MARYLAND DUMPING GROUND FOR DISEASED CATTLE.

State Veterinarian Says Virginia and Pennsylvania Ship in Tuberculous Cows.

Our farmers no doubt will be greatly surprised by the statement made by Dr. Lawrence Hickman, State Veterinarian for Maryland, before the Conference on State Control of Milk Supply and Bovine Tuberculosis, held in New York recently, to the effect that Maryland is being used "as a dumping ground" for uninspected and diseased cattle from other states, particularly Virginia and Pennsylvania.

"Of 1,500 cattle received at the State Yards to be sold to butchers as beef," declares Dr. Hickman, "we found 600 unfit for this purpose. At the Conference it was stated that Maryland has received the highest percentage of diseased cattle in the Union, with New Jersey second. This can easily be remedied by the Livestock Sanitary Board's placing more patrols in the counties on the State lines. At present there is not a sufficient number for the territory assigned to them. Of all the cattle received into the State last year 30 per cent. were tuberculous. The Government inspectors condemn only such cattle as show general tuberculosis, that is, where the body is found to be wholly tuberculous.

Grange Notes.

Sassafras Grange met in the hall Monday evening, Jan. 17, with a goodly number present. The question, "Does it pay to use commercial fertilizer on corn was discussed in an interesting and illuminating manner by Messrs. Wm. Colgain, I. W. Spry, J. D. Davis, Chas. Hemphries, Harry Robinson, Henry Rasin, Sam. Massey and Robt. Johnston, with the preponderance of opinion in favor of its use. Duet by Mrs. E. Ernest and Mary Johnston was beautifully rendered.

A progressive conversation, with five minutes each given to the following subjects.

1st What steps should be taken by people in rural districts that their children may have longer instruction in their local schools?

2nd Should Women vote?

3rd At what age should a country boy be provided with a team and be allowed to choose his own hours and his own companions?

4th Why should not women propose?

One answer to the last question was that there would be too many happy marriages, this was given by a lady.

On Monday evening, February 24, the grange met in the hall and the worthy master being absent was called to order by worthy overseer, Henry Rosin. After the business meeting the following program was rendered. Reading, "The Grange at Work", by Mrs. Johnston; reading "A Confidential Letter to Woodrow Wilson" by the Lecturer; duet, Mrs. Ernest and R. W. Johnston. Then the members were given five minutes by the lecturer in which to write an original verse about Washington. Following are some of the results of the frantic efforts put forth.

Georgey cut the cherry tree,
With his little hatchet,
Then he went and told his daddy
So he wouldn't catch it;
Georgey said he couldnt tell a lie
And he didn't;
Pat said he could tell a lie
But he widn't.
—Henry Rosin.

George Washington couldn't tell a lie,
And that's the difference between he and I.
—I. W. Spry.

Washington was a Virginia farmer
Who sometimes got full of jiggers
And as he lived "Bo-fo-de-war'.
He owned a lot of niggers.
—R. W. Johnston.

Still Pond Grange is now all fixed in their new quarters, the school building. A special program has been arranged for Saturday, March 1, celebrating the fifth anniversary of the organization of the grange. The third and fourth degrees will be given the candidates in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. Supper served at 5, and an interesting program given at 7 P. M. Mrs. Hannah Moore, the lecturer, has several new things on hand which will prove very enjoyable.

Twenty-eight members will be initiated in the first and second degress at Fairlee Grange next Wednesday evening. After the initiation Mr. Edward A. Corey will give a talk on growing potatoes. It is an interesting fact that there are $15,000 invested in the potato industry in Fairlee Grange this season alone, representing 300 acres in tillage.

Prof. Roy H. Waite, of the Md. Agricultural College, will give a stereoptican talk on poultry raising to the Still Pond Grange on Saturday afternoon, March 8th, at 3.30 o'clock. The tomato meeting will be held at one o'clock, and the growers are requested to bring their wives and all attend the poultry talk in the school building.

Selling Potatoes and Fertilizer

Mr. Edward A. Corey, the potato king of Kent, is being kept busy selling large quantities of select Maine seed potatoes and the fertilizer which he used in growing his record crop of potatoes last spring. One day this week Mr. Richard T. Earle, of Centreville, with a party of friends, visited the home of Mr. Corey and arranged for the purchase of a quantity of potatoes and fertilizer, intending to engage in the potato business on a large scale. A well-known grower of Talbot county has also placed an order with Mr. Corey, and the latter will handle the Talbot grower's crop this summer. He also has orders from growers below Easton. Mr. Corey informed us this week that he is satisfied that the publicity which has been given to his potato industry exclusively by the TRANSCRIPT from time to time recently is responsible for his large sales, and he says he appreciates the courtesy of our articles to such an extent that he desires to testify to the real merits of the TRANSCRIPT as an effective advertising medium. We are glad to be of service to Mr. Corey, not only because of our desire to assist a worthy citizen, but because in so doing we feel that we are assisting to build up an industry in this county that will be of untold financial benefit to our farmers.
