Grandma, first nite prize winner, was at 1st AFRO show

When Mrs. Edna Johnson, 43, School held at the Coliseum she 1125 N. Fulton Ave. attended won her first prize. the first AFRO Cooking School. It was a Norge Gas Range, in 1930. It was held at the grand prize for the opening Strand Ballroom on Pennsylvania Ave.

On Wednesday night at the 28th Annual AFRO Cooking Show, Mrs. Johnson, a grandmother, talked with D. Arnett Murphy, AFRO advertising chief executive, she smiled, gasped for breath, and stated that she was so happy she could hardly talk.

She said: "I'm so excited. And to think, I needed that stove more than anything else."

MRS. JOHNSON is a laundry employee, a member of Emmanuel Christian Community Church for 10 years.

She has two daughters, two sons, and six grandchildren.

As more than 2,000 people looked on numerous prizes were given away at the Wednesday night show.

In surroundings which appeared to be a housewife's fairyland of appliances, good-tasting food, beverages and ideas for housekeeping, Mrs. Jean Harris, the AFRO's talented demonstrator opened the evening show.

Almost as if by magic, she cooked up dishes to please the palette on a king and brought forth "oh's" and "ah's" from the crowd.

PRIOR TO the 8 p.m. time for the first show merchants in the 34 booths gave away samples, food, souvenirs, recipes, beverages, ice cream and cake.

The bill was prepared after as well as hot coffee.

Mrs. Verda Welcome, Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives, was on hand to greet and shake hands with all Cooking School patrons and to chat pleasantly from her sound truck out front.

Pretty girls in bathing suits from Shimmerette attracted widespread attention as did Mrs. Clara Coates, Parks Sausage demonstrator.

Also, Roland Wheatley's Hauswald Bakery booth with the long-suffering route salesman (Aaron Ellis and Marcellus Moore) that "took the cake."

Their hallyhoo on the merits of their product drew a large crowd.

The coveted prizes of the evening were a transistor radio bought by Mrs. Sylvia (Parran) Cullington Ave. and a week-end trip to Atlantic City's Hotel Liberty which went to Mrs. Doris Rogers.

ALSO IN this category was the deep copper-bottom fryer won by Mrs. Lena E. Gillette, 1613 Miller St., which was given by Madera Wine Co.; and the Pepsi-Cola beverage cooler won by Mrs. Hilda Brooks, 2451 Druid Hill Ave.

A nylon uniform worth $10.95 and given by the Franklin Uniform Co. went to Mrs. Louis Parter, 2420 Harlem Ave.

William L. Myers, 1225 Lafayden Ave. became the man of the hour as he claimed one of the 38 baskets of more than 20 items of food and household articles. Prizes also included 57 additional baskets of food, 19 cases of National Bohemian Bakery's brand-new pennies, and 13 packs of Coca-Cola as well as 25 cartons of Pepsi-Cola.

—Nabrit HU dean

sear to accept the position of Educational Secretary to the Board of Ecumenical Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

Following the announcement, speculation arose as to the reason behind the resignation of Dean Johnson.

Observers pointed that the civil rights organization, in its present setup, is scheduled to continue for not more than two years.

Mr. Johnson at one time served as counsel with the war-time FEPC.

DR. NABRIT, who is a native of Atlanta, is a noted constitutional lawyer and currently serves as a member of the President's Committee on Government Contracts. Since coming to Howard in 1936, he has held the positions of administrative assistant to Dr. Mordecai W. Johnson, president of the university; professor of law; secretary of the university; and director of public relations.

In the latter position which he assumed in Oct., 1955, Dr. Nabrit was granted leave from his position on the law school faculty but continued to serve as the university's secretary. He will retain the secretarial position while serving as dean.

AS A LAWYER, Dr. Nabrit has been especially active in cases involving civil rights. Among the cases which he has argued successfully are those involving the voting rights of colored citizens in Oklahoma and Texas, the admission of colored to the state universities of Oklahoma and Texas, racial discrimination on public carriers and the public school segregation case involving the District of Columbia.

Dr. Nabrit holds the bachelor of arts degree from Morehouse College in Atlanta and the doctor of jurisprudence degree from the Law school at Northwestern University. In 1955 Morehouse conferred the honorary degree of doctor of Laws upon him.

Dr. Hill holds the bachelor of arts degree from Lincoln University in Pennsylvania the bachelor of divinity degree from the Iliff School of Theology in Denver, the master of arts degree from the University of Oregon, the master of theological science degree from the Pacific School of Religion at Berkeley, Calif., and the doctor of theology from Hiff.

DR. HILL has won acclaim as a lecturer and author. One of his early talks at Howard was published in G. Paul Butler's Best Sermons of 1947, and two years later he edited Wells Springs of Life (Braun-Brumfield; Ann Arbor, Mich.) a book containing several of the outstanding religious talks at Howard in recent years.

DR. HILL who is a native of Baltimore, joined the School of Religion faculty in September 1946 and was appointed dean of Andrew Rankin Chapel three years later. He was named acting dean of the School of Religion in 1957 following Dean Wilson's resignation.

Dr. Hill who lives at 2946 Chain Bridge Rd., NW is married to the former May Edards of Washington. They have four children—Mrs. Doris Cochran of Weldon, N.C.; Mrs. Jeanne Flateau of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Mrs. Margaret Martin of Washington, and Daniel G. Jr. of Toronto, Canada.

Dr. Nabrit lives at 330 College St., NW and is married to the former Norma Walton of Jacksonville, Fla. They have one son, James M. 3rd, a local attorney.
