Miss Clara Usilton has been elected a delegate from Christ M. P. Sunday school to the convention of young people which meets in Washington, D. C., shortly.

Christ M. P. Sunday school will observe the second Sunday in October as Rally Day. An appropriate and pleasing programme is being arranged.

The inclement weather prevented a sufficient attendance at the Young Men's Club, recently organized in Christ M. P. Church last Monday evening to transact business and to elect officers. The meeting was postponed until next Tuesday evening.

A handsome mural memorial to the late Dr. J. Houston Eccleston was unveiled Sunday in Emmanuel Church, Baltimore, of which the late devine was the beloved rector for many years. The fund raised by the church for the memorial amounted to $20,000. The memorial cost $2,000, and the balance will be used for maintaining a visiting nurse. Beautiful tributes to the life and character of the late rector were paid by a number of clergymen and a large congregation was present.

There will be no preaching at the Presbyterian Churches Sunday, Sept. 29, and Oct. 6. Services the following Sundays at the usual hours. Sunday school every Sunday morning at Worton at 10.30 A. M.

Elderdice Challenges Covington.

Rev. Charles M. Elderdice, Prohibition candidate for Congress from the First Congressional District has sent the following letter to Hon. J. Harry Covington:

"Having been honored the second time with the Prohibition nomination for Congress, I take pleasure in inviting you as the Democratic nominee, to engage with me in a series of three joint discussions upon the leading issues of the campaign as dealt with by our respective parties. I suggest that one such discussion be held in Easton, one in Federalsburg, and the other in some town to be settled upon by us. I further suggest that the expenses of these meetings be equally divided between our campaign committees. If satisfactory to you let the subject of debate, be: Resolved, That the platform of the Prohibition party offers a better remedy for present conditions than that of the Democratic party.

"I sincerely trust that you will see your way clear to accept this invitation. I assure you that I have no other motive than an honest desire to publicly discuss the issues of the day with you, and am sure that it is unnecessary to state that the discussion will be confined to these issues and will not become personal in the slightest degree."

WHY DR. ELIOT IS FOR WILSON.

Says Governor Possesses Qualities Needed in a President.

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, has sent to the New York Times a letter discussing the great issues of the Presidential campaign and setting forth the reasons why he favors the election of Gov. Woodrow Wilson. In part, the letter says:

"Since all social changes have industrial and political consequences, social reforms, like industrial, can be safely effected only by the method of cautious experiment with adequate notice, and not by the sudden impetuous rush of an emotional multitude. The education of a new generation is often needed to give such reforms satisfactory effect.

"The Democratic party's platform and candidates, while less conservative than the Republican, holds out more hope or expectation of a wise dealing with the reforms proposed than the Progressive party does. In particular, the published sayings of Governor Wilson are much more prudent and measured in regard to the proposed changes than those of ex-President Roosevelt. Indeed, Governor Wilson's temperament, knowlegde and experience fit him to deal wisely, as President of the United States, with all these philanthropic projects.

"The coming troublous years will call for fairness, sober judgment and quiet resolution in the executive head of the government. Governor Wilson's career gives many indications that he possesses these qualities. Through 30 years of public life ex-President Roosevelt has proved to the American people that these are not his characteristics."

A BIG WILD WEST SHOW COMING.

Will Exhibit in Chestertown Monday, Sept. 30, 1912.

If the quality of the show itself can be judged from the personal appearance and the gentlemanly business like methods of the advance brigade, then there must certainly be a real round of pleasure in store for our residents upon the appearance here of the great Prairie Lillie and Nebraska Bill's Wildwest Combined Shows.

Mr. Bert Rutherford, in charge of the advance forces of this big tented enterprise and a score of rapidly moving assistants, were in Chestertown extensively billing the town and surrounding county with elegantly colored posters announcing the appearance of the show Sept. 30.

The gentlemanly business manner of Mr. Rutherford and his assistants, and the superior quality of the paper posted would indicate there was something of more than ordinary magnitude following. The press and public in the large cities in which this show has been exhibiting are exceedingly liberal in their praise of the excellent quality of the performance and claim that there is not a misstatement made by the management of the enterprise, but that they postively present everything as advertised. It is a refined, refreshing and exact portrayal of life in the far west as it really was in the early days and as it is at present and which in its entirety presents an interesting, entertaining and amusing exhibition but one that is instructive as well and a great educator for the children.

IN MEMORIAM.

"In sad but loving remembrance of my dear aunt, Susie V. Belts, who departed this life two weeks ago. She had been in poor health for several weeks, but bore all her suffering with patient resignation. Susie is dead; no sadder words can be spoken than these. She was an inspiration for good to all with whom she came in contact, and made many warm and devoted friends wherever she went. How they will hunger for a touch of the vanquished hand and the sound of a voice that is still. All these will miss her! But their sorrow and grief are not to be compared with the poignant grief and heart-breaking sorrow of her loved ones at the home she has left desolate. But dear ones weep not, she is not dead, her spirit has only taken its flight to the God who gave it. She cannot come back to you but you can go to her. God knows best and he saw what a bright gem she would make for his kingdom, so with wonderful compassion he gently and tenderly gathered her in his arms and claimed her for his own, taking her from a world of sorrow and suffering to a land where there is no more sickness and no more death. May God in his infinite love and wisdom tenderly heal the crushed hearts of her loving sisters and brothers and help them to lean on the everlasting arms for comfort and support in this their great trouble, and also to feel that God still tenderly loves them. Their darling has only gone on before them a little while, and at the "pearly gates," will eagerly await them to join her in that home beyond the skies. She was laid to rest in Delaney's cemetery. The bright sun was shining and the beautiful flowers all showed how God and friends loved her.

Lone are the paths and sad the bowers,
Whence thy meek smile is gone,
But, Oh, a brighter home than ours,
In Heaven is now thine own.

—By her niece, MARY GEORGE.
