POULTRY NOTES.

Vigor Necessary For Laying

If neither cornfield nor orchard is available, give the pullets range over mowing fields after the grass has been cut for hay, or over the pasture land; the latter has special advantages if there are trees scattered here and there or if there is wood adjoining. The essential thing is that the pullets have liberal range, since ranging promotes body-growth, the developing of bone and muscle and building up of bodily strength and vigor, for these are essential for pullets that we want to have to do the best work on the nest.

It is only the pullets that come into the laying quarters in full bodily strength and vigor that have the necessary "staying power" to produce eggs continuously, that lay well through the late fall and early winter months, and then continue to lay steadily, until it is time to sell them off to market. Otherwise they go into the molt preparatory to growing their new winter suit of clothes.

It has been objected by some that there was much labor in caring for pullets that were spread out over a considerable range, but such is not the case where up-to-date feeding methods are employed; if one continued the old method of feeding three times a day there would be both time and labor expended in feeding.

The simple method of keeping the food before the growing pullets all the time and letting them help themselves at will reduces the labor to a minimum. By using field food hoppers, which hold a week's supply of food for each family, and refilling the hoppers once a week there is extremely little labor expended.

Kennedyville Items.

The wheat harvest is now over and farmers are in the midst of the hay harvest, and in a few days the noise of the thresher will be heard in our midst, and will tell us who was the nearest to being a true prophet in reference to the crop.

We regret to say our friend and brother, W. M. Clendeniel, is again in the hospital in Baltimore for a serious operation for the dread disease from which he has been suffering for some time. As yet we have not heard concerning the operation, but truly hope it may bring him the relief that he is seeking for, and that he may return home benefited.

Our church people are making some decided improvements to the lawn by the church in the removing of the honeysuckle hedge and grading. They also have ordered a new lighting system for the church, and hope to have the Pitner system working in about three weeks.

The following church service has been announced for Sunday next, July 6th: Sunday School, 9:30 A. M. Preaching, 10:30 A. M. and 8:30 P. M. by the pastor, Rev. Frank S. Cain. Christain Endeavor service, 8 P. M. The evening service will be closed promptly by nine o'clock.

Mr. Chas. Smith entertained on Sunday his two brothers and their families.

Mrs. L. A. Pennington and daughters spent the week-end with friends near Centreville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Weer are entertaining Mrs. Weer's mother and sister, Mrs. and Miss Hayes.

Mrs. J. A. Weigand, wife of Rev. J. A. Weigand, of Newark, N. J., is the guest of Mrs. Tilghman Shafer.

Quite a few children of this community have chicken pox, but all are getting along nicely.

In and Around Georgetown.

Mrs. Emma Jones and children, of Washington, D. C., have opened their pretty home, "Hide-Away," on the Sassafras for the summer.

Mrs. Harry Hamilton and Miss Anna Hamilton left Tuesday for a few weeks stay with relatives in Germantown and Philadelphia.

Miss Hattie Corkran, of Middletown, Del., has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Corkran, at their home in Galena.

Master Guy Moore and Miss Julia Moore, of the Galena M. E. Parsonage, left last night for Baltimore, where they will spend some time with their grandmother, Mrs. Bowen.

Mrs. Walter R. Woodall and little daughter, Ellen, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, near Betterton.

Miss Agnes McCauley, of Philadelphia, is at home for the summer months with her mother, Mrs. Eva McCauley, at Galena.

Misses Helen and Elizabeth Jones, little daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Jones, of Galena, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mr. Thos. Jones, of Kennedyville.

Mrs. Myers and little daughter, Katharine, of Wilmington, Delaware, have returned from a week's visit with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Lloyd, of Fredericktown.

Mrs. Richard Lockwood has as her guest, her cousin, Miss Della Woodall, of Wilmington, Del.

Miss Hattie and Ella Cockrane are visiting their sister, Mrs. Ralph Van Dyke, near Kennedyville.

Rev. Ollie H. Connelly, of Christianna, Del., visited Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dempsey, of Galena, one day last week.

Mr. Franklin Cabel, who for the past eight years has been mail carrier between Lambson Station and Georgetown postoffice, has discontinued the work, and Mr. William Mace, of Fredericktown, now has the route.

Massey Items.

Toghwogh Tribe No. 169, Improved Order of Red Men, held an election of their Chiefs for the ensuing six months at their last council meeting. The raised Chiefs are as follows: Sachem, Thos. C. Roe, Sr.; Senior Sagamore, F. Lester Newnam; Junior Sagamore, Bartus Wilkins; Prophet, John O. Shelton, Sr.; 1st Sannap, J. Roy Moore; 2nd Sannap, Cleveland Justis; Warriors, Walter Redman, E. M. Newnam, H. H. Darnell and Sam'l T. J. Starkey; Braves, Geo. R. Moffett, Chas. H. Humphrey, Chas. F. Baker and L. H. Murphy; and the hold overs, who are only elected first of every year, are Chief of Records, W. T. Medford, and Keeper of Wampum, E. Thomas Massey. After the election, Great Sachem Walker and Past Great Sachem Townsend from Baltimore, and Past Great Sachem McGraw, and Great Sannap Sloam from Elkton, gave the boys a very interesting talk. Say, we have a splendid Tribe and making a fine showing, and it is now the time for all Palefaces to take the step and become one of our Tribe. May it be so. The news also has reached us that our good fellowmen of Chestertown are trying to get together a Tribe of Red Men; and we wish to take theis means that they may be successful, and if they will give it their attention, and do the right thing, we wish to say whoever becomes a Red Man with them will never regret the step they took when they joined the Tribe.

Mr. Leonard Plummer has rented the farm at Worten Point now tenanted by Mr. Joseph Porter's son-in-law. It belongs to the Kent Land Company.
