SCHOFIELD'S BIG STORE

at Still Pond, Md.

1912 1912

The name of Schofield on a Christmas gift insures quality. This is surely the most satisfying Christmas store on this Shore. Our seal of confidence applies just as strictly to all Christmas novelties as to our year-round stock. No matter how great your hurry or how great the throng may come, you are always sure to be properly waited on. Our holiday goods have been arranged with studied care for your comfort—things are easy to find, and are marked in figures.

There is always fun in Toyland, but the best values are early in the month, before they are picked over. Up until the gong sounds on Christmas Eve there'll be hurrying and skurrying and childish excitement in Toyland. But there won't be the good, well arranged assortment of Toys to choose from, nor the special values that reward the early shopper. Just now the Toy store is one grand, big, jolly place, that, to the children, seems to have sprung up over night, just to afford a playground for their special use and pleasure. To them it is a great wonderland—Schofield's big store for the little folks, with dreams of Santa Claus and a special Toy in mind. But the force back of this land of Toys has also been busy looking to the interest of the buyers of Toys—getting good Toys at little prices so that all little folks may share them and preparing spec[illegible] values that often put the coveted Toy within reach.

Santa Claus says that he prefers this store as his headquarters because the attendants are willing and courteous, maintaining the highest average of efficiency to be found in any store.

YOUR RHEUMATISM

is probably due to uric acid in the system—the blood must be purified—the poisonous acid driven out and general health must be improved.

Thousands testify that Scott's Emulsion rids the system of poisonous acid by enriching the impoverished blood, and its concentrated nourishment is converted into red blood corpuscles which drive out rheumatism.

It is especially valuable to aged people.

Ask for and insist on SCOTT'S.

A Wife's Ten Commandments.

William Semeckbier, a well-to-do merchant of Chicago, has been granted a divorce from his wife, Tillie, who it was proved beyond a doubt has been guilty of many indiscretions which a good wife would have shunned. William said that in spite of her own frailty, she was a most exacting wife, and had added to the Biblical decalogue ten commandments of her own, which she had prepared and insisted that he should obey. He had a neatly engrossed copy, which he showed the court. It reads thus:

These are the new Commandments ten,
Which wives now make for married men:
1—Remember that I am thy wife,
That thou must cherish all thy life.
2—Thou shalt not stay out late at night,
When lodges, friends or clubs invite.
3—Thou shalt not smoke indoor or out,
Or chew tobacco 'roundabout.
4—Thou shalt with praise receive my pies,
Nor pastry made by me despise.
5—My mother thou shalt strive to please,
And let her live with us in ease.
6—Remember, 'tis thy duty clear
To dress me well throughout the year.
7—Thou shalt in manner mild and meek,
Give me thy wages every week.
8—Thou shalt not be a drinking man,
But live on prohibition plan.
9—Thou shalt not flirt, but must allow
Thy wife such freedom, anyhow.
10—Thou shalt get up when baby cries,
And try thy child to tranquilize.
These my commandments from day to day,
Implicitly thou shall obey.

The husband said that Tillie had declared: "That is the way to treat men," when her own guilt was discovered.
