Bison Nine Beats Bolling, Closes With 7-14 Record

5-Run Ninth Inning Rally Downs Air Force Team, 7-2; Harris Allows Only Two Hits

WASHINGTON

Combining four hits, two errors and a walk for five runs in the ninth, Howard University defeated Bolling Field, 7-2, in its highlited season gloriously, last Thursday, on the soldiers' diamond.

The triumph gave the Tom Johnson-coached team a season's record of seven victories and 14 defeats.

Harris Goes Distance

Hurler Howard Harris, going the distance for the Bisons, scattered two measly hits over nine innings while turning in his best performance this season.

Holding a 2-1 margin going into the ninth, the Bisons pounded three pitchers, driving two from the mound, to push over their one-sided triumph in ninth.

Harris doubled to start the uprising and Donald Jones was safe on an error. At this stage, Benny Batts poked a clean single into the outfield, scoring both runners.

Roberts Produces Rally

Following with singles by Calvin Roberts and Walter Brooks, a base on balls and an error, the Bisons pushed three more tallies across the plate before they were retired.

Jones again took honors for the Bisons, slashing out three singles in five trips to the plate, scoring twice, and driving in one run. For the losers, George Wallenfang accounted for all the team's safeties, getting two singles in four appearances at the plate.

Victors in Major "A" League at Strand

Members of the 20th Century (Blue Shirts) bowling team which won the Major "A" League bowling championship at the Strand Alley. The Blue Shirts led all the way in a 105-game scheduled from September to May, ending the season with a 6½ game edge over the Streamlines, runners-up with 71 wins against 34 defeats. The bowlers and their season's averages are: Sherman Brown, 121; John Thomas, who replaced his late father, James Thomas, who died in mid-season; John Brown, captain, 112; back row—Gerald Myers, 116; James Williams, and Walter Webster, 116. Myers had the season's high game for the league with 175, and the team set two new league records: high score for team in single game, 685, and high team total for three-game series, 1937.

Stribling Shows Courage, But Bows to LaMotta in 5th

Jake's Big Guns Send Washington Fighter Down Six Times; Cooper Loses to Joe Kay

WASHINGTON

Game Ken Stribling, 175, recovering that Jake LaMotta was more durable than he anticipated, was floored six times before being counted out in the fifth of a scheduled 10-rounder, Tuesday night, in Griffith Stadium.

A left hook to the jaw toppled Stribling to the canvas where he struggled unsuccessfully to regain his footing, then twisted over on his back in a last feeble effort as Referee Ray Bowen tolled the final count.

With Stribling showing utter disregard for the murderous punishing of LaMotta, rated among the top middleweights as one of the most savage hitters, the end was inevitable for the determined hometown boy as early as the second round.

Surprises LaMotta

Astounding the crowd of 4,516 fans with his continuous efforts to take the fight to the Wild Bull from the Bronx, jabbing, hooking and throwing stiff punches, Stribling gave the fans a run for their money as he met most of the fistic fight witnessed here in several years.

He sprang from his corner at the bell and charged the squat, bull-shouldered New Yorker, making the first threatening gesture, a glancing right hand to the jaw. However, LaMotta sidestepped the blow and immediately went to them.

A right to the head slowed LaMotta up temporarily, but he bore down with stiff jabs, stung his foe, ripping and slashing Stribling with a deep cut above the left eye from which had telling effect.

The bell tolled nine for Stribling as he sagged against the ropes in distress at the end of the stanza. After Manager Sandy Saddler had feverishly over h1m between rounds, Stribling was able to come out for the third, which was a spectacular anti-climax.

LaMotta in Trouble

In this round both fighters merely walked into each other and slugged away with Stribling giving ground first, being sent reeling through the ropes and dropped for a nine count.

Although appearing over-anxious to hit LaMotta, Stribling showed to the disbelief of the spectators after taking his lick to the scrap, and momentarily had the Bronx slugger in dire trouble.

Fired with a desire to show LaMotta he was not a superhuman, Stribling, in a desperate effort, lashed Jake with unrelenting fury, forced to a nine count.

Stribling had plenty of fight left in him at the start of the fourth when he matched LaMotta punch for punch for three minutes and twice fought his way off the ropes when it looked LaMotta was trying desperately for a payoff blow.

Floored Three Times

But suddenly with a lightning strikes, the tide turned, and Stribling found himself climbing out on the deck on three occasions. The last time he was knocked out in a state of grogginess as the bell sounded.

Still listing from the effects of the beating from his opponent, Stribling fought back in the fifth, but lacked the punch he showed in the previous rounds.

Jimmy Cooper, 123, local bantamweight fighter, spotted Joe Kay six pounds, but felt the weight in the sixth round after taking a right flush on the jaw. He never quite recovered, losing an eight-round decision to the imported English man.

Although Cooper paced himself excellently in the earlier rounds, and floored Kay for a nine count with a looping bolo punch in the fifth, he became careless, and walked into a hard right hand which rendered him impotent the remaining distance.

In three four-round bouts, Holly Mims, 155½, District AAU champion, making his first professional start, held Angelo Marini, 151, to a draw after sustaining a badly swollen left eye in the second round; Jackie Ford, 142½, scored a TKO over Kenny Baker, 130, in 2:31 of the fourth, and Puggy King, 123, decisioned Bert Weeks, 123.

In a five-round preliminary bout, Johnny Hanbury, 163, outpointed Sam Jefferson, 162.—FRED LEIGH.

Ways to Avoid Drowning Given

Harold S. Callowhill, chairman of the Baltimore Red Cross water safety program, has issued the following rules for water safety, in an effort to reduce drownings in Baltimore as a result.

1. Remain in water of depth equal to your swimming ability.

Refrain from diving in shallow water or water of unknown depth.

Do not dive headfirst, broken necks or backs and fractured skulls may result.

3. Remain within the buoyed lines which designate safe swimming area.

4. Never go in swimming immediately after a meal.

Never Swim Alone

5. Massage or knead a muscle cramp. Don't become panic-stricken.

6. Never duck or push others under water. They can't breathe and are endangered any more than you can.

7. Never swim alone. Make it a rule to swim with a friend.

8. Never dive from a canoe or rowboat, since the craft will not remain stationary, but will float and will be out of reach when you surface.

DOBY THRILLS D. C. FANS DESPITE 2 TO 1 LOSS

Cleveland Ace Cracks Out Two of Club's Five Hits

Crowd of 20,405 Watches Tribe Launch Important Road Drive for First Place

WASHINGTON

At long last finding an uncovered spot in the opposition defenses, Larry Doby chalked up two of his team's five hits as the league-leading Cleveland Indians suffered a 2-1 setback at the hands of the Washington Senators before 20,405 persons Wednesday night.

It was the opening game of a three-day — rather three-night — stand of the Indians near Washington here. It was also the inauguration of what promises to be a vitally important 14-game road trip for the Tribe.

Only one-half game ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics, the Indians must spend two weeks in tough alien territory while the A's are enjoying an equally long sojourn in the friendly confines of home.

Doby, who has been ripping the ball with deadly authority the last two weeks, has been experiencing a siege of dry luck. Says he: "I just seems I can't find a spot that isn't covered. I've been meeting the ball good' but everytime I hit a line drive it's right at somebody. And those 'hot' ones on the ground that usually go skidding through the infield, for me there's always someone in front of them."

Hits, Dies Stealing

His second time at bat, in the third inning, the former Negro National League star shot one through the box past Washington pitcher Mickey Haefner, but this was out of a gun. The Senator hurler did not have to move from his mound to get his hands in the air and, had it been directed at him, there was little doubt that he would have been seriously hurt.

The blow came with two men out, however, thus setting the stage for an attempted steal of second. He went down on the second pitch and was thrown out by a perfect peg from Catcher Jake Early to Shortstop Mack Christman.

Doby started what appeared to be a rally in the ninth when, with Washington leading, 2-1, he opened the frame with a drinking single past second. Keystoner Al Kozar made a fine backhand catch on the ball but had no chance to retire the speedy Tribe outfielder.

His other two trips to the plate resulted in a fly to left and an infield out, second to first.

Easy Time Of Afield

Afield, Doby had plenty of time to relax. He did not handle a ball until the seventh inning, when Wooten slapped a single to right. The speedy Gil Coan was on second at the time and Doby rushed the ball in the hope of making a play at the plate.

In his haste, however, he bobbled it and had to give up the ghost. No error was charged because there was considerable doubt that he would have been able to retire Coan, generally regarded the fastest man in the American League.

Larry arrived in Washington with the rest of the squad on an overnight Pullman from Cleveland. Because he "just can't sleep" on trains, he spent the day in his big Statler Hotel room. He, arose at 4:30, went to dinger and for a short automobile ride with friends and was at Griffith Stadium at 6:30 o'clock.

The twin facts that the Cleveland club is leading the league and that it carries Doby, only member of his race on an American League team, served to bring out the more than 20,000 cash customers. Of this number, an estimated one-fourth were colored.

Doby At The Bat

1st inning: Fled third pitch to left after Dale Mitchell had led off with a bunted single. Stole second when Early threw to third in the bush, broke to center for a single with one out, tried on steamed ball of second, sliding head first into the bag. 6th inning: Worked count to two and two, rolled out, second to first. 9th inning: Opened stanza with single past second, moved to second on Mitchell's sacrifice, was stranded as Keltner bounced into double play to end game.

Bassett Whips Forte for 17th Straight

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — Perry Bassett, rising young Philadelphia featherweight, scored his 17th consecutive triumph by outpointing Johnny Forte, Italian toughie, in the eight-round feature of a boxing show here Thursday night.

In another all-Philadelphia affair, Reds Peterson, hard-hitting middleweight, stretched Clarence Smith in two rounds.

Poor Attendance Worries Southern Baseball Moguls

RICHMOND

That the problem of poor attendance is the most pressing and worrying officials of the 10-team Class A Piedmont League, which is at the crossroads, was revealed last week when a meeting to map strategy for the second half of the season was called for Danville, June 3.

Additional problems which tend to complicate the situation, all of which are on the agenda for the meeting, are reportedly expected to include players' salaries and the reorganization of the league's schedule.

Everyone in Richmond, Danville, Norfolk, Newport News, Raleigh, Greenville, Durham, Portsmouth, Asheville, Greensboro, Raleigh and Durham are reportedly crying the blues over the small crowds who turned out for the first half of the season's games.

Top Crowds 2,000

During the first half of the league's season, first every-day play attempted by a colored league in the South, saw top crowds of 2,500 on hand for the Sunday games, but bad weather combined with a lack of sustained interest to keep week-day attendance below the 1000-mark.

Faced by this turn of affairs, the owners began looking at their payrolls and asking for some type of ceiling on salaries, which average $200 per month, with tops as high as $300.

At the same time, nine of the 10 teams began looking at the runaway race Asheville has made of the first half season and demanded several changes in plans for the second half of the schedule.

Giants at Home Sunday

After four straight beatings on the road, the Richmond Giants will return here Sunday, where they know how to win, for a game with Leon University nipped Howard for the crown by a single point.

Veteran on the championship team is David Thompson who probably has seen more CIAA competition than any other member on the team.

In 1946, Thompson teamed with Walter Hazzelgrove to win the CIAA doubles championship in a closely fought tournament in which Lincoln University defeated the Greensboro Red Wings at Morgan Park. The Bisons have won 10 out of 12 at home and dropped 10 out of 12 on the road.

Poor fielding is blamed by Manager Bob Clark (the team has a .915 average afield) for the team's poor showing on the road.

Tri-State Hopes to Shake Weather Jinx

The Tri-State Baseball League will try once more to get into high gear Sunday, with three games listed in as many cities.

The bad weather jinx which has been dogging Tri-State teams has kept them idle for a great part of the season, however, promoters are hopeful of shaking the hoodoo this week end.

The first place Mitchellville (Md.) Black Sox will play host to the Richmond Aztecs, the Baltimore Giants will journey to Philadelphia to meet the Meteors, and the Washington Royal Giants will trek to Havre de Grace to meet the club there.

The other club, the second place Frederick American Legion nine, will idle.

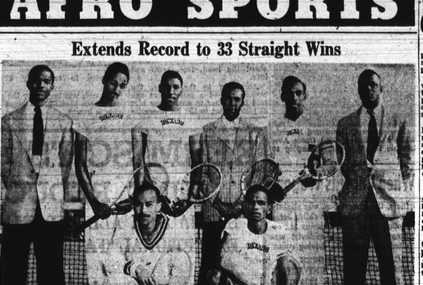
Extends Record to 33 Straight Wins



Members of the Howard University CIAA tennis championship team which extended the Bisons' unbeaten four-year record to 33 consecutive matches this season, excluding the CIAA tournament matches. Kneeling, left to right, are: Webster Stubbs and David Thompson; standing, Mackie Caldwell, manager; Clyde Freeman, Whitfield Pollard, Carl Williams, Ronald Gordon and Maurice (Filp) Jackson, coach.

Howard U. Netmen Loom as Menace for Next Season

WASHINGTON

Howard University's championship tennis team, setting an all-time CIAA tennis mark with 33 consecutive dual match victories over a four-year span, appears formidable for next season.

Of the six members who aided in bowling over eight opponents this season, only five by shutouts, all are returning next year.

The redoubtable singles and doubles championship combination, Carl Williams, a sophomore from Orangeburg, S.C., and Ronald Gordon, junior from nearby Cockeysville, BWI, will head the 1949 squad.

Freeman Crowned

With only year of collegiate experience behind him, Clyde Freeman, freshman and national junior singles champion is being groomed to strengthen the team following the graduation of Gordon in 1946 The Bisons amassed their largest winning streak in a single season in 1946 when they won 16 dual matches, and the smallest in 1945 when they played and won only six such contests.

Bookers Capture Junior High City Track Crown

The favored Booker T. Washington track team, led by speedy Jerome Burton, edged out Harvey Johnson, 48 to 43½, to capture the annual Baltimore City Junior High Schools' track and field championships in Druid Hill Park, Thursday.

This meet initiated a new venture in junior high school competition, and it proved to be a huge success.

Harvey Johnson finished a surprising second by virtue of its heavy 25-point output in the field events. Dunbar, winner by a narrow 34-33 count over Booker T. in a previous meet, took third place with 39 points.

Burton, Johnson Tie

Individual scoring honors went to Burton of Booker T. and Frank Johnson of Harvey Johnson with 10 points each. In both the 135-pound 100-yard dash and the 440 relay, Burton staged a brilliant stretch-drive to win going away. Johnson scored impressive triumphs in the unlimited 100, and the 220-yard dashes.

Little 13-year-old Ronald Dietsche, of Dunbar, ran a sizzling second leg in the 85-pound 440, however, Booker T. finished strong to gain a decisive victory. Johnny Tower of Harvey Johnson won the unlimited broad jump with a leap of 18 feet 9½ inches, which should prove a tough mark for future contestants to break. Justice of Booker T. put the eight-pound shot 46 feet 1¼ inches to cop the title.—SKINNER.

Westport Park Opening Delayed

The opening date for the Westport Baseball Park, originally fixed for Sunday, has been postponed until June 20.

The delay announced Thursday was decided upon by officials of the Baltimore Panthers, who will play their home games there, in order to install a modern drainage system at the park.

Ground at the park has been leveled and the seats erected, but recent rains indicated the need for a drainage system, so park officials decided to install a modern setup prior to opening in order that the field would be in excellent playing condition.

Night Games Slated

The new field is located on a site near Westport Hill project and boast an elaborate lighting system for night games, new stands and a diamond with a 430-foot centerfield.

The Panthers are members of the American Association and will play regular league games there. To date all of their games have been played on the road awaiting the availability of the park.

The Panthers took the measure of the Durham Eagles, 10-8, in a league game at Durham, N.C., this week.

Led by their stellar centerfielder, Charley Wilson, and third baseman Jerome Jones, the Panthers came from behind a four-run deficit piled up by the Eagles in the early innings. They bunched their 11 hits in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth innings for their 10 runs.

Preston Lang started for the Panthers but had to give way to Pitcher Johnny Gibbons in the fourth. Gibbons held the Eagles in every frame except the eighth, when Durham staged a three-run uprising.
