Poolroom Raid Nets 32 Victims

Owner Held in Bail, $1 Fine Levied on All

After giving Pennsylvania Avenue gamblers and operators of disorderly houses a surprise visit several week-ends, Capt. Alexander Emerson and his Vice Squad returned to the Avenue, late Friday.

Forcing their way into a pool parlor at 1418 Pennsylvania Ave. operated by Frank Epps, 37, of 908 N. Eutaw St., the raiders arrested 32 persons.

All of the victims were charged with disorderly conduct when the captain claimed he found the men crowded around a dice table. Epps and two other men were charged with being the operators.

Operator Under $500 Bail

The following morning, however, only Epps was held on that count. He was placed under $500 bail to await grand jury action.

All of the men including Epps were fined $1 and costs. Several men posted collateral on Friday. This was forfeited when they failed to show up for the police court hearing.

The Northwestern district docket listed the following as raid victims:

Epps, David L. Woodyard, 40, 407 N. Schroeder St.; Lewis M. Gillard, 45, of 1004 Shields Pl.; Marty Davidson, 27, of 214 N. Dallas St.; Warren Foster, 30, of 1400 McCulloh St.; Herbert Lyles, 28, of 1941 Laurens Ave.; William Johnson, 28, of 798 Franklin St.; Norman Scott, 31, of 1400 Druid Hill Ave.

Jerry Linton, 22, of 1310 Druid Hill Ave.; Earl Armstrong, 21, of 1310 Druid Hill Ave.; Ralph Rollins, 21, of 321 Lafayette Ave.; Nelson Dorsey, 37, of 1507 McCulloh St.; Harvey Medford, 38, of 1526 Brunt St.; Thomas Wright, 26, of 2445 Druid Hill Ave.; Samuel McElvee, 26, of 541 Lafayette Ave.; Taylor Jones, 30, of 1400 Pennsylvania Ave.

Calvin Thomas, 26, of 2025 Parrish St.; Roger Garrison, 21, of 1500 Washington Blvd.; William Minor, 44, of 1216 Myrtle Ave.; Clifton Dickerson, 31, of 728 Preston St.; Alonzo Jarrett, 39, of 545 McMechen St.; George Walker, 75, of 619 Perkins Ave.; Harold Young, 27, of 1412 Pennsylvania Ave.

Coleman Burrough, 40, of 1418 Mount St.; Julius Monroe, 27, of 724 Vine St.; Christopher Johnson, 28, of 1413 Madison Ave.; Felix Jones, 54, of 1315 Edmondson Ave.; Woodrow Jarvis, 33, of 660 Barre St.;

Epic of 'Honeydripper'

in the daily traffic, but never took a life, or left anyone maimed, during its normal course. The first incident happened a little more than a year ago—out in the suburbs.

Its driver, playing a "Good Samaritan" role in carrying two work, was set upon, robbed and thrown out of the car, which was stolen and carried to New York.

Its owner turned detective. In fact, he out-Holmessed Sherlock, or out-Watsoned Dr. Watson in tracking it down. Intuition took him to New York city, where some of Harlem's best detectives were looking for the Honeydripper, without results.

Camouflage Unavailing

He (the owner) sauntered into a Harlem garage, where a number of men were busy overhauling a yellow car. The paint had been changed, pronto. His curiosity was aroused, because something looked familiar to him.

Supposedly stripped of all identifying gadgets and with the motor serial number filed off, it looked like a sure job. But one thing was overlooked, which the owner never revealed to a soul except the police, who went in, questioned the mechanics, and found the right track to the thieves.

The Honeydripper was returned to its rightful owner—but the alleged thieves went to the pen.

Not Lone "Gone" Cruiser

It has two companions in the "Lemon Drop" and the "Heart-beat," but neither gave the "Drip" a per serious competition, even after its glamour had faded somewhat.

Grady McAllen, 29, of 1704 Presstman St.; Wendell Walker, 32, of 1903 Argyle Ave.; Calvin Colbert, 22, of 1300 Druid Hill Ave.; James Bissett, 38, of 1332 Mount St.; and James Keating, 22, of 1015 Druid Hill Ave.

—and only the name lingered.

A recent self-styled prophet became enamoured of the Honeydripper and used it as his "blessed" transport. Even offered to purchase it, which offer was turn ed down.

The 'Dripper, in one sense of the word, was a mercy car. It would rush victims to hospitals; pick up physicians for emergency calls; rush persons to the bedside of out-of-town relatives, or to distant funerals.

Ill Fated Ending

It was while on one of these missions that its fatal accident occured. Three persons died as it crashed headon into a milk truck. Four were more or less seriously injured.

Amidst the wails and groans of the wounded, the drip, drip, drip of life's blood from its dying—the drip, drip, drip of oil from its crank-case and gasoline from its battered tank, the Honeydripper, too, gave up its glory.

It rests in the graveyard of battered steel, twisted metal and charred bodies—midway to the end of a mercy journey.

Bus Station Not Hotel, 17 Learn

Endeavoring to rid the Greyhound Bus Terminal at Howard and Centre Sts. of undesirable loungers and one-night lodgers, a special officer arrested 17 of both races late Saturday.

Ranging from 20 to 70 years of age and some without a home address, they were carted to the Northwestern police station on disorderly conduct charges.

There Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzpatrick disposed of the cases dismissing some and jailing others for terms stretching up to 30 days.

New Archbishop Urges Tolerance

tranquil, like the Star of Bethlehem above the manger where Christ, the King of Peace, was born.

"God grant that men may hear above the tumult, the song of the angels, the song of peace and hope and good will."

Pledges Best Work

Expressing gratitude to the Pope for his appointment, Archbishop Keough pledged: "It shall be my task to exert every power at my command that I may fulfill it to the best of my ability."

The material and spiritual contribution of the Catholic Church to American life in war and in peace was cited in the installation sermon by the Most Rev. Matthew F. Brady, Bishop of Manchester, N.H. "In every war and on every field of battle, that supreme sacrifice has been made generously and gladly to preserve the land we love, its Constitution and its happy way of life," he said.

Then he quoted:

"Thou, my country, write it on my heart
Thy sons are those who nobly take thy part,
Who dedicated his manhood at thy shrine
Whatever born, (Yes and whatever his race, color or creed,
'Was born a son of thine.'"

Archbishop Lauded

Lauding Archbishop Keough the bishop spoke particularly of his talent for organization and his proved consecration to duty, saying:

"All ranks of life, all creeds, have fallen under the spell of his friendliness and geniality, worth and have accorded him respect and [illegible] for carrying from resolutions in the State Legislature and ecumiums in the press to the tears that are the sole expression of good and simple hearts."

The installation service was attended by six Archbishops, 32 bishops, 60 abbots, 50 monsignori and 530 priests, including the Rev. Chester C. Ball, S.S.J. of Glenarden, Md.

Sisters in Attendance

Also present were eight representatives of the Oblate Sisters, the oldest order of colored nuns in the country.

From St. Frances Convent came Sister Philomena and Sister Gloria. Others in attendance were from the Novitiate at Mosher and Druid Hill Ave., the St. I School and the St. Francis Xavier Parochial School.

The delegation from the Knights of St. John included Col. Peter M. Quander, grand president; Maj. Bernard C. Johnson, grand secretary; and Elsworth Penwick. Also among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Murphy.

Housing Officer Tells of Changes

Four Added to Staff in Reorganization Program

Oliver C. Winston, director, outlined to the commissioners of the Housing Authority on Wednesday, some phases of reorganization and administrative procedures he had made during a six-month period.

Among them was the appointment of four staff members to aid in working out more efficient methods, as well as make a continuing study and evaluation of present policies and a wider dissemination of knowledge to the public.

New Staff Members

Morton Heff, housing analyst and statistician, will develop and be responsible for maintaining all phases of non-fiscal reporting for the Authority. He will assist in the preparation of monthly reports.

Well-Trained Singers in Westminster Choir

In contrast to the present highly trained and talented personnel of the Westminister Choir to be heard here next Friday at the Douglass High School, the first group was made up of business people and students.

When members of this group were forced to resign because of demands made on their time, John F. Williamson, director, was faced with the problem of securing personnel for a professional group.

The result was the establishment of the school in Princeton, N. J., as a fully accredited institution giving the Bachelor of Music degree.

During the 1947-48 concert season, the choir will make a transcontinental tour with the group including students selected from the Westminister Choir School.

Gateway to Gayway

Roy Eldridge and his combo and the Harlemaires hold the spotlight at the ASTORIA alternating in 15-minute jam sessions from the music room.

CAN YOU TOP THIS? Television was installed in the lounge of the COMEDY on Wednesday. Screen is 30 x 22½ or or 675 square inches, the largest size installed anywhere. Every week-end Calvin Wilson's ork enlivens the "home of happy feet" with entertainment supplied by Earl Omaru, Bea Booze and her guitar, and Gerthel (Happy) Blunt, mistress of swingcussions.

The JOLLY SPOT swings out on Monday afternoon with a new type of matinee, featuring guest stars from various clubs. Monday was highlighted by the rhythmic stomping of Estelle Young and blues singing Elaine Johnson, with music supplied by Phil (Bass) Harris and his trio. Guest artists included Piney Brown, Bea Lemmons in an encore role, Orgie Kimball, with Gene Johnson at the piano, Billie Sheppard, blues singer, and the dancing Snooks Patterson.

Orleans Spotlighted

The ORLEANS debuts once again as the smartest club in town with a bar that runs the full length of the first floor. The Blue Room features a hot combo with the sax work of Bill Swindell, songs by Del St. John and Orgie Kimball.

Hayward, Taylor Score in Concert

The Artists Forum Scholarship Concert Series got off to an interesting start on Sunday at the Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts, with the presentation of Robert Hayward, baritone; and Purcell Taylor, pianist.

Highlight of Mr. Hayward's offerings was "Leave Ice to Languish," recitative and aria from Handel's "Rinaldo."

His program included selections by Greig and Strauss and concluded with a group of popular numbers and spirituals. He is a student of Kurtiz Hurtte.

Taylor's Playing Impressive

Mr. Taylor played five selections with the most impressive being a Chopin group consisting of the "Third Movement, From Sonata in B Flat Minor" and Military Polonaise."

Messrs. Hayward and Taylor will compete in the concert finals in June for two scholarships to be awarded to the Baltimore Institute of Musical Arts.

Fewer Marriage Licenses for 1947

Marriage licenses issued in Baltimore in 1947 dropped 872 under the number issued the previous year, a check of the records shows.

4,223 couples were married here last year as against 5,095 in 1946. 13,495 white couples were wed last year, and 16, 340 the year before. This does not include couples where the girl is under 16 or the boy under 18.

Licenses in that age group are only issued in cases of necessity, and such cases are kept private.

June is no longer the favored month for marriages, the records show. September topped the list in number with 460 permits issued; April was second with 420. January third with 418. June was in 6th place, with only 364 couples selecting that month.
