HUTCHINS WINS STATE AMATEUR OPEN

R. Reese Riddick, Second; Crawford of D.C. Third

Washingtonians Sweep First and Second Places in 2nd Flight; Club Off to N.J.

Carlos Hutchins of the Monumental Golf Club won the Maryland State Open amateur championships Sunday in the 27-hole title play held at Carroll Park, turning in a 38-76-112 to finish ahead of Reese Riddick, who carded a 39-75-114.

Sam Stewart and Willie (Little Willie) Adams took the lead in the nine-hole qualifying round, shooting a two over par 37, but the going was too rough and they finished far out of the money, however, they shared medalist honors.

Crawford Upsets Tilghman

Fighting for third place, R. Crawford of Washington came in tied with A. Tilghman of Baltimore with a 117. Crawford won in the playoff.

In the second flight, Lester Lewis and Herman Scott of Washington carded a 45-76-118 and 43-78-121, respectively, to win first and second places.

Maurice Jones Third

Baltimore was not to be denied in this flight because Maurice Jones came in with a 43-81-124 for third-place honors.

In the third flight, Martin Cook, Baltimore, came up to the 19th hole with a one-point deficit, only to take the lead at the 11th, which he maintained throughout the remaining 16 holes to capture a hotly-contested first place with a 45-79-124.

Jersey Golfer Second

Thomas Mitchell of the Gotham Golf Club, New Jersey, stubbornly gave ground to Cook and placed second with a 45-80-125. Buddy Patterson, only two strokes behind the leader, took third place with a 44-82-126.

Sam Chamberlain of Washington turned in a 48-82-130 to take first place in the fourth flight. Edgar Porter, runner-up, scored 47-88-135.

Gaskins Also Winner

Jerome Gaskins, who came in tied two successive times with C. Lewis of Washington and H. Lyles of Detroit, finally wore them down with his accurate chipping to the pin, thus giving Baltimore a winner.

The Monumental Club will be hosts of the Shady Rest Club in New Jersey on Sunday.

Championship All-Star Team Gets Awards

Something to Point to

Frank Hutchins points with pride to his high score of 189, which broke a two-year-old record for bowlers at the Strand Alleys.

Hutchins Rolls 189 Without Leave for New Bowling Record

Frank Hutchins, an employee of the Glenn L. Martin Co., captain of the "Bombers" team in the Summer "C" class circuit, set a new record for local bowlers to shoot at recently at the Strand Alleys.

Hutchins shot a 189 to top by one pin, the previous record held for the last two years by Calvin Stanley of the Strand team.

He started his high game with 10 in the first box, struck in the second, spared in the third, and threw a double-header strike in the fourth and fifth boxes before running into trouble.

Trouble in Sixth

In the sixth, his roll on the first count on his "double" brace chopped through for four. He counted for nine on his next roll to bring his fifth box count up to 93. He got 10 in the sixth box, spared in the seventh, but missed striking in the eighth when the nine pin held him to a nine-count.

He picked up the one pin "leave" for a spare in the eighth, struck in the ninth and tenth, counted seven on his strike in the ninth to give him a 169 count. He then picked up the three-pin "leave" of his extra frame roll-off for a total pinfall of 189.

This is believed the highest roll without any "leave." That is a game rolled without leaving any pins for the complete 10 boxes, plus the extra roll-off frames.

Harry Wheeler furnished the opposition. Stanley bowled his high game, 188, against Wheeler on opening night of the league in 1946.

Softball Entry Deadline July 20

The second half of the Playground 139 Softball League season will begin on Friday, July 23. Deadline for entries is set for July 20.

The league boasts three divisions: Junior, intermediate, and unlimited.

Westside Takes Twin Bill Over Birds and Eastside

A late rally started by George Price, who pinch-hit for Harris in the ninth inning, led the Westside Eagles of the Monumental Baseball League to a 9-6 victory over the Bluebird A.C. on Sunday. Johnny Dorsey, tall Eagle right-hander, relieved Davis in the sixth, held the Bluebirds hitless and struck out nine men in the three remaining frames.

In the second game, the Eagles collected 17 hits off two Eastside pitchers to score a 10-0 victory. A home run by Fields in the third, a triple by Patterson in the sixth, and a triple by Jimmy Paxton in the seventh highlighted the slugfest.

The Eagles won four games in the last week, defeating the Dorsey All-Stars, 9-0; Northeastern A.C., 10-3; the Bluebirds, 9-6, and Eastside, 10-9.

The Eagles would like to schedule games with any teams desiring to play them. To schedule games, contact Mr. Modlin at Madison 2331-J, Monday through Saturday, 5 to 9 p.m.

WILLIAMS KO'S BEAU JACK

Williams Stops the Beau Cold in Philly Title Bout

Crowd of 12,952 Thrills to Fast Action as Champion Beats Down His Challenger

By FRANKLIN BROWER

PHILADELPHIA

The merciful intervention of the referee halted a veritable storm of leather, saved Beau Jack from virtual annihilation and capped a successful defense of his lightweight crown by Ike Williams at Shibe Park, Monday night, before a crowd of 12,952.

Sagging in a neutral corner, the Beau, beaten into a crimson bulk, was as helpless as a dead rabbit when Referee Charlie Daggert, braving Williams's flailing fists, hurled himself between the two fighters and covered the former Georgia bootblack with protection at 33 seconds of the sixth round.

Daggert acted only after Williams, fearful of hurting his weteran opponent too much, made a mute appeal for official intervention. At the peak of his furious assault, Ike stopped, turned to see whether Daggert was contemplating halting the fight, and when he found the referee in obvious determinna, he returned to the attack. Seconds later, Daggert intervened.

Spectators Relieved

The slim Trenton slugger's crushing blows had the most distaxt spectator mincing, and the onlookers were relieved when the arbiter interceded.

Although Jack said he wasn't hurt too badly, his handlers were far from dissatisfied with the referee's action.

After the fight, Williams, a 3-1 favorite, told reporters he had let up his attack in the sixth round because he didn't want to hit the Beau "around the head any more."

The technical knockout left Williams's supremacy in lightweight ranks undoubted and dashed all of Jack's hopes of becoming the first man to win the lightweight crown three times.

Lost to Montgomery

The 27-year-old Augusta fighter twice lost the diadem to Bob Montgomery, whom Williams beat for the title back last summer. The fight, programmed for 15 rounds, was fought at a fast pace from the opening gong, and, although the Beau was badly beaten at battle's end, he had given Williams's supporters cause for worry in the early rounds.

Weaving into the sharp-shooting Ike, Jack harassed the champion with everything from left jabs to right boloo, and at several points even the glum-faced Williams appeared more than slightly perturbed.

Williams Finds Range

Williams began to find the range in the third round, but his right hand blows did not have the authority to check his young challenval. Not infrequently, Williams's sports were met by such blows that made him break ground. By the fourth round, Jack had slowed up preceptably. But ringsiders were not able to tell whether he was pacing himself or whether Williams's sharp, short-distances blows were beginning to have a telling effect.

The Beau's sixth-round fate, however, was foreshadowed in the fifth, as Williams's jabs and hooks found his rival an easy mark. Jack was never in distress during the period, but it was clear that Williams was cutting him down, slowly but surely. The roof fell in at the start of the sixth.

The round opened with an insignificant exchange of blows and then Williams exploded with a left hook that sent the Jack reeling against the ropes. Within a minute, Williams was on his man, winging away. A barrage of blows drove the Beau into a neutral corner. Another robbed him of his defensive baggage.

Only the ring riggings were holding him upright when Daggert called a halt to the milling.

While Daggert led Williams away, Jack stood in the corner blinking his eyes. He was led to his corner, and, after receiving a working over, was able to talk into the radio announcer's mike.

Both fighters scaled 134 pounds, and this was given by some observers as probably one reason for Jack's downfall. During a stint in the Army, the Beau ballooned into a welterweight and this marked the first time in nearly four years that he had worked his weight down to within the lightweight limit.

The title defense was Williams's second in seven weeks. He decisioned Enrique Balanzo in Los Angeles last May 25. It was also Ike's 16th consecutive triumph and marked the first time that Beau had been stopped in more than 80 bouts.

Dorsey Lay, local welterweight, outgunned Speedy Lawrence, a fellow-townman, in the six-round semi-windup.

In other bouts, Kenny Harris, local light-heavyweight, tko'ed Elton Evans, also of this city, in five rounds; James Harvey of Green Mimms, Philadelphia, in six, and Bobby Bell, New York feather weight, decisioned Jimmy Sulla while.

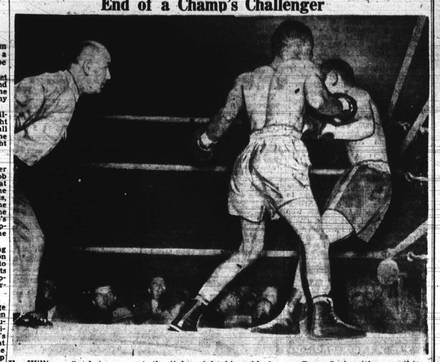
End of a Champ's Challenger



Ike Williams (back to camera), the lightweight king, bludgeons Beau Jack with everything but the rum book, to end the fifth title scrap in the Philly's Shibe Park Monday night. As Beau, two-time title-holder, game but completely helpless lolled on ropes, Ike looked around at Referee Charlie Daggert as if to ask was it necessary to kill his foe. Daggert finally stepped in to stop the bout.

Giants Clash With Cubans Tonight at Bugle Field

Meet Black Yankees in Double Bill Sunday; Grays Here for Tuesday Game

After their successful bid against two Negro American League teams, the Baltimore Elite Giants renew their National League championship campaign with four league contests in the next five days at Bugle Field.

The Elites open the week-end series tonight (Friday) against the New York Cubans, engage the New York Black Yankees in a twin bill on Sunday, then encounter the tough Homestead Grays in a nocturnal clash on Tuesday night.

The Elites, who won the first-half title by a slim half-game margin, are also in front in the second-half, having scored three games to two in their first series with the Newark Eagles. Only the Philly Stars, who have played but one game, hold a better record, while the Cubans, tonight's opponents, have a similar standing.

The Elites are also in front in club batting and fielding, with collective averages of 293 and .960 in hitting and fielding, respectively. Lester Lockett, cleanup batter, is sparking the locals at bat with a lofty .377 average.

The tough week-end slate will test the Elites' hurling staff, but Manager Jesse Walker is ready with his aces. He plans to use Jonas Gaines, Bob Romby, Joe Black and Bill Byrd in the series, and each is ready to give his best.

Tuesday night's battle with the Grays will renew the torrid scramble the two teams had for the first-half honors which did not end until the final game. The Grays have been hitting with surprising vigor recently, with Luke Easter and Buck Leonard pacing the club with frequent home runs.

Finos Extend Winning Streak Against Gents

The Lucky Strikes collected six hits for as many runs to defeat the Gordon Carton Company, 6-0, adding the third shout out to their list of straight wins. The game took on a peculiar angle in that the Gordon Carton Company had 19 men on base during seven innings without able to push home one in for score.

In the second game of the Druid League the Monarchs defeated Crown Cork and Seal, 9-7.

In the Druid Sunday League the Finos continued their unbroken string of victories, defeating the Gents, 10-4.

The Bisons took a 4-2 decision from the strong Ritz A.C. J. Cottman on the mound for the Bisons pit
