Randolph Says We Won't Fight Again; But Truman Gibson Asserts We Will

by making the threat that he would lead a civil disobedience movement patterned after those led by Mahatma Gandhi unless Congress passes legislation that will outlaw segregation and discrimination in the Armed Services.

"I personally pledge myself to openly counsel, aid and abet youth, both white and colored to quarantine any jim-crow conscription system, whether it bears the label of UMT or Selective Service" he stated, adding:

"From coast to coast. . . I shall call upon all colored veterans to join this civil disobedience movement and to recruit their younger brothers in an organized refusal to register and be drafted.

He added, however, that he was speaking only for himself since he was not sure that all the members even of the Committee Against Jim Crow in Military Service and Training would follow him.

Treason Charge Hinted

"I shall appeal to their parents to lend their moral support to their sons— to stand behind them as they march with heads high to Federal prison as a telling demonstration to the world that colored persons have reached the limit of human endurance."

When asked by Sen. Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.), if he realized the legal ramifications his program involved and the fact the colored people following his program would leave themselves open to treason charges, Randolph replied:

"I am aware of this. It will take something like this to make America wake up."

Gibson Urges Integration

Gibson told the Senate committee the colored persons must be trained and utilized in a National Security Program to the fullest extent of their capabilities and called for a policy of complete integration in any National Security Program in all of the Armed Forces.

Trainees should be given their choice as to the courts in which they wish to be tried in cases where accusation are made against them, he advised, in what was advanced as a step to mitigate Southern injustice to trainees.

The Government should at all times be wholly responsible for the protection of all soldiers, wherever they are, regardless to race, creed or color, said the former Civilian Aide to the Secretary of War.

Mr. Gibson, at present a Chicago attorney is a member of the President's Advisory Commission on Universal training.

Reynolds, a former Army captain, told the committee that he "will not" re-enter a jim-crow army.

Vet Opposes UMT

Albert Black, appearing as a veteran of World War II, speaking against UMT declared:

"With the Armed Services tremendously expanded by UMT or conscription, segregation will be stamped in numerous places throughout the country where there is none now.

"Colored and white youths who have lived side by side and attended the same schools, will be snatched apart and dragooned into separate "racial" units to serve wherever the Stars and Stripes wave and democ racy dominates."

Mrs. E. Pauline Myers, director, Provisional National Committee to Abolish Segregation from UMT, testified favoring legislation but called for abolition of discrimination, segregation, and the quota system in the Armed Services.

official in Washington might have been embarrassed."

Seven Amendments Proposed

Mr. Reynolds proposed seven amendments to the pending universal military training bill. They would:

1. Prohibit segregation or discrimination in UMT or selective service; 2. ban segregation in interstate travel of trainees or draftees; 3. make violence against a trainee or draftee a federal offense; 4. exempt trainees or draftees from payment of a poll tax as a prerequisite to voting in Federal elections;

5. Bar the inclusion of UMT or selective service camps in the South; 6. forbid Federal dictation of segregation in the National Guard, and 7. incorporate the recommendation of President Truman's Civil Rights Committee.

Others Testify

Elwood S. McKenney of Boston, a member of the Massachusetts Fair Employment Practice Commission, testified that if the Army would implement a report on the Gillem Board on utilization of colored manpower in the post-war Army, legislation on the subject would not be necessary.

Jesse O. Dedmon, veteran secretary of the NAACP, and Albert Black, a member of the Committee Against Jim Crow in Military Service and Training, also testified.

Senator Chan Gurney, of South Dakota, committee chairman, announced that a 27-page statement prepared by Miss E. Pauline Myers, director of the Provisional National Committee to Abolish Segregation from the Universal Military Training Program, would be incorporated in the record.

Barlender Injured In Icepick Fracas

Earl C. (Reda) Thomas, 38, of 530 St. Mary St., Smith Hotel bartender, was stabbed in the back with an icepick, Monday evening, during a fracas in front of the hotel.

Later that evening, Miss Bertha Padgett, 28, of 666 Franklin St., a waitress, was arrested for the assault and held in $500 bail for grand jury action.

Witnesses said the assault occurred on the outside of the tavern and that Thomas did not know the icepick was still sticking in his body until a spectator drew it out.

Before Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzgerald, the woman denied the assault and asked for a jury trial. Jealousy was said to have been the motive.

The enlisted men of the 231st Transportation Corps Truck Battalion, Maryland National Guard, formally opened their $1,100-noncommissioned officers' club in the Richmond Market Armory on Wednesday.

A program including two basketball games, door prizes for visitors and dancing, marked the evening's activities.

Truckers Win Tourney

The highlight was a game in which the 147th Truck Company stagers won the second of three legs on the Col. William M. Brady Trophy. Led by Capt. Melvin H. Cade, CO of the company, the team eked out a 28-26 win over the 726th squad, under Capt. Bentley Bedford.

In an exhibition game, the Elons basketball team scored a 39-36 victory over the championship Horsemen quintet.

Club Well Appointed

The cocktail lounge and bar, with overstuffed chairs and chrome furniture, along with other appointments, furnishing was opened for the pleasure of the 60 non-commissioned officers of the units. The guardsmen, under Colonel Brady, number 8 commissioned officers and 162 enlisted men.

Officers of the club are M/Sgt. Jesse J. Peaker, president; 1/Sgt. Albert Smith, first vice-president; Cpl. Oliver Green, second vice-president; 1/Sgt. Albert B. Brooks, secretary; and T/Sgt. James H. Smith, treasurer.

Guards' Pay Increased

On January, President Truman signed a pay raise bill, swelling the envelopes of approximately 1,500 guardsmen in Maryland. It grants a longevity credit of 8% of annual base pay for each year of service for period of service in any branch of the armed forces.

Under the new scale, privates with three years' service will receive $168.36 annually, an increase of $7.88. Master sergeants with the same service will draw $363.83, and increase of $17.32.

Officers' Salaries Listed

The new scale for officers with longevity credit is:

Second lieutenant, $6.30 per drill, $902.40 annually; first lieutenant, $7 per drill, $433 annually; captain, $8.05 per drill, $507.15 annually.

Major, $9.26 per drill, $598.23 annually; lieutenant colonel, $11.25 per drill, $707.48 annually; and colonel $12.83 per drill, $800.34 annually.

Three Men Jailed as Yoke Mobsters

Identified as members of a group of hoodlums who yoked and robbed a chemist employed at Penance last week, three young men were ordered jailed Tuesday, by Magistrate Charles S. Fitzpatrick.

Philip Dukes, 25, of 924 Morris St., was given two years on a robbery charge; and Ollie Lee Moore, 27, of 919 Jordan St., and James Bonds, 22, of 218 Camel St., were given 30 days each.

3 More Being Sought

The trio, along with two accomplices being sought, were convicted of assaulting and robbing Walter Scott of 1000 Mason St. on $12 on Mar. 24.

In connection with the assault, a woman accomplice was given 60 days. Scott said that after drinking with the woman for several hours, she lured him outside of a tavern where he was set upon by the thugs.

State Tax Evaders Warned of Penalty

E. Everett Lane, attorney, will speak for the NAACP's legal clinic to be held in the association's office at 402 Dolphin St., tonight (Tuesday) at 8 p.m.

His topic, "What is Legal Appeal?" is an extremely important one because many people do not realize they have a legal recourse if they are not satisfied with a decision rendered in a lower court.

Joins Cherry Hill Fight

The NAACP has joined forces with the Cherry Hill Protective Association to oppose plans to make Hanover and Potee Sts. one-way arteries.

The basis for the opposition is that the project would necessitate rezoning a portion of the Cherry Hill area from residential to commercial, thereby causing adjacent properties to depreciate in value.

The association has already taken steps to fight for the correction of faulty construction in the Cherry Hill Homes housing project.

Youth Delegates

Misses Thelma and Mary Watson will represent the local Youth Council at the second annual Youth Legislative and Lobbying Conference in Washington March 31 through April 3.
