Radio "Minstrels" Get Both Boosts, Kicks

Trentonian Opens New Radio Series

By HAZEL DAVID

TRENTON — George Hudson, free lance radio announcer, began a series of weekly broadcasts over Radio Station WTTM here on Sunday at 9:30 a.m.

The theme of these programs will be racial and religious tolerance. The show, called "Another American," features the recorded musical of outstanding artists and a commentary about their careers, plus a plea for better interracial understanding.

Hudson, writer and announcer of the show, has lived here most of his life.

After graduating from Trenton High School in 1939, he went to Purdue University, and got his first radio experience as a member of the Purdue Players.

Later, at Columbia University, he took special training in the production of radio programs.

Among his original radio scripts is "The Rumor Clinic," which he wrote for the National Conference of Christians and Jews, in New York City.

He recently served as moderator on a special broadcast for the local NAACP, and is heard regularly in the role of commentator on the "American Opera Guild's broadcasts over WTTM.

Mabel Kenny Scores in Recital Offering

Although suffering from acute inflammation of the gums and jaw, Maybel Kenny, soprano, proved her artistic worth in a recital on Sunday when she appeared in the lecture room of the YWCA, and pleased her audience with her small but well-polished voice.

Her singing for the most part was intelligent and crystal-clear with the carrying power of a temple bell, supported by excellent breath control and diction. However, if the singer is to advance even more in her chosen art, then she should give increasing attention to the study of dynamics.

Appearing as the last soloist to be presented to the Baltimore public by Kurtiz Hurtte, who leaves in August, Miss Kenny chose a program which was well done except for several phrases of incorrect intonation in her principal aria.

W. Sherman Smith provided sympathetic accompaniment.

Life on Planets to Be Aired at Planetarium

PHILADELPHIA

Whether life could exist on any other planet in the solar system will be discussed for audiences at the Fels Planetarium of the Franklin Institute during the June demonstrations.

NEW YORK (ANP) — An all-colored radio program, "National Minstrels," will replace the series, "A Day in the Life of Dennis Day," this summer over the National Broadcasting Company network. The first "Minstrels" will be aired Wednesday, July 7, at 8 p.m.

The cast will be headed by Lucky Millinder and his band as singer "Bull Moose" Jackson. Also featured on the program will be vocalist Anniston Allen, cyclone Paul Breckenridge, the Four Tunes, the Hall Sisters and comedienne Jackie Mabley.

Guest stars will also be presented each week. Listed for guest shots are Lena Horne, Sarah Vaughan, the Ink Spots, Louis Jordan and Bill Robinson.

Opinions Vary

Although some are in favor of the idea of an all-colored radio program, many are opposed to the idea of a minstrel type affair.

Under the plans of the producers, the Cale Agency and NBC officials, this sustaining feature "will combine the technique of the minstrel show and the follies."

Many opponents of the idea connect the minstrels with the old time loud talking blackface comedian. They say this type of program may give America the wrong impression of the race. One opponent said:

Threadbare Stereotype

"I am not opposed to the title for the planned NBC show but the show itself. Use of the threadbare stereotype of the colored minstrel shows either a lack of understanding or a lack of taste; NBC and Moe Gale should know better, or they should ask 'somebody.'

Those who favor the program are enthusiastic because it offers more jobs to colored in a new field. One booster said:

"It will be highly entertaining and it could be hilarious on the radio."

Rose Murphy Filling First Washington Date

WASHINGTON

Rose Murphy, who is currently appearing at the Club Bali, received her first big break on the Pacific Coast where she had been rocking the swing fans with her solid beat on the ivories and her "chi-chi" vocal stylings.

The hit song that made her was Majestic recording of "I Can't Give You Anything but Love, Baby" and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

In addition to playing the famed Cafe Society Downtown and the Blue Angel, both in New York City, she was featured in the flicker version of George Whiting "Scandals."

Miss Murphy's booking at Benny Caldwell's Bali marks her first Washington appearance.

Tense Scene in Indian Battle

Henry Fonda (center), shown leading a detachment of U.S. Calvary against hostile Indians in this scene from "Fort Apache," showing at the Regent Theatre.

Brilliant Cast and Story Make 'Fort Apache' Good

Stirring Tale of Indian Warfare Being Told in Vivid Production at the Regent

With John Wayne, Henry Fonda, Shirley Temple and Pedro Armendariz co-starring at the head of an imposing cast, "Fort Apache," currently playing the Regent for one week, presents a striking drama of U.S. Cavalry versus the Apaches in 1870 Arizona.

Wayne plays an experienced frontier officer at a lonely Army post. Fonda, an arrogant lieutenant-colonel from the East, sent to take command of the post, refuses to take Wayne's sound advice on dealing with the wily Chief Cochise.

Fonda also objects to his daughter's romance with a young officer at the fort, which makes him even more unpopular.

When Cochise and his tribe rebel at the crookedness of an Indian agent, Fonda seizes the chance to trap the Apaches and make a name for himself in Washington. Wayne warns him that his scheme will fail, but Fonda, contemptuous of the Indian's fighting ability, goes ahead, with dramatic results.

The climax, with its savage pitched battle between a cavalry squadron and the Apache warriors is said to be one of the most thrilling scenes ever photographed.

Philharmonic Set for YMCA Recital

NEWARK

The North Jersey Philharmonic Glee Club will be presented in a recital by Court St. YMCA at Westside High School on Friday at 8:40 p.m.

Harriette Davison, violinist, will be the guest artist.

The glee club is made up of 30 men between ages of 17 and 35, and most are war veterans.

Helen Humes is best known to the which are now collectors' items. CHICAGO. (ANP) — Although She was only 12 years old then.

public for her blues singing, she would much rather sing ballads. Her latest recordings, "I Just Refuse to Sing the Blues," is a ballad in which she explains her position to the public.

While still going to school in her home town, Louisville, Ky., she signed her first contract when a talent scout from St. Louis heard her sing. During that time she made some recordings for Okeh

After finishing high school she went to Buffalo to live. One evening while visiting a local club there she was signed on the spot after she had been requested to sing a number.

First Refused Basie

Count Basie met her for the first time in Cincinnati the 1937. Not wanting to travel with a band, she refused an offer from the Count. In 1938 she met John Hammond who has kept up with her ever since. He arranged for her to join the Basie band. She stayed with the Count for three years.

In 1938 she made several recordings with the Harry James band. Several years ago she made "Sa Baba Leba" famous, and is now known as the "Eh, Baba Leba" girl by many fans. During the past two years she has played with Benny Goodman, Tommy Dorsey, Artie Shaw and the Mercury Caravan with Frankie Laine and Jan August.

In Chicago she headlines the show at Hotel Sherman. This date, which will last 12 weeks, includes a national radio outlet at nights a week over ABC.

Both Bojangles and His Mother-in-Law 'Miss' New Boat, but Catch Up With It

NEW YORK — Getting off to a happy if somewhat confused start, the S.S. Bojangles made its maiden voyage with 300 passengers and in a steady downpour, Tuesday of last week, the day Bill (Bojangles) Robinson celebrated his 70th birthday.

Robinson himself christened the boat at ceremonies held at the W. 131st St. Pier. The pre-sailing ceremonies were highlighted by at least two humorous and unscheduled incidents.

The first happened when Bill attempted to christen the Bojangles with a bottle of champagne. He lost his grip on the bottle and it fell into the river. Not to be outdone, however, the dancer finally swung a bottle of ginger ale successfully against the boat.

Second on the list of humorous incidents involved Bojangles' and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Plaine of Brooklyn.

The boat was scheduled to leave the pier at 2 p.m. But Bojangles found his mother-in-law had not arrived, he refused to let Capt. Louis Caputo the order to shove off.

After a forty-five minute wait Robinson consulted with his wife, Elaine, as to what to do. The latter reluctantly agreed to "call by the man who gave you the Kentucky Derby winner."

Reversed His Orders

The boat had pulled away from the pier when a policeman on the dock called out to Robinson that Mrs. Plaine had arrived. It then Bill ordered Captain Caputo to take the Bojangles back to the pier for Mrs. Plaine.

"Man, I'll never get into mother-in-law trouble on my birthday," Bill exclaimed. "After all, we're cooking my dinner tonight."

For 2½ hours the boat steamed up the Hudson as far as the Yonkers Municipal Pier before returning to Manhattan. On board entertainment was furnished the guests by the Musical Belles, an all-girl orchestra, and the Deep River Boys.

Tried Hand as Pilot

Gifts from well-wishers were among them were a watch from the Brooklyn Hebrew Orphan Association and a pioneer set of pilot feet from Dr. William J. Carter, a chiropodist.

At one time, during the trip up the river, Bill took over the wheel of the boat, as the guests through the loud speaker in the pilot house that he was piloting the vessel.

"I don't know where we are or where we're going, he chuckled, "but I'm having a good time and don't care."

Among the special guests aboard the vessel were five disabled veterans from the Bronx Veterans Hospital.

Wishes Boat Success

The naming of the vessel was initiated through the Pittsburgh of Jack Wrightson, director of the boat; Captain Caputo, a boyhood admirer of Robinson; and a group of Harlemites. At its launching Bill said he thought it a most appropriate birthday gift.

Bojangles success in every voyage," he said. That was when he broke the bottle of ginger ale.

L.C. Armstead Wins Pepsi-Cola Prize

Samuel S. Turner, of 5010 Nebraska Ave., is the winner of the $100 cash first prize for the best Treasure Top entry in Washington in the third month's contest of a series of six monthly Treasure Top contests, Samuel Schwartzman, president of the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Co. of Washington, announced.

There were two second place winners, Mrs. James A. Miller Jr. of Hyattsville, Md. and L. C. Armstead of 401 E. St., S.E., each of whom received $50.

Each month the Pepsi-Cola Co. is awarding 2,650 separate State and national cash prizes in the contest, totaling $26,500, explained Mr. Schwartzman; the prizes include each month, in each State, 51 cash State prizes to consumers and 3 cash State prizes to dealers.

In addition, the three best consumer State entries receive national consumer prizes of $1000, $500 and $250 respectively every month, while each month the dealer who helped the top national prize winner with the winning entry also received $250.
