OUR DEATH RECORD.

MR. ALDAY CLEMENTS.

Mr. Alday Clements, president of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland, and one of the wealthiest and most prominent farmers in this county, died at his country home near Crumpton at four o'clock on Tuesday morning, of apoplexy, aged 63 years. The news of Mr. Clements' death was a profound shock to the people of the entire county and occasioned expressions of the deepest regret from men in all walks of life. Mr. Clements was in the best of health on the day prior to his death. Accompanied by Mr. William Dudley he went to one of his farms for the day, and while returning to his home in the afternoon he was taken suddenly ill, and asked Mr. Dudley to take the reins. He was driven to his home as rapidly as possible and medical aid was immediately summoned. Before the physician arrived he had lapsed into unconsciousness, and remained in that state until the end came at four o'clock on Tuesday morning. The last time Mr. Clements was in Chestertown was on Wednesday of last week, and his last official act was to address a letter to his lawyer here stating that he would be in Chestertown on Wednesday to see him on a matter of business.

Alday Clements was truly a man of affairs. The son of the late David Clements, one of the county's prominent land-owners, he early in life devoted his attention to farming. By correct habits, economy and fine business judgment he soon amassed a valuable landed estate and became one of the county's leading and most prominent business men. Upon the resignation of the late Senator Charles T. Westcott, Mr. Clements succeeded to the presidency of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland, and he devoted much of his time to its interests, being one of its largest stockholders. He was also a large stockholder in a sugar refining company in Cuba. His landed estate consists of six or seven of the finest farms in this beautiful county, his home estate being considered one of the most valuable tracts in the county. He was also a director of the Kent Mutual Fire Insurance company.

In politics Mr. Clements was a Democrat, and while never having held office, he was always a leader in his district and his advice was sought in the councils of his party. As a man Mr. Clements was a gentleman of the old school. Of a quiet unassuming manner, yet sincere and frank in all his dealings with his fellowmen, he acquired men's confidence and held their esteem and friendship by the power of his striking individuality and rugged honesty. He never turned a deaf ear to the appeal of poverty and many there are who will miss the comfort and cheer his generosity occasioned. He leaves a widow and six children—three sons, Mr. Merrick Clements, bookkeeper in the bank of which his father was the president, and one of the commissioners of Chestertown; David at home, George at college, and three daughters. He also leaves one brother, Mr. Thomas Clements, of Chestertown, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. E. Jarrell, of Chestertown.

Funeral services were held from his late residence on Thursday morning at eleven o'clock, and were attended by the members of the Board of Directors of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland and a large number of relatives and friends. Services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Kuhlmann, a former pastor of Chesterville M. E. Church (South) of which the deceased was an official member, assisted by Rev. Mr. Owens, the present pastor. Interment was made in Chester cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. Wm. R. and J. B. Merrick, of Barclay, James and John E. Merrick, of Sudlersville, H. R. Graham and W. Frank Jarrell, of Chestertown. Undertaker Bradley & Sparks, of Crumpton, had charge of the funeral arrangements.

MRS. A. L. HOUSTON.

Mrs. A. L. Houston, one of our oldest and most highly esteemed lady residents, and widow of the late Dr. Houston, died last Saturday at her apartments at the home of Miss Mollie Watts, of acute bronchitis, aged 85 years. The deceased spent almost her entire life in Chestertown, and was a lady of most lovable manner and genial disposition. She was a sister of the late Richard Hynson, and leaves the following grandchildren: Mrs. E. B. Coy, B. F. Houston, of Wilmington, Del.; B. Chambers Wickes, Lucy H. Wickes, Clare Wickes, Mrs. W. S. Holton, Frank and Douglas Beall, of Baltimore; Mrs. Clarence Caskie, of Philadelphia, and George Beall, of Washington, D. C. The remains were removed to the home of her niece, Mrs. Wm. M. Slay, on Maple avenue, whence funeral services were held Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Dr. Henry B. Martin. Interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. George B. Westcott, Philip G. Wilmer, Eben F. Perkins, Thomas G. Wroth, J. Frank Connelly and Charles M. Brown. Undertaker Charles L. Dodd had charge of the funeral arrangements.

MRS. MARY BARD MEEKS.

(CONTRIBUTED.)

Mrs. Mary Bard Meeks, of Chestertown, Maryland, died very suddenly at the home of her brother, Charles Bard, Norwich, Ct., Sunday evening, Feb 9th, at about half past ten o'clock. Mrs. Meeks was born in Canterbury, Connecticut, November 19, 1830, the daughter of John Bard and Mary Foster Bard.

Although Mrs. Meeks had been ailing slightly for some days, her sudden death was most unexpected. Her natural frailness had blinded all but those nearest to her to the fact that her endurance was failing, and until the sharp and unexpected shortening of her strength early in the evening, she had disclosed few indications of precarious health. From her earliest years of widowhood, Mrs. Meeks' sympathies have reached beyond the range of her own interests, and there has been no decade of her long and unusually varied life that she has not ministered to all with whom her fine loyalty has kept her in close touch. Accepting her repeated bereavements with unselfish fortitude, she has entered into the griefs and carried the burdens of others with womanly sweetness. She was winning and gracious in manner, charming in presence and tact, and possessed of a rare combination of sensitiveness and strength. Her latter years have been full of quiet content. The constant and happy guest of her brother, she has won the affection of all who have known her, and by her gentle sagacity and sympathy has made herself an endearing and helpful companion. Mrs. Meeks is survived by her two brothers, J. Sprague Bard, of Brooklyn, Connecticut, and Charles Bard, of Norwich. Mrs. Thomas W. Skirven, of this county, is a niece.

Committed Suicide.—Mr. E. J. Clarke, proprietor of Clarke's Liniment, and well-known in this town, where he and his family had been guests at Pippin's Hotel frequently during the summer, committed suicide at his home in Philadelphia last Saturday by cutting his throat. Mr. and Mrs. Pippin attended the wedding of his daughter in Philadelphia last fall, and the family were well and favorably known here.
