You must reach the cause—the kidneys.

PROCESSION TO KALI TEMPLE, EAST (INDIA) EPISODE, PAGEANT OF DARKNESS AND LIGHT.

FOUR QUARTERS OF EARTH ARE TO MEET

Pageant of Darkness and Light, at "The World in Baltimore," Will Surpass in Excellence All Those of the Past.

A great revival of interest in pageantry has sprung up in this country and abroad during the last few years. We have had historical pageants, many patriotic and semi-political pageants in various cities and towns; but none of these will approach either in operatic splendor or in unity of story the Pageant of Darkness and Light to be given at Lyric theatre in Baltimore from October 25 to November 30, in connection with "The World in Baltimore" Missionary Exposition.

The scene shifts to Africa, at a spot where Livingstone, the famous missionary explorer, is resting from his journeyings. Here Stanley, who has been searching for him, finds him lost in thought and begs him to return to England, but Livingstone determines not to go until his work is done. At this news his men break into a song of thanksgiving.

From the forests of Africa, the scene changes to the streets of a city in India. A funeral procession is seen, leading a young widow to the funeral pyre. Just as the pyre is about to be lighted, however, an English official comes in with a proclamation against the barbarous custom of burning widows and the missionaries break into a jubilant chant.

The most dramatic scene of all is a coral beach in Hawaii, where the natives are gathered for a wedding. In the background the volcano Kilauea towers. A priest of the Goddess Pale approaches and demands that the bridegroom and a child playing in the flowers close by be thrown into the volcano as a sacrifice to the angry goddess. As he is about to lead them down, Queen Kapiolani bids defiance to the goddess. She taunts Pale insultingly, but there is no answering wrath from the crater of fire, and the power of the goddess is broken forever.

The music for these episodes was written by Hamish MacCunn. It is naturally full of wild, foreign dances and dirges. There are gloomy Indian chants and bloodthirsty war songs; missionary choruses of jubilee and hymns of praise; fanatical invocations of medicine men and native priests; and many solos of every description.

KALI TEMPLE, INDIA SCENE, "THE WORLD IN BALTIMORE."

It is no mere string of scenes, passed like a bewildering panorama before the spectators, while the orchestra plays snatches of Beethoven, Grieg and Bantock. Instead, it was built around a set motive, and drew its scenes from incidents of missionary history. The excellent libretto by John Oxenham, although short, contains some lyrics of great ryhthmic beauty.

The first scene is an Indian camp in the northwest. The chief of the tribe and his wife are in distress over the loss of their little daughter, who has strayed away. A band of Esquimaux come to trade with the Indians and the medicine men of the latter incite the braves to kill the visitors. Just then a missionary brings the chief's little daughter into camp and, having gained the chief's good will, preaches to the people his message of light.

THE world has recently been shocked at the revelation of atrocities in the Congo region. The Central African exhibit at "The World in Baltimore," showing native industries, idols and idol-houses, and the home of missionaries and natives, will give Americans an intimate knowledge of the conditions under which these atrocities are practiced.

THE Indian goddess, Kali, to whom many temples have been erected in India, and who wears a necklace of human skulls, is one of the unique exhibitions at "The World in Baltimore," October 25th to November 30th.

AN old-fashioned prairie schooner will be shown at "The World in Baltimore," October 25 to November 30.

TEA HOUSE IN JAPAN SCENE, "THE WORLD IN BALTIMORE."

A STRIKING feature of "The World in Baltimore" is the collection of idols. Tall totem poles from Alaska, little squatting men carved in Africa, weird and gorgeously bejeweled Burmese gods, the repulsive goddess Kali with her necklace of human skulls, all mix in happy democracy.

THE hut of the tropical Indian of South America by some peculiar coincidence has the same form as the icy igloo of the Esquimo. Both will be shown at "The World in Baltimore."

WORSHIPPERS at prayer in a Buddhist temple of Japan may be seen at "The World in Baltimore."

GORGEOUS NEW SCENERY.

Much of the scenery for "The World in Baltimore," to be given October 25 to November 30, has been newly painted for the Baltimore Exposition, and all the rest has been retouched. The work has been done by the best New York artists, and the result is a truly gorgeous setting for the great pageant.
