory products, not now embraced by law in either the first, second or third class, not exceeding 11 pounds in weight nor greater in size than 72 inches in length and girth combined, nor in form likely to injure the person of any postal employe or damage the mail equipment or other mail matter, and not of a character perishable within a period reasonably required for transportation and delivery. For parcels post purposes the United States and its territories, including Alaska but excepting the Phillippines, is to be devided into units of area 30 minutes of arc square, identical with a quarter of the area formed by the intersecting parallels of latitude and meridians of longitude, represented on appropriate postal maps and these units of area are to be the basis of eight postal zones.

The rate on fourth-class matter weighing not more than four ounces is to be 1 cent for each ounce or fraction and on matter in excess of four ounces weight the rate is to be by the pound, the postage in all cases to be prepaid by distinctive postage stamps affixed. Except as provided above the postage on matter of fourth-class, which is to be admitted to the parcels post, rates are by the pound or fraction therefore and varies with distance. On all parcels post matter mailed at the postoffice from which a rural route starts for delivery on such route, or mailed at any other point thereon or at the office from which the route starts, or on any rural route starting therefrom, and on all matter mailed at a city carrier office or at any point within its delivery limits, for delivery by carriers from that office, or at any office for local delivery, 5 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 1 cent for each additional pound or fraction of a pound. For delivery within the first zone, an area of about 50 miles, except as above, 5 cents for the first pound or fraction of a pound and 3 cents for each additional pound or fraction of a pound and so on for the seven other zones.

Postmaster-General Hitchcock, as required by the new parcel post law, will provide such equipment, maps, stamps, directions and printed instructions as are necessary to administer the parcels post and to hire teams and drivers. He will be allowed to draw on a special appropriation of $750,000 made in the Postoffice Appropriation act. The postmaster-general is also required to provide by regulation for the indemnification of shippers using the parcel post for shipments injured or lost, by insurance or otherwise, and, when desired for the collection on delivery of the postage and price of the article shipped, fixing such charges as may be necessary to pay the cost of those additional services. Live chickens, rabbits and other country products, fresh eggs and country butter will be handled by the parcels post. General farm and garden produce comes under the law. A joint commission of six members of Congress is making further inquiry into the subject of a general parcels post.

"HUMAN TOOL CHEST."

Knives and Other Articles Taken From John Martiner's Stomach.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 7.—When physicians operated upon John Martiner at the county hospital today to learn what had caused "terrible pains in his stomach" they found 19 pocket knives, 17 nails, five knife blades, a dozen screws and a silver dollar. For 18 years Martiner, who has been known to Chicagoans as "the human tool chest," swallowed the articles on wagers.

"Eating knives and all that stuff never hurt me," said Martiner before the operation, "but sometimes I'd get terrible pains in my stomach."

Physicians pronounced the operation successful.

Martiner is 36 years old and is employed as a laborer.

The pocket knives, screws and other articles removed from Martiner's stomach were mounted on cardboard by D. P. Tetters, superintendent of the hospital, and placed on exhibition at the institution.

"All the articles were lodged in a corner of the stomach," said the surgeon who operated on Martiner. "An ulcer had formed, and the man would have died within a month if he had not been operated upon."

Ten of the knives taken from Martiner's stomach had been bone handled, but the bone had been dissolved by gastric juices. The wooden handled knives were intact. The silver dollar which Martiner swallowed 10 years ago was as bright as if the coin had just come from the mint. The juices of the stomach had kept the silver in a highly polished condition. Some of the knife blades were rusty.

BALTIMORE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Just at this season when the whole State is interested in the products of the farm, and thousands from city and country are shaking hands at the fairs in different sections, it may be well to call attention to the work being carried on by the State Agricultral College, the Experimental Station, Agricultural High School, Farmers' Granges and other agencies for the uplifting of conntry life.

We especially call attention to the benefit likely to accrue in the future if the citizens of every county will inaugurate and support the boys' and girls' clubs in connection with the public school; also co-operate with the State institutions and the U. S. Department of Agriculture to secure a demonstrator in every county whose sole duty shall be to visit the farms, get informed from the farmer himself regarding the soils, and methods of cultivation that bring best results, the labor problem in each section, and help bring about by co-operation of the different agencies any needed improvement.

There is no fall work that is of more importance than that of picking seed corn. It would be better to stop some of the other work for a day and to get the necessary supply of next year's seed. The selection of choice seed from the home fields is the best method of making the most rapid progress in corn growing. Here is where the boys who belong to the corn clubs can help. They will know that maturity is indicated by brown, dry silks, the husks of the ear turning yellow and by the tendency of the ear to hang downward. Ears on long shanks should be avoided. Select the ears from vigorous appearing upright, well-rooted stalks. These stalks should have many broad leaves which indicate a good big food factory, therefore a strong grain. Do not select seed ears that grow too close to the ground or those that are high on the stalk. The place of the ear on the stalk, the form of the ear and the strength of the plant are characteristics that are handed down from the plant, through the grain, to the next crop. Good characters to look for and select are the upright, stalky, well-rooted leafy plant, ears that are mature, well-filled, of good form and that are produced about midway of the stalk. These characters can be noted only when seed selection is made from the standing stalks. Don't delay. Corn selected early from the field and properly stored is reasonably sure to grow and give a perfect stand next year.

If father does not believe in seed selection, let the boy get permission to do it, and at the same time get father to agree that he have the use of an acre of ground next year, and then if he again selects the best, and continues for a year or two, we shall see the production of this State doubled on the same acreage, as it takes no more time or labor to cultivate a good stand than a poor one.

Small Town Advertising.

An unusual feature of the meeting of the Western Iowa Editorial Association at Council Bluffs recently was an address on the subject of advertisement from a viewpoint of the retail merchant by David Oransky, a well-known merchant and advertiser of Atlantic, Ia. Mr. Oransky spoke on "Retail Advertising from the Viewpoint of the Merchant," and he declared that the merchant should advertise the quality and adaptabiltiy of his goods rather than depend on advertising prices. He spoke in part as follows:

"It is a sad but too true fact that country merchants as a rule are not extensive advertisers. I am convinced that they should advertise regularly and persistently. I believe so, not only because some people who are supposed to know say so, but also because my actual experience in connection with retail advertising in a small town has demonstrated to me the far-reaching benefits, both direct and inderect, to be derived from persistent advertising."

GREEN MOUNTAIN YARDSTICK.

An editorial in the New York Sun of last week, under the above caption, contains the following:

If the voters in the country at large should divide in November as those in Vermont did last week, the results in several of the more interesting States would be as follows on the basis of the election results of 1908:

| | Wilson. | Taft. | Roosevelt. |
|---|---|---|---|
| New York | 742,000 | 500,000 | 295,000 |
| New Jersey | 205,000 | 152,000 | 90,000 |
| Ohio | 553,000 | 328,000 | 195,000 |
| Indiana | 370,000 | 200,000 | 120,000 |
| Massachusetts | 178,000 | 153,000 | 90,000 |
| Pennsylvania | 515,000 | 430,000 | 250,000 |
| Illinois | 507,000 | 362,000 | 215,000 |
