GATEWAY to GAYWAY

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Comedy by Jellyroll and ZuZu features the current revusical at GAMEYS. Blues by Elaine Johnson mixed duo to hit the stroll this season. Blues by Elaine Johnson and songs by Myrtle Wilson, the D.C. lassie that won her laurels as an exotic dancer, and a terrific tap routine, catchy songs and clever gimmicks by Jessie Davis, round out the bill with the Sophisticated of Swing's musical background.

The versatile dene, Redd Foxx is stealing the show at the ASTORIA, where Hadda Brooks, sensational disc star, is the feature attraction. Al Casey, winner of the Esquire mag poll as the country's top guitarist, and his trio, also receive hearty raves.

The stroll received its first peek at Candy Smith Monday nite when she debuted at the COMEDY CLUB after a successful appearance up Philly way. This moves this club into the upper-bracket bookings. Dee Wee Wooden, of "Love-down Dirty Shame" fame, moved in as emcee; the dancing of Brooks Patterson's "out of this world", Gerthel Blount holds her own in the song department, along with Rose Mitchell . . . Ike Howard and Rudy Dixon journeyed to Hampton, Va., Monday.

Della Douglass is Town

Della Douglass, popular canary, is from N.Y.C. for the holidays, but this to say of the big-town "skunks" for entertainers without stay rights.

The ORLEANS boasts a new musical combo, featuring "Tangle Foot" McCoy, former trumpet man with Lionel Hampton, and his 4 Concords. The vocal department has Del St John, Bea Booze, record star, Orgie Kimball and Betty Logan. Truly a star-studded show. . . . Rudy Dixon, FROLIC manager, has his own photo on book matches which he is passing out to his friends. Spot features the only combo television-radio, and tempting drinks by William Owens and Jule Sober, former Ritz manager.

The AVENUE gang is pulling for Marceline Price, singing checkroom gal, now confined to Provident. Geneva Howard terminated last week end, with "Good Cake." Rose Perry, Jean Austin and a comedy team putting on a nifty Easter revue.

A new trio, that jumps like mad, moved into the JOLLY SPOT to back Songstress Bertha Jones Lyles, our town's Ada Brown . . . Rumored that the ZANZIBAR will add a trio and canary.

That Bullock lad, ex-musician, divides his time between the VIP, MA where he enjoys a mary jane and the SPHINX, where he keeps his lips in trim by sitting in on jam sessions.

To make your Sunday complete the ALHAMBRA is open all day. Give the family a treat by taking them there to eat. No drinks are served in the adjacent family dining room . . . Because of such admirable mixers as Cooper and Bobbie Host Carroll and Joe Mazer, prop. the OLDE MILLE remains top. . . . Charlie Burns proved himself a regular guy by allowing Walter Rouse, CLUB 1017 manager, to withdraw his bet on increased bid during the Antilers Guard's session here.

Dropped in on Thelma Gamby, the "Mrs. Goodcake," at Levin's BLUE ROOM on Wednesday during the weekly dinner matinee. Thelma appears as canary with the 4 Links.

Cocky Back at Ubangi

The Links now have Willie Davis on bass and appears the first half of the week at JONES, lane's vocalist. For the last half they switch to the UBANGI where they are joined by singer Horace Bailey. "Cocky" is back with Sam Bradley at the popular John Whirley rendezvous.

The charming and talented DOT ALLIV is the songstress of the KNOTTY PINE, backed by the Bernell Price combo and the 3 Kings. 4 Kings and a Queen is a pretty safe bet.

If luck holds out, Melvin Sparks, piano rave, will drag "Peaches" Webb, cute warbler, into the SWEETON Lounge as a deluxe special.

Shake Artist Barbara Boyd booked over from D.C. way . . . Doll formerly of the Jolly Spot, now barmaid at Monumental Bills Home. . . . Billie Sheppherd, Stella Young's protege, filling dates in Va. . . . Remember — your aid to the Royalettes Streptomycin Fund drive means more drugs to combat tuberculosis. GIVE.

Parents Seeking Stay of Eviction

Say They Helped Pay for Sanford St. Home

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — A 55-year-old butcher and his wife, also 55, asked the Court of Appeals this week to prevent their daughter and son-in-law from evicting them from their home at 523 Sanford Place in Baltimore.

The aged couple, Mr. and Mrs. James Scott contend that their daughter, Helen, and Paul E. White, their son-in-law, agreed to sell the home where they had occupied and help to maintain for six years.

Complaint Dismissed 1st Time

An injunction now in effect to prevent sale of the house until litigation is ended, the Scotts ask the Court of Appeals to reverse the decision of Baltimore Circuit Court Judge Edwin T. Dickerson which dismissed their complaint.

In his decree last September, Judge Dickerson ruled that while the Scotts "may be morally entitled to their claims," he did not feel the court had jurisdiction to enforce a verbal contract for personal services.

Mrs. Scott told an AFRO reporter that she is suffering from a nervous condition as a result of the case which she described as "a very odd and sad one."

Care of Grandchild Cited

Mrs. Scott said they had supported and clothed their grand daughter, Shirley R. Bailey, Mrs. White's daughter by a previous marriage, for nearly 13 years.

Mrs. White however denied this statement.

Both families had lived together at the Sanford Place address until a year ago when the Whites moved out. Mrs. Scott said the first knowledge she had that the house was going to be sold was when prospective buyers came to inspect the property.

Mrs. Scott said that for the past six years, she had done "all of the housework, marketing and cooking" with the understanding that she would have a place in which to spend her old age.

Nearly in Tears

The woman was nearly in tears when she told a reporter:

"You know how you trust your own child . . . you just don't think would require a court of equity to compel the parties to live together and to ordain a state of peonage and involuntary servitude." . . . "I trusted my daughter and her husband. I gave them everything I had to live up to their end of the bargain.

To do so, their attorneys say, first ROTC Queen and her court.

X-ray Drive in S. Baltimore Opens With Mass Meeting

Beginning with a mass meeting at 8 p.m. Sunday at Ebenezer A.M.E. Church, Montgomery St. near Charles, a free X-ray service will get under way in South Baltimore.

From April 5 through 8, the X-ray examination for tuberculosis will be available at the church daily from 4 to 9 p.m.

The Sunday meeting, supported by School No. 126 and other neighborhood agencies interested in the anti-tuberculosis and clean-up campaigns, will feature movies and a play entitled, "The Trash Lady," dedicated to Mrs. Alma Ambrose of the bureau of sanitation.

On Monday, a panel discussion concerning health, housing and sanitation in the area will be held at the school. Guests will be Mrs. Ambrose, Mrs. Mildred Atkinson of the Citizens Planning and Housing Commission; Police Officers Reback and Plunkett, and a representative landlord and tenant.

James Gilliam, assistant health educator of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, paid special tribute this week to the police officers who have given the residents so much assistance in improving the health and housing conditions of the neighborhood.

Radio Class for Amateurs

A class in radio for aspiring actors and writers will be started by Landres Chilton, president of the Greenwich Theatre, providing enough people show an interest. The class will include radio acting, script writing, directing and producing. The course will consist of one three-hour session a week for a minimum of three months.

Students will be taught basic acting, writing and directing techniques and given experience through the actual broadcast of their productions. The class is open to all who are 16 years of age or over.

Interested, write Mr. Landres, 2224 Eutaw Pl., or phone Lafayette 5832. Applications will be accepted through April 10.

Works of Outstanding Composers Featured

ATLANTA—The musical organizations of Atlanta U., Morehouse College and Spelman College, will present their annual concert, featuring Rebecca Jackson, pianist and a senior at Spelman College.

In addition there will be selections by the mixed chorus, the glee clubs and the Morehouse quartet.

Ekstine Competing with None Other Than Himself

NEW YORK — Billy Ekstine finds himself in the strange position of competing with himself on three different record labels.

RCA Victor has come out with a new album of some of the records Billy made as vocalist with Earl Hines' band; National Records are capitalizing on several sides he made for that label a couple of years ago, while Billy has three MGM platters on the best-seller lists.

30 Claims Filed to McKee Estate

$800,000 Legacy May Not Go to N.Y. Lawyer

PHILADELPHIA

Argument that any effort to dispose of the $800,000 estate of Col. John McKee before the death of his last grandchild "is entirely out of order" was advanced last week at a hearing before John Blessing, Jr., special master, in Orphans' Court.

The argument followed Blessing's announcement that T. John McKee, New York lawyer, who has "passed" for white for more than 40 years, had been established without a doubt as the grandson of the late colonel.

Attorneys for the ailing, 67-year-old New Yorker insisted, however, that the construction of a school such as the colonel described in his will "is not now and can never be possible" with $800,000.

In addition to McKee, at least 30 other relatives, individuals and institutions have filed claims against the estate since the death of Dr. Henry Minton of Philadelphia, who was thought to be the last grandchild.

McKee, born Theophilus John Minton, Sryhas, was interviewed in the Lennox Hill Hospital in New York City and was reportedly notified by Mrs. Camilla Johnson of Philadelphia, and Edgar J. Dribble, a former schoolmate, who has offices in the same building.

Evidence Convincing

The lawyer admitted that he had lived with his mother and grandfather at 1630 Summer St., about two years before entering Phillips Exeter Academy in New Hampshire in 1897.

He said that he attended his grandfather's funeral at Central Presbyterian Church, Ninth and Lombard Sts., in April, 1902, and had visited the Mintons once at 1509 Tasker St. and once at 16th St. near Dickinson.

"Crossing Back" Held Futile

Recent reports that McKee was trying to have the colonel established as white were scored by other members of the family.

They further said that the attorney may have disclosed the racial identity unnecessarily, since the Catholic Church, which controls the estate, would hardly turn it over to him after all.

Special Army Units Seeking Volunteers

If the going is getting tough, Joe, join one of several Regular Army special units, the applications for which are obtainable at the Second Army Headquarters at Fort Meade.

Among the units with existing vacancies are the 98th Field Artillery Bn at Fort Bragg, N.C., and the 57th Ordnance Evacuation Com. at Fort Knox, Ky.

Former GI's Welcome

Qualifications cover former soldiers who have completed high school or who were decorated in the Army and men who can attain a score of 13 or higher on the standard Army test.

All applicants must pass a physical examination and the enlistments are for periods of three, four or five years.

D.C. GI in Germany Soldier of the Week

KITZINGEN BASIC TRAINING CENTER, Germany — Cpl. Walter Buckner, 23, of 2003 Waterside Dr., assigned to the 63rd Transportation Truck Company here, was selected as Soldier of the Week ending March 13.

Corporal Buckner will receive an expense-paid three-day vacation at the famous Garmisch Recreational Resort. He has served two and a half years in the U.S. Army.

School Band Set for Initial Concert

In fine fettle for their first concert after eight weeks of individual instruction and group practice is this school band which plays tonight (Friday) at Washington Junior High School auditorium. Members are pupils at Douglass High, Washington Junior High Schools and Garrett Elementary School No. 103. Instructor is Stanley Williams, Douglass teacher of instrumental music.

SOUTH BALTIMORE NOTES

The Southside lost an outstanding citizen this week with the death of the Rev. Howard Washington at 2213 W. Hamburg St., in Mt. Winans.

At the time of his death, the Rev. Mr. Washington was pastor of churches in Fairfield, Woodsville and Gettysburg. He was formerly pastor of Mt. Winans Methodist Church and was widely known as both a minister and a teacher.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Carrie Rosetta Washington; and three children, the Rev. Thomas Washington, pastor of Sharon Baptist Church in NYC; Howard Washington, a teacher at Douglass High School; and Mrs. Mamie Jones, a dressmaker.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Mt. Winans Methodist Church.

To Repeat Mt. Winans Tea

The Easter Benefit Tea, held at the home of Mrs. Charlotte Hill in Mt. Winans, was such a success that plans are being made to have one each year.

Proceeds from the affair will aid in a fund-raising campaign at the Star of Bethlehem on Womens Day, Sunday, April 4.

Special services will be held at the church all day Sunday. Members who arranged the program are Mrs. N. H. Gardner, Mtg. H. V. Travers, Mrs. Edna Williams, and Mrs. Levenia West.

Southside Personality

Miss Inez Bennett, a senior at Coppin Teachers College, is this week's personality choice. She is a member of Ebenezer AME Church where she is president of the Young People's Choir and a soprano soloist, as well as president of the Young Adult Division of the Missionary Society.

A graduate of Harvey Johnson and Douglass High Schools, Miss Bennett is a member of the YWCA and also a Sunday school teacher.

INEZ BENNETT

Her hobby is memorizing poetry and she lists Langston Hughes and Paul Lawrence Dunbar as her favorite poets.

Oldest of five children, she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan-iel Bennett of 525 W. Barre St. In addition to being active in the church, she spends considerable time working with interracial groups such as the American Friends Society.
