LOCAL MATTERS

Faithful Efforts Rewarded.—Due to the untiring efforts of Mrs. Sarah C. Crewe, of near Still Pond, in soliciting subscriptions to the McCall's magazine, the McCall Company has contributed $15 to assist in defraying the expense of renovating Still Pond M. E. Church. Mrs. Crewe secured 52 subscribers.

Wedding Announced.—Miss Sara K. Woodall and Mr. Wm. A. Hyland, of Galena, Md., were quietly married at the home of the bride's mother, Georgetown, Md., on Thursday, Nov. 21. Miss Woodall is the daughter of the late Andrew W. Woodall, who was for many years a prominent member of the Baltimore Chamber of Commerce. No cards in the county.

Prof. Greenwood Appointed Principal.—Prof. Arthur Greenwood, of Federalsburg, formerly of Rock Hall, has been appointed principal of the Galena school to succeed Prof. Maddox, who has accepted the position of cashier of the Galena Bank. Prof. Greenwood is a son of the late Prof. J. A. Greenwood, of Rock Hall, and he is a teacher of experience and ability. He will assume charge January 1.

Fire in Quaker Neck.—The dwelling and contents in Quaker Neck belonging to John Elias, colored, were totally destroyed by fire early Monday morning. A defective flue is supposed to have been the cause. Elias and his family had gotten up and dressed, and while on their way down stairs they were almost suffocated by smoke. They saved nothing. The loss is about $500.

Don't Miss This Entertainment.—Miss Gay Zenola MacLaren will present the rich comedy, "The Governor's Lady," in Firemen's Hall next Tuesday evening, December 3d, for the benefit of the public library. This is not Miss MacLaren's first appearance here. She has delighted and charmed her audiences here before, and she will do so again, and then, too, the purpose for which the entertainment is to be given should inspire all to attend.

Washington Overwhelmed.

Washington College was overwhelmed by St. John's College in the annual foot ball game at Oriole Park, Baltimore, on Thursday, the score being 62 to 7. The St. John's team worked the forward pass to perfection, and, indeed, every one of its touchdowns was made on this play. The TRANSCRIPT sympathizes with Washington College in its crushing defeat. We have no opinion to offer as to the cause of defeat. It has happened and that is all there is to it. Washington College has made a most excellent record during the year. They have been defeated only twice, and played one tie. The record between St. John's and Washington now stands one victory each. The game next Thanksgiving Day will be the rubber, and it will be equally as important as this was. A great crowd saw the game in Baltimore, and things were lively at Oriole Park for more than an hour.

SHORT NEWS ITEMS.

Don't forget the matinee races this afternoon at Radcliffe Park.

The public schools of the county are closed for the Thanksgiving holidays.

The Automobile Club of Maryland is erecting 532 road signs on the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Hall, of Queen Annes, has rented Mrs. Annie Massey's farm, near Goose Hill, for next year.

There is a new tailor in town who is occupying the Kaplan tailoring room under the Voshell House.

Mr. Harry P. Skipper and a party of Chestertown gunners killed 54 wild ducks off Skipper's shore on Monday morning.

The first snow of the fall and winter fell early Thanksgiving morning. The ground was covered to the depth of about an inch.

Mr. Wm. L. Fowler and force are improving the home of Lewin W. Wickes, Esq., on Froat street, with a new dress of paint.

A farmer's wife in Talbot county has a flock of 180 fine turkeys for which she has been offered $500. Anybody in Kent beat that?

Mr. Thomas B. Elliott and force have recently finished painting the home of Mr. David B. Ford, on Maple avenue, in an attractive dress of paint.

The Talbot County Bar Association and the court house officials gave a farewell dinner to Judge James Alfred Pearce at the Hotel Norris, Easton, on Tuesday evening.

Henry Brown, an old colored farm hand, dropped dead at the home of Mr. Wm. H. Bonwell, near Kennedyville, on Friday morning. Heart failure was the cause of his sudden death.

The Old Point Comfort carried a big excursion to Baltimore on Thursday morning to witness the St. John's-Washington foot ball game. The only thing to mar the pleasure of the trip was the result of the game.

There was a more general observance of Thanksgiving Day in Chestertown than for many years past. All the stores and public offices together with the banks were closed, and there was a "vacation" air about the whole town.

Auctioneer John Jester is not only a good auctioneer but he knows how to raise farm products. Mr. Jester brought to our office on Monday morning three of the largest white turnips we ever saw. Six of the turnips weighed 16 pounds. They are beauties.

One of our chicken fanciers has a flock of 500 hens. It costs him $10 a week to feed them, and he is not getting an egg. Wait until he is getting 300 or 400 eggs a day and is selling them for 50 cents a dozen, and he'll forget all about that $10 a week expense.

Mr. Harry D. Williar, well-known in Chestertown, where several years ago he boarded while hold a position as as inspector on the State road, has been appointed to the lucrative and responsible position of secretary to the Baltimore City Paving Commission.

A chrysanthemum plant so large that it blocked Thirty-fourth street, New York, on one side was moved into the Blue Room of the Waldorf-Astoria. It is said to be the largest ever grown in this country and was produced by a florist named Small. The bush is 17 feet across.

The annual meeting of school commissioners' and county superintendents association of Maryland will be held at Baltimore, December 5 and 6. The discussion of the topic "Should the State pay the whole cost of the Secondary schools" will be opened by Superintendent Joseph M. McVey, of Cecil county.

Miss Elizabeth Linthicum, of Baltimore, was operated upon at the Franklin Square hospital, Baltimore, last Saturday for appendicitis. Her appendix was found to contain a butter bean. We know of some people in Chestertown who like to eat small butter beans by swallowing them whole. Be careful, people.

The timely discovery of a blazing fence adjoining a stable, by Mr. E. C. Stafford, on Monday morning during the high wind, probably saved the village of Pomona from a serious conflagration. Some one threw some hot ashes against the fence and the high wind fanned the hot coals into a blaze. A little later and the stable would have been in flames.

There is danger that the Urieville school will be closed the first of the year because of small attendance. Miss Boston, the teacher, has only four scholars a part of the time. It is thought that with the arrival of new tenants in the neighborhood on January 1 that the attendance may be increased above the average, thus enabling the school to keep open.

Mr. John W. Barnes, clerk to the Modern Woodmen, paid to Mrs. William R. Aldridge on Tuesday the $3,000 benefit which her late husband carried with the order. During the twelve years in which Mr. Aldridge was connected with the order he paid in assessments and dues just $251.55. This speaks volumes for the value of life insurance. During the past three years Mr. Barnes has paid $9,000 to the beneficiaries of the following: Mr. Emory S. Wroth, $3,000; Mr. Samuel Startt, $1,000; Dr. C. P. Gilpin, $2,000; Mr. Wm. R. Aldridge, $3,000.

A fine horse which Mr. Harry Willis and Mr. Charles Willis, of near Betterton, were driving got frightened in front of Mr. Walter T. Bramble's store on Tuesday evening about six o'clock. It dashed up Washington avenue, ran into a tree at the home of Mr. Sidney P. Townshend, Esq., demolished the carriage, and the gentlemen were thrown to the ground, the top falling over them. The horse's harness got tangled up in a telephone pole and he was caught. Fortunately neither gentleman was hurt, except Mr. Harry Willis received a bruise on one of his limbs.

Oneof our well-known residents has a flock of fine Buff Orpington hens. He had been feeding them all kinds of food, and giving them hot and dry mashes in an effort to make them lay. But his efforts availed nothing. Finally his wife had a birthday last week. The hens must have learned about the event, for on that day the poultryman got two eggs for the first time since the hens finished moulting.

THE GRIM REAPER.

MRS. FRANCES PENNINGTON.

Mrs. Frances Pennington, a well-known and highly esteemed lady, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eugene M. Bonwell, Sr., near Still Pond, on Tuesday morning, of general debility, aged 87 years. The deceased was one of the oldest women in the county and she had a host of friends who loved her for her many noble tracts of character. The remains were taken to Hillsboro on Thursday morning, where funeral services were held in the Protestant Episcopal Church. Interment was made in Hillsboro cemetery. Undertaker W. H. Krusen had charge of the funeral arrangements.

Woodmen Rates Stand.

Insurgent Modern Woodmen of America won an important victory last Friday, when Judge Robert B. Shirley, in the Sangamon county court, Illinois, granted their plea for an injunction restraining the head officers from putting into effect the proposed rate increase. The decision affects more than a million members throughout the United States, as the head offices are located in Illinois. Had the new rates become effective the cost of insurance to policy-holders in this order would have been doubled, and many of the older members would have been compelled to drop out because of the excessive charges.
