Hi-Fi's here to stay

By HERB MANGRUM

What is Hi-Fi? Ask the average lover of music. The music world by now is le for an answer to that ques- tion and you will probably wind up with as many definitions —all wrong.

The music world by now is aware of the fact that outside interested in improving musical reproduction for his own pleasure), few people can give a clear definition of the popular new concept in sound.

What is High Fidelity? It is just what the two words imply. It is the reproduction of speech and music with as much realism as is technically possible.

* * *

THE FACTORS that make possible the new sounds in music are numerous, there are only three basic characteristics that make the world of difference.

They are: 1. Minimization of distortion; 2. Wide frequency range; and 3. Tone balance.

Just as a photograph can appear blurred, so can sound be equally distorted and offensive.

In Hi-Fi fidelity components are designed carefully to keep distortion at a minimum.

Wide frequency range provides the ability to reproduce the entire range of sound with realism from the lowest note of an instrument or voice to the highest note.

For tonal quality, good High Fidelity components make for a proper balance between the high notes and low notes.

Combine these three characteristics properly and you have a music system that is the maximum for realism.

* * *

THERE'S NO getting around the fact that the basic units of a Hi-Fi set are the same as those used in a standard record player.

The difference lies in the custom engineering and the superior quality of High Fidelity performance.

Four basic units make up every Hi-Fi unit.

They are the turntable and cartridge, the amplifier, the speaker, and the housing for the speaker.

The turntable turns the record and is situated at the end of the pickup arm which contains a cartridge into which a needle is inserted.

While the needle tracks or follows the grooves of the record the cartridge changes the vibrating paths in the grooves into small electrical impulses.

The amplifying unit builds up the small voltages created by the cartridge into an amount of electrical energy strong enough to operate the speaker.

The speaker, the actual sound reproducing unit, converts the energy taken from the amplifier into sound waves that we hear as music or speech.

The housing unit is nothing more than a box concern designed to contain the loudspeaker.

* * *

WITH AN elementary understanding of Hi-Fi, and of what it can do to make listening a treat instead of a treatment the next thought turns to cost. Hi-Fi is not for a music lover who is temporarily down on his luck.

For slightly less than $150 a system can be bought that will outclass a regular commercial set.

In buying a Hi-Fi system however it is well to keep in mind that you are only getting what you pay for.

From $150 up the sky is the limit.

Whatever price range selected remember that each component must be comparable in quality.

Try matching an expensive amplifier with a low priced speaker and you are wasting both time and money.

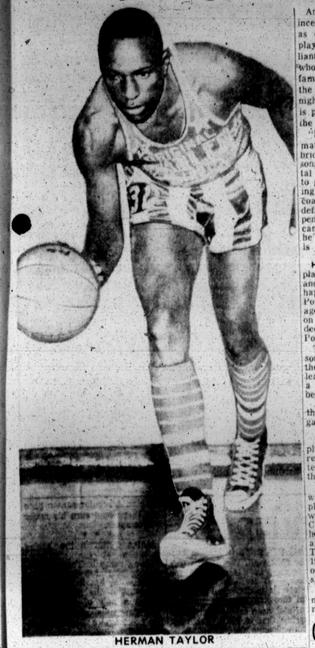
Globetrotter star takes bride, eyes bigger check



HERMAN TAYLOR

Andy Johnson has an added incentive to fulfill his ambition as one of the top basketball players in the world. The brilliant Harlem Globetrotters star, who will be here with the famed cage magicians against the House of David five tonight (Friday) at the Coliseum, is performing in a vein that is the talk of the sport world.

"Handy Andy," as his teammates know him, took a bride unto himself between seasons and apparently his marital status has spurred him on to greater efforts. If he's looking for more pay from owner-coach Abe Saperstein to help defray his increased living expenses, it doesn't look like he can miss. Th big fellow — he's six - six and weighs 215 — is all basketball player.

* * *

HIS BECOMING a basketball player is an interesting yarn and bears re-telling. Saperstein happened to be passing through Portland, Ore., several years ago, and, it being an open date on the Globetrotters' schedule, decided to see a University of Portland game.

The exceptional play of Johnson caught his eye. Talking to the youngster after the game, he learned that it long had been a dream of Andy's of one day becoming a Globetrotter.

A handshake between them then and there sealed the bargain.

* * *

IMMEDIATELY upon completing his U. of Portland career, he joined the Globetrotters for the final six weeks of their season's schedule.

He went into the Army and was named the best basketball player in the armed forces while representing Fort Ord, California. Upon receiving his honorable military discharge after two years, he rejoined the Trotters in mid - season of the 1954-55 campaign and has been one of their standouts ever since.

"Handy Andy," as his nickname implies, does everything right on a basketball court.

Baylor to fly back to Seattle U.

WASHINGTON

Elgin (Rabbit) Baylor, Seattle University's All - America cage star, plans to fly back to school tonight (Friday).

The former Spingarn High ace has been home visiting his family and nursing a couple of cracked ribs received in the NCAA finals last week.

Though Seattle lost the championship to Kentucky, 82-74, Baylor was voted the "Most Valuable Player" and named to the All - Tournament team.

Pro cagers rate Russell best player in the NBA

NEW YORK (ANP) — In his first full season in the National Basketball Association, Bill Russell established himself as the outstanding pro cager.

The 6-10 Boston Celtics' star won in a three-way race over Dolph Schayes, of Syracuse, all-time high scorer in pro basketball, and George Yardley, of Detroit, only player to score 2,000 points in one season in the NBA.

Russell was elected the best player in a vote of the 80 players in the league. None of the players was permitted to vote for a teammate.

With the tally based on five points for first, three for second and one for third, Russell accumulated 228 points, 30 more than Schayes. Yardley was third with 120. Russell was named on 91 percent of the eligible ballots.

Russell will receive an award at the next season's league all-star game in Detroit.

MacPhail speaker

Larry MacPhail, former general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, Brooklyn Dodgers, and New York Yankees, will be the principal speaker at the 38th annual Opening Dinner sponsored by the Scimeter Club of Baltimore, on Monday, April 28, 6 p.m. at the Alcazar.

Classy field set for Laurel opener

LAUREL, Md. — Sharpsburg, winner of three straight races last fall, and a dozen other horses are expected to be in the starting field for the Capital Handicap, Monday's feature as the Laurel track opens its long spring meeting.

Owned by Ray Faircloth of Johnson City, Tenn., Sharpsburg will be the starting highweight under 120 pounds. He was purchased from the Calumet Farm last year by Faircloth and Trainer Jimmy Croll, along with several other horses including Liberty Sun, nominated for the Capitol but not expected to start.

Howell Jackson's Tick Tock, given topweight of 122 pounds for the Capitol by Handicapper Charles McLennan, will pass up the race Jackson, however, will be represented by Four Fathoms (111) with Joe Culmone Chesapeake Trial here last spring.

Robby bars crowd from dressing room

BY CHARLES J. LIVINGSTON

CHICAGO—Wire services for newspapers throughout the nation remained opened for hours Tuesday night following Sugar Ray Robinson's middleweight title victory over Carmen Basilio in the Chicago Stadium, as members of the press corps were locked out of the champion's dressing room.

Although relatives and friends and a few privileged individuals were let into Robinson's sweltering dressing room, members of the press were not permitted inside, and whatever notes they got were picked up in the corridor outside.

* * *

ALL REPORTERS could learn about the newly-installed champion was that he would not meet the press for about an hour, and then only at his hotel suite at the Conrad Hilton.

More than an hour passed, however, and Robinson was still in his quarters at the stadium.

No one could ascertain immediately whether Robinson was overjoyed or exhausted from the pace of the fiercely fought bout.

It was noted, however, that Dr. Vincent Nardiello, his personal physician, visited him in his quarters and stayed for more than half an hour. Robinson, though he won, took a good body pounding.

THE BEDLAM which prevailed outside Robinson's dressing room left several individuals exhausted. Even the champion's wife, Edna Mae, and his sister, Marie, had to fight their way through the crowd, and got in only with the aid of Joe Louis.

Another person who had to fight the mob was Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, which sponsored the title bout.

During the melee, a corp of policemen and firemen, laboring strenuously, kept the crowd at bay outside.

* * *

FOR BARRING the press, Robinson, though he received their praises for the great fight he put up, received verbal thrashing from reporters.

The names some called him were unprintable. All agree, however, that he will go down in history as one of the greatest fighters the ring has ever known.

Baltimore Colts to meet Cards in pre-season tilt

The Baltimore Colts and the Chicago Cardinals will clash in a National Football League pre-season encounter, Saturday night, August 23, in Austin, Texas, Colt general manager Don Kellett announced today.

This is the fourth exhibition game announced by the Colts. Others are with the New York Giants, Philadelphia Eagles and Washington Redskins.

It also will mark the first appearance of the Baltimore pro gridders in Austin.

The Colts and Cards have met five times in pre-season play, with Chicago's only win coming lastyear, 28-21, in St. Louis.

Dick (Night Train) Lane boosted the Chicagoans to that triumph, returning two pass interceptions for touchdowns. One was a 75-yard gallop and the other, a 55-yard sprint, came in the final moments of play and provided the margin of victory.

Detroit bowlers drop JC suit

DETROIT (ANP) — Federal Judge Frank A. Picard dismissed a suit in Federal Court last week filed by five Colored Pontiac bowlers against seven bowling alleys in the city because of discrimination by the consent of both parties.

The bowlers and the bowling alley owners signed agreements calling for "full and equal accommodations advantages, facilities and privileges" for "all citizens."

The five brought the suit last Oct. 11, asserting that Pontiac bowling alley owners had discriminated against them, and they were forced to come to Wayne County for bowling. Both sides signed agreement to avoid further expenses and litigation.
