operation at my time of life and under the circumstances in which the providence of God has placed me, that would cause much trouble without any corresponding advantage.

To morrow I will pay my respects to Mrs and Miss Harper and make this explanation, as well as express my repentance that it has been so long delayed

Miss Young and I are very comfortably established here, a place that has more advantages during the season than any other that I am acquainted with. May I not indulge the hope of seeing you before you return home? Believe me,

Dear Sir, Very faithfully yrs
