MEET THE WINNER — Adjusting a campaign sign is Mrs. Verda Welcome who on Tuesday won a Democratic nomination to the House of Delegates. With her is her campaign manager, Samuel Daniels.

Now for the general

(An Editorial)

It is J. Millard Tawes, Democrat, vs. James P. S. Devereux, Republican, in the November election for governor.

In the race for the Senate, it will be Mayor D'Alesandro, Democrat, versus the incumbent, J. Glenn Beall, Republican.

The Mayor polled only some 5,000 popular votes more than Mr. George Mahoney but under our antiquated unit vote rule, the Mayor received 83 convention votes to Mr. Mahoney's 44.

Sitting Judges Anselm Sodaro and Joseph Allen received new 15-year terms by winning both the Republican and Democratic primary.

Mr. James Bruce was in the third place in the Senatorial race with 56,000 votes, while Dr. Clarence Long brought up the rear with 45,000. Mr. Bruce got 25 convention votes and Mr. Long none.

The Mayor carried the Fourth District by 6,238 votes to Mr. Mahoney's 2,762. Dr. Long polled 1,782 and Mr. Bruce received 1,081.

The Mayor also carried the first, second, the fifth and the sixth districts but the Mayor's own home district, the third, was captured by Mr. Mahoney.

For the State Senate Democratic ticket in the Fourth District, J. Alvin Jones was nominated over Sidney Sokols by some 1,500 votes.

For the Fourth District House of Delegates race on the Democratic slate, Mrs. Verda Welcome, independent, and Mrs. Irma L. Dixon, regular Democratic candidate, were both nominated.

Defeated were: Arlington Phillips, J. W. McAllister and Truly Hatchett.

Mr. Hatchett, the incumbent, trailed the field.

On the Republican ticket, incumbent State Senator Harry Cole ran unopposed.

Republicans nominated for the House of Delegates in the Fourth District were H. D. Dixon, Bertha Winston, D. K. Spaulding, Herbert Brown, G. L. Parrish and the incumbent, Emory Cole.

Defeated were: W. D. Strobel, and D. Roy Green.

IN THE 1954 General election, State Senator Harry Cole and Delegate Emory Cole, Republican, and Truly Hatchett, Democrat, became our first representatives in the Legislature in the history of the state.

They won because they all ran together on a non-partisan ticket.

There are not enough colored voters in the Fourth District, Democrats or Republican, to elect members to the Legislature.

They can only be assured of success in the November general election if they can agree again this year upon a non-partisan ticket and pool their efforts.

Just as Mr. Hatchett defeated the Fourth District Democratic organization (Mr. Pollack) in the 1954 Primary, Mrs. Verda Welcome again demonstrated that the endorsement of Mr. Pollack does not necessarily assure victory.

She defeated Arlington Phillips by some 300 votes although he had the approval and backing of the Pollack organization.

Our Fourth District candidates should consider the imperative importance of agreeing on a non-partisan ticket this year.

Democratic Viewpoint

By ROBERT WATTS

The election of May 20 shows what blanket indifference on the part of voters can mean to independent candidates.

This was clearly demonstrated in the 4th District where Verda Welcome ran sixth and Truly Hatchett and James McAllister were defeated.

This demonstrates that when independent voters fail to vote the political machines run wild. Mr. Hachett deserved to win. He maintained his independence of political maneuvering and we failed to reward him.

Mrs. Welcome won because of the type of campaigning she waged and because of the type of support in the person of people like Samuel Daniels (who deserves a tremendous bouquet for his expert handling of her campaign) State Senator Harry A. Cole, Furman Templeton, Marguerite Harmon, George Jade, Raymond Hayes-bert, Milton Allen, George Russell, and many others who waged a hi - partisan effort.

She won despite our failure to respond when as a matter of fact she and the other independent candidates should have won by wide margins.

Again it was the same old story of voter apathy.

SO AS NOT to appear too glum and for fear many will think there is nothing to be joyful about, the victory of Mrs. Welcome indicates the reached a general election in Maryland.

Senator Harry A. Cole, first to be elected to this post, will lead the Republican district candidates into the November election.

IN THIS GENERAL election, Senator Cole, unopposed in the primary, will be opposed by J. Alvin Jones, Democratic faction - supported candidate and Maurice J. Soypher, an independent.

Mr. Soypher, who filed to run in the general election only, has created a three - way race for the district's State Senate seat —one that is strongly reminiscent of the situation that existed in 1954 general election.

At that time, the district's ruling Democratic forces entered Calvin Douglass, as an independent for the State Senate seat in an attempt to split the colored vote between him and Senator Cole — and thus allow the re - election of faction — supported Bernard S. Meinicove.

Mr. Douglass, now an assistant city solicitor, polled 361 votes.

Senator Cole won over the then Senator Meinicove by a margin of 37 votes.

THERE ARE many political observers who are now predicting that this situation the district Democrats created four years ago has now returned to haunt them.

They are contending that Mr. Soypher will get the votes of those weakly anti - faction Democrat whites who, otherwise, would probably vote for Mr. Jones, rather than cross party lines and vote Republican.

These observers are alleging that Mr. Jones is not a particularly strong candidate, though supported by the district's political ruling forces, in that he only beat an independent candidate in the primary by some 1,500 votes.

They are charging, also, that the Democratic faction forces have been weakened considerably, due to the district's fast - changing neighborhood pattern in which whites are on the move elsewhere.

Many of these observers, particularly those who are straying for independent representation, were saying this week that all these things are in favor of the re - election of Senator Cole.

ON THE OTHER side of the same argument, some of the district's politicians are saying that the entry of Mr. Soypher in the Senate race will draw from Senator Cole all the anti-faction votes he would otherwise get.

And, thus, insure the election of Mr. Jones.

A closer look at the Republican side of the picture reveals that this party's situation is not all rosy.

Emory R. Cole, incumbent House of Delegates member, just managed to gain a sixth place on the slate, in the field of eight candidates in the primary.

Of the other five, only Mrs. Bertha Winston has run for public elective office before.

The Republicans' House of Delegates candidates, according to unofficial returns, are: Howard D. Dixon, Mrs. Winston, Daniel W. Spaulding, Herbert Brown, George L. Parrish and Mr. Cole.

They will be opposed in the November general election by these Democratic House of Delegates candidates:

Sol Friedman, Murray Abramson and Jerome Robinson, incumbents, and Richard J. Rombro and Mrs. Irma G. Dixon, all faction-supported, and Mrs. Welcome, independent.

to observers that Mr. Hatchett was in for rough sledding.

It was not expected that Mr. Hatchett would be able to roll up a sizable vote in the precincts controlled by the Fourth District machine, but even in the areas where he was expected to be strongest, his total was not enough to overcome the lead of the other candidates.

MEANWHILE, Mrs. Welcome, who waged the most determined campaign of the Democratic office seekers, held stubbornly to a lead over the machine supported Arlington Phillips, a mortician running with the backing of the Democratic organization.

Mrs. Welcome won her place on the Democratic ticket with 4337 votes compared to 4,052 for Mr. Phillips.

Immediately above Mrs. Welcome in the vote column was Mrs. Dixon with 4,860 votes.

Mr. McAllister ended the race with 3,305 votes while Mr. Hatchett had 2,940 votes.

The other four places on the ticket were filled by Sol Friedman, 6,857; Murray Abramson, 6,715; Jerome Robinson, 6,644, and Richard Rombro, 5,492.

IN COMMENTING on his future plans, Mr. Hatchett said:

"I feel that the more now is to obtain more recognition for our own group in the political set-up of the state.

"I have already arranged for a new Democratic organization of colored workers in the Fourth District, which I hope will develop to a city - wide group.

"Our ambition will be to increase registration among our people and see that competent colored people are on both tickets in the spring mayoralty election of '56.

"A number of people have pledged their support to me in this effort. My campaign contribution in my fight was but a crumb to the amount spent by the Democratic organization of the 4th District to defeat me," he added.

AS FAR AS THE REST of the Fourth District was concerned the vote went about as expected, with the exception of the candidacy of Emory R. Cole, Republican, who like Mr. Hatchett was seeking his second nomination to the House of Delegates.

Mr. Cole was the bottom man of the six candidates who will represent the Republicans in the November election.

High man on the ticket was Howard D. Dixon, bondsman, who obtained 2,771 votes. Other winners and totals were:

Mrs. Bertha Winston, 2,690; Daniel Spaulding, 2,476; Herbert Brown, 2,148; George L. Parrish, 1,961; Mr. Cole, 1,877.

As expected, J. Alvin Jones won the Democratic nomination but his opponent, Sidney Sakols, showed surprising strength in running up 3,014 votes to 4,535 for Mr. Jones.

COMMENTING on the election was State Sen. Harry A. Cole, who will be seeking his second term this November:

"The nomination of Verda Welcome proves that with organized support the Democratic candidates can overcome the Pollack machine.

"It is to be regretted that the other candidates running for the House of Delegates did not join in the serious campaign conducted by Mrs. Welcome.

"Apparently the colored candidates were single shooters rather than combining their respective strength and pooling resources for a common objective.

"Had they done this we would have at least three independent candidates nominated on the Democratic ticket.

"Such a program is the only effective means of stimulating independent, colored leadership."

MRS. WELCOME commented:

"I wish to express my deep appreciation to all the people who voted for me and to thank them for their warm support.

"The same things that I have advocated in the primary I will advocate in the general election. I hope that the people of the Fourth District will send me to Annapolis where I will be ever active in their interests."

Mrs. Dixon said:

"I don't know what I would have done without so many friends.

"I am looking forward to November. If I am successful I will make every effort to make the people who voted for me

ELECTION ROUNDUP

1. J. Millard Tawes wins landslide victory as Democratic candidate for governor. Rep. James P. S. Devereux was unopposed.

2. Baltimore's Mayor D'Alesandro gets 124,808 votes and wins Senate nomination for Democrats. Strongest opponent is George P. Mahoney with 120,025 votes. James Bruce is next with 56,031 votes and Clarence Long is fourth with 44,713 votes.

3. Senator J. Glenn Beall easily defeats Henry J. Laque for Republican Senate nomination.

4. JUDGES ANSLEM Sodaro and Joseph Allen win both Republican and Democratic primaries.

5. In Baltimore's Fourth Congressional District, L. W. Collier defeats Pleasanton L. Conquest, 3rd for Republican nomination to Congress.

6. In the Seventh Congressional District, Miss Elizabeth Brown defeats Norman Labovitz for Republican nomination to Congress.

7. Democrats nominate following slate for House of Delegates from the Fourth Legislative District:

Sol Friedman, Murray Pollack hold on the district can be broken to pieces.

J. Alvin Jones garnered only 4,435 votes at a time when the delegate on his ticket were pulling over 6,000.

He polled a few more votes than Mrs. Welcome.

This indicates that come November the Pollack forces can not run away with the district and capture the State Senate seat.

Mr. Jones only beat S. Sakols by 1,500 votes. With an independent vote getter like Senator Cole, plus the fact he will be running against an incumbent has many believing Mr. Jones will lose by a wide margin in November.

THE HARMONY ticket of course won and Mayor D'Alesandro deserves credit for winning a tough fight.

To date most Democrats are talking of maintaining harmony and all say they will stick with Tommy in November.

If this holds true, incumbent Senator J. Glenn Beall will have a tough fight.

(Here in the second district Joseph Mach endorsed and highly praised in this column a few weeks ago) defeated Chester Ray and Anthony Di Domenico.

Chester Ray was an opponent to civil rights advancement while in the city council. It might interest him to take a look at the 11th Ward in his district and see how the vote went so solidly for Mr. Mach.

Harold Weiss who handled these precincts for Mach advises me that it was this 11th Ward that meant he difference between victory and defeat in the battle between Chester Ray and Joe Mach.

I am sure Mr. Mach will remember this when he goes to Annapolis. He is a comer in November but most of all that it serves as a lesson to legislators who chose to ignore the wishes and aspirations of the colored voters in their district.

ANOTHER CHEERFUL note is the victory of Judges Allen and Sodaro. Both men should have received the victory.

Judges Foster and Friedman were returned to the Orphans Court along with a very personable fellow named Francis Valle. Here the independent voters really saved the day.

All, in all it was an interesting primary election. Already however we should be aware that there is the battle of November.

Abramson, Jerome Robinson, Richard J. Rombro, Mrs. Irma G. Dixon and Mrs. Verda Welcome.

8. Democrats also pick J. Alvin Jones for State Senate in Fourth Incumbent Sen. Harry A. Cole (Rep.) is unopposed.

9. Republicans pick for House of Delegates in the Fourth following:

Howard Dixon, Mrs. Bertha Winston, Daniel Spaulding, Herbert Brown, George Parrish and Emory R. Cole.

10. In the Fifth Legislative District, Joseph Brown polls 5,981 to run 11th in a field of 16 seeking Democratic nominations to House of Delegates. Only top six are chosen.

It's wonderful the way Chewing-Gum Laxative acts chiefly to REMOVE WASTE NOT GOOD FOOD
Here's a secret nutritionists have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT. The wonderfully different chewing-gum laxative.
FEEN-A-MINT is different because you chew it. It's different, too, because it removes mostly waste—not good food! FEEN-A-MINT does not work in the stomach, where food is being digested. That's why it does not take any of a lot of the good food you need for energy.
Doctors know that FEEN-A-MINT works chiefly in the lower bowel...removes mostly waste, not good food! And it's non-irritating, too.
So to feel like a million, chew delicious FEEN-A-MINT, 16 tablets, 25¢—also small mint economy size.

the 2900 block Cherryland Rd. in Cherry Hill.

According to the report given police, they had been alone there since May 16.

Deborah said a grandmother who lives in the 800 block of Bethune Rd., had come over in the mornings and in the evenings to bring them some food.

A teenage aunt who lives with the grandmother had cared for Deborah's hair so she could attend school all but one day while her mother was gone, the child said.

DEBORAH said that before her mother left on Friday evening "she put on her new dress that she got for Christmas and her short blue coat and some new shoes I had not seen before.

"Once before she left us," Deborah sighed, "and the water ran over in the bathtub.

The child said she didn't want to stay at the Pine Street Station.

"But I don't want to go back home," she added.

Policewoman Louise Crawford said the mother had gone away on March 14, leaving the children four days.

Police still had not learned her whereabouts on Thursday.

The children's grandmother could not be reached by the AFRO.

The mother has lived in the Cherry Hill project since February in 1957.

It was learned that she had been notified to vacate by June 30 because of the way she kept her apartment.

EXPLAINING HOW she played mother to the others, Deborah said:

"I would put them outside when my grandmother or my uncle would bring us something to eat.

"We didn't have anything to eat in our house. Sometime they would buy us something out of a store."

Asked where she would like to go, Deborah replied: "I would like to go to a home that's got a television in it."

Just before a reporter left her, Deborah asked:

"They got any more children except us in here?"

law should want to take his own life. Bishop Harmon, too, was stunned at the suicide report.

Dr. Harmon had lived in Camden 16 years, and attended the North Carolina State College; graduated from Lincoln University (Pa.), and the Howard University School of Medicine.

He was a member of the Kappa Alpha Psi fraternity.

His other affiliations were with Oriental Lodge of the Masons; the South Jersey, National, and American Medical Associations;

Club Emanon, recently formed gentleman's social and service group, of which he was public relations director; and the Chestnut Street UAME Church as head of its educational committee.

DR. HARMON began practice of medicine here about three years ago. He soon became one of the assistant medical inspectors for the Board of Education, relinquishing the post when his practice became heavy.

Immediately following his death, an appeal was made for contributions to a fund (in lieu of floral tributes), for a scholarship fund proposed as a memorial for Dr. Harmon. The fund is to be established by the Education Committee, under direction of Mrs. Rebecca Butler, former president, it was announced.

One of the largest funerals held in this city was accorded Dr. Harmon in the Chestnut Street Church which his father pastored before elevation to the Episcopacy.

As an overseas war veteran, Dr. Harmon was accorded full military honors at burial in the National Cemetery at Beverly, N.J.

HOME to these five youngsters was where they could find it this week and this meal is being enjoyed in the Pine Street police station. Their mother went away "Friday or Saturday" and had not come back by Wednesday evening. Keith; 1, gets helping hand from Miss Geraldine Lane, policewoman. From left, children are: Anthony, 6; Deborah, 9; Larry, 7, and Raymond, 2.
