IN OUR CHURCHES

By LOUISE K. HINES

The Methodist Church's newly elected bishop, Dr. John Wesley Edward Bowen of New Orleans, will be remembered by older Baltimoreans as the son of the late Rev. J. W. E. Bowen Sr., once pastor of Centennial Church, here.

Former editor of the Central Christian Advocate, Dr. Bowen was consecrated a bishop on Sunday at Sisters Chapel, Spelman College, Atlanta, where the Central Jurisdictional Conference was held.

He succeeds the late Bishop Lorenzo H. King, who died in 1946.

Two Baptised at Payne

Baptism was held on Sunday at Payne Memorial AME Church, with the Rev. C. Baker Pearle performing the rites for Gregory Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Simmons of 1732 McCulloh St., and Robert M. Murdock Jr., son of the Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murdock Sr., of 1417 N. Carey St.

On Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Pearle will preach on the subject, "The Four Phases of Christian Giving."

The first AME quarterly meeting of this conference year will be held on June 27, with the Rev. J. M. Boston, presiding elder, of the Easton District, as speaker.

Sunday School Reunion Set

Emmanuel C. C. Church has set 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on June 25 for the class re-union of the young people's and senior departments of its Sunday school.

A program of fun and refreshments and an open forum for suggestions for an improved Sunday school program, has been planned.

Basing his capsule sermon on Psalm 127:1, "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain, who build it," Emmanuel's pastor, the Rev. W. H. Waters urged inclusion of God in all activities.

"Plan to build a better home, a more wholesome world, a more glorious church, but put God in the work," he said.

Churches Cite Graduates

Moore L. Carson, baritone, was soloist on Sunday morning at Grace Presbyterian Church. The church lists the following members as June graduates from various educational institutions:

Cecil McNeill, Douglass High School; E. Lloyd Davis, Rebecca Anthony, James W. Gilliam, Milton A. Dugger, Miss Lauretta Freeman and Delmas Milburn, Morgan State College;

Miss Ellen Moss, Howard University; Miss Ruth Weaver, Coppin Teachers College; Misses Beatrice Mayo, Catholic University; Alma Jackson and Mrs. Emma G. Bright, New York University. The last three received their master of arts degrees.

St. James' Grads Listed

"The Call" of St. James' Episcopal Church lists these members as June graduates:

Douglass Evening High School, William Foy; Douglass High School, Mano Cesphus, Phillis Hagan and Margaret Lancaster; Downington Industrial School, Gloria Tucker; Coppin Teachers College, Miss Audrey E. Bennett.

Morgan State College, Arthur E. Harris and S. Reginald Watts, Mesdames Sara H. Gwaltney, Elaine B. Mantack, Sadie P. Marshall and Miss Sara Prettyman.

Catholic University, Miss Phillis R. Allen, master's degree; New York University, E. Louise Gee, master's degree; Howard University, Bernard Christmas; Columbia University, James C. Finney, doctor of education.

Carl J. Murphy is also listed for having received an honorary degree of doctor of laws from Lincoln University.

During the months of July and August and the first Sunday in September, services at St. James' will be held at 7 and 10 a.m., according to the rector, the Rev. Cedric E. Mills.

Fulton Baptist to Move

At the Baptist Ministers Conference this week, it was reported that the congregation of Fulton Baptist Church will move into its new $100,000 edifice on North Ave., near Carey St. on Sunday.

In news review, the Rev. E. W. White scored "Uncle Toms, who retard our progress as a group by accepting second-class citizenship and substitute humility for a demand for justice and equality."

"Jewish Hopes for the Messiah," was the title of the Sunday school lesson discussed by the Rev E. C. Reddie.

Patterson to Get New Church

Patterson Asbury AME Zion Church will worship at its new location on Division St., between Baker and Gold St., at 11:30 a.m. on Sunday, with the presiding elder, the Rev. Steward Patterson, preaching. At 3 and 8 p.m. there will be special programs.

Patterson's pastor is the Rev. N. J. Gilchrist.

"What Are We Giving Our Children?" was the subject of the Children's Day sermon preached by the pastor of New Shiloh Baptist Church, the Rev. J. Timothy Bodie, last Sunday.

The afternoon services were in charge of the Sunday school, with pupils of the several departments in a program of music and recitations.

Mrs. Vestillia Porter directed the choir; while Mrs. Alma Love headed the program committee.

Lott Carey Official Speaker

Speaker on the previous Sunday was Dr. W. C. Somerville, executive secretary of the Lott Carey Foreign Mission Board, who talked on the subject, "Doing Something Special For God."

Mrs. J. T. Boddie directed the Allen Gospel Chorus, which presented the evening program.

New AME Bishop to Speak

Bishop L. H. Hemmingway, newly-appointed AME prelate of the Second Episcopal District, is slated to be the Men's Day speaker on Sunday morning at Allen AME Church, in the 1100 block of W. Lexington St.

The choir of Allen's Christian Endeavor League on Sunday at 6 p.m. will feature the Holliman Student Orchestra. Mrs. Clara Bullard is chairman; Edward Gough, president; and the Rev. T. C. Freeman, pastor.

The 135th annual session of the Maryland and Washington Conference of the Union American Methodist Episcopal Church, get-acquainted way today (Friday), at Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church, Perkins Ave. and George St., and will be continued through Sunday, with Bishop O. W. Foward, presiding.

Children's Day Exercises at Payne AME Church

Towson Elks Temple Honors Secretary

TOWSON, Md. — The Esther Progressive Temple No. 586 of Elks, recently honored Mrs. Fannie Thomas with a testimonial banquet for 10 years of service as recording secretary.

Mrs. Pearl Brown, past grand daughter ruler, and daughter ruler of Great Southern Temple, was guest speaker. Mrs. Martha Lee was mistress of ceremonies, and Daniel Frazier, toastmaster.

Those who extended greetings to Mrs. Thomas included Mrs. Ida R. Cummings, daughter ruler, Coppin F. E. W. Harper Lodge 429; Mrs. Florence Snowden of Sampson Brooks Temple, Mrs. Amy Warden of Emma Williams Temple, and Mrs. Ida Harris of Annapolis. Mrs. Priscilla Smith was chairman of the affair.

3 Father's Day Programs Slated

Special Father's Day programs have been planned for Sunday at the Star of Bethlehem AME Church, 2424 Ridgely St., where the pastor, the Rev. G. Oliver Wing, will speak in the morning on "Father."

George W. Hill and Mrs. Mamie Tyler are co-sponsors of programs set for 3 and 8 p.m., respectively, including special music for fathers.

Henry West, principal of School No. 116, will be the evening speaker.

Samuel Carter's Funeral Saturday

Final rites for Samuel Carter, 65, hotel chef, will be held at 1 p.m. on Saturday at Grace Presbyterian Church, with burial following in Western Star Cemetery.

Mr. Carter, who lived at 2336 Hollins Ferry Rd., died on Monday at the University Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lillian Carter; three daughters, Mesdames Marie Kellum, Lillian Rogers and Dorothy Beckett; five sons, Samuel, James, Melvin, Frank and Howard; 10 grandchildren, two brothers and a sister.

Television Show Features Choir

Setting a precedent, the Baltimore Boys Choir, directed by William M. H. Birche Jr. appeared on a television broadcast last Monday on Station WBAL-TV.

The previous day, the group appeared in concert at Mount Gilead Baptist Church in Washington, the Rev. W. L. Turley, pastor.

The program was sponsored by the Church Sunday School with Robert S. Bowden as chairman.

7th Unity Series Gets Under Way

The seventh series of "Units for Unity" lectures on human relationships began Thursday night at the Baltimore Interracial Fellowship, 21 W. Preston St.

Speaker for the first of the 6-week series was Robert Ford of the Dunbar High School faculty and member of Fellowship House executive board, who discussed "The Background and Contribution of the Colored People."

The following week's lecture on "Problems of the Colored Community"i will be delivered by A. J. Allen Jr., Urban League executive secretary. Daniel P. Atwood, Fellowship House executive secretary, will serve as moderator for the series.

Church Council Film Shown Today

Gone is the concept that movies are necessarily "the work of the devil." In its place has come the realization that the camera, under proper guidance, can inspire men to lead Christian lives, instruct the young, and offer solace and hope to the aged.

The premiere of the Protestant Film Commission's second motion picture, "My Name Is Ham," focuses attention on one of the most significant movements in recent church history, an attempt to capture mass media of communication for the religious message.

The premiere took place on Tuesday, at the Christ English Lutheran Church, Charles and Hill St., under the auspices of the Drama and Audio-Visual Education Committee of the Council of Churches.

Project of 100 Cities

Simultaneously in 99 other groups of ministers, educators American and Canadian cities, leading religious laymen will gather to watch the first screening of a deeply religious story.

To do so, "Mi Name is Ham," a camera crew was sent to China to re-create on Chinese soil the epic struggles of a little band of Christian Chinese.

Documentary in style, though dramatic in treatment, the picture shows how the Christian minister, doctor, teacher in the missionary school and agricultural expert work, with a young convert (white man) appears in the film.

Jehovah's Witnesses Hear Attack on Racial Bigotry

We cannot profess to bring freedom to other nations while denying it to persons within our own borders, N. L. Anderson, a representative of the Watchtower Society, told an interracial audience of some 2,000 persons Sunday.

Mr. Anderson was speaking at the semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses, in the Fifth Regiment Armory.

He declared that in spite of Constitutional guarantees, racial and class hatred are keeping freedom from the nation and the fallacious master race theory is still rampant in the world.

Climaxed 3-Day Session

The stirring address, entitled, "Freedom for All Nations," climaxed a three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses living in the Maryland District of Churches.

He declared that in spite of Constitutional guarantees, racial and class hatred are keeping freedom from the nation and the fallacious master race theory is still rampant in the world.

Mr. Anderson said:

"In our country, the fight for liberties for all is bitterly opposed by many. The basic civil liberties of all are threatened by persons who by their actions, rightfully belong in a Police State."

Mr. Anderson said that in addition to physical restraints, mental prisons are built around persons through lies, faulty thinking and miseducation.

The sweltering audience of men, women and children, roundly applauded his attack on prejudice.

Funeral Services Held for Mrs. L. W. Butler

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian Wright Butler, sister of the late Richard and Howard (Ike) Wright, were held Wednesday at the Holland Funeral Home. Burial followed in Arbutus Memorial Park.

Mrs. Wright died Sunday. She is survived by her husband, Walter H., retired postal worker; a brother, William; and four sisters, Mesdames Ellen Scott, Regina Wright, Agnes Tucker and Gertrude Weaver.

Supreme Bench May Pick Juries

the grand jury for the September term at its meeting on Monday.

In making its ruling, the Court of Appeals upheld Judge Joseph Sherbow, who refused to quash a murder indictment against Sam Zimmerman on the contention that colored persons have been systematically excluded or limited to one person on grand juries.

The jury which indicted Zimmerman included one colored person. Zimmerman has since been convicted of disorderly murder, and is serving a life term in prison.

No Evidence of Limitation

Writing the appeals court opinion, Judge William L. Henderson declared, "If a policy of limitation was followed before 1944, it was obviously discontinued in 1945 and 1946."

It was testified before Judge Sherbow that from September, 1944, to May, 1946, a total of 11 colored persons had been called for the grand jury, nine of whom served.

It was also shown that before the colored persons on the jury which indicted Zimmerman were chosen, two other colored persons had declined to serve.

Of the list of 750 persons whose names were considered for that panel, 50 were colored, appeals court learned.

Quota Question "Left Open"

Judge Williams pointed out that even though the Supreme Court said Judge Sherbow's use of proportional representation of colored jurors was improper, "we think the proof of such a policy or scheme is lacking in the case at bar."

Zimmerman's case was argued by J. Coolidge Boyd, attorney.

Judge Williams said: "They (Zimmerman's counsel) have failed to meet the burden of establishing a deliberate and intentional limitation upon the use of race or color in selection of the grand jury which indicted him (Zimmerman)."

GI Killed in Action Gets Final Rites Here

Following prayer services at his home, 1608 Division St., Sgt. Henry Tompkins, 22, was given full-military rites on Thursday at the Baltimore National Cemetery.

Sergeant Tompkins was killed in North Africa on Nov. 7, 1943. He is the son of Mrs. H. L. Tompkins, a practical nurse who resides at the Division St. address.

He was a graduate of the Downington (Pa.) Industrial School and was in his junior year at Hampton Institute at the time he entered the Armed services.

In addition to his mother, he is survived by a cousin, James E. Pierce, of New York; uncle, W. M. Cordin of Red Bank, N.J., and his fiancee, Miss Rosetta Davis, a welfare worker of this city.
