PAINT AND POWDER.

Baltimore Club Entertains Audience at Chestertown.

The new Lyceum Theater was reopened to the public Saturday evening with a varied entertainment by the Paint and Powder Club, of Baltimore. The theater was packed with one of the most fashionable audiences ever assembled in Chestertown and society people from Easton, Centerville, Salisbury, Philadelphia, Baltimore and all sections of Kent county were among the audience which gave the visitors a most cordial welcome. Big autos were sent to Tolchester for the club and they arrived in Chestertown at 6 o'clock and were met by a receiving party, which introduced them to their hosts for their stay here. The entertainment by the club consisted of a musical comedy review in which musical numbers from Floradora predominated.

Immediately following the entertainment Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard, president of the local Woman's Federated Clubs, and her daughter, Miss Miriam, entertained about 200 guests at a dance at their handsome colonial home, on Chester River, in honor of the Paint and Powder Club and Miss Hubbard's house party guests. The house party guests included Miss Alice Lewis, of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; W. N. Edwards, of Philadelphia; George De Benneville Keim, of Philadelphia, and William Harrison Lewis, of Cincinnati.

The following members of the Paint and Powder Club paricipated in the entertainment: William Lucas, Jr., Chas. A. McCann, Hyland Kuhns, Thomas Shryock. William Penn-Lewis, Gilles Shaw, Allan Whiteford, Wilmer Emory, Dr. Whiteley, Broughten Beacham, Charles Gantz, Allan Hoblitzell, Henry Klinefelter, Guy Dulaney, Thomas Whitridge, Henry Noeth, Walter B. Swindell Richard Bond, Reese Cassard, Wilmer Wagner, Thomas McKoy, Patterson Pendleton, George Parr, Lloyd Unduch, Frances Beacham, Robert Schumonn, Roger Bacon, Neil Hughes and Morrison Boyd.

The new theater, which was formerly Stam's Hall, was recently remodeled redecorated and provided with opera chairs, new piano and handsome new scenery at a cost of $4,000. The opening event was a charming success and the Paint and Powder Club was delighted with its reception and entertainment. The audience numbered about 400.
