MR. AND MRS. LEROY GRANT were married in Baltimore, recently. The bride is the former Miss Estella A. Rheubottom.

RITUAL IN St. Phillip's Lutheran Church, Saturday, united Miss Lillian Jones and Horace Boyles in another pretty June wedding.

THE REV. IRVIN C. LOCKMAN took his bride, Miss Joan H. Carroll in Emmanuel Christian Church, Saturday.

DR. LEMUEL LEEPER and Miss Martha Johnson were wed in Morgan College Christian Center, June 14th.

Guests from eight states see Miss Perrin, Mr. Griffin wed

Guests from eight states attended the wedding here, Saturday, of Miss Cardrienne Louise Perrin and James Monroe Griffin.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Cardrew Perrin, of this city and the granddaughter of Mrs. J. A. Fountain and the late Bishop Fountain of Atlanta, Ga.

THE PERFECT picture of a Dresden bride was Miss Perrin, Saturday, as she floated down the aisle of historic Bethel AME Church.

Her gown of white Duchess satin had a fitted bodice with portrait neckline and a very full skirt which was appliqued in Chantilly lace and re-embroidered in seed pearls.

Tiers of lace and tulle ruffles made the full back panel that fell into a cathedral train. Her finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a lace trimmed satin cap embroidered with the pearls, and she carried a cascade of white roses tied in with asphanotis and centered with a white orchid.

Escorted by her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Julia Perrin Davidson of Newark, N.J., matron of honor; and Miss Swayzine Harris of Raleigh, N.C., maid of honor.

• • •

BRIDESMAIDS were Misses Amanda Renwick of Statesville, N.C., Mrs. Sara Gray, Miss Mary Duncan, Mrs. Esther White, Miss Felishia Thornton, and the sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Katherine Myers, all of this city.

Carrying out the color scheme of white and pink, the matron of honor was gowned in rose taffeta; Miss Harris in pastel pink and the bridesmaids in orchid pink.

Their frocks, with snug bodices and harem skirts, were identical and they carried Oasis baskets cascaded with orchids, and carnations, with pastel pink daisy ribbons to match their dresses.

Philathea Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hall of this city, who wore white organdy, with a pink sash, and carried a basket of pink and orchid flowers, was flower girl.

The rings were carried by James Herbert Robinson Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Robinson of Philadelphia.

MR. GRIFFIN has as best man his brother, Lawrence Griffin. Ushers were Leon Watkins of Danville, Va., John Davidson of Newark, N.J., James Law, Irvin Locust, Sidney Raines and Charles Robinson.

The chapel of Bethel Church, with its altar draped in the traditional wedding white, and banked with white flowers, the pews being marked with miniature bouquets and white ribbons, formed the setting for the ceremony.

The altar tapers were lighted by Miss Cheryl Ann Lytle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lytle of Shaw University, Raleigh, N.C., and Miss Maureen Quarles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Quarles of Virginia State College, Petersburg, Va. They were white organza dresses appliqued with pink roses.

Dr. Harrison J. Bryant, minister of the church, officiated at the double-ring ritual, with the Episcopal blessing being bestowed by Bishop Frank Madison Reid.

Mrs. Mary Robinson, sang "Sweetest Story Ever Told" and "The Lord's Prayer" and Miss Hazel Bryant, "Serenade" from the Student Prince. Mrs. Mary Davis, and Mrs. Wisner were at the organ and piano, respectively.

• • •

MR. AND MRS. PERRIN, parents of the bride, entertained several hundred guests at a reception in the upper chapel of the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Perrin wore a gown of pink chiffon studded with rhinestones and a white sequin hat, with matching accessories. The mother of the bridegroom was in blue lace with matching accessories.

Guests were received at the door by Mrs. Mattie Connor and Mrs. George Spaulding. Introducing them to the receiving line were Mrs. Charlene Byrd.

Directing guests from the receiving line to registration were Mesdames Grace Hill Jacobs, Phyllis Tilly and Violet Whyte, and registering the guests were Mrs. Patricia Taylor, Miss Phyliss Murphy and Miss Catherine Richardson.

Presiding at the punch table were Mrs. Ethel Day, Mrs. Mable Perkins, Mrs. Phyllis McKinney and Mrs. Hilda Clark. At the sweets table were Mrs. Althea Cornish, Mrs. Naomi Shaeler, Miss Freddie Hill and Mrs. Doris Goode. Mrs. Gwendolyn Lewis, Mrs. Byrd and Mrs. Norma Dillard were at the bridal table.

HOSTESSES assigned especially to out-of-town guests included Mesdames Dollie Walker, Pearlie Pennington, Florence Gloster, Mattie Cosey, Mary Law, Alma Gray, Louise Lamb, Marion Gregory, Rea Wright and Olivia Dixon.

Floating hostesses included Mrs. Elis Hunt, Mrs. Ethel Payne, Mrs. Geraldine Atkins, Miss Beatrice Mayo, Mrs. Louis Smallwood, Miss Dorothy Goode, Miss Iris Griffin, Miss Gladys Griffin, Miss Elizabeth Sanders and Mrs. John Hall.

Dr. George Spaulding, Taft made Hill, Mrs. Flossie Desmond and Mrs. Alma Gray were directors of the wedding.

MEMBERS OF the family here for the wedding included: Mrs. J. A. Fountain, Mrs. Suzette Crank, Mr. and Mrs. M. Jackson, Mrs. A. J. Lockhart of Atlanta, Ga.

Miss Mary R. Perrin of Tampa, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. James Allen of Arlington, Mrs. Louise Epps of La Grange, Ga.

Miss Amelia Epps of Washington, Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson and Miss Beulah Davidson of Newark, N.J., Miss Myrtle Rice and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wiley of Charlotte, N.C.

• • •

OTHER out-of-town guests were:

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Quarles of Petersburg, Va., Mr. and Mrs. James Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. William Hurdle, Dr. and Mrs. Nelson Harris, Mrs. Gertrude Harris, Mrs. Martha Wheeler, Mrs. Mayme Flagg of Raleigh, N.C.

Mrs. Minnie Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Oakley Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Hemingway, Bishop Frank Madison Reid, of Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. M. Robinson of Philadelphia, Dr. and Mrs. Furlonge of Smithfield, Va., Billie Higgs of New York, Miss Consuelo Walkins of Danville, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas of Newark, N.J., Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Sparks of New Haven, Conn.

Miss Martha Johnson becomes bride of Dr. Lemuel Leeper

Miss Martha E. Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fleming Johnson, became the bride of Dr. Lemuel Leeper, here, recently.

The ceremony in the Morgan State College Christian Center was performed by the Rev. E. W. Williams of the First Baptist Church of Fairfield. The Rev. Leon Kess was soloist and Mrs. Edna Williams was at the console.

• • •

THE BRIDE was radiantly lovely in an original creation of white Chantilly lace over white summer satin, trimmed with sequins at the neck and down the six-tier panel of the front. The gown tapered off in a voluminous circular train at the back.

She wore a crown of matching lace, re-embroidered with sequins and seed pearls, attached to which was a veil of French illusion. She carried a Bible topped with a white orchid. Her only jewelry was a small pair of pearl earrings, gift from the bridegroom.

• • •

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, Miss Johnson was attended by Miss Eula Blackman, maid of honor. Miss Blackman wore a gown of yellow French silk and net, the shallow cowl tapering into a stole. Her headgear was a matching crown of seed pearls and sequins, and was worn with a short veil.

Bridesmaids were Mesdames Loretta B. Steele, Ella B. Certane of Philadelphia, Jean D. Harriston of Louisville, Ky., Velma Bradly of Augusta, Ga., and Miss Emma A. Pitts of Philadelphia.

All wore gowns of aqua with head piece identical to that of the maid of honor, and carried bouquets of roses tied with yellow ribbons.

• • •

SGT. VAL BRADLEY of Augusta, was best man for his brother-in-law. Ushers were Earl T. Leeper, brother of the bridegroom and head usher, Clifford Pollard, Houston Kelly, and William King, all of Washington, and Peter Certaine of Philadelphia.

Men of the wedding party wore oxford gray coats, striped trousers, black ties and carnations in their lapels.

Flower girl, dainty in organza, was Robin Hughes. James Daniel Steele Jr., in white suit, was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson selected a soft rose-beige tiered lace sheath, with matching rose-beige hat, white accessories and a pink orchid.

Mrs. Leeper was gowned in blue chiffon with floating panel at the back, white accessories and white orchid.

• • •

SEVERAL HUNDRED guests attended the reception, also held in the Center.

For their wedding trip to Connecticut, the bride wore an ensemble of black and white linen sheath with matching linen shoes and bag.

Following their honeymoon, the couple will be at home in Newark, N.J.

The bride is a Morgan State College graduate and was an employee at the Department of Public Welfare prior to her marriage.

Dr. Leeper, also a Morgan graduate, and a former member of the Morgan faculty is a graduate of Howard University and Georgetown University where he received a doctorial degree. He is now employed as chief chemist at Riverton Laboratories, Newark, N.J.

Drs. Winder, Gilkes married in New York

With Lula Jones Garrett

What can one write about this week other than weddings in Baltimore?

Well, there's that wedding in New York City, Sunday, which united vivacious Dr. Vivian Winder of the Morgan State College faculty and Dr. Evan Gilkes, prominent town physician.

They were wed at high noon in the Beulah Wesleyan Methodist Church. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Felix Scotland, and they were attended by Mr. and Mrs. William Gardner of this city.

Dr. John King, of Morgan College, gave the bride in marriage.

Dr. Winder wore a two-piece silk linen in turquoise, with matching shoes and bag, accentuated with a pink-mauve hat and pearls. Her corsage was of Pinocchio roses. Her Matron of Honor selected an all-lavender ensemble, to which was added a corsage of yellow roses. The men of the wedding party were in morning ensembles.

Following the ceremony they dashed to Mt. Vernon, where the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Lillian Spinner; his sister, Miss Ernestia Spinner, and his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Theophilus, were hosts at a luncheon in their honor and where the guests were 30 members of their families.

In the evening, Mrs. Dorothea Merchant garnered about 40 former Virginia State College friends of the bride, plus the original wedding party, to toast Dr. and Mrs. Gilkes in champagne.

This party was in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Day, in New York. The Days are also Virginia State.

The newlyweds returned to Baltimore Sunday. This Sunday will receive guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, and Monday, the bride will be off for New York again, where she is to be a visiting professor at New York University for the summer session.

TOWN WEDDINGS brought a most glamourous group of folks here over the week end.

For instance, the Robert Townsends of Norfolk. He's a night club owner in the Virginia city. And while it is usually the ladies who lay 'em in the aisle with their clothes (not that Mrs. Townsend didn't do just that) 'twas he who had the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel management (where they were entertained for the week end) making inquiries as to who his tailor was.

And I must say that the gray silk mohair he wore on Saturday was enough to draw comment.

The Townsends and Mrs. Georgia Brown, also of Norfolk, were here for the wedding of Joy Newsome and Donald Tarter. The ladies are sisters of the bride's father, Garnet L. Newsome.

Also here for that wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Palmer and their daughters, Kathryn and Sandra. Mrs. Bernice Rand and Miss Elsie Bond of Washington.

And the blond gentleman who you saw as busy as a bee assisting the guests at the reception was not the best help, by a long shot, but multi-millionaire J. Edward Johnson Jr., world-wide sportsman, national politician.

The entire wedding party saw the newlyweds Tarters off to Teaneck, N.J., where they spent the week end with the Reg. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tarter, returned here for a couple of days to finish packing and then went on to Merced, Calif., where they will live. Mr. Tarter is in the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Castle Air Force Base near Merced.

SPEAKING OF weddings and clothes, that magnificent satin gown worn by Gardrienne Perrin at her wedding to James M. Griffin, here, Saturday, was the gift of her maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Fountain of Atlanta, Ga., widow of Bishop Fountain of the AME Church, and designed and created by Willie Otey Kay of Raleigh, N.C.

Listing the out-of-town guests here for that wedding would and did take a column which you will find at another spot in this paper.

Cardrienne had been a most feted bride-elect, and was an equally feted bride.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace C. Perrin entertained at an elaborate buffet on Friday night after the rehearsal.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wright were "at home" to the bridal party and a large number of guests the same evening in their Bryant Avenue home. Mrs. Louise Smallwood held forth for out-of-town guests at a breakfast party on Saturday.

Others hosting in her honor included Mesdames Frederick Dedmond, Alma Gray, Philip Tilly, Charles Law, Helen Brown and Dr. and Mrs. Al Whiting.

A personal shower was given for Miss Perrin the Saturday before by Mrs. Raymond Gray and Miss Mary Duncan at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gray.

Delightful color scheme of pink and green was used for the party, which completely surprised the honoree, she having been lured to the home via a movie date with Sara.

Lingerie of all descriptions, daring and demure, was presented to her by:

Charlene Byrd, Julia Davidson, Gladys Dungee, Doris Goode, Phyllis Murphy, Katherine Myers, Catharine Richardson, Mary Robinson, June Rose, Alice Smith, Marie Bowware, Stephanie Fraser, Shirley Holland and Felishia Thornton.

MY FINE feathered friends who are just dashing off to Europe with every flight and sail the have one green, with envy these days.

It will probably take Sadie Bryant all of her voyage (she's sailing on the Queen Elizabeth on the 10th to Europe) to decuperate from the bon voyage parties that have been given for her.

The Home Economics Department of the Douglass High School (where she teaches) created a nautical theme for the dinner party they gave for her recently.

Setting was the lovely new home of the Clotten Reeds on Gardman Avenue. Of course, those famous home eats, I knew just what and how to decorate. Their motif was carried out in hand crafted table decorations, the place cards being tiny white ships afloat on the ocean blue.

Attached to each was an emblem of marine life: compass, telescope, life boat, etc. A jaunty sailor's hat was placed aloft the honoree's head and then they gifted her with a matching set of luggage, replete with covers.

Hostesses were Gladys Reed, Mary Allen, Alma Parker, Frances Williams, Elizabeth Parker, Betty Williams, Elvera Richardson, Emma Jackson, Helen Crosby, Helen Murray, Maude Johnson and Sadie Russell, adopted home economist.

A Friday later, the home of the John J. Olivers was the setting for a party, when they garnered a group who call themselves "the Cape May Capers" and who have shared many a pleasant hour at the New Jersey resort where they summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver had as guests Donald and Alma Parker, Henry and Elvera Richardson, Furman and Irene Templeton, Reginald and Marguerite Daniels, Harry and Alle Wilson.

Also Shirley Johnson, Rebecca Brown, Sarah Ravoe, Elmer Dean, Mattie Connor, Blanche McRae, Gladys Prestwidge and Elizabeth Parker.

And, after the delicious buffet supper, they dashed Sadie with a travel clock and toilet accessories.

Then came the party given by Dr. and Mrs. Fred Adams in their Morgan Park home, where cards was the order of the afternoon.

Sadie, as incidentally, godmother of the Adamses' son, Kit.

Prizes at cards went to Sue Brown, Mildred Seabourne and Edna Brown. Others playing were Terry Gilmore, Agnes Patterson, Lillian Parrott, Mattie Connor, Melissa Perdue, Rea Butler and Catherine Adams.

Guests helped themselves to the delicious eatables prepared by Mary, who is a culinary artist.

The motif here was a take off on Sadie's name, Sadie and which also had a huge bon voyage card perched on top. Gifts included lovely lingerie, costume jewelry and toiletries.

Sadie will visit eight countries, to include delightful England, France, Germany, Belgium (seeing the Fair in Brussels), Italy, Holland and Switzerland.

And even earlier (the second to be exact) Mrs. Allie L. Cliff will be off for a week tour of Northwest Europe, dropping in on eight countries of the continent. Mrs. Cliff, as you probably know, is on the faculty of Coppin State Teachers College, where she teaches geography.

AND SPEAKING of weddings and guests, the Gayle Spaulding-Lee Bostic wedding, here, this week end will draw scores from the entire Eastern Seaboard, what with the families having important connections in North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania and New York.

The bride is the daughter of Morgan's Dr. and Mrs. George H. Spaulding of the NYC Insurance firm and the William Johnsons of Lynchburg, Va., and Lee, the son of the Brooklyn, N.Y. Joe Bostics, who are linked in with more moneyed names than any column would show.

It is more than fitting that the ceremony should be on the Morgan Campus. The bridegroom's mother's foster mother, the late Mrs. Maynard Trotman, was at one time principal of Morgan, when it was an academy. And of course, all the principals, for the two generations are Morgan graduates.

In town for the ceremony and reception will be Mrs. Georgia Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gordon and Mrs. Orie Harris of Lynchburg; Mr. Maggie Lemon of Durham, N.C., will be here as will Dr. and Mrs. Frank Hendricks of Cleveland, Ohio. Judge and Mrs. Theodore Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Weaver Bledsoe, Mrs. Cora Freeman, Miss Catherine Francis and Dr. Odessa Spaulding of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Lillian Bostic is coming down from Brooklyn, as is Mrs. Barbara Mitchell. Miss Dorothy Mitchell, Mrs. Fannie Green and Sam Owens. And Mr. and Mrs. Lee Holloway will be here from Pasadena, Calif.

When Les Amies met at Josephine Johnson's home, Saturday, it was a fabulous catered affair. The special occasion was a Bon Voyage dinner especially arranged for Delores Adams who planed to Bermuda the next day for her brother's wedding.

The impending danger of the fire that broke out at the West Jerry Lumber Co., one block away, did not mar the festivities at all.

About were Pearl Maulton, Frances Ford, Octavia Jones, Dejaras Purvear, Jean Tyler, Anjabelle Ruffin, Catherine Coleman, Evelyn Gail, Angela Bailey and Delia Saunders.

SATURDAY NIGHT, parents paced floors, watching clocks and making frantic telephone calls among their teen-agers who had treked off to a party at the Richmond Armory Officers Lounge.

But they needn't have. The youngsters were just having such a grand time that they didn't even think of looking at the clock, even the chaperones. Mr. and Mrs. Warrier Brown, had forgotten time.

The affair was a party being given for Pasita Hudgins, scheduled for from four to eight, but which fan on to 11 at.

Pasita was celebrating her 14th birthday, and her parents, Major and Mrs. Lester C. Hudgins had provided all of the groups' favorite records for dancing and a bountiful board, including luscious chocolate nut cake made by Mrs. Amelia Brooks.

Among the gifts that thrilled the honoree "to pieces" was a cute chemise frock from her Aunt Tootsie, Mrs. Harold Clark, of Howard Park, all of whom brought gifts for the honoree.

THE BIG SISTERS and their guests rallied forth to their annual work end of festivities at Rosedale Beach Club at Millsboro, Delaware and a good time was had by all!

For the first time in five years they were blessed with perfect weather, and they took advantage of it by participating in all of the activities planned by the group.

There was the early morning fishing, crabbing and boating, and lolling on the beach for the Friday night and early morning arrivals. Fletcher Green had brought his boat down for the occasion.

The picnic at two o'clock on Saturday was really the kicking off point, for by that time all of the guests had arrived. Hayward Strothers added to the festivities by setting up his tape recorder, which supplied music for all tastes.

Then an hour or so of rest and on to dinner in the club dining room. The ladies showed off some really new and elegant styles. It was such an array of gorgeous frocks that an impromptu fashion show was staged right after dinner—featuring the chemise and the sack.

Mercedes Griffin of Washington, D.C., came off with first honors for the style of her dress and the walk that went along with it. Joe Freeton, with his movie camera, was right there recording it all. Those bright lights made the girls feel like movie actresses. They looked like them too.

Others participating in the fashion show were Gladys Bettis, Shirley Lewis, Gladys Flacks Parker and Madora James.

Between dinner and the cock-tail party, which was scheduled for, midnight, guests visited with their hostesses who had set up a bar in each room. Ask for it and you got it.

At 12 o'clock the guests arrived at the cocktail party and were greeted by beautiful music

MT. SINAI BAPTIST CHURCH, Baltimore, was the setting, Sunday afternoon, for the wedding of Miss Dolores Cole and William Matthews.

Miss Gilda M. Macer becomes bride of Stewart E. Brown

Miss Gilda Myrtle Macern, niece and foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Jackson, was married to Stewart E. Brown, here, Saturday.

Miss Macer, the daughter of Robert Macer Sr., is a city school teacher, on the faculty of School No. 141.

Mr. Brown is employed by the Social Security Board. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown Sr.

The ceremony, held in the Union Memorial Methodist Church, was performed by the Rev. N. B. Carrington.

• • •

GIVEN IN marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of blue lace, with small hat of blue flowers, a matching veil, long blue gloves and blue satin slippers. She carried a Bible topped with orchids.

She was attended by Miss Eva Alston, who wore orchid lace, a small flower hat and veil to match and carried an orchid centered bouquet.

Robert Brown Jr. was best man for his brother.

Butler-James wedding held

Union Memorial Methodist Church was the setting, Saturday, for the wedding of Miss Frances Beulah James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard James, and Leroy Francis Butler.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Butler.

The Rev. N. B. Carrington, pastor of the church, officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white Italian silk, the bodice fitting a yoke of white Chine net embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and the full skirt sweeping into a formal train. Her shoulder-length veil was held by a crown of sequins, and she carried a Bible, topped with orchids.

Mrs. James Green, matron of honor, wore a gown of green net, featuring a ruffled section at the back.

Bridesmaids, Misses Phyllis Mayo and Brenda Joyce Wright, wore gowns made like that of the honor attendant, but in aqua and pink. All carried cascade bouquets of carnations to contrast with their gowns.

DONALD ALLEN was best man for Mrs. Butler, and ushers were the bridegroom's brothers, Herman and Harry Butler.

The reception, which immediately followed the ceremony, was also held in the church.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. James wore a rose gown, street length, with a small matching sequin hat. Mrs. Butler
