The Man's Mistake.

Out of loyalty to his own sex the manager of the woman's suit department discharged his young woman stenographer and hired a man. The first batch of letters dictated to the man were written to about a hundred old customers, whom he invited to examine privately a lot of exclusive garments before they were placed on sale. The day after the letters were mailed the women flocked into the store, but the fire that burned in their eyes was the fire of the avenger rather than of the bargain hunter. One word which each woman had underlined in her letter explained their wrath. The garments, so the manager had meant to say, had been designed for women of stock figure, such as they possessed, but the male stenographer had drawn on the alphabet and had written it "stocky."

"No woman on earth would have been guilty of such a mistake," growled the manager.

The next week the girl stenographer had her job back.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Great Men Tall and Short.

A recent investigator has attempted to show that Lombroso and his followers were wrong in asserting that men of genius were of small stature. Of 230 individuals of eminence he found that figures were obtainable for 103; of these sixteen were of middle height, fifty-eight above and twenty-nine below.

Americans particularly combined greatness with inches. Jefferson and Jackson were more than six feet tall. Sumner was six feet four inches, and Washington, Lincoln and Beecher were more than six feet. Among famous foreigners Tolstoy was a large man, and so were Thackeray, Bismarck and Darwin.

On the contrary, many of the world's greatest geniuses were undersized and even deformed. Napoleon, Poe, Pope, Alexander the Great, Nelson, Blake and Caesar were small men.

After all is said, genius is no respecter of rules.—New York American.

Doing Chores.

There is no time in the year when there is cessation from toil on a farm. It is different in winter; that is all. The days are shorter, the work rougher. Of course much depends upon the character of the farm. Considerable leisure is possible where few cattle are kept and general trucking done. But always there are the "chores." A remarkably elastic expression that—"doing chores." It may mean much or little. Some dairy farmers, for instance, whose serious business in life is milking cows, may potter around the farm after the morning's milking and, taking the morning's milk to the creamery or railroad station, eat their noon dinners, mend some fence, look over the harness or haul out manure, potter around some more and then say, "Guess it's about time to do the chores," meaning to milk two dozen cows or so—the real hard work of the day.—Philadelphia Press.

Believed Them True Stories.

When Dante published his "Inferno" the simplicity of the age accepted it as a true narrative of his descent into hell.

When the "Utopia" of Sir Thomas Moore was first published it occasioned a pleasant mistake. This political romance represents a perfect but visionary republic in an island supposed to have been newly discovered in America. "As this was the age of discovery," says Granger, "the learned Budaeus and others took it for a genuine history and considered it as highly expedient that missionaries should be sent thither in order to convert so wise a nation to Christianity."

It was a long while after publication that many readers were convinced that Gulliver's travels were fictitious.

Blackbird Days.

Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 are famous at Constantinople, Brescia and along the Danube and the Rhine as the "blackbird days." A curious legend says that originally all species of grackles (blackbirds) were white and that they became black because during one year in the middle ages the three days mentioned above were so cold that all the birds in Europe took refuge in the chimneys. At Brescia the three days are celebrated with a feast called "I giorni della merla," or "the feast of the transformation of the bird."

Possibly.

Mr. Briggs—Here's an article, my dear, a very interesting article, in which a prominent doctor says that a certain cure for nervousness in women is silence—complete silence. Mrs. Briggs (promptly)—I'll bet anything some fool of a man doctor wrote that! —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Easily Attained.

"I am determined to live in luxurious surroundings and eat and drink the best the land affords," said the frankly selfish man.

"That ought to be easily arranged," replied Miss Cayenne. "All you have to do is to get a situation as a butler." —Washington Star.

Wishing Them a Safe Voyage.

"Mabel and George, after much quarreling over the arrangements for their honeymoon, have decided to take the trip in an airship."

"Well, I trust that when they get above the clouds they won't have a falling out!"—Widow.

Between Octogenarians.

"I understand they sentenced him to life imprisonment?"

"Well, no; it wasn't as bad as that. He got only ninety-nine years!"—Puck.

Too Small a Ring.

"What you need," said the wordy medic in his ponderous way, "is an enlargement of your daily round, a wider circle of activity."

"Mebby that's right," said the patient. "I'm a bareback rider in a one ring circus."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Making Headway.

"Have you a spare cigar about you, old chap?"

"Certainly! But I thought you were going to stop smoking."

"So I am, but not too abruptly. I've already quit smoking my own cigars." —Boston Transcript.

ROUSING MASS MEETING

Held in Firemen's Hall on Tuesday Afternoon and Evening Attended by Large and Enthusiastic Crowds.

The mass meeting held in Firemen's Hall on Tuesday afternoon and evening was one of the most successful and enthusiastic rallies ever held in the county. People were present from all parts of the county, and many ladies attended both afternoon and evening. Mr. Geo. E. Noland, the energetic chairman of the State Central Committee, called the meeting to order, and Judge W. Bradford Copper was made presiding officer. Herbert E. Perkins and R. Hynson Rogers, Esqs., were made secretaries. Vice-presidents for each precinct in the county were appointed, and the Chestertown Band furnished inspiring music. The speakers at the afternoon meeting were: Former Attorney-General Isaac Lobe Straus, of Baltimore, and former Governor Ansel, of South Carolina. Both speakers held the rapt attention of the audience for two hours, while they discussed in a convincing manner the great issues in this campaign. Mr. Straus made it plain that this is a contest for the preservation of human rights, and believes that the election of Gov. Wilson to the presidency will give the people that authority and power in the control of the affairs of our government which rightfully belongs to them. He stated a truth when he said the Republican party is dead. It has dug its grave by its own false pretenses and past record, and the remains will be interred November 5th. Gov. Ansel was equally strong in his defence of the Democratic doctrine, and dealt some powerful blows at the injustice upon the masses of the people of the protective tariff.

Hon. J. Harry Covington, candidate for Congress in this district, and Congressman Clayton, of Alabama, were the speakers at the night meeting. They held their large audience until after ten o'clock, and never once did their audience waver in their attention. Congressman Clayton, although a strong leader of the Underwood forces in the campaign for the nomination, attested his loyalty to Gov. Wilson by the splendid effort he made in his speech, and Mr. Covington proved, as he has heretofore done, that he is a worthy representative of the people of this district in Congress. Everyone was much pleased with the success of the meeting, and it is believed that it has stimulated the voters of the county to renewed energy on behalf of the entire Democratic ticket in November.

Grange Notes.

The Kent county Pomona Grange met at Kennedyville on Tuesday and spent a very plasant day. From the time the reception committee welcomed us at the door until we left for home everything was done for our pleasure and comfort. The hall was decorated with tastily arranged potted plants and cut flowers. The dinner, consisting of all the good things nicely prepared and temptingly served, was greatly enjoyed by all.

The principal feature of the business session was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Worthy Master, Rev. S. S. Hepburn; Overseer, Mr. G. R. Rasin; Lecturer, Mrs. Harvey Moore; Steward, Mr. W. T. Moore; Asst. Steward, Mr. Irving W. Spry; Chaplain, Rev. T. N. Given; Treasurer, Dr. James W. Urie; Gate-Keeper, Mr. Roland Corey; Secretary, Mr. Edgar Pennington; Ceres, Mrs. S. S. Hepburn; Pomona, Miss Bessie Newton; Flora, Mrs. C. A. Corey; L. A. Steward, Mrs. S. G. Roseberry; Press Reporter, Mrs. T. E. W. Crew.

It was announced that the Maryland State Grange will meet in Baltimore December 17th and 18th, in the Florist's Chamber of Commerce, corner St. Paul and Franklin streets, with Hotel Rennert as Grangers' headquarters.

It was also announced that there will be at Maryland Agricultural College a free course in Home Economics for the women of Maryland during the week beginning January 13th.

As the business session consumsed most of the day the greater part of the literary program was omitted. We were, however, favored with a reading in German dialect by Mrs. Walter Fletcher, and a talk by Mr. J. T. Anthony, explaining the object of the prospective Maryland exhibit at the American Land and Irrigation Exposition, New York, and the premiums offered.

The grange accepted the invitation extended by Mr. W. J. Vannort to meet with Chestertown Grange the second Thursday in January (9th).

Injured by Automobile.—Mrs. H. S. Rayner, of Baltimore, daughter of Mrs. Wm. J. Vannort, of Chestertown, was injured by an automobile one day last week. Mrs. Rayner was standing on a street corner in the city waiting for a car. As the car approached she was in the act of stepping from the pavement to the roadway when an automobile rushed around the corner, and the front wheel passed over her foot, mashing it quite badly but breaking no bones. The driver of the automobile did not stop his car and paid no attention to the wounded lady. Mrs. Rayner states that she had no knowledge of the approach of the automobile as the driver failed to blow his horn. Mrs. Rayner has been confined to her bed for several days but is improving.

Wall Papers and Paints.

Wall Paper

Our stock of new Wall Papers is nearly all in—over 9000 rolls. We purchased at a lower price and will sell at a lower price than ever before. The cash discounts on this bill is enough profit for us. We can sell these papers at the same price our competitors pay for what they buy. The starting price is but come and see these papers and prices will surprise you. We'll sell paper. We sell you the paper outright or send you a competent man to hang it. No charge for our team.

2½c Per Single Roll up to 10c Per Roll,

Paint

Big Reduction in the price of B. P. S. Paint.

The Patterson Sargent Co. are using what they call their Universal Label on all their different products. So to keep in touch with this move, we have decided to sell all gallon cans bearing old labels at cost

$1.75 Per Gallon.

Also Hirschberg Hollander & Co.'s Stag Semi-Paste Paint; 1 gallon makes 2 gallons at $1.75. This reduction comes in season, don't wait as these prices won't last. Back they go when this lot is gone.
