THE Utilities Commission has set the rate to be charged for gas in Baltimore at 80 cents, and for electricity at 8½ cents. These rates are to take effect July 1.

FORMER Attorney-General Straus is making the friends of Senator John Walter Smith throughout the State sit up and take notice because of the many "jabs" he is giving them.

MAYOR PRESTON, of Baltimore, on Monday named Dr. Nathan R. Gorter as Health Commissioner to succeed the late Dr. James Bosley. Dr. Gorter is a brother of Judge James P. Gorter, who is well-known in this county where he has tried several cases in our courts.

ON PAGE 7 in this issue will be found a strong endorsement of State Senator Blair Lee for the United States Senate by Hon. Frank O. Smith, congressman from the Fifth Congressional District. Senator Lee is gaining ground each week, and it looks as though his opponent will find a strong rival when the final show down comes.

"I PICK out Progressives, and only Progressive" said Gov. Wilson at Trenton this week. Governor Wilson's declaration was made at a luncheon given in his honor at the Sterling Hotel by the New Jersey electors, the members of the Democratic State Committee, and the Democratic members of the New Jersey State Senate and House of Representatives.

IF IT costs the tax-payers of Kent county $23,000 to keep the roads of the county in their present condition, how many thousands of dollars will it require to put our roads in anything like a proper condition, when the end of the present incompetent management comes? That should prove a very serious matter for consideration by our tax-payers when questions concerning the present system of working our roads are asked.

EVERY now and then readers of the Baltimore dailies will rememember seeing in print quite lengthy accounts calling attention to what should be done to get a larger share of the Eastern Shore trade for that city. Many reasons are advanced, but the principal one is "hidden under a bushel."

To get the people to deal more extensively with that city, it is only common sense to say that the thing necessary is first to get the Eastern Shore people interested in Baltimore, and it is up to the Baltimore dailies to do that. Do they try to do so? Every reader of any or all the Baltimore papers know well that the papers of that city almost exclude from their columns news from the Eastern Shore, while on the other hand the Philadelphia papers publish daily quite a lot of items from this Peninsula. People like to read home news if there is any, and consequently they subscribe for or buy Philadelphia papers in preference to Baltimore papers. Constant reading of papers from the City of Brotherly Dove naturally results in the readers becoming more or less interested in that city. It also results in much of the trade going to that city. The Philadelphia papers have gotten so far ahead of the Baltimore press in gathering news from this Peninsula that one or two of the Baltimore afternoon sheets copy daily the Maryland Happenings from the Philadelphia Record.

The Baltimore press needs to wake up out of its long sleep.—From the Cecil Democrat.

Betterton Notes.

The Betterton Musical and Literary Club met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Jones Friday evening, Jan. 10, 1913. Almost the entire roll of twenty-five members were present. The rapid growth of this club makes it regrettable that its membership is limited as it is rapidly approaching the maximum number. Misses Marie Brice, Hallie Brice and Viola Hickman were enrolled as new members. The entertaining features of the evening were the source of great pleasure and the opportunity was creditably embraced in exercising vocal and instrumental talent. The program for the evening was as follows: Piano solo, Miss Hazel Crew; reading, President J. H. Goodin; vocal trio, Mrs. J. H. Goodin, Mrs. B. Lewis, Mrs. L. Briscoe; mandolin duet, Mrs. George Jones, Mrs. L. Briscoe; solo, Miss Marie Brice; guitar solo, Mrs. Geo. Jones; impromptu reading, Mr. Wm. H. Kelley. A song by the club closed the program and refreshments were artistically served, after which the club adjourned. While their meetings serve a two-fold purpose of entertainment and instruction the club never looses sight of its one great motive of organizing.—"That its object is to bring its members together in social intercourse and to enjoy musical and literary selections given by its members."

FARMERS INSPECT PLANT

Kent County Delegation is Royally Entertained by Mr. A. S. Turner and the John Deere Machinery Company.

Eighteen or twenty of Kent's progressive farmers were the guests of the John Deere Machinery Company, through their local representative, Mr. A. S. Turner, of Worton, from Tuesday to Thursday on a tour of inspection of the company's fine plant in Baltimore. Mr. Turner did everything in his power for the comfort and pleasure of his guests, providing them with round trip tickets by train, affording pullman car service and showing the boys a fine time in the city. The John Deere Company is one of the largest manufacturers of carriages, farm implements, etc., in the world, and the Kent county delegation was much impressed with the skill and care in the construction of their machinery, which because of its durability and adaptability to farm purposes has made the Deere machinery so popular in this county. The delegation was met at Union Station, Baltimore, by a representative of the company, who, with Mr. Turner, took the delegation in charge, conveyed them to the fine plant and entertained them royally during their stay in the city. Mr. Turner proved his merit as a representative of the company by his interest in the comfort and pleasure of his guests, and by his good business judgment in conceiving the idea to advertise his company's business in such a forceful manner.

Upon arriving at Union Station, the delegation was met by Mr. Charles Northrup, traveler for the Deere Company on the Eastern Shore, and when he saw the delegation as a body he was so much impressed with its good looks, and splendid bearing that he immediately put on the smile that won't come off. The delegation was conveyed to the magnificent plant of the Deere Company on Pratt street, where Mr. Northrup introduced them to the manager and salesmen of the company, and made them comfortable in their splendid new offices. At 12.30 Mr. Northrup and Mr. Marley, salesman for New Jersey, escorted the delegation to the spacious dining room of Camden Station, where a splendid luncheon was enjoyed. The entire afternoon was occupied in a careful inspection of the great stock of every conceivable kind of machinery, and courteous salesmen were on hand to describe the merits of the various kinds of farm implements.

At the conclusion of the inspection nearly every one of the delegation left a substantial order with the company for machinery, a great part of which was for potato implements. Mr. Marley, the company's potato machinery salesman for New Jersey, gave an interesting talk to the delegation on potato growing and potato machinery, and those interested in potato growing learned quite a great deal about potato culture. The delegation was royally entertained by the company at a course dinner at Hotel Joyce, and provided splendid rooms, and when we said goodbye to the company's courteous representatives the entire delegation was impressed with the fact that there is nothing cheap about the Deere Company except its valuable and durable farm implements, etc. The John Deere Machinery Company is one of the largest in the world. It has some 30 branches scattered throughout the country, and the Baltimore branch is one of the smallest. In the Baltimore plant about a $1,500,000 stock is carried, and the splendid equipment of the company for transacting its business is indicative of its industry and reliability. The company entertained the delegation in a most pleasant manner, and was much pleased with the good looks and good qualities of the crowd which Turner brought from the Eastern Shore.

On Wednesday morning the delegation by invitation from Mr. Wilbur W. Hubbard, who accompanied them as far as Baltimore, inspected the fine apartments and offices of the Hubbard Fertilizer Company in the Keyser Building, and had the pleasure of a half hour's visit. At eleven o'clock the delegation headed by Mr. Harry C. Willis, who had joined them in the afternoon previous, appeared before the Public Utilities Commission in the interest of the extension of the railroad to Nicholson's Station. Albert Ritchie, Esq., appeared for the delegation and made a most convincing argument in favor of extending the road while Mr. Carter appeared for the company. The delegation impressed the Utilities Commission with its seriousness and left the balance to Mr. Ritchie who handled the case in a masterly fashion. Mr. Turner was not interested in the meeting with the Public Utilities Commission, and did not attend. He proceeded to Wilmington where he made arrangements for the entertainment of the delegation upon its arrival in that city. We shall tell of the Wilmington trip in our next.

Among those who were Mr. Turner's guests were: Messrs. W. T. Nicholson, J. P. Nicholson, Earle Nicholson, R. G. Nicholson, Charles Nicholson, E. A. Corey, M. P. Lee, John E. Morris, W. T. Morris, James E. Morris, W. H. Morris, Harry C. Willis, J. Walter Skirven, S. C. Loller, H. E. Taylor, F. H. Cornelius, Julian Jones, L. U. Skirven, Jesse H. Usilton, L. A. Sutton, Thomas D. Bowers, W. W. Hubbard, Morris Cooper and R. C. Wharton.

(To be continued next week.)

MESSRS. EDITORS TRANSCRIPT, CHESTERTOWN, MD.—MY DEAR SIRS: Let me thank you for your help thus far. I am pursuaded to think that the fruitful results of my ministry thus far are due in a great measure to the unseen power of the press. The Spirit of God works through the printed page just as much, if not more than the uttered word. May God's blessing be upon you, and may his good work continue through the medium of your paper. And to this end will you kindly give space to the following under the permanent notice pertaining to the Georgetown, Kennedyville and Worton churches:

Next Sunday, January 19th, the pastor will preach on "Jesus, the Light of the world." This will be an extremely helpful and edifying message, and especially so to those who doubt the Diety of our Lord Jesus Christ. The attention of the people of Worton is particularly called to the musical attractions in connection with this service. There will be a solo, duet and quartette by a part of the Kennedyville choir. The pastor cannot refrain from publicly expressing his gratitude to God for the fruit of his ministry up to date. During the last two weeks, three new members have been taken into the church at Georgetown, four at Kennedyville and six at Worton. All the members are rejoicing at these results, and all christians will be thankful to God. But there are yet other lost sheep who must be found and brought in to the fold. Let each member do his or her part to

"Bring them in, bring them in!
Bring them in from the fields of sin!
Bring them in, bring them in!
Bring the wayward one to Jesus."

Preaching Jan. 19th 10.45 at Salem M E. Church by Rev. W. E. Habbart, of Crisfield, Md. Re-opening services at Union M. E. Church, Worton, at 3 and 7.30 P. M. Preaching at both hours by Rev. W. E. Habbart. We have taken out the chairs that have been in since the church was built and put in quartered oak pews.

OUR DEATH RECORD.

MISS GRACE WHALAND.

Miss Grace Whaland, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Whaland, died on Thursday evening, aged 33 years. For sometime Miss Whaland made a brave struggle against the disease which sapped the strength and vigor of her beautiful young life, and heroic efforts were made by those who loved her as the apple of their eye, to stay the ravages of the disease, but like a beautiful flower that unfolds its beautiful form with the first kiss of the morning sun, only to be broken and withered by the chilling blast, so this beautiful life which held so much of promise for the future had scarcely unfolded itself to family and friends, making joyous and happy those who came in contact with its warm smile and charming manner, before the chilling blast of disease caused it to wither and die like the beautiful rose which was born only to shed beauty and fragrance in life for a season.

The deceased was a young lady of remarkable intelligence and charm of manner, and those who knew her found her always to be a charming companion and warm friend. After her graduation she taught school in Kent for a while, then went to Boston for the same purpose, and finally to recuperate her health she went west. She returned home some years ago, since which time she has received the most constant and devoted attention from her parents and loved ones. Funeral services will be held to-morrow (Sunday) afternoon at two o'clock from the residence of her parents on High street, conducted by Rev. Dr. H. B. Martin. Interment will be made in St. Paul's cemetery. The pall-bearers will be: Messrs. S. Scott Beck, Dr. E. J. Clarke, Wm. B. Usilton, P. B. Hollis, A. Earle Nicholson and Dr. Dudley, of Church Hill, Undertaker J. E. Ferguson will have charge of the funeral arrangements.

Funeral services were held from the late residence of deceased Thursday, at 11 o'clock A. M.; Rev. W. R. Graham, D. D., conducted the services and Rev. F. X. Moore officiated at the grave. The interment was in Still Pond cemetery with the following pall-bearers: A. S. Crawford, J. W. Lambert, F. G. Usilton, M. A. Toulson, William Vansant and Wm. A. Wheatley. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd had charge of arrangements.
