SCHOFIELD'S BIG STORE

at Still Pond, Md.

1912 1912

The name of Schofield on a Christmas gift insures quality. This is surely the most satisfying Christmas store on this Shore. Our seal of confidence applies just as strictly to all Christmas novelties as to our year-round stock. No matter how great your hurry or how great the throng may come, you are always sure to be properly waited on. Our holiday goods have been arranged with studied care for your comfort—things are easy to find, and are marked in figures.

There is always fun in Toyland, but the best values are early in the month, before they are picked over. Up until the gong sounds on Christmas Eve there'll be hurrying and skurrying and childish excitement in Toyland. But there won't be the good, well arranged assortment of Toys to choose from, nor the special values that reward the early shopper. Just now the Toy store is one grand, big, jolly place, that, to the children, seems to have sprung up over night, just to afford a playground for their special use and pleasure. To them it is a great wonderland—Schofield's big store for the little folks, with dreams of Santa Claus and a special Toy in mind. But the force back of this land of Toys has also been busy looking to the interest of the buyers of Toys—getting good Toys at little prices so that all little folks may share them and preparing special values that often put the coveted Toy within reach.

Santa Claus says that he prefers this store as his headquarters because the attendants are willing and courteous, maintaining the highest average of efficiency to be found in any store.

After any Sickness

nothing so rapidly restores health and vigor as SCOTT'S EMULSION. It is the essence of natural body-nourishment, so medically perfect that nature immediately appropriates and distributes it to every organ, every tissue—feeding, nourishing and restoring them to normal activity.

SCOTT'S EMULSION is not a patent medicine, but is nature's body-nourishment with curative, upbuilding properties and without a drop of drug or alcohol. It contains superior cod liver oil, the hypophosphites of lime and soda with glycerine, and is so delicately emulsified that it enters the system without digestive effort—builds, tones and sustains.

After croup, whooping cough, measles and other child ailments it is nature's ally in restoring health.

After grippe or pneumonia it imparts strength and health, and for colds, coughs, sore, tight chests and throat troubles SCOTT'S EMULSION gives the greatest relief known.

St. Mary's Protestant Episcopal Church, in the Fifth district of Cecil county, is one of the 24 churches in Maryland that is in possession of silver vessels that were in use during the colonial period. This is in accordance with the statement of E. Alfred Jones, the famous silver expert of England, who came to this country at the instance of the Society of Colonial Dames to gather material for his book on The Old Silver Vessels of American Churches. Mr. Jones, who was a recent guest at St. Mary's rectory, has visited all the churches of the State that are in possession of a silver service that dates back to colonial times, giving location, donors and dates. The service still in use in North East Church dates back to 1717, with Queen Anne the donor. In point of age it ranks eighth among the 24, Old Trinity Church, in Queen Anne county, having the oldest, dating back to 1689. Wealth of the Farm.

The most effective move toward the reduction of the high cost of living is the production of greater crops.

This has been the most productive of all agricultural years in the country.

Based on the census of wealth production on farms, the grand total for 1912 is estimated at $9,532,000,000, more than twice the amount of wealth produced on farms in 1859.

There has been an uplift of agriculture and of count life.

SUGGESTIONS AVAILED NOTHING

The committee from the Farmer's Club of Kennedyville consisting of Messrs. E. B. Pennington, John C. Redmile, S. G. Roseberry, Arthur Harris and F. H. Cornelius appointed at a previous meeting of the club made a report at the meeting last week and declared that the present manner of working the roads was deplorable and recommended that the system be changed.

The News published a few weeks ago Mr. Harris' report from this club and his opinion found an echo in most of the people. This is an old question and the News, as the spokesman for the whole people, will be glad to receive opinions and suggestions on this matter. Of course everyone will admit that roads cannot be worked without money, without system or competent officials. These three things are the first essentials.—Kent News last Saturday.

The TRANSCRIPT accepts the invitation of the News to express our opinion. It is this. The old Organization has had warnings without number as to the folly of such a road law as they passed and for which they are responsible, and from one end of the county to the other complaints of the system of working our roads have come, and you have had suggestions and petitions asking for its repeal, but you would not. You have kept this burden on the people, when you know in your hearts that it is an outrage to use the tax-payers money as it is being used at present, and all the suggestions that have been made are of no avail. Is your conscience beginning to trouble you at last?

COVINGTON IN HIGH FAVOR.

The Eastern Shore Congressman's Ability Being Recognized.

Representative J. Harry Covington, of Maryland, is being prominently mentioned by a number of his Democratic colleagues in the House of Representatives for appointment to one of the four Democratic vacancies on the Ways [and Means Committee, which will exist at the end of the present session of Congress. This movement is so definite that it was disclosed in a number of ways in conversation in the lobbies and cloak rooms last week and grows out of the popularity of Mr. Covington as a member of the House and his ability as a member of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. Some of the leaders of the House have been impressed with Mr. Covington's mastery of intricate detail displayed during the last session of Congress in connection with the consideration of the Panama Canal toll legislation. On that occasion Mr. Covington drafted the amendment which was finally adopted relative to the use of the canal by railroad-owned ships, and the amendment as drafted by Mr. Covington enabled his colleagues on the committee, Republican as well as Democratic to reach a common ground for compromise and agreement.

Whether Mr. Covington would accept a place on the Ways and Means Committee is quite another matter. Mr. Covington would not himself discuss the matter because, he explained, he did not care to place himself in the ridiculous attitude of discussing the acceptance or rejection of a place that had not been offered to him. But the fact remains that Mr. Covington is being seriously considered for one of the ways and means appointments and will be urged by many of his friends to accept. The position of Mr. Covington on the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee is one of the important places in the House, as that committee not only handles all legislation affecting the canal zone, but likewise is mainly concerned with the preparation of all legislation affecting interstate or foreign commerce. It handles all legislation relating to interstate railways, the Interstate Commerce Commission, pure food legislation, and similar matters.
