Tuition, board fees raised at Morgan

An increase in fees at Morgan State College for the 1958-59 academic year has been announced by President Martin D. Jenkins.

Board fees for all students have been increased by $18 per year to the new rate of $342. This increase has been necessitated by the increased cost of food and labor, Dr. Jenkins said.

Also increased is the tuition rate for out-of-state students. This fee has been raised by $80 to the new rate of $180.

Under the new schedule, total costs for Maryland students for the 1958-59 year will be: tuition and fees, $158; room and board $434; and the total for Maryland boarding students $592.

NON - MARYLAND students will pay a total of $338 for tuition and fees, $524 for room and board, and a total of $862 for the out-of-State boarding student.

The increase in fees for out-of-state students comes as a result of action by the General Assembly of Maryland, which expressed the opinion that non - Maryland students should bear a larger share of instructional costs than they do at present.

This action is in line with a trend throughout the country.

The increase in fees becomes effective in September, 1958.

Grads missing some good scholarships

"There isn't the demand from our students that there should be."

"I send out notices to the high school counselors to inform them about the scholarships but it hasn't been very fruitful."

These were the comments this week of Sen. Harry A. Cole (R., Echo-4th Dist.) when the AFRO asked him about the demand for state-sponsored scholarships over which he has a say.

THE NUMBER of scholarships involved is above 20.

Several of them are valued at more than $1,000.

They include a full cost scholarship to St. John College and about six $1,000 awards to the Johns Hopkins School of Engineering.

Senator Cole says he makes no racial distinction in awarding scholarships.

One of the engineering students studying on a scholarship he sponsored is a Japanese.

About 35 percent of the students are colored. The other 65 percent are of other racial groups.

"I try to be as democratic about it as I can," Senator Cole said.

FOR MOST of the scholarships high school graduates have to pass a competitive examination.

Additionally, "each senator has to satisfy himself of the financial need as well as the scholarship of the applicant," Mr. Cole explained.

Graduates who fear money may stand between them and their ambitions should take heart. There are many scholarships available, including those based on need.

In all, the state sponsors about 1,400 scholarships.

Outdoor art festival set May 18

Michel Toussaint, well known local artist is among those who will exhibit oil paintings at the Sixth annual outdoor Art Festival on Sunday, May 18.

Also a noted portrait painter, Mr. Toussaint will exhibit some 15 paintings in other media, including charcoals, and pastels.

Elizabeth Murphy Oliver, AFRO writer and former Douglass and Dunbar High School art teacher, will exhibit three oils entitled "Beulah Land", "Summer Afternoon," and "A Portrait of Marsha."

THE ART FESTIVAL will be held around the north side of the Druid Hill Park Lake.

All resident Maryland artists, 16 years of age or older, are invited to display their talents at that time.

Artists who wish to exhibit for the first time may get their entry blanks from any art store in Baltimore, the Maryland Institute, the Metropolitan School of Art, the Baltimore Museum of Art, the Peale Museum. Entry blanks are in the mail to previous exhibitors.

Entry forms must be postmarked no later than May 1, to be eligible for exhibit.

Testimonial slated for Miss Roberts

Miss Helen Gertrude (Mom) Roberts, retired employe of Morgan State College, will be honored at a testimonial dinner 6 p.m. Sunday, April 20, in the Memorial Refectory at the college.

Miss Roberts retired in December after 25 years of faithful and efficient service in the food service department of the college.

She won scores of friends in the United States and many foreign lands and the affection-title of "Mom" during her Morgan years.

The courtesy committee of the faculty and alumni employes of Morgan are sponsoring the affair. Melville Pugh, instructor in sociology, is chairman of the committee, while Edward N. Wilson, registrar, is chairman of the steering committee in direct charge of arrangements.

Subscriptions should be addressed to Miss Beatrice A. Mayo, treasurer, at the college.

Faculty Institute set at Howard U.

"Gearing the Social Work Profession to the Changing Social Scene" is the theme of the Alumni Faculty Institute to be held April 11 and 12 at Howard University.

Charles Schottland, commissioner of Social Security, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, will be the keynote speaker.

The institute is open to all alumni, students and former students of the School of Social Work.

Two new dates set for county residents to learn of schools

"Spotlight on Schools," a series of regional public meetings that have been underway in Baltimore county for the last month, shift to the populous Essex Middle River-Sparrows Point-Dundalk area to start the second half of the countywide itinerary.

Being conducted to inform county citizens of Board of Education Policy, problems and plans, the forthcoming public sessions, starting at 8 p.m., will be held Friday April 11 at Kenwood Senior High and Monday April 14 at Dundalk High.

Members of the county Board of Education and administrative staff will discuss various aspects of the county's overall public school program and will answer questions posed by the audience.

Deadline tonight for draft test

The Selective Service College Qualification test will be given to college men May 1, Colonel Henry C. Stanwood, State Director of Selective Service for Maryland, has announced.

The May 1 test will be the only test offered for the 1957-58 school year, the State Director said.

Scores made on the test are used by local boards as one guide in considering requests for deferment from military service to continue studies.

Application cards and instructions may be obtained from any Selective Service local board.

Applications must be postmarked not later than midnight tonight (Friday, April 11). The test will be administered by Science Research Associates, Inc., Chicago, Illinois.

Houston has first Science Fair project

More than one hundred scientific-minded pupils at Houston Junior High School No. 181 participated in the school's first annual Science Fair at which was held recently.

According to Frank J. Sorrell, principal of Houston, the student projects represented a wide range of interest.

Sheron Berry was awarded first place honor for her clay model of the Grand Canyon. Andrea Butler won second prize for his steam turbine, while a robot made by Elbert Bishop was judged third best.

Fourth and fifth place honors went to Gwendolyn Kutcherman and Brenda McKella respectively for their showing the uses of oil in our lives and the

THE FEATURE presentation during the Science Fair was the presentation of an illustrated lecture by Donald McKartan, associated with the Glenn L. Martin Company and its Vanguard development program.

Serving as judges for the student projects were Charles Michaels of School No. 130 and Mrs. Bernice Brown of Cherry Hill Junior High School.

Mrs. Barbara J. Patterson was chairman of the Science Fair.

A group of 6A pupils from School No. 104 recently visited the school accompanied by their counselor, Lester Wallace and their teacher, John Rich.

Visitations were made to the various offices of the school and they also viewed the Sci-

AFTER THE TALK — These students at Morgan State College had the opportunity for first hand conversation with A. Phillip Randolph, president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and vice-president of the AFL-CIO, on Wednesday. Mr. Randolph spoke to an overflow crowd at the school.

Says school integration may be counter-revolution's victim

"I'm alarmed lest today's civil rights revolution encounter a counter revolution that may have the same effect as the counter revolution during the years following the Civil War."

A. Phillip Randolph, international president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters and a vice president of the AFL-CIO, sounded that warning here Wednesday.

The world renown labor leader and civil rights fighter spoke to an overflow crowd of students, faculty members and guests in the Hurt Gymnasium at Morgan State College.

Another feature of the assembly was the presentation by President Martin D. Jenkins of achievement awards to nine non-teaching staffers at Morgan.

WITH THE explanation that it was a counter revolution that nullified the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments after the Civil War, Mr. Randolph declared: "Here we are moving rapidly along the path of the civil rights revolution, but I am alarmed.

"There is a grave danger that another counter revolution may nullify the decision of May 17, 1954 (the school integration decision).

"I am disturbed about the trend of public sentiment at this time about this great decision.

In the North, liberals are becoming lukewarm, some of the scholarly journals are beginning to write expositions to give signs of approval to the position of the South."

GOING A step further, Mr. Randolph said that "in circles of government, religion and even in circles of labor, people are beginning to wonder whether or not desegregation is illtimed."

Mr. Randolph urged his listeners to support the NAACP and the Montgomery Alabama Movement and warned that "we will not automatically triumph" just because the cause is just and right.

"Here be not now engaged in the labor field," Mr. Randolph said he would launch a national movement for the sole purpose of effecting the registration of colored citizens.

He told the students he expects things will become much worse on the civil rights front before they grow better but urged them to accept the challenge to carry on the fight.

"The reason we are in this struggle for the effectuation of a civil rights revolution is because the Civil War revolution was never completed," he explained.

While that revolution threw down the slave government, emancipated the slaves, united the country and reestablished a federal government system, it did not make free workers of the slaves or result in free suffrage and free public schools for all, he said.

He charged that the Hayes-Tilden election year deal and the 1876 separate but equal decision led to "complete subjugation" of the colored man.

The counter revolution spearheaded by the NAACP since 1910 now stands to be met by another counter revolution," Mr. Randolph fears.

MR. RANDOLPH was presented by Dr. G. James Fleming, professor of political sciences at Morgan and a member of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

Morgan staffers receiving awards from Dr. Jenkins, who was assisted by Laban Maults, plumber and president of the Classified Workers Association at Morgan, were:

Mr. Beatrice Mayo, chief accountant, 25 years; Frank Wilson, head custodian 25 years (never late); Mrs. Mary Spellman, assistant dean of women, 15 years;

Mrs. Grace Barke, personnel director, 10 years; Warren W. Gross, janitor, 10 years; William C. Johnson, painter, 10 years; Mrs. Ella Pierce, purchasing agent, 10 years, and Mrs. Lucretia Whitten, accountant in the comptrollers office, 10 years.

Also presented was James Carter, assistant to the president, who has been at the institution for 42 years.

Reconciliation meet scheduled at Morgan

Dr. Harold A. Bosley, former pastor of the Mt. Vernon Place Methodist Church, will give the keynote address at the opening session of the national conference of the Fellowship of Reconciliation at the Morgan College Christian Center, April 18.

Dr. Bosley now serving First Methodist Church, Evanston, Illinois, is a nationally known lecturer, author, and church leader.

The two-day conference is meeting in Baltimore to consider two major issues: bombs, missiles and armaments, and reconciliation in racial tensions.

Local arrangements are under the auspices of the Baltimore unit of the F.O.R., headed by Charles St.

Mrs. Dennis to new school after 24 years at No. 176

After 24 years as principal of the Francis M. Wood Elementary School, No. 176, Mrs. Louise Dennis will transfer to another school, it was recently announced by the School Board.

She has been named the new principal of Elementary School, No. 137 to succeed Edward L. Murray.

Mr. Murray will become the principal of the new Rutland Ave. school when it is completed.

No one has yet been named to succeed Mrs. Dennis.

Health meeting

Dr. Percy E. Prather, director, Maryland State Department of Health, has announced that a Conference on Noxious Mosquito Education will be held in Baltimore April 14-18.

The conference will be held in the new Education Building of the University of Maryland, in Baltimore.

Board elevates Dr. Fleming, Mr. Jones, hires math teacher

The promotion of two faculty members and the appointment of one other were announced today by Morgan State College president, Dr. Martin D. Jenkins.

Promoted, effective September, 1958, were: Dr. G. James Fleming, from associate professor to professor of political science; and Harry L. Jones, Fleming, from associate professor of English.

To join the Morgan faculty in September as professor of mathematics is Dr. Valodymyr Bohun-Chudyniv, now on the faculties of Morehouse College and Atlanta University, Atlanta, Ga.

DR. FLEMING, who joined the Morgan faculty in 1954, is a graduate of the University of Wisconin, where he was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. He holds the A.M. degree in economics and the Ph.D. degree in political science from the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Fleming has a distinguished record of research and community service. He served as a researcher on "The Negro in America," a project sponsored by the Carnegie Corporation of New York, which resulted in publication of The American Dilemma: An Contemporary Myrdal (Harper's, 1944).

He was principal editor of Who's Who in Colored America, the definitive work in this area, in 1950, and in 1956 served as a member of a five - man team which conducted a survey under the direction of the University of Pennsylvania for the Pennsylvania State Department of Welfare.

The survey resulted in the publication in 1957 of A Survey and a Statement of Principles on Tax-Supported Medical Institutional Care for the Needy and Medically Needy of Pennsylvania.

HE HAS worked as Director of Community News for Station WLIB in New York City, as executive editor of the New York Amsterdam News, as executive secretary of the Race Relations Division, American Friends Service Committee (1945-50), and as regional director of the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practice (1941-1945).

He is presently a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission of Baltimore.

Dr. Felming is a member of several national honor societies including Pi Gamma Mu and Sigma Delta Chi and is affiliated with the American Academy of Political and Social Science, the Southern Political Science Association, the Friends Historical Society and the American Society for Public Administration.

MR. JONES, who joined the Morgan faculty in 1955, holds the A.B. and A.M. degrees from Howard University. He has done graduate study at the Catholic University of America and studied for two years in Scandinavian language and literature at the International Peoples College in Elsinore, Denmark.

Prior to coming to Morgan, Mr. Jones served as an instructor, the department of English, Lincoln University (Mo.), and as a lecturer in world literature at the International Peoples College.

While in Europe, he also served as a lecturer at Lund University, Lund, Sweden, and as an instructor in English Composition and Conversation in Halsingborg, Sweden. He has also worked as an instructor in the department of English and as chairman of the world literature studies program at Southern University, Baton Rouge, La.

During the summer since 1955, Mr. Jones has served as an instructor in English for Foreigners at the American Language Center of the American University in Washington, D.C.

A NATURALIZED American citizen, Dr. Bohun-Chudyniv was born in the Ukraine and received the Ph.D. degree from Kiev University. He also holds the Doctor of Science degree from the Academy of Science, USSR, Moscov.

His teaching experience includes service at Kiev University, Ukraine, Katan University in Russia, Bratislava University in Czechoslovakia and posts in Germany.

Since coming to the United State, he has done research for the Ford Foundation and prepared and completed a project entitled "On the Educational System in the USSR" for the United States Air Force, under supervision of the Library of Congress.

COULD IT BE talk about English, which happens to be the major of these two Morgan College students, that brings the spring-day smile to the face of Miss Lillie Cooper, 18, freshman of Wilson, N.C., as she shares a bench in the sun with Robert Alexander, 20, a sophomore of Sumter, S.C.

DHS club stages T.B. program

By DAISY WILSON

The Future Nurses Club at Douglass High School recently presented a program in the school's auditorium to stress the importance of the prevention and wiping out of tuberculosis.

Clerie Byrd, Adelaide Hilton and Patricia James formed a panel pointing out the symptoms and causes of the disease.

Members of the Douglass newspaper staff will attend the Maryland Press Advisors Association Convention, April 19 at the University of Maryland.

The Douglass Courier is the school's publication.

ANN SMITH, Patricia Gayles, Louise Sisco and Daisy Wilson will compete in the writing contest.

Mrs. Mae Allen, an English teacher at the school and advisor for the newspaper staff, is vice president of the MSPAA.

The school's music department sponsored an Easter program in which all the school choirs and some selected pupils participated.

Carnival to have 10 new tunes

A carnival of rhythm with 10 spinning original tunes and a cast of 35 teenagers will be presented in the Cherry Hill Community Center, 2700 Spelman Rd., on April 17 at 8 p.m.

Songs for the carnival were written by Mrs. Alice Caster, recreation leader, who is directing the program.

Theme of the carnival is "Dance Carnival" and a local dance team is assisting with the dances.

IN THE carnival, rhythm will be heard in a blend of the usual carnival wares.

All especially catching tune is "Dance to the hit parade, "My Heart is For Sale" will be featured.

In the show, Mr. Rop, played by Charles Harris, tries to take over things but is cooled down by King Rhythm (Ronald Morton).

There will be more fun when Grandma (Mary Mack), and Grandpa (Lloyd Barnes) bring their rheumatism troubles to the carnival looking for medical treatment.

The carnival is sponsored by the Teens of the Community Center, Clifton Mack, president.
