Tears, boned shad, broiled roe—but a job? — No!

By ELIZABETH M. OLIVER

Was a tear shed as the chef cook stirred the soup of the day or broiled the boned shad with roe?

This may have happened on the dining car last Saturday as the B and O Royal Blue luxury train made its run between Washington and New York.

The reason was that authorities were discontinuing passenger service between Washington and New York.

Last year's figures showed the run suffered a net loss of $5 million.

EVEN IF no tears did fall, Chef Cook John Bass, 440 Jackson Ave., Jersey City, N.J. had what he called "the blues," as he broiled boned shad and roe Saturday.

Employed by the B and O for 31 years, he stated that he had "nothing in mind" for future employment.

Mr. Bass recalled:

"I've prepared some delicacies in my day — fine steaks, caviar, sweets breads, turkey shortcake — and these dishes were for kings, queens and some mighty classy people."

He disclosed that he had seen "with my own eyes" Ex-President Harry Truman, the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife Ann, their children, and her famous father, the late Ambassador D. W. Morrow.

Also among the famous who dined upon his fine dishes were diplomat Dr. Ralph Bunche, NAACP Official Dr. Channing Tobias; and England's late King George and Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Curtis Lightfoot, 3130 Central Ave., NE, Washington, has been second cook on the B and O for 16 years, has seen "many a movie star" dip famous fingertips in the diner's silver bowls.

He also regretted the passing of the Royal Blue into the realm of memory.

DINING CAR waiters also found themselves unemployed after Saturday's run.

Ulysses E. Nehlett, Jersey City, N.J., who had made the run for 29½ years was one of them.

He told the AFRO: "I should sit down and take a rest after all this time I've been on the road but I have an idea I'll hunt for another job."

However, waiter Frederick Douglass Paige, 231 Watson Ave., Plainfield, N.J., has brighter prospects.

He told the AFRO: "I'm going with the train that runs out of Washington westward."

Mr. Douglass has been employed on the B and O 15 years.

Also remaining with the company is Joseph L. Rogers, 110 Wilkerson Ave., Jersey City, N.J., who has been a waiter for 29 years and has served on the Royal Blue 21 years.

He said: "I am supposed to go on the Capital Limited out of Washington."

Also slated to join the Capital Limited Staff is bar tender George A. Watts, 838 Jackson Ave., Bronx, N.Y., who has been in the Royal Blue bar car for 35 years.

JAMES HARRIS, 50 W. 106th St., NYC, has been bar attendant for 19 years but was left "with nothing to do" after the Royal Blue came to the end of the line.

He revealed: "I'm going to business school and finish my IBM training."

Vernois E. Cornish, 400 W. 12th St., NYC, wistfully told the AFRO: "No more job for me after I get to New York."

He has been employed for 31 years, has not missed a day since 1931.

AS THE Royal Blue chalked off the miles on the farewell journey back on the platform in Baltimore were employees who did not make the last ride.

Among them was baggageman Horace Bailey, 2422 Reisterstown Rd., who had seen the famed train ride the tracks for 16 years.

He said: "I could see a decline sometime ago. I knew I didn't sell as many baggage checks as before."

Other baggagemen shading their eyes as the train pulled out of sight were Jerome Smith, 203 Ogston St., who has been employed at the Camden Station 30 years, and Leon Chesley, 16 years.

Also on the platform to wave bye, 2728 Rosedale St., an goodbye was Mrs. Bessie Smith, 1727 N. Carey St., who has been a Camden Station maid for 16 years.

Mrs. Smith recalled seeing TV's Garry Moore, George Gobie, Actress Dianna Lynn, singer Harry Belafonte and other famous people.

Mrs. Lizzie Rogers, 701 S. Sharp St., has been a member of the maintenance staff 13 years.

She told the AFRO: "I'm just so sorry."

LAST BAGGAGE to be loaded on the Royal Blue from Camden Station on Saturday was handled by baggage men (left) Leon Chesley, 2728 Rosedale St., and Horace Bailey, 2422 Reistertown Rd. Both men have worked 16 years on the B and O and have seen the Royal Blue go up to New York some 11,000 times.

Probation report harms babysitter

"He looked to me like a decent sort of person and I was hoping they wouldn't find anything so I could place him on probation . . .

"I'm imposing a light sentence because there was no intention on his part to kill that little baby."

A tall, 18-year-old babysitter stood stony-faced in Youth Court Wednesday as Judge Michael J. Manly made these observations prior to sentencing him to not more than a year in the Reformatory for manslaughter.

Edward J. Bragg was convicted by Judge Manley on April 4 of causing the death of his 3-year-old cousin, Patricia Ann Mullen, 1900 block Warwick Ave., while babysitting for his aunt, Mrs. Odell Mullen last Dec. 12.

IN AN UNUSUAL move in cases involving deaths, Judge Manley requested the probation report before imposing sentence.

However, the findings revealed that the Washington youth had a record of juvenile offenses in the District of Columbia and that he was being discharged from the Army Reserves because he "did not show the required discipline."

Young Bragg had been in Baltimore only six weeks, according to a statement he gave police, when Patricia was fatally injured.

Death was caused by a ruptured liver, according to an autopsy report.

The defendant testified at his trial that on the fatal morning he spanked Patricia because she had awakened one of the two younger children and later drowned her while carrying her up the cellar steps.

Bragg said he tried to revive her by using artificial respiration and when she did not respond, he called the child's father.

Lecture series set at library

The Enoch Pratt Free Library's midday lectures for May will deal with national politics, improvement of downtown Baltimore, and scientific progress in cancer control.

Gerald Griffin will open the new series next Wednesday (May 7) at 12:30 p.m., with a talk entitled, "Dateline Washington."

"The Charles Center" will be discussed May 21 by Hunter Moss, chairman of the Planning Council, Greater Baltimore Committee.

Dr. C. Bernard Brack, associate professor of gynecology at the Johns Hopkins Medical School, will speak on "Recent Advances in the Fight against Cancer" at the final lecture of the season, set for May 28.

Admission to the series is free.

Tip on paint poison case earns top award

Winner of the top AFRO news tips award this week and a check for $5 was the caller reporting the death of a small child stricken after she ate paint containing lead poison.

Selected to receive a check for $3 was the tipster reporting the wounding of burglary suspect by a policeman Sunday morning.

An out-of-town tipster was selected to receive a check for $2.50 for a tip on a fatal auto accident near Havre de Grace.

Information on the death of a 104-year-old Cherry Hill resident earned the tipster a check for $2.

Nine alert tipsters were selected to receive checks for a dollar each for information called into this office.

Two of them involved weekend stabbings of a man and three girls. Also in this category were tipsters reporting the matron found dead early this week; the arrest of a group of youngsters Wednesday night; a fire on Bradley St., and five automobile accidents.

PROVIDENT GUILD TEA—Inclement weather notwithstanding, approximately 3,000 persons attended the Provident Hospital Ladies Guild tea at Douglass High School. Shown here are some of those in attendance. In the photo, seated clockwise, are John W. White, Mrs. William Laukatis, Mrs. Warren M. Bloomberg, Acting Postmaster Laukaitis, Warren M. Bloomberg, Miss Betty McLemore and Mrs. Jean McSwain. Standing in the same picture, left to right, are Mesdames Bernice Lane, Mary Parker, Mae Stewart, Elizabeth White, Camille Holt, Melva Gingard and Inez Moore. In right photo, from the left, are Miss Isabelle Brown, Mrs. Grace Manning, Mrs. Maybelle Henson and Mrs. Robert Ellison.

—8 women on ballot

served on the executive board of the Urban League.

She is a member of Grace Presbyterian Church.

A lifelong Democrat, Mrs. Dixon is the wife of William B. Dixon.

If elected Mrs. Dixon promises to vote for fair salaries for teachers and smaller class loads; better care of dependent children and the aged and improved recreational facilities to combat juvenile delinquency.

She is for outlawing segregation in any form and for laws providing adequate housing.

Mrs. Verda Welcome, 2101 Liberty Heights Ave., Democratic candidate for the House of Delegates, 4th District.

Mrs. Welcome is a member of the City Planning and Housing Board, the Zoning Committee and president of the Northwest Improvement Association.

Prominent in civic affairs for 11 years, she is also vice president of the Mondawmin Neighborhood Association, a member of the Harlem Park Community Council, the League of Women Voters and the National Council of Negro Women.

Mrs. Welcome also taught school for 11 years and is a graduate of Coppin State Teachers College, Morgan State College and New York University.

A member of the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, she is the wife of Dr. Henry Welcome, a local physician.

SHE IS A member of the Metropolitan YWCA Board, and a life member of the NAACP.

Mrs. Welcome states that she is for taking the "frills" off of education and placing emphasis on better basic courses of study. She would also increase teachers' pay.

She advocates scholarships for needy high school graduates and for "recession children."

Housing without segregation, urban renewal, zoning, are of primary concern in her platform.

To help cut taxes and make for government economy, Mrs. Welcome will recommend the elimination of waste in government spending.

Her "freedom measures" include elimination of segregation in any form or fashion so that each person may live according to his individual ability.

Mrs. Welcome would weed out "the rotten eggs in the basket" and "the rotten apples in the barrel" as far as labor is concerned. Labor deserves a "square deal" she says.

MRS. BERTHA C. WINSTON, 1500 Madison Ave., Republican candidate for the House of Delegates, 4th District.

Mrs. Winston is the widow of the Rev. Willis J. Winston, the former pastor of New Metropolitan Baptist and Wayland Baptist Churches.

A housewife, church and civic worker, Mrs. Winston is active in the YWCA, the Women' Convention of Maryland, and director of the Young People Department of the National Baptist Convention.

She is also a member of the board of managers for the Barrett School for Girls.

Sponsored in the election by the Christian Women's City-Wide Committee for Better Government, Mrs. Winston is also active in the Theodore McKoldin Republican Club.

A lifelong Republican, she is interested in elimination of segregation in hospitals throughout the state and in the welfare of children.

Mrs. Winston says if elected, she will fight for the welfare of all the people regardless of race and she includes high on her list an expanded program of parental education.

A traffic police force to end "slaughter" on the highways is also on her slate.

However, Mrs. Winston says that adequate housing should take precedent over all since living conditions vitally effect children.

She says: "The presence of women in the legislature will result in something good.

"If the men do not talk loud enough, the women will."

Mrs. Helen G. Woodland, 1205 Myrtle Ave., candidate for the Republican State Committee, 17th Ward.

Mrs. Woodland is the widow of Charles T. Woodland, an insurance agent, and member of the Republican organization in 17th Ward for more than 20 years.

Mrs. Woodland herself has been a ward leader and active in Republican circles for two decades.

Mrs. Woodland

She is a member of the trustee board of F. E. W. Harper Temple, Pride of Baltimore Elks, St. Pius Catholic Church, the Blessed Virgin Society.

She was selected as AFRO'S Maryland Mother of the Year for 1957. She is the mother of five children — all college trained.

Mrs. Mollie, B. Neal, 1013 Whitelock St., candidate for the Republican State Committee, 17th Ward:

Mrs. Neal is a clerk in the Supervisor of Elections office and the widow of James E. Neal, a postal worker for 37 years.

A longtime worker in civic and political affairs, Mrs. Neal states that interest in city, state and national government has become as a "faith" to her.

She firmly believes in participation in government by all people and states that she has never missed voting since she reached legal age of 21 years.

Mrs. Neal believes that women's presence in politics has "cleaned things up."

If elected, Mrs. Neal promises to guard rights of all people.

She states that her interest will be directed toward elimination of segregation, broadening educational opportunities and better housing conditions.

She is a member of Payne AME Church, the Women's Civic League, Provident Hospital Guild, the Madison Ave. Neighborhood Club, and the De-Priest Republican Club.

Mrs. Pearl L. Pennington, 1518 McCulloh St., candidate for the Democratic State Convention, 4th Legislative District.

Mrs. Pennington is the wife of the well - known retired teacher, P. D. G. Pennington.

Retired from 25 years service as an accountant in the Quarter Master General's Washington office, Mrs. Pennington is chairman of the Life Membership Committee of the NAACP.

She is a member of the YWCA, the Provident Hospital Guild and St. James P. E. Church.

Mrs. Ida Murphy Smith, 1702 N. Carey St., candidate for the Democratic State Convention, 4th District.

Mrs. Smith is an AFRO sales representative and the wife of S. Edward Smith, a teacher of distributive education in the public schools.

She was for five years manager of the Washington AFRO advertising department and first woman to attend the Columbia Press Institute for advertising managers.

A graduate of Douglass High School and the University of Wisconsin, she is past president of the Epsilon Sigma chapter of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority and former national journalist of Jack and Jill of America.

She is a member of the St. James PE Church Mothers Guild.

Mrs. Smith has lived in the fourth district for more than 20 years and pledges herself to carry out instructions of the 4th District voters if she is elected at the State Democratic Convention.

Mrs. Ella L. Watson, 829 N. Bond St., is candidate for the Republican Central Committee 17th Ward.

Mrs. Watson has been a committee woman for six years, looks forward to another term. She was first elected in 1952, served four years, was re-elected in 1956.

As ward executive her task has been to serve voters throughout the ward and supervise at the polls.

Her husband, Bernard Watson, is a Schmidt Bakery Co. employee. They have three children, Mrs. Mildred Fennell, Mrs. Dorothy Davis and Bernard Jr.

The Watsons are members of First Baptist Church. Mrs. Watson is employed as a clerk in the Supervisor of Elections office.

CHAIRMAN of the Provident Hospital Ladies Guild tea which attracted 3,000 persons despite the Sunday downpour was Mrs. Maggie Flacks pictured here. Event was at Douglass high. Mrs. Flacks wore peach and orchid print dress and topped it with a pink straw decorated with deeper peach hat. She also wore a deep purple orchid. Mrs. Virginia M. Champ is president of the Guild.

CO-CHAIRMAN of the Provident Hospital tea was Mrs. Carolyn Veasey right, shown here with Mrs. Marion Jones, one of the committee members. Both ladies selected huge black hats decorated with colorful flowers. All committee members also wore yellow corsages. Eleventh annual tea attracted 3,000 women despite downpour of rain.

MRS. BERTHA WINSTON

U.S. Must Learn Asians Better

McClarrin back from Indonesia, gives warning

WASHINGTON

"America's destiny and possible survival as a democracy may depend upon how well Americans understand the people of Asia," Otto McClarrin, public relations consultant recently returned for a State Department post in Indonesia told an audience at Howard University Friday.

"Without some understanding of Asian cultures, no solid foundation for overt acts of friendship can be laid effectively. Unless Americans achieve better understanding of the anatomy of Asia, we cannot avoid committing elementary errors in human relationships," he said.

MR. McCLARRIN RECENTLY returned to Washington after serving with the U.S. Information Agency as a public affairs officer. Prior to his two-year assignment overseas, during which he visited some 34 countries around the world, he was director of public relations for Howard University for ten years.

"CURRENT INDICATIONS are that the United States is losing the cold war in Asia, and one contributing factor to this situation is the fact that not enough Americans are taking positive steps to learn about and understand Asia's artistic and philosophical excellence."

He feels that too much emphasis is placed on economic, political and military factors in comparison with inadequate attention to the "well springs which feed their minds and spirit."

"I believe we should make a stronger effort to learn about the inner vibrations that make Asians tick," Mr. McClarrin said, in urging members of his audience to take more sincere interest in the affairs and the people of the Far East.

SERVING AS PRINCIPAL SPEAKER at an annual banquet sponsored by the Men's Club of Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, held in Baldwin Hall at the university, Mr. McClarrin told his audience that the Asian people and their culture are one, and thoughtless actions by some Americans, seemingly unaware of such facts, serve to stir up psychological insecurity.

He emphasized the importance of Americans using many hundreds of methods to learn more about people of other countries. "Effective human engineering on our part can do much to stem the tide of communism in the world today," he said.

He further suggested that America's public and private corporation officials should be exposed to more thorough orientation in race relations before being assigned to countries in a color complex.

The public relations consultant discussed in great detail his experiences in learning more about the culture of the people of Indonesia, and told of going with Indonesians to watch live sacrifices to the God of he Bromo Volcano.

HE EXPRESSED INTENSE admiration for the Tenggerese people in East Java. "Whatever the merits of their religious beliefs, I admire them for the strength of their convictions and the way they translate that strength into physical power."

These people, numbering some 50,000, profess the Buddist faith, with traceable influences of Hinduism.

"When Islam was introduced into the Madjapahit Empire in the 15th century, the Tenggerese refused to convert to Islam, and withdrew into the Tengger Highlands. Throughout the ages, they have succeeded in preserving the heritage of bygone days — a language, faith, customs and traditions of their own."

MR. McCLARRIN EMPHASIZED that the work of the United States Information Agency overseas is a "very important and very necessary job of submitting evidence to other peoples that United States policies will advance their aspirations for freedom, progress and peace. We can't afford to do less. In fact, much more money should be spent by the U.S. Government for that purpose."

Other speakers at the banquet were the Rev. James O West, rector of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church, Alphonso Williamson, toastmaster; and Elmer D. Geathers, president of the Men's Club.

WARNS ABOUT ASIA—Mr. and Mrs. Otto McClarrin who have recently returned from a tour of duty in Burma. Mr. CcClarrin told an audience at Howard University Friday that Americans must learn to understand the people of Asia if democracy hopes to survive.

Dr. Chowdry to address meeting

Dr. Dan S. Chowdry, president of the Union Theological Seminary, Bazeilly, India, will speak Sunday at 11 a.m. and Wednesday, May 7, at 8 p.m., at Sharp St. Memorial Methodist Church.

His remarks will be concerned with the philosophy of Ghandi and Nehru.

Dr. Chowdry received graduate degrees from Northwestern, University of Chicago and Yale University.

He has served as an outstanding leader in the Methodist Church of Northern India.

Dr. Chowdry has lectured all over the United States and is particularly interested in the contributions of American colored citizens to national and world life.
