We want no Judas money—Dr. Boddie

"Thank God, the masses of the people in the Fourth District will have no part in Judas on Judas money. . . ."

So spoke the Rev. Timothy J. Boddie, pastor of Shiloh Baptist Church, commenting upon reports that forces opposed to the Coalition ticket proposed to buy votes in Tuesday's election.

Dr. Boddie is chairman of the Church Crusade for Freedom which is backing the Coalition ticket.

In discussing the report of money offered, Dr. Boddie said he was reminded of the Bible story (Matthew 26th chapter, 14-15 verses) which states:

"Then one of the twelve who was called Judas Iscariot went into the chief priest and said, 'What are you willing to give me, and I will deliver Him unto you.' And they waved unto him 30 pieces of silver."

DR. BODDIE explained: "The most precious possession a person has is his freedom. In the background of all man's struggles, his conflicts, his conquests, his explorations, have been his quest for freedom.

"The freedom of speech, of worship, the right of vote have always been fundamental in man's pursuit of happiness.

"Judas Iscariot failed properly to evaluate freedom. The highest good of his life revolved around money.

"He thought in terms of bargains, of profits, of getting more of this world's goods.

"He was one of the Twelve, in the circle of Jesus' closest friends, who knew his Master's plans, his ambitions, his inner most secrets and movements.

"The enemies realized in order to put Jesus out of business, they had to reach him through a member of the inner circle. One of the enemies knew Judas's weaknesses—his lust for money.

"The maneuver was arranged and the bargain to deliver Him was sealed for thirty pieces of silver. And deliver Him, Judas did. Judas could not rid himself of his insatiable lust for money.

* * *

"THE POLITICAL situation in the 4th District is analogous to the Judas episode.

"Those who would do us harm as a racial group are using members of the race who know our plans, our ambitions, our movements.

"Bargains have been made to some members of the race to sell their freedom for a few paltry dollars at a time when we are making a last ditch stand side by side with the marching millions of our freedom - seeking brothers all over the world.

"Some few of us may sell our birthright for a mess of pottage.

"To be bought is the worst form of slavery for it is a personal consent to the bargain. Whoever buys your vote, becomes your master.

* * *

"BUT, it is impossible to be independent and demand and command respect when you are bought and paid for.

"In getting a handout, Judas may have originally thought he was making a big deal, but the life of his Lord and Master was worth more than all the gold and silver of this world.

"Judas found out you can not sell your principles or your beliefs or your rights. His conscience became his condemning influence and for relief he hanged himself.

"No one may see you when a deal is made to sell your vote or buy one.

"But your conscience is a silent witness.

"It points an index finger at you saying, 'you have sinned against God and man, you have betrayed your innocent brethren who are struggling up the road to freedom and first-class citizenship.'

"Thank God, there are so few Judases.

"Thank God, the great mass of the people in the 4th District will have no part in Judas or Judas money."

Ike speaks here tonite

President Dwight D. Eisenhower will deliver a nationally televised speech here in Baltimore tonight (Friday) at the Fifth Regiment Armory.

The President's speech will wind up a series of appearances he has made in various states on behalf of Republican candidates.

Mr. Eisenhower's appearance comes on the heels of last week's visit to Baltimore by Vice-President Richard Nixon and Thursday's visit by Senator Jacob Javits of New York.

Activities at the Armory will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will feature entertainment by Noble Sissle, Eubie Blake, Margaret Tynes and Maxine Sullivan.

Mr. Blake is a native of Baltimore and the composer of a number of songs. Miss Tynes recently toured Europe in "Porgy and Bess" and Miss Sullivan, a vocalist, is a night club and recording star.

Party successfully mixes politics with manhattans

The Colored Women's Democratic Campaign Committee of Maryland staged a cocktail party at the Club Casino for Womanpower workers on Monday night that mixed manhattans with politics.

A feature of the party was a political quiz that was won by Mrs. Alfreda Twine who correctly answered the question of who is the candidate for the State Senate in the Fourth District and provided the names of three persons running for the House of Delegates in the district.

Second prize went to Mrs. Pearl Agnew for her definition of the Coalition and Charles Law took third prize by naming his ward, precinct and congressional district.

The top winner, Mrs. Twine, is also a member of Womanpower's telephone squad.

ANOTHER highlight of the party came when several ladies in the audience stepped to the front to campaign for the persons on the Coalition ticket.

Speaking for Senator Harry A. Cole was Mrs. Grace Johnson.

Supporters for House of Delegates candidates were: Mrs. Ida Bolden for Mrs. Bertha Winston; Miss Anita Keene for Mrs. Verda Welcome; Mrs. Lillian Harrison for Daniel Spaulding; Mrs. Tillma Foreman for Howard Dixon; Mrs. Mary Adams for Mrs. Irma Dixon and Mrs. Victorine Adams for Emory Cole.

Tribute to Womanpower for their contributions of beauty, brain and political action, was paid by Christopher Foreman.

From the Sixth District came Mrs. Eleanor Spencer, Mrs. Elmer Oglesby and Mrs. Elsie Marshall of Cherry Hill who delauded the candidacy of Augustus Knox for the State Senate in that district.

* * *

MRS. ETHEL RICH, executive secretary of Womanpower, Mrs. Marguerite Harmon, treasurer, and Mrs. Bernice White, chairman of the coffee hour committee, were presented to the 300 some guests.

Mrs. Margaret Jones was chairman of the cocktail party.

Hostesses included Mesdames Frances Stafford, Rosalie White, Susie Grahams, Ruby Anderson, Mary Brooks, Gertrude Robinson, Florine Evans, Dorothy Curtis, Ada Williams, Anita Keene, Elizabeth Briggs, Hannah Johnson, Ida Adams and Corrine Goodwin.

Mrs. Victorine Adams is the chairman of the sponsoring group and Mrs. Ruth Turner is the secretary.

Willie (Little Willie) Adams made a $100 contribution to help Womanpower and George Brown and J. Roger Ross of the Club Casino donated the club and the necessary personnel.

Two for shelters at bus transfer points

Two woman candidates of the Coalition Ticket this week went on record as favoring the installation of shelters at transfer points of Baltimore Transit Company buses as "protection for our working women.

"Promising to work to this end were Mrs. Verda Welcome and Mrs. Bertha Winston, both seeking election to the House of Delegates.

Already the two women have included in their platforms pledges to work for higher wages, shorter work weeks and other benefits for the thousands of Maryland women who work in the domestic field.

"I would be interested in doing what I can in support of getting shelters at the transfer points for women," Mrs. Welcome said.

* * *

"IT WOULD be a very beneficial thing for our working women. I feel they deserve this added protection from the elements. Many of them have to spend too much time at such points waiting for buses."

Mrs. Winston said, "I feel that it would be a great help to have shelters at the transfer points because it would be a wonderful protection for working people, especially women.

Mrs. Winston, who includes a list of special interest legislation on behalf of women in her platform, said the shelters would be one of the many things she would like to see done for working women.

Were Pollack candidates told to stay away?

Only representatives of the 4th District Coalition Ticket honored invitations from the Greater Baltimore Bi-Partisan Voters Association to attend a meeting Thursday night at the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Senator Harry A. Cole, Emory Cole and Mrs. Bertha Winston were present to represent their groups which also includes Mrs. Verda Welcome, Dan Spaulding, Howard Dixon and Mrs. Irma Dixon.

Millard Tawes, Democratic candidate for governor, sent a telegram explaining that he had to cancel all local appointments to be on the Eastern Shore.

* * *

NO OTHER candidates offered any explanation for bypassing the bi-partisan meeting.

Thus far the organization has stamped its approval on but two candidates, Senator Cole and Mr. Tawes.

One member of the organization announced that he understood that members of the slate opposing Coalition Ticket candidates in the 4th District have been told to steer clear of meetings where Coalition members may participate.

"YOU DO IT THIS WAY"—Mrs. Gertrude Norris, Womanpower volunteer, gives vote machine tips to James Mort-imer, 1209 McCulloh St. Womanpower workers have kept mobile vote machine truck on tour of city for past four months, will continue up through election eve.

President Martin D. Jenkins is the honorary chairman of the observance, and the Rev. Howard L. Cornish, director, Morgan Christian Center, is the executive director.

IN OTHER WORDS

Versatile David plays sax, clarinet, piano

BY PORTIA A. SMITH

David Hubbard is one of the most musical young men in town. He has never had formal lessons, although Mr. Nolan at Booker T. Washington Junior High School taught him the basic notes on the saxophone. All the rest David has taught himself, and he's really good.

Experience in music is David's goal and experience is what he's getting. David leads the Yardbirds on the saxophone.

Other members of the Yardbirds are Roland Dougherty on the trumpet, Earl Hayes on drums, and Moses Knight on the piano. Versatile David also plays the piano and the clarinet.

He is also member of an interracial band, yet unnamed, which is composed of Brent Price, Dick Schroeder and Buddy Algier, The Sons of Rythm also claim David as a member. This full dance band has been given the honor of playing at the first Junior Prom in the history of Douglass High School on Dec. 5.

David is doing well for one who hasn't had any formal lessons. He claims that it's only a deep interest in music.

* * *

GARY BARTZ is enjoying every moment of his life at the Juliard School of Music in New York. He's studying the saxophone there and loves it. Gary is also having a pretty fabulous time seeing the sights of New York.

Glenn McGill, a June graduate of City College, is also residing in St. Albans, N.Y. He is a student at Queens College. Why not drop him a line?

New York is attracting everyone. Fred 'Jitter' Woodland now makes his home in New York where he plans to enter Pratt Institute in Brooklyn. His major in commercial art. Fred was a June, '58 grad of Douglass.

Charles Covington entertained some friends from Morgan State at a stag party last weekend at his Monroe St. home. The party ended quite early (3 a.m.) due to a faulty record player.

Charles Swann and Franklin Phillips are both making names for themselves at their new schools.

Charles, at Edmondson, is third best cross country man there. He ran in the MSA championships for Maryland and came in 51 in a field of 102. Every week there is something in the news about Franklin. An end at Dunbar, he usually averages about one touchdown a game.

THE JUNIOR DAY at Western promises that will be remembered by the Class of 1960 for a long time. First of all, at Junior Day assembly the City college Glee Club, directed by Mr. Tryge Rydberg, Harrison Bryant on a fine rendition of Handel's The Castlelaires, a special group at City, Jimmy Dashiell was unable to accompany the Glee Club because of an injury which occurred in the chemistry lab. Michael Brown, Bobby Smith and Raymond Boyd came over with the Glee Club.

Juniors were given special recognition all through the day. For instance, if you didn't on Tuesday night's homework, it was okay. Just so it was done on Thursday, of cousse.

A party climaxed the eventful day.

A comic version of Shakespeare's 'Macbeth' was presented with Josef Turner, as Duncan, laughing all through the part where she was being killed. How tragic.

Opps, I forgot. Gwen Alston had her part in Junior Day, too. An art major, she made 'the best poster about Juior Day.

Jr. College will mark homecoming

Baltimore Junior College will celebrate its ninth Homecoming with a full week - end of activities beginning Friday, Oct. 31 with a pep rally; the football game and dance on Saturday, Nov. 1 and ending on Sunday, Nov. 2 with a concert.

Friday evening a pep rally will be held in the college gymnasium at 8 p.m. when the football team and athletic director, Dr. Steve Hokuf, will participate.

Sunday evening Nov. 2 at 7 p.m., a concert featuring the swing music of the '40's—the era of the great bands such as Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, the Dorsey Brothers — will be presented by a 17-piece orchestra led by George Rigo, with Margie Sherrs as vocalist.

The concert is open to the public without charge.

Benny to swing

COLLEGE PARK — Benny Goodman, the King of Swing, will bring the opening gun of the Silver Jubilee by making his first road tour in some year.

Already an American legend, Goodman will bring the band that received such great acclaim at the Brussels World's Fair and more recently at the Newport Jazz Festival to the University of Maryland College Activities Building on Tuesday, November 11, 1958, at 8:30 p.m.

OFF TO ANNAPOLIS—Participating in Saturday's fourth annual Maryland Conference on Citizenship at the State House in Annapolis, were these three young ladies from Douglass High School. Left to right: Misses Georgia Wilson, 1910 Riggs Ave.; Gloria Hall, 1736 Moreland Ave., and Pauline Washington, 2925 Westwood Ave. All are seniors.

Coppin sets schedule for the fall semester

Special events for the remaining weeks of the Fall Semester at Coppin State Teachers College have been announced by the Special Programs Committee.

They include addresses by Mrs. Allie Clift of Coppin's faculty, who is to present her "European Travelogue" on Oct. 31; by Leonie Adams, poet and writer, associate professor of English in Columbia University Nov. 7; an African Sculpture Exhibit and Lecture by the director of the Segy Gallery, of New York City, (Jan. 9); and others.

The assembly offering for American Education Week (November 14) is to take the form of a science workshop, and on the week following (November 21) there is to be a music recital by the Second U.S. Army Major Command Chorus of Ft. George G. Meade. A Christmas program will be presented by the Coppin Dramatic Group and the college choir.

$200 prize at school on cooking

A refrigerator worth $200, will be the grand prize when the PTA of Carver High School holds its second annual Free Cooking School at the Carver Auditorium, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 5-6-7.

The refrigerator, an RCA Whirlpool, is being given away through the courtesy of George Boone, of the Boone Appliance Co. They will display on the stage, a complete modern kitchen. Demonstrations will be by home economists from the Baltimore Gas and Electric Co.

The Cubanoes is a unit of The Baltimore Boys' Choir Inc. of which Mr. Birche is conductor — founder.

LET'S MAKE IT A CLEAN SWEEP TUESDAY, NOV. 4th

SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS — This quintet of young ladies are juniors at Western High School and this week they went through a recognition ceremony at the school and smiled for this picture. Clockwise from the center are: Misses Myrtle Jackson, Delores Laws, Lillian Powell, Andrea Pair and Jackie McDonald.

HISTORY ON FILM—This photographic enlargement of a photograph made by Matthew Henson of the four Eskimos who accompanied him and Admiral Peary to the North Pole has also been presented to Morgan. The presentation was made by Herbert M. Frisby on behalf of Mrs. Matthew Henson.

Prize North Pole memento given to Morgan State

A prized relic of Admiral Peary's celebrated discovery of the North Pole has become the gift of Morgan State College.

The camera used by Matthew A. Henson, Peary's companion on that historic day of April 6, 1909, when the Stars and Stripes flew on top of the Pole, has been given to the college.

Mrs. Matthew Henson, widow of the late explorer, presented the camera as a memorial to her husband, a native of Charles County, Maryland.

Herbert M. Frisby, retired Baltimore teacher and Arctic correspondent, made the presentation on behalf of Mrs. Henson, with Dr. Carl Murphy, chairman of the Morgan Board of Trustees, accepting.

* * *

ALSO presented with the camera were enlargements of photographs Henson made of the expedition. One of these shows the four "Esquimos" who stood with Peary at the Pole.

They were, according to Henson's book of the expedition, "the brothers Ootah and Egingway, the old campaigner Seegloo, and the sturdy, boyish Ooaqueah."

A second enlargement shows a sled constructed by Henson for the party's return from the North Pole and the third shows Peary's group on its way back from the Pole after the discovery which raised America to international prize of four centuries.

The gifts will keep alive for Morgan students the memory of the explorer of whom Peary once said, "He is a better dog driver and can handle a sledge better than any man living, except some of the best Esquimo hunters themselves."

HENSON'S career as an adventuring explorer started when, as a youth, he came from Washington, D.C., where his family had moved shortly after his birth in August, 1866, to Baltimore and shipped out as a cabin boy on an ocean steamship bound for China.

He was 18 when he met Admiral Peary, a civil engineer with the rank of lieutenant in the United States Navy in Washington, D.C. The Marylander became Peary's valet, servant and was to accompany him on all of Peary's expeditions, except the first, during an association which was to span more than twenty - three years.

Peary, apparently took great pride in Henson as a man and in the fact that his polar party was international, for he has written:

"On that bitter bitter day in April 1909 when the Stars and Stripes floated at the North Pole, Caucasian, Ethiopian and Mongolian stood side by side at the apex of the earth, in the harmonious companionship resulting from hard work, exposure, danger and a common object."

HENSON himself, according to authorities, became revered by the Eskimos who affectionately named him "Miy Paluk" and he became celebrated in America where he won many honors, among them honorary degrees from Howard University and Morgan.

His widow is now living in New York where Henson made his home during the latter part of his life.

The arctic mementos will become a part of the college's permanent gift collection in the Morris A. Soper Library.

Koger gives challenge to pupils at Carver High

"It can be done. You can become a decent American citizen if you have the courage and determination to do it."

This was the challenge given to the Carver student body by Magistrate Linwood G. Koger Sr., who was presented to the assembly by the vice principal, Benjamin Whitten.

Mr. Whitten, in presenting Magistrate Koger, characterized him as an outstanding, highly respected, admired citizen who is deeply interested in the physical, moral and spiritual growth of our boys and girls.

Following Magistrate Koger, Sergeant Violet Hill Whyte, emphasized some of the points made by him. Sergeant Whyte also urged her listeners to rise above the common place and sordid in their language manners and actions.

TO FAMILIARIZE the tenth grade pupils at Carver with the aims of the assembly periods, the twelfth grade pupils presented an original skit, "The Verdict is Yours."

Acting as attorney for the defense, Timothy Glen, 12A-2 used witnesses as follows: Dorothy Harmon, Teresa Ford, Judith Campbell, Arthur Jackson and Amon Carter along with exhibits from shops, physical education, and clubs to prove that auditorium periods were educative, entertaining and worthwhile.

Peter Dawson, the district attorney registered objections throughout the trial, but to no avail.

When Judge George Rodgers, 12A-2, asked the jury — Johnny Brunside, Thomas Graves, Jerome Knox, Alice Wilson, Anna Moses, Vashti Taylor, Ella Bowling, Marguerite Williams, Alice Hinton, Merlene Jefferson, William Hitchcock and Kenneth Burton—for a verdict, they replied, pointing to the audience and said—

"The Verdict is Yours!"

Dystrophy week

By proclamation, Governor McKeldin has designated November 1958 as Muscular Dystrophy Fund Campaign Month through Maryland, coinciding with the annual nation-wide fund - raising appeal of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., which is spearheaded by Jerry Lewis as national chairman.

Throughout the month of November, MDAA hour-glass canisters and posters will be seen in public places.

Enrollment at new high

Enrollment in Maryland public schools, including 21,240 in kindergarten, soared to a record 536,300 this September, reports the State Department of Education.

This is 126,730 more students, an increase of 30.9 per cent, than the 409,570 enrollment of 1953.

Baltimore City's five-year increase was 20.9 as the enrollment grew by 26,229 students, from 125,344 to 151,595.

Meanwhile, Baltimore County in increasing 48.1 per cent from 52,341 to 77,523, added 25,182 students, just 1,157 less than were added in Baltimore City.
