JOHN BARTLEY,

CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND.

Editorial from the Baltimore Sun of March 16, 1913.

INTERFERENCE—OUTSIDE AND INSIDE.

There has been a great deal of talk, apropos the Senatorial primary fight in this State, of outside interference, but little has been heard of inside interference. Yet there is much more of the latter than the former in Maryland, and it is vastly more pernicious.

By "outside interference" those who are trying to popularize the phraze here mean the expression of a preference by the President of the United States or the use of the Federal patronage to help or hurt this or that candidate. So far as the use of patronage primarily to help a candidate is concerned, no one who knows Woodrow Wilson imagines that he is going to do it. On the other hand, no one imagines that if he is opposed to the election of John Walter Smith as Senator from Maryland, or James Smith as Senator from New Jersey, he is going to name for office in either of those States men who will use the power of their offices to help either of the Smiths back to the Senate.

This is the sum and substance of the "outside interference" talked of. What about the "inside interference"? For years there has been in progress in this State a movement to improve the Democratic party, to make it a better vehicle for the propagation of Democratic policies and the securing and maintenance of good government. Fighting against this movement has been found a political machine so unenlightened, so corrupt and so utterly selfish that several times it has driven the people of the State, despite their inherent preference for the Democratic ticket, to rise up and revolt against it. This machine has not hesitated to use the multitude of offices that from time to time have been at its disposal to debauch and debase the party whose name it has stolen. Its course has resulted in the overthrow of real Democratic rule in the counties through turning the State government over to the Republicans.

The dictionaries define a political party as "a voluntary association or organization of citizens for the attainment of desired ends or policies through united political action." The ends or policies that the Democratic party is organized to obtain can be read in the platforms of the party and in the utterances of its distinguished leaders. Among them are tariff revision downward, the restoration of competition, a currency plan devised from the standpoint of the people and not of Wall street and a vast body of legislation built about the theory of equal rights for all and special privileges for none. Interference with the Democratic party in this or any other State is an interference that places obstacles in the way of the attainment of these ends. Interference that removes obstacles is not interference but co-operation.

All this is fundamental truth. But in view of it, how absurd how affronting, must these outcries against "outside interference" from representatives of the machine be considered. It is the inside and not the outside interference that has made a doubtful State out of Democratic Maryland, that put into high official position men who thwarted rather than aided the only Democratic President other than Wilson that this country has had since the Civil War, and which, if it is left alone, will try to thwart Wilson himself and prevent the success of his administration. It is the inside interference from which the real Democracy of Maryland should pray to be delivered.

S. S. McKIM FOR MARBURY

Former Liquor Board President Declares in Senatorial Fight.

S. Sterett McKim, who was president of the Board of Liquor License Commissioners, of Baltimore, during the administration of the late Governor Crothers, on Tuesday declared for Wm. L. Marbury for the United States Senate.

As a member of the Liquor Board Mr. McKim made such an admirable record that, although a regular Democrat, he was reappointed by Governor Goldsborough. The State Senate, however, through the influence of the Democratic city politicians rejected his appointment. Mr. McKim supported President Wilson in the Maryland primaries. Speaking of the long-term Senatorship, Mr. McKim said:

"Personally and politically I am for Mr. Marbury. His candidacy represents what I advocate in politics.

"In the first place, he is clean politically and sincerely believes in the principles and doctrines of the Democratic party. He is a man of remarkable ability, and as a member of the United States Senate would soon come to the front as one of the leaders of that body.

"No man in Maryland doubts his ability or intregrity, and these points should be thoroughtly considered by the Democrats of Maryland. I am no politician and I never posed as one, but I propose to do all I can in my own humble way for William L. Marbury."

The pupils and teachers of Piney Neck High School will hold a bazaar in the school building on Thursday evening, March 27th. All are welcome.

In and Around Georgetown.

Mrs. James E. Woodall, Jr., and daughter are visiting Mrs. G. V. Peverly, at Middletown, Del.

Miss Anna Hamilton has returned home after a several days visit with relatives in Townsend, Del.

Miss Mary Scott has returned to her home in Galena from an extended stay in Baltimore.

There were no services in Westminster Presbyterian Church last Sunday owing to the minister, Rev. Wm. Clews, having the grippe.

Mrs. J. P. Cockran, of Galena, visited Middletown on Wednesday.

J. H. Clendaniel, Jr., has sold two handsome, four passenger, Overland cars in town during the week, one to Capt. James E. Woodall and the other to Mr. James E. Woodall, Jr.

Mr. H. C. Whiteford, of Whiteford, Harford county, has been in town on business during the week.

Mrs. Bernard J. McCauley is quite sick at her home in Galena.

The Galena M. E. Sunday school served dinner at Mr. Samuel Caldwell's big sale on Thursday, and fifteen dollars were cleared for missions.

Prof. A. L. Greenwood spent the week-end in Denton, and accompanied the senior class of the Denton High School on a sight-seeing trip to Annapolis.

Mrs. John Merchant, of near Galena, met with a very painful accident last Friday afternoon. She, with one of her sons, was driving some turkeys when the boy accidently struck his mother in the eye with a stick thrown at the birds. It was at first believed that she would lose the sight of the eye but the doctors believe now that the sight is not permanently injured.
