Traffic Court trials and tribulations

Harvey Baker, 23, 2917 W. North Ave., a native of Rocky Mount, N.C., received suspended fines of $25 in Traffic Court on Friday.

However, he paid $2.85 in court charges.

He was charged with reckless driving, leaving the scene of the accident and driving without a license.

The accident occurred in the 2900 block of Westwood Ave. Sept. 21, 1957, when a car identified as Mr. Baker's sideswiped a parked car owned by Warren Mann, 319 E. 23rd St.

"AND — IT brought this series of remarks by the Traffic Court magistrate and the prosecuting attorney.

Said assistant State's attorney George Rosedom: "This takes the cake."

Said Magistrate Henry Miller: "It's murder.

"I'm glad I'm leaving this court this week. It's got so you can't get a simple case arrested."

The "cake-taking" case of which magistrate spoke involved the following confusion of facts:

1. Baker had no knowledge of the accident until six months later.

2. He did not notify police of facts in the case because he did not know how to use a telephone and said he had never used one.

"Where I come from folks don't have telephones," he said.

3. He does not have a license and in fact does not know how to drive.

4. He had no knowledge of who was driving the car at the time of the accident as he was in Rocky Mount.

5. He loaned money to a friend, who bought the car and kept it registered in his name "as security."

7. He paid damages on the Mann car in the amount of $50 but lost the car when it was impounded and sold at auction.

8. When he was locked up on March 1 he "forgot everything" including the date of the incident.

MAGISTRATE Miller held Mr. Baker responsible for the accident since the car was registered in his name.

He said: "I'd advise you to never, never, never go near a car again."

He added: "Don't you dare. And — You stay out of here. Don't — you — come — back."

Said Baker: "I'm not going near no car, no more. I don't need a car nohow."

"Whew," said Mr. Rosedom.

New trial date set in Grace case

WASHINGTON

The Bishop C. M. (Daddy) Grace support trial will be reopened on June 16, Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff said on Wednesday.

But the testimony will be restricted to handwriting evidence only, the jurist declared.

THE JUDGE reopened the case on the urging of Jesse Chessin, attorney for Mrs. Lionvelia Royster, who argued errors had been made in the previous hearing.

In the earlier trial, Judge Holtzoff ruled that Mrs. Royster, a schoolteacher in Waycross, Ga., is not the wife of Bishop Grace and therefore is not entitled to maintenance.

The handwriting error was but one of several grounds on which Mr. Chessin argued for a new trial. But all other contentions were overruled by Judge Holtzoff.

IN REOPENING the case on a limited basis, Judge Holtzoff conceded an alleged specimen of Bishop Grace's handwriting which was compared with other purported samples of his writing should not have been admitted into evidence at the previous trial.

The specimen was admitted despite the fact that Bishop Grace denied writing it.

ITS ADMISSION came after Edward Rogers, business manager for the cult leader, testified that the Bishop had "no occasion writing the specimen."

Subsequently, Charles Appel Jr., handwriting expert for the defense, testified that the specimen was not the same as the writing appearing on Mrs. Royster's marriage license and other documents she had allegedly bearing the Bishop's signature.

Bishop Grace, stated that the specimen was not the same as the writing appearing on Mrs. Royster's marriage license and other documents she had allegedly bearing the Bishop's signature.

Patients suffer when hospitals bar medics

What does it mean to say that 13 of Baltimore's 17 general hospitals have no colored doctors with staff privileges?

Simply put, it means more doctors who cannot keep properly abreast of medical trends and more patients who must change to new doctors when time comes to go to a hospital.

Theodore Perkins, administrator of Provident Hospital, gives these two things as the most important drawbacks.

"A doctor has to be in a hospital where they have the latest equipment and medicines if he is to keep abreast," Mr. Perkins said.

"I think it means something to the patient when he must change doctors because he has confidence in when he has to go to a hospital," he added.

Nine of the 17 Baltimore hospitals with no colored doctors say they have never had applications or that "applications are now pending."

Doctors without hospital privileges don't have any place to take an acutely ill patient and get him a hospital bed.

They can do two things:

Refer the patient to a doctor with privileges or just refer the patient to a hospital.

The Baltimore Hospital Survey Committee reported in January that of 95 Howard University and Meharry Medical School graduates here 64 were on the Provident Hospital staff. Only seven, the report said, had staff privileges in other Baltimore hospitals.

Forty out of 95 of these doctors cannot get a bed for their patients except a ward bed without giving up the patient.

For the patient of means either way out might force him to take ward service when he desires a semi-private or private bed.

This too has a financial angle because doctors often have to give up patients who are covered by insurance and lose fees they would get by attending the ill.

One important aspect is the belief by many that the various practices which limit colored doctors and patients from full use of hospital facilities, have retarded the rate of flow of colored patients to hospitals.

One fact item which points to the importance of qualified doctors having staff privileges at hospitals is this assertion by the Baltimore Hospital Survey Committee:

"The (city doctor) sees the patient in a specific sociological, technical and economic setting."

THESE ARE some of the questions the committee says can affect a doctor's decision of whether the patient should go to a hospital.

Does the patient have Blue Cross or Insurance?

Am I, the physician, on the medical staff of the hospital?

Can I treat the patient there for this condition or must I refer him to another physician?

Is a bed at the hospital easy or hard to get . . . for colored as well as whites?

Is the staff looking for a case like this on the teaching service?

Is it likely to soon have other patients whose need is greater for my share of the beds?

Last week the AFRO reported after a survey that only three of the 17 general hospitals admit colored without an some way assigning them beds or placing them in certain services, if they take any number of cases.

Four city hospitals do not accept colored patients at all.

Bottle worth $430 plus in court

In Traffic Court on Monday the price of wine soared to a figure far beyond the price of the most expensive champagne.

Magistrate Albert E. Weir, fined George Green, 24, 1542 Aisquith, a total of $430 plus costs on six traffic violations.

He was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol; failure to obey an automatic signal; failure to observe a stop sign; having inadequate brakes and turning off his lights to avoid arrest.

The incident occurred on March 14 in the 1100 block of N. Harford Ave.

OFFICERS testified that Green had companions in the car and "none of them was capable of driving the car they were so tanked up."

A bottle of wine reportedly found in the car was offered in evidence before the court and sat on the magistrate's desk throughout the trial.

Given told the magistrate he would "go on to jail" since he did not have $430 plus costs.

Cleric challenges Miss. vote laws

JACKSON, Miss. — A suit challenging Amendments to Mississippi's Constitution and laws, which in effect, deny colored persons the right to vote, was filed in U.S. District Court March 14 on behalf of the Rev. H. B. Darby and other Jefferson Davis County residents.

NAACP attorneys filed the petition, which also challenges the state's new anti - NAACP laws, prohibiting the association from giving financial aid and legal services without charge in law suits.

The suit charges that the Rev. Mr. Darby was required to take a written examination upon two occasions that he attempted to register in Jefferson Davis County. He was denied registration on both occasions, being told he failed the test.

NAACP attorneys contend the Mississippi Constitution, drafted in 1955, requires that a prospective voter give a "reasonable interpretation" of a provision of the constitution.

The Rev. Mr. Darby and his lawyers seek an injunction enjoining Mississippi Attorney General Joe Patterson from enforcing these NCW laws and a similar action against the registrar of voters in Jefferson Davis County.

'Strength in unity,' says Senator Cole

"The most significant thing that can happen is for the colored man to become aware of the fact that there is strength in unity," said State Sen. Harry Cole Tuesday at a meeting of the Baltimore chapter of Frontiers in the Druid Hill Ave. YMCA.

He told the group that the citizen could use the power of the vote to make those representing him "do what you want them to do."

Senator Cole said that which ever party the voter elected would not matter because the man elected would be in a position to vote in the best interest of the group.

"We must understand," he said, "that when elected, the representative must not only represent the colored people but all the people in the city."

MR. COLE, the first man to serve in Maryland's State Senate, said that in representing a larger area of Fifteen, he can show that we are worthy of the job of representation."

In the speech to the 40 members present, Senator Cole mentioned some of the area of City life where members have evaded colored people during his first term as Senator.

He mentioned the appointmen of John Hargrove as deputy U.S. attorney; William Harris as deputy United States Marshal;

Also that of Samuel Daniels as the first full time executive secretary of the Governor's Interracial Committee.

Senator Cole told of the growing numbers of colored personnel to be found in Baltimore government offices.

HE SAID that he had "urged hiring of people according to their qualifications."

There has even been a "full program of integration in penal institutions — clerks, guards, stenographers—," said the senator.

He also mentioned the appointment of colored magistrates to the police courts.

HE ALSO noted the appointment of Dr. Clifton Jones of Morgan State College as a member of the Advisory Board of the City Planning Commission.

The senator said that although there are some colored members of City and State Boards the attitude toward appointing qualified colored members is surprisingly unfavorable.

Another area Senator Cole touched in his speech to the group was the number of State scholarships not being used.

He said that any schools appointed by a colored student with a Senatorial Scholarship would be accepted, and his scholarship honored.

3 men jailed, 1 held on dope convictions

"You are a trafficer and peddler of a deadly drug for distribution . . . peddlers must be placed in a class by them selves, and they must be severely punished."

Judge Anselm Sodaro told this in Criminal Court Tuesday to Leon Singleton, 21, 500 block S. Locust St., Philadelphia, and sentenced him to five years in the State Reformatory for Males for transporting dope.

Sentenced by Judge Sodaro in other narcotic law violation cases were:

John C. Moore, III, 31, 800 block Edmondson Ave., to five years in the penitentiary, and Charles Walker, 29, 1000 block Myrtle Ave., three years in the House of Correction.

Bernard Webster, 27, 600 block Sarah Ann St., a second offender, was found guilty on a similar charge. Final disposition was withheld due to a Court of Appeals current study of designating second offenders on indictments.

MR. SINGLETARY was arrested, Officer Bishop L. Robinson testified, when he was noted at 2:15 a.m. January 24 at Hillen St. and Walbrook Ave. with a known addict. One hundred decks of heroin were found in his room in the 2000 block Madison Ave., police said.

Officer Robinson said Mr. Singleton revealed that he had brought the dope to Baltimore to deliver to a man called "Toots." He was to receive $100 for the delivery, plus a cut on the sales.

Mr. Moore was arrested, Judge Sodaro was told, on January 7 when police found two capsules of heroin in his room.

Assistant State's Attorney Preston A. Paire Jr., said the Information on fatal fire earns top award

A fire which snuffed out the life of an infant and sent four others, two of them children, to the hospital for treatment during the driving snow Wednesday night earned the caller for the AFRO news tip award and a check for $5.

Two persons were selected to receive checks for $5 each for timely news tips. They included the tipster reporting the suicide of a Turner Station businessman and the death of an 8-year-old boy struck by a car.

A check for $2.50 was awarded to the tipster reporting the contempt of court citation which landed an auto sales man in jail.

FIVE TIPSTERS were selected to receive checks for $1 each for information called to the attention of the AFRO city desk.

Winners in this category following the promotion of three employees of the Department of Employment Security; additional pertinent information on Wednesday's fatal fire, and a fatal automobile accident.

Five tipsters also were selected to receive checks for a dollar each. These tipsters provided the following information:

A young girl who came upon a stricken relative and had enough presence of mind to summon help; the death of singer Bill Kenny's mother; three models appearing in a Maryland Institute fashion show; a serious stabbing and an automobile accident.

CHECKS are sent out every week for news tips and it is simple to earn cash this way. Here is all you do:

Call MU. 5-6015, 6016, 1812 and 1813. If no answer, call LA. 3-3024.

A sum of $50 is set aside each week for NEWS TIPS and NEWS PHOTOS and there are winners every week.

Winners are selected on the basis of the newsworthiness of the tips called in, and in case of more than one tip on a single incident the first person to telephone this office gets priority.

The decisions of the judges are final.

Farmer loses $20

Forty - three - year - old Alfonso Farmer appeared in Criminal Court Part 4 Monday morning for what he described as "the third time and I lose $20 a day every time I come in here."

Mr. Farmer said loudly, "I'm not guilty. I'm not guilty' when asked how he pleaded to a bastardy charge preferred by a 47-year-old Northwest Baltimore matron who said he is the father of her 5-year-old daughter.

Each time, the prosecuting witness failed to appear again Judge Cullen said. "I told him I'd dispose of this case this time."

The Mr. Farmer, the Judge asked: "can you stand as another two minutes and we'll get to you?" Mr. Farmer answered: "I've lost too much time. I might as well."

Judge Cullen stetted the case against Mr. Farmer. This means the accusing witness can return at a later time and press her charge. — B. M. P.

Zoning board denies request

The Board of Municipal and Zoning Appeals on Tuesday denied a request for the operation of a beauty parlor at 1530 Baker St., due to the residential zoning of that area.

In other action the Zoning Board postponed until April 8 hearings on requests for two families to be housed at 1405 N. Gay St. and three families to be housed at 1313 E. Federal St.

It may have been a joke, but who's laughing now?

Appearing in Northwestern Police Court Thursday, Alton Copeland 30, 900 block N. Fulton Ave. testified to Magistrate Linwood G. Koger, that the whole affair was just a "joke."

Charged with larceny of $56.45 worth of costume jewelry and money, Mr. Copeland's testimony was that he was a "friend" to the family whose property he took and always "played jokes" like that.

Magistrate Koger, in no joking mood, sentenced the man to three months in the House of Correction.

Father William F. Christian, vicar of the church, officiated. He was assisted by Father Guy F. Kagey, former vicar; and Father Cedric E. Mills, rector of St. James P.E. Church.

THE CHOIR led in the singing of Mrs. Wharton's favorite hymns. They were, In The Hour of Trial, Come Ye Disconsolate, The Strife Is O'er and O Master Let Me Walk With Thee.

Edward Tilden was at the organ. George Washington directed the choir, substituting for Mrs. Wharton's daughter, (Mrs. Constantia Jackson) who is the regular choir director.

The family has been active in St. Katherine's for over 40 years, the family's Division St. home being located in the same block with the church.

Highlight of the 45 - minute services was the singing of Mallotte's 'The Lord's Prayer,' by Clarence Henderson, now a teacher at the Cherry Hill Junior High. He is one of Mrs. Wharton's former pupils.

Accompanying him at the organ was another former pupil, Dr. J. Walter Fisher, now a Morgan professor.

An accomplished pianist and singer herself, Mrs. Wharton once said that her greatest enjoyment was in seeing her students learn to appreciate good music and excell in their performances.

At Dunbar High where she was music teacher from 1914 to 1939, the school glee club and choral groups gained a reputation for excellency.

The girls' choir at Dunbar today is known as the Pauline Wharton Choir. Mrs. Mildred Williams is the director.

BORN IN BALTIMORE, Mrs. Wharton was the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Henry J. Brown.

She showed aptitude early in life, and was graduated valedictorian from the Old Colored High School in 1893.

She won the first alumni medal for scholarship and a gold medal for oratory. She showed her ability to recite and interpret the famous bard's works.

Later, she attended Morgan State College, Hampton Institute and Columbia University.

IN ADDITION to teaching at Dunbar, Mrs. Wharton found time to give private music instruction, take an active part in numerous civic groups and rear a family of three successful daughters and one son.

The AFRO honor roll of 1951 cited her for her "accomplishments as a teacher and her influence for good on countless younger Baltimoreans, including her own four children."

Besides St. Katherine's Church, where she was a member, the late Dr
