Howard Stars; Yanks Win

By SAM LACY
AFRO Sports Editor

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — A two-out single by Elston Howard sent the New York Yankees into the lead that turned into a world championship for the American League here Thursday afternoon.

It was the key hit in a four-run eighth inning that sealed a 6-2 victory for the Yanks.

Howard, 29-year-old father of two from St. Louis, thus became a strong candidate for the sports car given annually by a national magazine to the outstanding player of the series.

Earlier Elston had been a defensive standout with a brilliant catch in the fifth game and a rally-breaking throw in the sixth.

HOWARD'S slashing single over pitcher Lew Burdette's head chased Berra across with the run that could have been decisive, even without the single by Andy Carey and homer by Bill Skowron which followed.

Deserted with both bat and glove by his teammates, Burdette undoubtedly deserved a better fate. Twice in the early innings, the Braves filled the bases with less than two out. Yet they were able to give Lew only one run.

At the same time, shabby infield support enabled the Yankees to score twice without benefit of a hit and hold a 2-1 lead through five innings.

THE BRAVES took a one-run lead in their half of the first then gave it back as soon as the Yankees came to bat. Two successive errors by Frank Torre provided New York with the opportunity to put across a pair of runs without benefit of a hit.

Red Schoendienst's single and Hank Aaron filled the bases. But a lone tally was the best Milwaukee could get out of it, that on Wes Covington's bouncer deep to first base.

The 1-0 margin was short-lived as Berra walked opening the second. Howard and Jerry Lumpe were safe when Torre threw poorly to Burdette after fielding their easy rollers, and none down.

BERRA SCORED as Skowron forced Lumpe, and Howard trotted across on Tony Kubek's loft to left.

The Braves again flubbed a golden scoring chance in their third, singles by Bruton and Aaron and an intentional pass to Eddie Mathews creating another bases-loaded situation. It ended with Del Crandall retired on a smash which deflected off Turley's glove to McDougald.

It was in the sixth that Crandall came through with his game-tying homer into the left seats.

However, the 2-2 count lasted only an inning and a half, as Berra's double was followed by Howard's 2-out single, with Carey's and Skowron's blows as anti-climactic.

THE WIN completed a spectacular come-from-behind surge by the Yankees who, trailing by 3-1 in games, took the last three in a row.

It was the first time in 23 years that such a feat was accomplished in the series.

THE YANKEES had caught up by virtue of a 4-3, ten-inning victory on Wednesday, thus forcing the Series to its seven-game limit.

As had been the case throughout the early stages of the playoff, New York was compelled to get off the floor to deadlock the issue at 3-all. Their first inning lead dissipated, the Yanks were trailing 2-1 from the second through the fifth, tied it in the sixth, then went on to take the decision in overtime.

WARREN SPAHN, essaying a third start and hoping to clinch it with his third victory, was prey of the Bombers in their 2-run tenth.

The gallant lefty surrendered a homer to Gil McDougald opening the frame, retired Hank Bauer and Mantle, but then was nicked for singles by Howard and Yogi Berra. At this point, Warren was relieved by Don McMahon, just one out short of completing his third route - going effort, two of which he won.

AARON'S THIRD hit of the day, a single to left, put the Braves within a run of tying it all up again in the bottom of the tenth. But Milwaukee couldn't produce the blow needed to send Hank across from third.

The slugging rightfielder, after chasing Johnny Logan home with two down in the inning, raced to third when Joe Adcock singled to center. But there he died as pinch hitter Frank Torre's soft liner toward right was speared by Mc Dougald.

Aaron had previously tied it for the Braves when he singled to left in the first inning to tal by Red Schoendienst with the run that matched Bauer's two-out homer in the top of the frame.

IT WAS in the second that the Braves went ahead. The inning opened with Covington rapping a first-pitch safety to

Tan pair in key 6th game plays

MILWAUKEE, Wisc. — The 1958 World Series story might well have ended in the sixth game here Wednesday, with the Braves victorious, were it not for two key plays, both of which involved tan athletes.

The players were New York's Elston Howard and Milwaukee's Billy Bruton. The former emerged as something of a hero while the latter came out with a less favorable label.

HOWARD'S CHANCE to figure in the limelight occurred in the bottom of the second inning when three straight singles and a base on balls showed the Braves with one run in, one out and the bases still loaded.

In this situation, Andy Pafko — never singled out for his speed and certainly not now at the age of 37—sought to score from third on a shallow fly to left by Johnny Logan. Howard cupped the ball and fired to catcher Yogi Berra, the throw going straight and true and beating Pafko by some 12 to 15 feet.

The double play broke the back of the Milwaukee rally and gave Spahn a mere one-run margin at a time when he had every right to hope for more.

BRUTON'S MISFORTUNE came in the top of the sixth and paved the way for the Yankees to tie the score.

With Mantle on first via a single, Howard delivered a one-baser over second toward Billy. The usually sure-handed Braves centerfielder charged center. Wes moved up as Andy Pafko singled then corssed the plate on Spahn's one-haser to left.

What loomed as a big inning for the home folk, however, blew up a moment later when Pafko inadvisedly tried for home on Johnny Logan's fly to Howard in medium left. Elston's peg to Berra erased Pafko with room to spare.

THE YANKS pulled even in the sixth with the aid of an error by the usually reliable Bruton. The Braves centerfielder over-ran Howard's single to center, the miscue permitting Mantle, who had singled earlier, to reach third. Mantle was then in position to score on a relatively easy fly to center by Berra.

McCougald homered to open the New York tenth, and then Howard, Berra and Skowron singled in succession to wrap up the sixth game.

CIAA eyes Eastern Shore, Morgan-Maryland clash

PRINCESS ANNE, Md.—Top CIAA football attraction of this week is the Morgan-Maryland State second annual classic scheduled tomorrow (Saturday) at 2 p.m. in the Maryland State Stadium.

Last year's 7-7 deadlock sets up this tussle as the game of the week in the CIAA parade.

VERNON (SKIP) McCAIN'S Maryland entourage bowed in last week with a surprise 20-6 win over a highly - rated Virginia State squad. Predominantly a freshman-sophomore aggregation, the Hawks showed greenness, but their potential cannot be discounted.

Roger (Rajah) Brown, 262-pound tackle, Roosevelt Turner, 235-pound tackle, and Gene Chapman a 210-pound guard, have steadied the line. A brand new backfield built around Quincy Cooper and Dennis Tanner is developing.

Newcomers are Billy (The Shadow) Gray, Joe Robinson, Dan Miller and Frank Muse. Chief asset here is speed.

MORGAN'S EDDIE HURT will be going all out to register a win over his State rival. The Bears held the heavily-favored McCainmen to draw in the first game of this annual Classic last October. This year the match figures as a toss-up.

The winner of this tussle takes possession for a year of the Webb Radio Trophy. Because of last year's tie each school had the award for a period of six months during the interim.

THE MORGAN offense hinges on Bobby Gordon, 185-pound halfback, Larry Buffalo, 187-pound fullback, and James Hairston, 255 - pound tackle. The studious, taciturn Hurt has made no secret of the fact that he'd very much like to have this one.

Only one coach has taken "Skip" McCain in camp since the Princess Anne School entered the CIAA — Bennie George of Delaware State.

WILD BILL DAVIS his organ and Combo will play for the official dance. There will be the customary "whoop de doo" Friday and Saturday nights, all attendant to one of the standout games of the season.

Halftime activities will include marching bands, drill teams, celebrities, and high school presentations.

Baltimore Bullets card Thanksgiving opener

Baltimore's new basketball Bullets will have two road games behind them by the time they open at home, Thanksgiving night, against Sunbury at the Coliseum, Owner Ed Malin revealed in releasing the official 1958-59 Eastern League schedule.

The Bullets will play 16 games at the Monroe Street court with the opener the only Thursday start of the season.

The rest of the schedule lists seven Friday evenings, six Sunday afternoons and the two Saturday nights.

FIVE TAN candidates are in camp with the Bullets. They are all former college stars:

Ed Amos, Hampton; Aaron Johnson, Ernie Garrett and Ron Garner, all ex-Morgan luminaries, and Willie Thomas of Tennessee State.

Unitas, Moore, Berry Packer targets Sunday

In piling up a league-leading total of 79 points in opening victories over the Detroit Lions and the Chicago Bears, the Baltimore Colts' attack has been spearheaded by quarterback Johnny Unitas, halfback Lenny Moore and end Raymond Berry, with some top-notch assistance afforded by a bruising forward wall bulwarked by 270-pound tackle Jim Parker.

Unitas, a three-year man from Louisville, led the National Football League with 24 scoring pegs and 2,550 yards gained in the air last season.

At his present pace he would surpass both marks. Although he completed only ten tosses against the Bears last Sunday, four of them were for touchdowns, raising his two-game tally to six. Johnny has already eaten up 448 yards with his accurate marksmanship, while connecting on 33 or 66 passes.

GREEN BAY, the Colts' opponent Sunday in Milwaukee, should give Unitas' sharpshooting a severe test. The Packers possess a swift quartet of backfield defenders in All-Pro Bob Dillon, Hank Gremminger, John Symank and Billy Kinard.

The two Baltimore receivers likely to draw the most attention from the Packers' anti-aircraft patrol are Lenny Moore and Raymond Berry. Moore, who scored on runs of nine and 27-yards and pass receptions of 30 and 77 yards in the Bear fracas, has now registered five touchdowns, while snagging nine throws for 177 yards.

Berry, the slick wingman, racked up his third six-pointer against the Bruins, and boosted his catch total to 14 or 212 yards.

Prep queens for Morgan homecoming

A bevy of Maryland high school queens will represent their schools at Homecoming festivities of Morgan State College on Saturday, Oct. 18.

Kick-off time for the game between the Bears and Howard University is 1:30 p.m.

A pre-game parade and half-time show are scheduled and the crowning of Miss Doris Wooten of the Bronx, N.Y. as "Miss Morgan" will be a highlight of the afternoon.

HIGH SCHOOL queens to participate will be:

Miss Shirley Margaret Brown, 16, of Bel Alton High School;

Miss Victoria Elain Cooper, 16, of Baltimore County's Kenwood High; Miss Phillis Elizabeth Greene, 17, of Prince Frederick's Brooks High; Miss Hedy Lamarr Griffin, 16, of Dundalk's Sollers Point High;

Miss Clara Belle Jones, 16, of Newark's Worchester High; Miss Ina Lee Jones, 17, of Chestertown's Garnett High; Miss Rosalie Laurie, of Havre de Grace's Consolidated High; Miss Edith Norton, of Bel Air's Central Consolidated High;

Miss Elizabeth Marie Pinder, 17, of Cambridge's Mace Lane High; Miss Betty Jean Scott, 16, of Catonsville's Banneker High; Miss Vivian Thomas, 16, of Westminster's Robert Moton High and Miss Merion Wright, 17, of Centreville's Kennard High.

Bengies Center is reopened

The Bengies Recreational Council and the Board of Recreation of Baltimore County have reopened the Bengies Teen Center at the Bengies Elementary School for all boys and girls who reside in Bengies, Essex, or Back River, between the ages of 13 and 20.

The hours are from seven until ten o'clock each Saturday evening.

A tentative program includes a valuable "door prize" each week, and many special events, such as Cha Cha Cha Night, Hula Hoop Night, Halloween Party, South American Night, Christmas Party, Cabaret Party, March of Dimes Party, and Family Night.

Family Night will be held once a month. It is during this time that the entire family will be invited to participate in the activities of the Teen Center.

Saturday, October 11, is Hula Hoop Night. There will also be instruction in the "Cha Cha Cha," and the "Merengue."

There is also a special room for quiet games for those parents, boys and girls who are not interested in dancing.
