ANNAPOLIS ROLDINGS

By ELOISE RICHARDSON

"THE CROWNING EXPERIENCE"...and what a thrilling experience it was to witness this moving musical drama at the National Theater in Washington on Wednesday evening.

The play is based on the wonderful life of Mrs. Mary McLeod Bethune as a pioneer of education and the daughter of slave parents.

The late Mrs. Bethune rose to become friend and adviser to presidents and was founder of the Bethune-Cookman College at Daytona Beach, Fla.

She was also a leading figure among women in this country, having been the founder and president of the National Council of Negro Women, which is now spread abroad.

The play is being presented over the country by Moral Re-Armament, an organization in which Mrs. Bethune had great faith.

Interested in the betterment of the world through changing of the hearts of people, at a World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament, Mrs. Bethune had this to say to Dr. Frank Buchman, leader:

"To be a part of this, great uniting force of our age in the growing experience of my life." She asked later to have these words engraved on her tombstone.

* * *

WHEN MRS. BETHUNE opened her first school, she used the motto: "First you have the need, then you do the deed." And as the curtain opens at the beginning of the play, you see this motto.

Muriel Smith, who impersonates the role of Mrs. Bethune, is the star.

Appearing in "Carmen Jones" on Broadway, she is widely known for her portrayal of Carmen with the Convent Garden Opera Company in London. She has also played in "South Pacific," "The Hot I" and I" and the film, "Moulin Rouge."

Her beautiful contralto voice sang out at its best during the performance and she showed great talent with loads of personality.

A deep feeling of the role Miss Smith played was evidenced in her acting, singing and speaking; and she brought a great response from the hearts of the people in the audience.

We are sure if Mrs. Bethune could have been in the audience she would have been profoundly happy to witness how "the depth of her aspirations" were received by the people.

Others who played leading roles were:

Ann Buckles, who won acclaim for her featured roles in Broadway productions including "Pajama Game," "Mr. Wonderful," "Mrs. McThing" and "The Fifth Season."

Louis Byles, well-known concert and radio artist from Jamaica;

Laura Beatrice Bell, a member of the Bethune-Cookman choir of the college founded by Mrs. Bethune.

VERNON SLAUGHTER, who is having his first experience as an actor. He is a painter by trade in Detroit and proves himself a natural for the part he plays.

My feeling is that the entire cast has a burning conviction that moral re-armament is an urgent need for America; so they play their parts so realistically. Also members of the cast are not paid. Expenses only are financed.

Incidentally, several of the children in the cast are relatives of Mrs. Electa Holland of Annapolis. They are Marlire, Lydia and Anna Marie McCurdy from Canada.

One cannot help but believe in the ideology expressed in the play if he or she is conscious of God, for in order that this world become a better one to live in, there must be a moral and spiritual force in the lives of all people for good.

Those of you who have not seen this marvelous play should avail yourselves of such a wonderful opportunity. The tickets are free, but it is expected that you give a contribution after the performance, the money of which goes toward the great work of Moral Re-Armament.

I have Mr. and Mrs. Everett Pettibone and Mrs. Mary Campbell Brown to thank for one of the most pleasant evenings of my life. I shall never forget the grandeur of the occasion and the sense of hope for our country as I watched the progress of what the play represented.

Changing people's hearts for good is the answer to all problems, whether they be of national or local scene.

ANNAPOLIS and Anne Arundel County are really coming into their own with the great strides being made in education by our youth.

Not too many years ago, there were only a few high school graduates each year, but now many are coming out each year and going forward.

Bates High School had over 200 graduates this year — the largest class in the history of the school — and the colleges are getting many of them each year.

It is interesting to note so many of these young people in the streets, at the beaches and at the churches on Sunday, here for the summer.

While a large group of them are in college, others have just graduated and are waiting to go out into the world in their chosen professions in September.

Among graduates seen are: Doris Thomas, all of Maryland State Johnson, Willie Mae Perguson and Eleanor Parker Brooks, all of Maryland State College.

Angela Baden, Rose Walker, Alfred Blackstone, Eleanor Queen, Evelyn Young, all of Morgan State College;

Fonda Bowman and Frank Brown of Winston-Salem Teachers College;

James Pindell, Russell Adams and Roland Holland, all of Maryland State College, and Betty Makell of Delaware State College.

I UNDERSTAND Eleanor Queen plans to do graduate work at Howard University beginning this fall. Fonda Bowman, an honor grad will teach at Bates Junior High School, and Betty Makell, also an honor grad, will teach at Stanton Elementary. Eleanor Brooks will work out in the county.

Marguerite Johnson has been appointed to the Eastport Elementary School also and Willie Mae Ferguson and Eleanor Murden will work out in the county.

Among those who are home, but expect to return to college in September are:

Zelda Travers, Larry Johnson, Doris Thomas, all of Maryland State Teachers College; Wysola Moseelle and Lynnette Brown, Central State College; Elsie Richardson, Syracuse University; Phillip Hyman of Winston-Salem Teachers College;

Also Franklin Hunt, Marjorie Covert, John Gray and Warren Truesdale, the University of Maryland;

Raymond Richardson, Howard University; Elton Snowden, South Carolina College; Charles Brown, Central State College;

Also Gracia Baden, Thomas Brown, Gloria Crutchfield, Odaris Johnson, Burma Lee Smith, Carrollton Greene, Shirley Ellis, Ronald Huff, Geraldine Kicks.

Also Charlene Walker, William Parker, Joseph Smith, George Butler, Douglas Ferguson, Sharon Pindell and Louis Boston, all of Morgan State College.

It is interesting to note that Franklin Hunt is working on the AFRO this summer. Major, in journalism at the university in his second year, read his first story with a byline and noted he has great possibilities in that field.

How people can one be in one's community?

It seems Mrs. Lula Hardesty, lovely school clerk at the beautiful new Jones Elementary School, carries over her popularity throughout the year among her many friends and associates.

One evening last week the Mothers' Club, after concerting an idea with her husband, Purnell Hardesty, honored her on her birthday with a surprise party.

Lula, who took in a movie the earlier part of the evening, came home to the greeting "Surprise!"

"Surprise for what?" she asked, and then she found she had a birthday party put over on her.

Among members who helped her to celebrate were Mesdames Clara E. Brown, vice-president; Gladys Palmer, treasurer; Edna Cager, Elnora Matthews, Margaret Scott and Miss Velma Gray, president.

Among other guests were Mesdames Ethel Carr, Margaret Wright and Loretta White.

The menu included dainty open - faced sandwiches, ice cream, assorted cakes, punch, nuts and candy.

The club presented Mrs. Hardesty with money as a gift, and she received other gifts from her husband and friends.

ABOUT PEOPLE:

Occasionally I take a notion to eat lunch in the Court House at the Snack Bar.

This notion often grows out of the thought of being greeted by a "pleasant personality and a big smile" when I reach there, for as you know snack bars often only have so much to offer in the way of a meal.

This personality I refer to is that of Mrs. Rachel Elizabeth Smith, assistant to the manager of the concession, which is operated by the Maryland Workshop for the Blind, with headquarters in Baltimore.

Mrs. Smith has become a real "celebrity" in her work at the Court House because of these qualities. She has daily contact with judges, lawyers, the general public and court house personnel.

When it is necessary for her to be off of the job, she is missed at once, and the question is always "Where is she?"

In talking to her boss about her, we found, not only is she well-liked, but efficient, affable to work with and faithful.

These are surely three requisites toward being a good employee. It makes no difference what our work is, it is important to have such qualities.

* * *

IN TALKING to Mrs. Smith about her work, she stated:

"I enjoy my work because I like doing something to help someone less fortunate than I. The people I work with are blind. I also like people and I like to be friendly."

Mrs. Smith and mother, Mrs. Smith is married to Charles Enoch Smith Sr. and lives with her family at 70 Parole St. Her children are Charlotte Elnora and Charles Enoch Jr., both eighth graders at Bates Junior High.

Aside from her job and her role as wife and mother, Mrs. Smith holds the following positions in her church, St. Mark's Methodist at Mayo:

Church clerk, president of the Gospel Chorus, chairman of the Stewards Board, vice-president of the Women's Society of Christian Service, first captain of the Singing and Praying Band; Also counselor for the Junior Usher Board, chairman of the Evangelistic Committee, a member of the Educational Committee.

Photography is a hobby of Mrs. Smith and she loves to raise flowers. If you ask me her hobby is "loving people."

GLEN BURNIE ECHOES

By FELICIA ADAMS

The pastor, choir and congregation of the Magoffin and Halls charge worshipped on Sunday afternoon with the John Wesley Methodist Church of Glen Burnie. Their pastor, the Rev. L. A. Dyson delivered the message. The Rev. S. J. Mack was host pastor. Mrs. Anna Matthews was the sponsor.

BIRTHDAY greetings to Mrs. Mattie Sewell of 2306 Barclay St., the wife of Rev. W. V. Sewell of Shiloh AME Church.

The Rev. and Mrs. Perry Tilghman and the good members of Oak Grove AME Church are to be praised for the splendid work they are doing for our neighborhood. Why not visit this friendly church on Howard St. near 24th St. some Sunday? You will be greatly rewarded — neighbors.

Among those who will attend the Thirteenth Consecutive Christian Educational Congress of the AME Church to be Held at Allen University Columbia, S.C., from July 29 thru, Aug. 1 will be Misses Jean Reed, Pat McCray, Marie Maxfield, Virginia Dorsey, Carol Ann Jamison, Mesdames Vorhease Jamison and Charlotte W. Downie.

Note — This poem was dedicated to the teachers of the Daily Vacation Bible School of Shiloh AME Church at the closing exercises.

Good Bye Dear Bible School

We are leaving, we are parting — In our eyes teardrops are starting.

For we must leave our dear Bible School: Where we sing and where we play

Learn the Bible more each day, Try to live by the Golden Rule,

We will never forget all the good times we had with you.

And the new friends we made so dear, so goodbye now, do not cry now.

We will think of you always and we'll come back to see you next year.

The Sollers Homes Playground, located on Breckenridge Dr. near the No. 26 car line is open daily on Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until dark. This gives the children of the area a full day of supervised play under trained leadership.

Among the activities are games, arts and crafts, music, and a number of other activities for boys and girls. Dancing is featured every Thursday night. Tumbling is the specialty for every Monday and Wednesday evening.

The Talent Contest is open to all boys and girls in the Sollers Homes area. Register at the playground for this event.

On the softball team are: C. Larry, R. Covington, Chi Whitby, Rice, Manson, Irby, Brenon, Lewis, and Snead.

Feature activities for last week were a watermelon contest and the making of paper mache animals.

The playground will be open until August 15. The leaders are Miss Yvonne Thomas, Mrs. Ernestine Reid, and Mr. Mack Simpson.

THE RESIDENTS of Day Village owe a debt of gratitude to two of their neighbors, Mr. James L. Johnson, of 1 Peach Orchard Lane and to Mr. Franklin of 657 North Avondale Road along with a few more neighbors who fell in line to make safe a portion of the water in front of the 700 block of Peach Orchard Lane so that the small children can enjoy themselves during the summer. It has been cleared of rubbish and glass as well as having been roped off so that they can go out where the water is deep.

A WOMEN'S DAY Rally is being held at the New Shiloh Baptist Church. Eight captains are competing against each other in sponsoring activities to raise their funds.

A chicken and ham dinner will be given on Saturday, July 26 at the home of Mrs. Ruth Lynn, 325 Pine St. from 12 noon until. Other refreshments will be on sale. Mrs. Lyons is captain of District VII —the Chestnut Street area.

A chicken and ham dinner will be held at the church, 105 East Avenue, on Friday, July 25, from 12 noon to 7 p.m. This dinner is being sponsored by Mrs. Susie Parsons, captain for District VI.

THE UNION Baptist Church of which the Rev. Carlton H. Cooke is the pastor, recently held its Women's Day. Instead of a Financial rally each family donated $5 for the day. Some $400 was raised.

The speaker for the morning services was Mrs. Mary Bryant, wife of the Rev. Harrison Bryant, pastor of Bethel AME Church. At 3 p.m., Mrs. Bernice Wynn, a public school teacher, presented in pantomime, The Women of the Bible. Mrs. Lucille Wade was chairman and Mrs. Wynn was co-chairman.

Mrs. Bryant was the first colored woman to be appointed to the Baltimore Delaware of the Council of Churches. She was also a trail blazer for colored women in the Baltimore Conference. Mrs. Bryant is a close worker in our community.

THE REV. MR. Cooke and family will spend their vacation on tour of Canada with presiding Bishop Tolliver of Toronto, and Montreal where the Rev. Everett pastored prior to coming to New Shiloh.

* * *

THE REV. R. C. Williams, pastor of Lebanon Calvary Baptist Church, Baltimore, was the guest speaker at the New Shiloh Baptist Church on last Sunday. He is concluding a series of speaking engagements that have kept him wy from home since June 2.

His tour has included speaking at the following churches: Bates Memorial Baptist Church and Zion Baptist Church in Louisville, Ky., Rising Star Baptist Church and Greater St. John Baptist Church in New Orleans, La.; Special President Baptist Church and the M. E. Methodist Church in Columbia, Mo.; and the Great Mt. Mariah Baptist Church in Detroit, Mich.

Seventeen persons came into the church during his tour. The Rev. Mr. Williams is 84.5 years of age and speaks as well as sings with a strong voice.

MRS. Helen Michael Patterson of 1906 J Street, Sparrows Point had as house guest for the past week her mother, Mrs. Nannie Michael of Asheville, N.C.

Mrs. Michael, a graduate of South Carolina State College at Orangeburg, S.C., is an interviewer for the North Carolina State Employment Service where she has been employed for the past 20 years. She was recently cited for her years of service.

Mrs. Michael is the widow of the late Dr. Otis Michael of Asheville. Her son, Otis, Jr., is a medical student at Meharry Medical School, Nashville, Tenn.

Mrs. Patterson a graduate of Hampton Institute and tennis instructor at the Sollers Point High School playground for the summer, is the wife of Howard Patterson Jr. who is a senior chemist at Sinai Hospital in the Pathology Department.

Gadabouting In Baltimore

Weekend at the Shirley K fun for gay local group ...with Lula Jones Garrett

Last weekend the Town and Country Club (a group organized four years ago for a strictly social program) held forth at the Shirley K. Hotel in Colton, Md. at three days of high food, high fun and high dress.

Some of the members and guests arrived Friday night, gathered at an informal supper party. Others came in time for a dip before breakfast on Saturday. And from the first appearances flanged out in an exceptional show of fashion.

'Twas a chic ensemble worn by Ruth Jackson—white pants, a strawberry trimmed in black which matched the shirt that bore her initials. Pauline Blake well wore a blue paisley chemise blouse with her pale blue pants and Berenice Burrows was in a pale blue shorts worn buttoned to a torso shirt of very short length.

Osceola Allor was in beige pants and a matching sleeveless top and an orange-red and red Welheimina Cooper, white pants topped with red vested jersey.

And one of the chicest bathing suits was a pale pink suit selected by Odessa Dyson. Elizabeth Phillips chose black and white Bermuda pants with matching trim on her white cap.

Then came a fabulous Saturday night party, with cute Bernie Gold in a full-skirted black and white print; Charlee Jones in an empire sheath topped with matching full length coat; Elizabeth Edwards in orange chemise with a huge bow accenting the back; Dorothy Franklin wearing yards of skirt;

Elizabeth Umphrey in white print with blue sling-a-dips — as bad Ann Diamond's white pique, which was also trimmed with a big red flower.

The hostesses included Margaretta Brown, Berenice Burrows, Olive Caulk, Wilhelmina Cooper, Bernie Curtis, Esther Johnson, Queenie Lane, Anne Norris, Elizabeth Phillips, Agnes Reaves and Anna Williams. Ruth Jackson is an honorary member.

Guests included

Ted McAdoo, Lonnie Umphreys, Frank Veneys, Preston Paynes, Ike Moodys, Ellsworth Diamonds, Sam Blackwells, Clarence Dysons, John Edwardses, Harry Gails, Art Murphys and Billy Wests.

Nelia Wright, Charlie Jones, Dorothy Franklin, Mildred Smith, Zelma Johnson, Mabel Haggan.

Leon Martin, Ray Parker, Leon Bartz, Leon Burrows, Leon Burrows, Dahlmon Blake, Leon Allor, Robert Cooper, Ellihu Norris, J.C. Reaves and Archie Williams.

SUNDAY AGO, some sixty members of Chesapeake Club, (this is a social club) met at Arundel-On-The-Bay for a day of fun at the sumptuous home of the president, Dr. A. U. Forte.

And fun they had feasting, bathing, dancing, swimming and the whole nine and card playing.

The Milford E. Jeffersons Mondays catered the affair, so, for sure the food was delicious, varied and abundant.

Among the members and their wives present were:

The Fortes, Messrs. and Mesdames Ulysses J. Augustus Adams, William B. Dixon, Carlton Douglass J. C. Bailey, Shirley Dyson, Hugh Jefferson.

Messrs. and Mesdames William Gardner, Eugene Gordon, Hugh Jefferson, Henry McNeal, Leroy Moody, Fannin Newsome.

Messrs. and Mesdames Nicholas E. Rice, Norman A. Smith, Walter B. Smith, H. Lee Ship, Leo Alston Andrew E. Smith, Elmer H. Travis, Ollie Wise, Hezekiah Spencer and, Melvin G. Rice.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clemons came down from Philadelphia for the party, and other guests included:

Messrs and Mesdames Thaddeus Smith, Harry Smith and Hubert Smith, Mrs. Virginia Bowman, Misses Margaret Wilkins, Eleanora Jackson and Mary Duvall; Claude Bruce, Reginald Chew and Dr. Ryan Gibbs.

PEREGRINATORS: At Yale University's summer session are Vacoustess Payne of the faculty of Clifton Park Junior High School, Jennie M. Jenkins of the Department of Public Welfare and Anne L. Reed of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, all of this town. They are among 20 from Maryland, which has one of the largest groups at the institute.

Studies center chiefly on alcoholics.

The Jim (Muriel) Lindsays post back from Kansas City that their trip to the Missouri city has been all fun. The George (Gladys) Taylors, who went out to Cleveland, Ohio, for the NAACP convention are home again. With them was their mother, Mrs. William C. Harcum.

Rosa and Carlitha Phears, daughters of Mrs. Thelma Phears, are visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gay in Washington. And Helen Drye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Drye, went off to North Carolina for a vacation.

Urban League Director Furman Templeton flies off to Cape May, N.J. next week, to join his family there for a vacation.

Mrs. Alice R. Matthews, vacationing in Atlantic City, where she is a guest at the Haddon Hall. She is a public school teacher of this city and wife of Mayson Matthews of Mosher Street.

Her daughter, Berteal Evans, vacationed in Cleveland, Ohio, where she was the guest of Mrs. Clara Banks, of Baltimore, Cape May and Cleveland. Ohio. Mrs. Banks is temporarily residing in Cleveland on the fabulous Lee Road section. The Hiram (Beatrice) Butlers motored off to her native New Hhamshire, last week end. Should be back this week end.

Dr. Emmett Chapelle moved into new home on Allendale Road, this week. Will be joined by Mrs. Chapelle (Lucy Mae Curtis, Esther and a half) over the weekend.

Dr. Chappelle, a research biochemist at the National Institute for Advanced Study, here, has been domiciled at the YMCA since taking the position here in June. He is a native of Arizona. Has a PhD from Stanford. Came here from Los Angeles, from the Charles Drew Medelle and family will fly in. Roger Johnson found their home for them.
