GATEWAY to GAYWAY

By GEORGE D. TYLER

Theophilus has put the finesse on JONES'S revelers to discourage the bringing in of hip-pocket bottles. Strictly a subscribed rendezvous with a good main-stem following that goes for that hot quintet, Piney Brown's blues and the attractive Toni Palmer, canary.

Charles Ventura's combo drew well at the ASTORIA despite the tricky weather. Natch the Fourth brought out a lot of extra strollers.

Willie Jones's deep, rich baritone voice is a natural. On the week end he parades his song hits at the popular COMEDY, along with insinuating rhythm by the chic Johnson belle.

Local Fans at Gamby's

For the second week end, GAMBY'S is offering a cast of local favorites, including the singing of Oliver Travers, the po' man's Billy Eckstein; the hard-hitting Baby Sensum, shaker, tapper, singer (or what have you), and the tapping Snooks Patterson, an old favorite of ye stroll.

Note to J. C. Bailey, that smiling and popular nitelifer and ALHAMBRA co-owner: 'Have put machine in motion for an early tavern-owners' meeting."

ON THE CUFF: Pauline Forbes, Celebrity Club hostess, informs me that "Skin" is sojourning in Los Angeles. Looking for an ideal location for his venture. . . Beg pardon—I meant Joyce Bradley, formerly of the Ritz, now at York Grill with Louise and Margaret.

I wonder—Nora Royal cashier now on maternity leave, avows we are naughty, but nice.

The Public Okays the Frolic

The FROLIC and most of the quieter side spots are air-conditioned, and the public is really going for it.

Church Anderson's new trio, currently at the ORLEANS, comes on like gang-busters and should fall into some select sites following their engagement here where they supply the accompaniments for Teddye, Orgie and Bettye.

The Three Bees and a Honey, terrific local foursome, a sensation at Dykes. . . La Churchill and the Four Tunes (her recording backerupperS) open at Bali (D.C.). . . Nina Mae McKinney among those now available.

Watch Out, Here

The boys at the SPHINX sort of taking it easy—but thinking. They figure out more stunts and new angles than a dozen other guys. Just say "where to go" map, tagged. Stop, has hit the burg, sponsored by Brown and Griffin, a duo of young printers. . . Looks good. Had a press get-together at the PRESTON last week end, and a man-size crowd was there.

East-side visits included elbow-bending with Roy at the Hideaway; Uncle Joe Knight at his Madison Cafe.

I do believe Mamye is going to reform and let the gang at BERNIE'S see more of her on Week ends.

Hepcats Are Saying

The hep cats are buzzing that the combo at the KNOTTY PINE is a real gone bunch of young riffers—groovey.

If the BLLC—the gents that give the final decision—back up a certain lieutenant in tapping out the 1017; shame on them. Heavy sugar was invested here, and you can believe me when I say the management is using every precaution to stay within the law as well as not hurt the patrons' feelings.

Bill Lindsay says the AVENUE can still take it, and his employees must eat, so the only nite that they will close is Tuesday. A host of good talent and music is always on tap.

Howard St. pic theatre is showing an all-sepia starring bills. Tenants of "Sepia Cinderella fame"; but you no can go.

Michael Graham, former Comedy Club feature, airs amateurs via WINX (D.C.) on a wife from Dyke's Stockade every Wednesday, from 9 until 11 p.m., with announcer Harold (the House That) Jack Built) Jackson.

Bathers Relax in Breezes at Carr's Beach

Welcome relief from the sweltering heat of the city was found by these bathers who enjoyed Sunday at popular Carr's Beach. Adding to the enjoyment of the day was the regular broadcast of music for all those who desired a change from the sound of winds and waves. This group is shown taking advantage of this added feature.

15-Bed Ward at Franklin Square Hospital Supervised by Freedmen's Graduates

Doctors to Be Hired After Expansion; Annex Personnel Headed by Mrs. Virginia Smith

Unique in this phase of hospital administration, the 15-bed colored ward of Franklin Square Hospital is under the direct supervision of a colored staff of graduate nurses. The personnel of the ward, housed in the hospital annex at Fayette and Calhoun Sts., includes Mrs. Virginia M. Smith, supervisor, two assistants, and three nurses' aides.

Mrs. Smith accepted the post on June 6, 1947. She is a graduate of Freedmen's Hospital in Washington and did private nursing until she took over the reins at Franklin Square.

Served in Detroit

The other nurses are Mrs. Mattie Gelmore, also a graduate of Freedmen's, who spent some time at the Receiving Hospital in Detroit and who gave two years service to the war; and Miss Mary L. Gross, a graduate of Dixie Hospital at Hampton, Va.

The nurses's aides include Mrs. L. Robinson, Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Mayfield.

Unless they have private physicians, the patients are attended by white staff physicians. However, colored doctors are expected to be employed with the expansion of a building expansion program within the next year or two.

Harry E. Karr, chairman of the hospital board's executive committee, expressed hope of obtaining public funds to build another wing to the building, to provide more and better facilities.

Lack of Space a Problem

"Our problem now is lack of space," he explained. "We are much too congested. But we realize the situation, and our desire, when we get more space, is to give our colored patrons the best service possible with their own doctors and nurses."

In addition to the nursing staff, the hospital has 102 colored employees in maintenance service. Some 74 white workers are similarly employed.

The efficient work of the Annex nursing staff is highly praised by Miss Jean Hand, superintendent of the hospital; and members of the board of directors. Howard W. Jackson, former Mayor of Baltimore, is president of the board.

Insisted on Co-operation

In an article which appeared in the December issue of "Round the Square," the hospital nurses' magazine, Mrs. Smith points out that when she accepted the supervisory position "there was a definite understanding that I must have 'tools' to work with if I were to put the Annex on the map.

"These were granted me, and my work began.

"We have worked together in the interest of the patients and encouraged criticism, good and bad. To date I have received approximately 200 and discharged 200 patients.

"For some reason, our patients always return to visit the Annex personnel.

"I chuckle now when I look back to the day when I was first taken to the Annex. I was embarrassed and strange, but now the short corridor is familiar to me, the New Territory is the most loved section of the institution."

Crowded Accommodations

Spotlessly clean, airy, well-lighted with walls painted soft pastel shades, the Annex provides painfully crowded accommodations for a five-bed male ward, four-bed female ward, a two-bed semi-private room, and two private rooms, as well as the supervisor's desk.

In one of the unoccupied private rooms, a crib was set up because there is no children's ward.

Emergency Room Hums

Hub of activity at the hospital is the accident room where patients are treated indiscriminately. In 13,987 cases handled during last year, the hospital was reimbursed for only 20%, leaving 80% unpaid.

As stipulated in a hospital pamphlet entitled "Good Will," some patients are unable to pay at all, or only in part and for them special provision is made.

"They are admitted or treated without charge to themselves, and every type of patient, free or part pay, is welcomed, regardless of race, creed or color."

In a booklet containing the annual report, is the statement, "Each patient, regardless of race, creed or ability to pay is an individual worthy of the finest care and treatment."

Founded in 1896

Named after the city square it faces, the hospital's history dates back to 1896, when nine neighborhood doctors, finding the need for such an institution in that area, obtained a charter and made a modest start.

Throughout its period of improvement and expansion, the hospital has remained self sustaining, but it never has had any funds to spare.

The hospital has made no public appeal for funds during the past 25 years, and it has never been heavily endowed, its total endowment now being about $50,000.

In 1936, the four-story building known as the Annex was built with a Federal loan of $185,000. The loan is being repaid in full.

Kept Its Independence

Half of it might have been acquired as a free grant had the hospital agreed to accept State control, but it preferred to continue as a voluntary community institution.

Admitting that there is room for improvement to meet the unprecedented demands for service, the hospital has plans to build a new four-story building, with additional operating rooms and 75 more beds.

Board members are:

Howard W. Jackson, president; J. Wallace Kenney, vice president; Bruce Helfrich, treasurer; Eldridge W. Young, secretary; Harry E. Karr, chairman, executive committee;

Lewis M. Bacon Jr., C. Prevost Boyce, William E. Ferguson, John C. Holmes, Joseph P. Healy, Claude B. Heller, Jesse J. McNeill, John T. Menzies, William A. Mitchell, Frederick C. Rodgers, Jay Robert Tubman and W. George Wittig.

Franklin Square Hospital Practices Democracy by Integrating Nurses

These pictures show the accident room and women's ward at Franklin Square Hospital, Calhoun and Fayette Sts., where a colored supervisor and staff of nurses have charge of the 15-bed ward in the hospital annex building. The ward is bright, airy and spotlessly clean, but very small and crowded. Hospital board members say colored physicians will be employed when the facilities are enlarged.

Youth Who Led Boy Astray Held

Severely criticizing a 17-year-old boy accused of influencing a younger boy to embark upon a career of crime, Magistrate Fitzpatrick held John Cunningham of 311 W. Biddle St. under $500 bail, Thursday, on a larceny charge.

The youth was accused of stealing a metal box containing $24 worth of miscellaneous articles, including a set of false teeth.

The box was taken from the home of Mack Rosmond, the youth's uncle, who lives at 1005 N. Linden Ave. A 12-year-old boy, who was said to have been with Cunningham on the mission, was held for Juvenile Court action.
