My dear Sir

Mr Bell is now in my Office and wishes me to consult with you in regard to some business which he has to transact in Washington and which he says you understand all about. Now I wish you to write to me at once and let me know what you desire to be done in order to advance the business of Mr Bell — I have a high opinion of Mr Bell and will act upon it at once —

If it would be desirable for me to visit Washington, I will do so at once —

With great regard
Your friend
James M Buchanan

P.S. If I should be wanted at once you can telegraph me.
