Co-Stars of Regent Feature

Noreen Nash changes from lady's maid to lady with the help of her mistress, Lucile Bremer, in this scene from "Adventures of Casanova," now at the Regent.

Fighter-Lover Casanova Offers Thrills at Regent

Screen fans will thrill to the conquests of Casanova, the world's greatest lover-fighter — who surrendered only to a woman's arms — when they see "Adventures of Casanova," epic spectacle of the life and times of history's most famous romantic rogue, currently showing, for one week, at the Regal Theatre.

This single episode from the tremendous book of Casanova's life is set in Palermo, Sicily, where the great fighter-lover comes to the aid of the persecuted peasants as they resist the onslaughts of the army of the King of Naples.

No valorous deed for his country was without one romantic attachment or another and in this one Casanova sweeps Lady Bianca, the daughter of the King's governor, off her feet in scenes of mounting passions and tempestuous lovemaking.

Cordova Born to Role

Setting the pace in the title role is dashing Arturo de Cordova, who with tremendous charm and ease as a lover and with expert skill at foils, plays the world's most notorious rogue as to the role born.

Betwitching is Lucille Bremer in her tantalizing and intriguing role of royal-born Lady Bianca, who is unable to resist the appeal of Casanova. Completing the starring quartet are Turhan Bey and Noreen Nash.

Photographed against outdoor scenes of unparalleled grandeur and towering magnificence, "Adventures of Casanova" features a supporting cast of thousands with John Sutton, George Tobias and Fritz Lieber outstanding in their portrayals.

'All My Sons' Now Playing at Harlem

Edward G. Robinson,

Burt Lancaster Stars

An outstanding play has been transformed into an outstanding motion picture, "All My Sons," the powerful, inspiring play chosen for top honors by the New York drama critics, opened yesterday (Thursday) as a screen offering at the Harlem Theatre.

Starring Edward G. Robinson and Burt Lancaster the film portrays with dynamic simplicity the post-war story of how money proved stronger than patriotism to one man with the result that a number of air men lost their lives, including his own son, his partner went to prison and later his own life was forfeited.

The film-makers faithfully followed the stage version in translating the story for the screen. They not only took a fine play but actually improved upon the original.

Robinson and Lancaster in the main roles add spirit and action to a picture that vibrates with high emotion and deep significance. Mady Christian, veteran star of stage and screen, is genuinely

Laytons Leave for Australia After Brief Visit in America

JAMAICA, L.I., N.Y. — Turner Alelia, left New York last Thursday for Australia where the top variety artist has a three-month engagement.

Now a resident of England for the past 24 years, the Laytons on their first visit here in that time, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Bourne-Vanneck here, and Raymond Pace Alexanders in Philadelphia.

Layton, born in Washington, D.C., July 2, 1894, attended the Howard University Dental School and the Medic Chirurgical College, Pennsylvania.

He is well remembered in America for writing such song hits as "Way Down Yonder in New Orleans" and "After You've Gone." He wrote many hits for the early Ziegfeld Follies, Earl Carroll Vanities and George White Scandals.

Layton first went to England in 1924 with his partner, Clarence (Tanny) Johnstone, to make stage appearances.

There he remained and formed his own variety show to tour overseas. He is a member of the English Performing Rights Society.

Hot Syncopation, Gay Gals Spark Royal Footlights

The heat has nothing on the star of stage and screen, and a Baltimore favorite, when the Royal Theatre opens today (Friday) at the Royal Theatre.

Headed by the Sweethearts of Rhythm Orchestra, featuring Maurice King, Betty Sheppard and Vi Burnside, the all-girl aggregation blows up a scintillating show, gay with gals and hot with syncopation, making it one of the season's outstanding bills.

Vi Burnside

Among the well-known stars are Una Mae Carlisle, glamorous pianist and composer of two outstanding hit recordings, "Walking by the River" and her recently released "Down Where the River Meets the Sea," and Ralph Cooper, star of stage ad screen, and a Baltimore favorite.

In addition to a line of 10 dancing dolls, direct from New York's famous Club Ebony, and Toby Winters, an exotic dancer who comes on with the daring, there are Dynamite Jefferson, often called the "Iron-Jawed Hercules" and Lonnie Johnson, romantic singing guitarist.

The screen attraction, "Blondie in the Dough," co-stars Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake in a riot of fun.

Long and Jackson at Cafe Society

NEW YORK (ANP) — Dancer Avon Long and Pianist Calvin Jackson opened last week at Cafe Society Downtown, joining the show which headlines Mildred Bailey. Dave Martin's orchestra, alternating with Pianist Jackson, continues to furnish the dance music.

Long will be remembered for his role as Sportin' Life in "Porgy and Bess." He was last seen on Broadway in "Memphis Bound," and has the featured dance role in Warner's movie, "Romance on the High Seas" which opens at the Strand Theatre this week.

Jackson, who is also an arranger and composer, has just returned from Hollywood where he played in all the major night clubs.

Stars in Story of Love and Duty

Belita and Preston Foster shown in a dramatic scene from "The Hunted," now playing the New Albert.

Excitement, Thrills Mark New Albert Screen Bill

Excitement prevails this week on the screen at the New Albert during the presentation of a triple-threat program including "The Hunted," "Thunderbolt" and "Climbing the Matterhorn."

The story of "The Hunted," co-starring Preston Foster and Belita, is that of a girl who has been sent to prison by her sweetheart, a policeman who believes her guilty of the crime of grand theft.

There is excitement, battle in the skies and great beauty in magnificent air views, to be seen in "Thunderbolt," a highly dramatic story of what men accomplished when they set out to strangle German might behind Casino, during the Italian campaign.

Breath-taking and exciting is the description for "Climbing the Matterhorn," one of the most dangerous feats in the whole range of mountain climbing in the Swiss Alps.

Voice of Romance at the Royal

Lonnie Johnson, the voice of romance, who is one of the headliners this week behind the footlights of the Royal Theatre.
