HI-FI CHATTER

By JOHNNY BRENT and GLENN McGILL

Mrs. Phenola Carroll, of dressed the Sharp Street Youth Fellowship on Sunday. She spoke on the peoples of India.

ARNETTE PALMER just couldn't stand that cozy little home they were living in out in the Catonsville area, so they've moved into an even more fabulous one right down the street.

Speaking of Miss Palmer, she and Paige Johnson were seen at the art show, around the Druid Hill Park lake very recently. Word has it that Arnette was quite "boss" in a striking orange and black outfit, and Paige was, also, in black tapered pants with a bulky triple layer cashmere sweater, also in black.

Two other smart looking couples strolling around, looking good were Glenn McGill and Maxine Johnson and Alfa Jones and Carolyn Stubbs. The handsome man telling us of the artistic abilities of Keiffer Mitchell and Garland Gray, both of whom had paintings in the show.

Thereabouts, too, were Fred'ry Woodland, a local young artist, and Bernice Young.

PLEASE EXCUSE a mistake that we made last week. The Modern Misses are not having a cabaret party, but a graduation party at the Y.W. And kids, it's a freeby.

The "Birds" are the ones who are swinging that pilgrimage to Newport, R.I.

By now, it's all over town that the KK fraternity threw a wild party at the beach home of Franky Phillips. From the way the gang talks, everyone had a grand time.

The grapevine also has it that Dave Hubbard is seriously considering becoming an Episcopalian.

LAST STAURDAY night was highlighted by a birthday party held in honor of Elliot Herrington.

Friends attending were: Montague Palmer, Doris Herrington, Tommy Bell, Shirley Randall, David Hubbard, Barnett Palmer, Thomas Irving, Delores Holt.

David Bailey, Irene Burke, Paige Johnson, Carolyn Bell, Maurice Allen, Henrietta White, and Johnny Brent.

Carolyn and Paige did a fierce cha-cha with an accompaniment on bongos by Adolph Colton.

Sharp Street Methodist Youth will take a fling to D.C. this coming Sunday to visit the Mosque, the Moslem temple.

HI-FI CHATTER is proud to congratulate Miss Carleen Brent McPherson on winning the "Miss Phalanx" contest, sponsored by the Phalanx fraternity on the Morgan campus.

Anchovy-cheese lettuce salad is eye-appealing main course

Pair popular lettuce with protein — for crisper treats that please the palate and nourish the entire family.

The delicately green vegetable has fresh cool crispness with a potent persuader of appetites. In fact, there's been no let-up in the liking for lettuce since the ancients of Asia cultivated and relished it some 2,000 years ago. To modern Americans lettuce is the soul and support of every kind of salad there is. With a dash of fresh lemon juice and what-have-you in the way of dressings, it stands supreme as a new eye-appealing favorite.

BECAUSE lettuce can be a one-man salad show, let us not forget its ability to costar with a wide variety of other foods in presentations that are refreshingly original. For example, stuff head lettuce with protein - rich anchovies and cream cheese, quarter the head and ring the wedges with fresh tomato slices, that have been brushed with French dressing. The result is an eye-appealing, light-seeming main dish that adds up to an irresistible total of inviting flavors, and a good sum of sustaining nutrients.

For a chef d'oeuvre, as the French call the master cook's masterpiece — appetizer, — fill small firm cups made of lettuce hearts with plump perfect shrimps that have been dressed with tangy sauce. Or serve tender — crisp whole lettuce hearts with a dunking mixture made of Blue cheese, zested with garlic powder and black pepper.

WHILE LETTUCE is enhancing partner foods it is contributing its own supplies of vitamins A, C, folic acid (a B vitamin) iron and vitamin E, incidentally, vitamin E, whose name is perhaps not quite so familiar to the average eater as some of the other vitamins, has many virtues including its ability to help enhance the value of vitamin A in the body. Thus, the lettuce in a salad can make the vitamin A in such companions vegetables as carrots and tomatoes more healthy-boostingly effective.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association offers these delectable recipe additions to the bright lore of lettuce —

ANCHOVY - CHEESE stuffed lettuce is made with one large head lettuce, two four - ounce packages cream cheese, one tablespoon milk, two tablespoons mashed anchovies, one half teaspoon finely chopped onion, one eighth teaspoon ground black pepper, tomato slices, and French dressing.

Remove outer leaves from head lettuce. Remove core and entire heart with a sharp pointed knife. (Save to use in tossed salads.) Soften cheese and blend with next four ingredients. . . .

Pack lightly in center of lettuce. Wrap in foil. Refrigerate until ready to serve, 2 to 4 hours. Cut head into quarters and serve as a main - dish luncheon salad with tomato slices and French dressing.

Yield: four servings.

FOR BLEU cheese dip with lettuce hearts use four - ounce package cream cheese, one fourth cup crumbled Bleu or Roquefort cheese, three tablespoons milk, one - half teaspoon salt or salt to taste, one eighth teaspoon ground black pepper, one - eighth teaspoon garlic powder, hearts of lettuce and add one - half teaspoon salt or salt to taste.

Soften cream cheese and blend with next five ingredients. Serve as an appetizer - dip with hearts of lettuce.

Yield: two - thirds cup dip.

MAKE SHRIMP cocktail in lettuce cups with one - half cup mayonnaise, two - tablespoons fresh lemon juice, two teaspoons horse - radish, one - half teaspoon salt, one eighth teaspoon ground cayenne pepper, one - eighth teaspoon garlic powder, one - half pound cooked deveined shrimp, hearts of lettuce, and one - half teaspoon chili powder.

Combine the first seven in

Peach pie

A luscious peach - pie with cheese cake richness, chiffon lightness, and made with no baking at all — that's Creamy Peach Pie, the recipe I'd like to tell you about today.

With the crust made the easy graham cracker way, this pie features golden cling peach slices in a smooth blend of whipped Pet Evaporated Milk and cream cheese. So it's the ideal dessert for those who want to serve a rather heavy meal.

SINCE IT'S a no - bake pie, there's no oven watching — nothing to do but mix the ingredients and chill. And since it's made with whipped evaporated milk, it has a real "lift" in nourishment while, at the same time, making it unnecessary for you to buy whipping cream.

But with all this, I'm sure what you'll like most about creamy peach pie is its festive look when you decorate the top with a swirl of peach slices . . . and its marvelous combination of delicate flavors.

CREAMY PEACH pie. Requires: one - cup fine graham cracker crumbs, one - fourth cup melted butter or margarine, two - thirds cup Pet Evaporated Milk, one pound 14 oz. can cling peach slices, one and one - half teaspoons unflavored gelatin, three - oz. pkg. white cream cheese, one - fourth cup sugar, one - half tea-spoon almond flavoring (can omit), and two tablespoons lemon juice.

Press in bottom and on sides of a 9 - in. pie pan a mixture of crumbs and melted butter. Chill until needed. Chill milk in ice tray until almost frozen around the edges. Drain peaches, saving syrup. Save 10 peach slices for top of pie. Cut rest of slices into small pieces.

Soften gelatin in one - fourth cup peach syrup in a small saucepan. Set on a pan of hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Stir dissolved gelatin into a mixture of cheese, sugar and flavoring. Mix until smooth. Put ice - cold milk into a cold one - quart bowl.

Whip with a cold rotary beater by hand or with electric beater at high speed until fluffy. Add lemon juice and whip until stiff. Add cheese mixture, about one - fourth at a time to whipped milk and beat until smooth. Fold in cut - up peaches. Put into crumb crust.

Decorate top with peach slices. Chill at least three hours, or until ready to serve.

COOKING IS FUN

Shad roe, good sweet corn make June time menus spark

By FANNIE JOE REID

Summer time is just naturally good food time, what with the markets bursting with fresh vegetables and the streams giving of protein filled fish.

In this section of the country it's shad time, and one of my favorite recipes is for the use of roe.

* * *

SHAD ROE. Exquisite is made with four shad roe, peel and juice of one lemon, three tablespoons butter, three bay leaves, one - eighth clove garlic (optional), one - eighth teaspoon pepper, one onion (large), three teaspoons parsley, one - half pound bacon, and one - half teaspoon salt.

* * *

PLACE SHAD ROE on a greased baking pan add garlic chopped, fine, onion, parsley and lemon juice then sprinkle salt and pepper. Add melted butter. Cover then top with strips of bacon.

Bake in the oven 20 minutes (baking frequently 325 degrees oven). When golden brown remove roe and place on a heated serving dish.

Serve with boiled potatoes.

Dime is the season, too, for good sweet corn, and whether you like a pudding or on the cob you can't go wrong in making room on oft repeated item on your menu.

The three recipes here will give you a good start towards enjoying corn.

* * *

FOR TOMATOES, and corn use six ears corn, three tablespoons sugar, two cups tomatoes, chopped fine; one - half teaspoon salt, one - eighth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons butter, one - green pepper, chopped fine, and three tablespoons cornstarch.

Place tomatoes in a saucepan simmer ten minutes add salt, pepper, sugar and butter. Cook slow. Add chopped pepper and corn which has been crushed and from which the silk has been removed.

Be sure not to cut your corn too close to the cob. Mix your cornstarch into three tablespoons water add to your corn mixture and cook over a very low fire 30 minutes or until corn is tender.

CORN FRITTERS and bacon are made with two ears corn, four eggs, two teaspoons flour, two teaspoons sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one - eighth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons butter, and one - half lb. bacon.

Husk the corn and remove all the silk. Cut the corn off the cob with a sharp knife. Beat egg yolks well, and beat into them flour, salt and pepper. Add corn, mix well and stir in the butter.

Cook bacon nice and brown chopped fine stir in corn. Beat the whites of the eggs stiff and then fold them carefully into the corn mixture.

Drop by tablespoonfuls onto a hot lightly buttered griddle iron or frying pan and bake until brown on one side, then turn over with a spatula or pancake turner and bake until brown on the other side.

FOR BOILED corn, use four ears tender sweet corn one teaspoon salt, two cups milk, three cups water, three tablespoons butter and one - eighth teaspoon pepper (optional).

Husk the corn and remove all the silk. Place in saucepan milk and water over lower fire when boiling add salt and, butter, then corn. Boil corn 20 minutes.

Place on platter pour melted butter over corn. Serve at once. Pepper (optional).

SOMEONE once described a weed as a plant out of place. So in keeping with this, the proper place can be a valuable plant.

The proof is in the dandelion. In its place in commercial market gardens of the Northeast, and on produce counters, it's a valuable, nutritious, and tasty green vegetable. Out of place on your front lawn, it's a weed to be attacked with herbicide and hoe.

Commercially - grown dandelion greens are plentiful right now along with a whole group of similar leafy vegetables that you'll find economical and useful in June.

There are no acreage of production figures on dandelion greens, but some 165,000 lbs. of this were received in just the New York City market last year, mostly from New Jersey and Long Island with a few from as far away as Virginia and Florida. Other Southern cities receive supplies mostly from their own surrounding truck garden areas.

Dandelion, like kale, spinach, beet tops and turnip greens, are usually preferred cooked, although their pungent flavor and crisp texture also make a good addition to the salad bowl. Dandelion greens make a good addition to the diet, too, for they top all other vegetables, and fruits in iron and vitamin A content. And they're low in calories.

To preserve flavor and food value, dandelion, like most greens, should be cooked in very little water and only long enough to make them tender. Season cooked greens with butter and garnish with hard-cooked eggs or lemon slices. Or, Train and toss with crisp bacon and drippings, and serve with lemon wedge.
