Omegas' Mardi Gras out-of-world frolic

Omega Psi Phi Fraternity's sixth annual Mardi Gras, Friday night, was right out of this world...from the "Sputnik" costume that won first prize to the whole round pig that took culinary honors on one brother's table.

The Sputnik costume was worn by petit Mrs. Charles Covington...a sequin ball that caressed the torso cover, long black net hose that took over from there, and a sequin helmet spurting sequin-tipped antennas, Mrs. Covington designed her costume...had it executed by an expert costumer.

In the male category, Roland Hanson, who came as Robin Hood, took first prize. And it was a hard choice, for never have the costumes been as elaborate as this year.

Tom Hawkins wore one of the most elaborate of the costumes ...coming as he did as King Henry, heavy beard, coat of mail et al, and, incidentally, squiring pretty Audrey Brooks, who was in Indian attire. Cliff Mackey took on the role of a Mandarian, and Mrs. M., was a Spanish senorita.

Another Spanish ensemble, elaborately embroidered heavy silk, was worn by Olivia Dixon. Dr. Walter Davidson was a tall and handsome sheik, with his Edith in the same mood. The William E. Baldwins were in a "Devish" mood and the Bernard Christmases came as Japanese.

Mrs. Olga Rodney was in a white embroidered Chinese ensemble...the outfit elaborate enough, but it was more what that petit figure of Olga's, did for the trousers and coat than the suit itself.

Tall and terrific Tilly Pair donned a musical comedy version of an English hunting outfit...the red coat topping mighty brief pants, sheer black hose reaching to there, and a black topper. And Helen Glover was trying her best to be demure as a princess...but there was that gleam in her eye. On the other hand, Ivy Harris was attempting to be the opposite in a very French tight and black satin skirt, form fitting blouse and beret...ended up being just her charming self.

There were some interesting couples there, no less interest of the whole being Mrs. Edith Scott (writing of a year) back in circulation and with Augustus Holley.

Leave us not go into the food and drink department. The tables were loaded with dishes and bottle items.

This year's dance committee was headed by Edward McDaniels, and included Leroy Bennett, Clarence Malden, Charles D. Parker, Theodore Brown, Robert Matthews, Linwood Koger Sr.

Also Elmer Patterson, Joseph Ohey, Malcolm Chamberlain, Messrs. and Mesdames Denis De Coningtion, Edward Evans, George Carr, George H. Ball, David Shockley, J. Leonard Unger, Thomas Thompson, Kenneth Ervin, S. Edward, Smith.

Messrs. and Mesdames William Walker, Elmer Brown, Christopher Mallory, Walter J. Ennals, S. Leon Young.

MRS. VIVIAN CARTER MASON, former head of the Department of Public Welfare, New York City, and past president of the National Council of Negro Women, will be speaker at the luncheon session of the One-Day Conference of the Maryland League of Women's Clubs, in Baltimore, on the 22nd. The conference will be held in the Carver Vocational Technical High School. Business meeting and workshops will precede the luncheon.

Try glamourized meat loaf for special company dinner menu

"To win a laured wreath for your brow, put a laurel leaf in the stew pot now." So advised the cooking writer of a 19th Century ladies' magazine.

Today's homemaker is winning her laurels in that own way today but probably doesn't realize it because the pungent laurel leaves with which she seasons stews, and all sorts of other dishes too, are known in modern culinary language as bay leaves.

The flavor of bay leaves does delightful things for beef, and does them in the subtle way that is the hallmark of a truly good cook. Skill, for example, add a single finely crumbled bay leaf to the seasoning of an eight-serving Company Meat Loaf Ring, and watch the guests' expressions of pleased puzzlement before someone asks the inevitable question, "Whatever did you put into this meat loaf—it's the most delicious I've ever tasted!"

Other meats that the aromatic herb, bay leaves, enhances delightfully are veal and lamb. For a real flavor symphony eat-serole, serve Herbed Lamb Casserole, in which bay leaves and rosemary highlight the combination of lamb and fresh vegetables.

The American Spice Trade Association offers these laurel winning ways in which to use bay leaves in your menus.

* * *

COMPANY MEAT LOAF RING is made with one pound ground beef, one-half tea spoon ground black pepper, one-half pound ground veal, one-half teaspoon crimbled whole thyme leaves, one-half pound ground lean pork or sausage, two eggs, one-half cup finely chopped celery, one-half cup milk or beef stock, one-half cup finely chopped green pepper, one cup fine dry bread crumbs, one finely crumbled bay leaf, two teaspoons salt, and one-fourth cup instant minced onion.

Mix all ingredients together. Turn into a greased five cup ring mold. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour or until done. Turn out onto a serving plate. Fill center with cooked sliced carrots.

Put fluffy mashed potatoes through a pastry tube or drop from a tablespoon onto a buttered baking sheet, forming a ring under the broiler and fill around the meat loaf. Garnish with fresh parsley, if desired.

YIELD—Eight servings.

BOHEMIAN GOULASH, rich with chiffon dumplings, makes beef stew meat, two cups hot water, beef suet, three cups onions, fine grind, one bay leaf, one-fourth cup flour, one tablespoon paprika, one tablespoon salt, one-half teaspoon crumbled whole rosemary leaves, one-half tsp. ground black pepper, one-fourth cup flour, two bay leaves, four medium potatoes, and one fourth fourth cup cold water.

Trim excess fat from lamb and cut into one and one-half inch cubes. Brown on all sides in some of the fat trimmed from the meat. Place in a two-quart casserole. Add boiling water, salt, ground black pepper, and bay leaves. Cover and cook 45 minutes or until meat is about half done. Peel potatoes, carrots and onions.

Cut potatoes and carrots into quarters. Add all vegetables to lamb along with rosemary. Mix flour with cold water until smooth. Add to casserole. Cook one hour longer or until meat and vegetables are tender.

YIELD—Six servings.

'She's still the cutest thing that I have ever seen'

By LULA JONES GARRETT

"She was the cutest thing I had ever seen."

Fifty yeers, 11 children, 22 grand children, and 19 great-grandchildren later, Joseph Spriggs still thinks that the former Miss Mamie Reader is still pretty cute.

"And in all these years I've never seen anyone prettier," said sprightly Mr. Spriggs this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Spriggs celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, Sunday. They gathered the seven of their children now living, their grandchildren and scores of their friends to rejoice with them at a reception in the YMCA.

* * *

THE COUPLE met on a blind date a half century ago. He was 21. She was 22. Their friends, George Diggs and the then Miss Mamie Whittington were planning a Friday afternoon stroll. They wanted him to go along and promised to make it a foursome.

Mrs. Spriggs was the young lady they selected to complete the party.

He took one look, liked what he saw and enrolled in his mind to hold on, said Mr. Spriggs, this week.

The young lady must not have been too keen to the idea. She made a date with him for the following Tuesday. Six months later they were setting a wedding date.

* * *

ASKED ABOUT his proposal, Mr. Spriggs said:

"Oh, we were strolling in Druid Hill Park. I asked her if she thought she could stand looking at one man the rest of her life.

"She said that she could, maybe, if the man was me."

They were married in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Butler, 1357 Woodyear St., the same house in which they have spent all of the 50 years of their marriage.

The Rev. John A. Holmes, father of Dr. Dwight O. W. Holmes, performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Spriggs are almost as proud of the marriage records of their children as of that of their own.

"I set an example for our children. We stressed honesty with each other; that it is the duty of the husband to treat his family well; and that the wife should be content when the husband is doing his best," they said.

* * *

MR. SPRIGGS has for many years been a class leader at the Metropolitan Methodist Church. His church is his hobby; he said, pointing out that he has served under 10 pastors of the church and has loved them all. The fact is, Mr. Spriggs is a missionary at heart. "The joy of my life is trying to bring people into Christian relationship," he added. Mrs. Spriggs works with several of the auxiliaries at Metropolitan.

Now retired, Mr. Spriggs has worked as a longshoreman and with a lumber firm. "But I would never work on a job that interfered with my church attendance," he added. Mrs. Spriggs' married life has been spent as a housewife.

They are parents of Mrs. Lillian K. Moulden, housewife; Mrs. Helen Clayton of New York, housewife; Mrs. Eleanora Mills, housewife;

Also Mrs. Naomi A. Jenkins, school clerk; Miss Mary E. Spriggs, Thomas Spriggs, longshoreman; and Harry L. Spriggs of New York, mechanic.

MR. AND MRS. JOSEPH SPRIGGS observed the 50th anniversary of their marriage at a reception in the YMCA, Baltimore, Sunday afternoon.

THE BOOK-A-MONTH Club and the Matinee Ensemble, both of which are more than 30 years old, were jointly hosted by Miss Emma E. Bright at the YWCA, Saturday evening.

Miss Bright is a member of the Young Adult Association.

The groups had dinner and then retired to the library for their program. Actually the program held on that evening had been planned for the meeting the previous month...those plans being prevented by the snow storm.

But members had their Negro History Week program just the same, featuring a panel discussion on "Present Day Aspects of Negro History."

Miss Jessye Bennett presided and Mrs. Odell Payne was moderator.

Panelists included Mrs. Marion Johnson, who discussed the phase of the topic in public schools; Mrs. Harriet Jones, Civil Rights; Mrs. Jane Wilson, famous maker of Negro history born in February;

Mrs. Violet Whyte, influence upon underprivileged; Mrs. Hattie Smith, in literature; Miss E. Estelle Thomas, who gave excerpts from James Mitchell's recent report; Mrs. Lillian Watty, sports; Mrs. Bertha Winston, opportunities for use with youth and Mrs. Lucy Swain, outstanding entertainers.

Mrs. Lois Carter and Dr. Robert Ford gave the conclusion.

Other than mentioned above, at the meeting were:

Mesdames Nellie Waters, Catherine Banks, Edgar Love, Esther Bailey and Violet Rideout of the Matinee Ensemble;

And Mesdames Ethel Day, Grace Hunt and Lillian Lottier of the Book-A-Month Club.

PEREGRINATORS: Bernice Monroe is in Miami, Fla. (in fact has been there for five weeks) garnering vitamin D for the inner woman and a marvelous tan for the outer gal.

Mrs. Mary Holmes and Mrs. Mildred McLean flew to St. Louis, Mo., Thursday, where they will attend the YWCA convention. They will represent the business and professional women's club and also vote in the Young Adult Assembly. Plan to fly back on the 20th.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eberwein (Edith Lomax) are the parents of a six pound girl, Susan Swann, former Baltimorean now residing in New York City, was recently the guest of Miss Marion Waters and Miss Mary Burns of Forest Park Ave., this week.

And it may not be a travel note, but strictly out of this world, these days, are Anne Edward (Long Island Railroad ticket agent) Fuller, who welcomed their first born, a seven pound, three ounce daughter last week. Baby has been named Leda Ann.

* * *

DATE DATA: The Postal Alliance, will meet with its annual have-a-ball evening on Saturday when they hold forth in the Colonial with no less than fabulous Milt Buckner to preside at the organ.

Invitations are in the mail for the Pink Champagne dance to be given on March 28th at the American Legion Hall in Towson by Femmes Continentals, Baltimore chapter. Plans for the dance were commenced when the group met with Cornelia Lowe, this week.

Hostesses will also include Geneva Dyson, Natalie Phelps, Alverta Smith, Elizabeth Dais, Susie Graham, Charlotte Johnson, Viola Clark, Zelma Johnson, Frances Martin, Helena Hodge and Jennie Donahue.

The Washington and Philadelphia chapters will be present to share in the fun.

Victorine Adams (top town Democratic woman) being very decorative in chic spring green at the banquet for Senator Harry Cole, Saturday night, will be spotlighted in a similar role, come April 28.

Coming up for April 24 is that "Madhatters Card Party" being planned by the Baltimore chapter of 'Que-ettes, auxiliary to Pi chapter of Omega Psi Phi Fraternity.

The party will be held in the YWCA that evening, and you may enter a prize for the prettiest, most unique or most original hat thereabouts -, or a prize at bridge, pinochle or whist. Gloria Stokes is chairman of the affair. Frances B. Hill heads the group this year.

Welding of the weekend will be that of cute Martha Wise (she's the daughter of Mrs. Martha V. Wise) and Calvin Griner, son of John H. Griner, prominent contractor.

Ceremony will take place at St. Pius Catholic Church and reception will follow in the home of the bride's mother on Chauncey Ave.

The bridegroom-elect is a student at the University of Maryland. Gift from his father will be a pretty home in Halethorpe, nearby the parents' home, a beauty spot in that suburb.

Words to live by

By REV. ROBERT T. NEWBOLD, Pastor, Grace Presbyterian Church, Baltimore.

James Teuslow Adams wrote sometime ago of certain half-civilized people. They suddenly stopped in one of their pilgrimages.

When asked, "Why?" the surprising reply was: "To let our souls catch up with our bodies."

These ignorant (?) individual suggested an important objective for us during this Lenten season. For we dash to and fro, in our modern culture, with no time for the grindstone.

But, in the process what happens? Our nerves become offkey and we neglect the needs of the soul.

THIS IS a time of year when we should take "time out" from our harrying, hurrying pilgrimages for corporate worship.

The great need of many moderns is to join others in an experience of directing praise and prayer, reverence and worship to God.

Their's is the tragedy of bowing before every throne — except that of the Almighty.

"O come let us worship and bow down.
Let us kneel before the Lord our Maker."

This is the call we should heed on Sunday. But, Sunday is not enough. Lenten can help tremendously.

WE CAN also take "time out" for a confrontation of Calvary. Perhaps during this season of the Christian year we hear the name of this place morose than any other.

Through song and sermon, emphasis is made.

But, to hear the word is not enough! The grasping of its significance is very important.

Calvary bespeaks the greatest expression of sacrifice. Here it was that Christ became the Paschal Lamb who was offered up for us.

Calvary also bespeaks the greatest expression of love. "God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son."

Wherein is the proof of that love? The answer, of course, is on Calvary. The Christ of Calvary gives vitality to God's love for us.

It is well that we call a halt to the feverish pace and follow the above-mentioned suggestions in order that our souls may catch up with our bodies.

VELVETEEN — The social club was entertained by Mrs. Margaret Franklin of 3328 Cherryland Road, this week.

Attending the meeting were:

Mesdames Vernita Harrington, Naomi B. Johnson, Arlethea T. Young, Doris McNeil, Laura Wilkins, Ventrice Thomas;

Misses Earlene Miller, Maggie Jennings, Ella D. Thompson.
