LT. COL. WILLIAM BRADY — DR. JAMES A. WHITE — MRS. BERTHA B. PROCTOR — T. WALLIS LANSEY

MRS. VIOLET H. WHYTE — DR. WILLARD W. ALLEN — REV. JOHN T. COLBERT — CHARLES E. CORNISH

These persons were named this week by Governor Lane to serve on the first all-colored board of managers for the Cheltenham Training School for Boys at Brandywine, Md. Not shown is Dr. William E. Henry, president of Bowie State Teachers College, who was appointed chairman of the board. The group will hold its first meeting today (Friday) with Governor Lane in Annapolis.

Pastors Suggest Means of Improving Cheltenham

Having recently visited the Cheltenham Training School for Boys, the civic committee of the Baptist Ministers Conference included four recommendations for improvement at the institution in its report to the ministers' meeting last Monday.

The committee, headed by the Rev. Hiram E. Smith found that "the training equipment is miserably poor and deplorably inadequate to meet the needs of the 213 inmates."

With 95% of the boys being Baltimoreans, the committee pointed out that "instead of facilities for training them for the productive vocations of modern city needs, their preparation for service is more or less confined to farming and dairy experiences."

Crude Service

While practical work in the kitchen and dining room is engaged in, it is questionable whether such crude service would fit the boys for jobs as cooks or waiters in modern restaurants and hotels, the committee noted.

It also reported on facilities of the "outmoded" blacksmith shop and the shoe repair shop which can accommodate only 10 trainees while over 30 have applied for such instruction.

Recommendations Made

Recommendations called for more equipment to teach tailoring, plumbing, carpentry, barbering, electrical work and painting; increased shoe-repair shop facilities; courses in auto repairing and printing; and additional buildings for the machinery and teachers' living quarters.

The committee included, besides the Rev. Mr. Smith, the Revs. Ward D. Yerby, William Tapscott, J. L. Rayner, G. E. Harris, R. C. Williams, R. D. Lyles, V. T. Williams, I. C. Reddie, C. Edward Browne, J. H. Matthews and S. A. Harrington.

Church Mission Discussed

The Sunday School lesson at the meeting was discussed by the Rev. Mr. Reddie. Subject was "The World Mission of the Church."

The Rev. Mr. Yerby presided, and the Rev. Paul Pollard served as secretary. Devotionals were conducted by the Revs. R. C. Williams and J. R. Butler with the Rev. Benjamin Thompson at the piano.

Schools Warned They Must Qualify to Get ROTC Units

WASHINGTON

The administrations of those Land Grant colleges which desire ROTC units, should begin preparing their institutions to qualify just as soon as application is made, an observer close to the Army told the AFRO this week.

The schools, to qualify, he said, must be able to pass rigid inspection requirements and must be up to Army standards in armory facilities, sanitary equipment and armory space.

Red Cross Drive Goal Still Distant

District 5 of the Red Cross drive fund reported $2,500 — one-third of its $7,500 quota, through its chairman, Willard W. Allen, at the report luncheon held on Wednesday at the Emerson Hotel.

At a district report meeting held on Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple, reports were as follows:

Trade and Industry Group, $1327.25; Churches, $410.25; Women's Group, $121.50; Fraternal Group, $397.80; and Professional Group, $222.25.

The schools' report will be made at the next workers' meeting on Tuesday at the local headquarters. Elmer A. Henderson, assistant superintendent of schools, will speak.
