St. Matthew's Lutheran Church to Mark 10th Year on Sunday

REV. MARMADUKE N. CARTER

St. Matthews Lutheran Church, Druid Hill Ave. and Robert St., will mark its 10th anniversary on Sunday. A special service will be held at 9:30 p.m., at which the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Marmaduke N. Carter of Chicago.

Brother of James C. Carter, business manager of Morgan State College, the Rev. Mr. Carter is a former Baltimorean, the son of Mrs. Susie Carter. He has gone on numerous lecture tours in the interest of St. Philips Church and will be seen.

Dedicated 19 years ago, St. Matthews Church once held its services in the Druid Hill Ave. Branch YMCA. The present pastor is the Rev. H. J. Lehman. Former pastors have been the Revs. Joseph Schlichting and Oscar T. Smallwood, respectively.

Rev. Shepard's Prayer, 2nd for Democrats

PHILADELPHIA — (ANP) — The Rev. Marshall Shepard, present Recorder of Deeds in Washington, mounted the speaker's platform at Convention Hall here to pray for the second time before a convention in this city.

The last time Shepard prayed here before the Democratic convention in 1940, Sen. Cotton Ed Smith of South Carolina, walked from the convention as the minister began.

In a brief and stirring prayer, the Rev. Mr. Shepard said:

"Oh, Lord; our God, how excellent is thy name in all the earth. Thou has been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world, even from everlasting thou art God.

"Thy love divine hath led us in the past. In this free land by these our lot is cast. Be thou our ruler, guardian, guide and stay. Thy word our law, thy path our chosen way.

Prayer for Guidance

"We thank thee that thou doth inspire the hearts of men and direct the affairs of men and nations. May we of this convention avail ourselves to this leadership of the spirit that will enable us to do that which is well pleasing in thy sight.

"We pray for our country that we may be worthy of the great responsibility of leadership that is ours in a world that gropes for peace and freedom. We pray for our leaders in these crucial days that are upon us. We pray for the President of the United States and for his family.

"All men may be as brethren own. Yet dare at need to stand alone. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Ex-Pupils Payne Teachers

The staff of the Payne AME Church Vacation School formed the nucleus of its student body not many years ago. Miss Gwyndola Howe, Coppin Teachers College student, is the director, assisted by Miss Doris Garrett.

Teachers are: Misses Marilyn Soden, Barbara Garrett, Juanita Williamson, Mrs. Catherine Costley, Alphonso Reddick and John Holt.

Morning Bible study hour is led by the pastor, the Rev. C. Baker Pearle. Recreation periods are held on the beautiful church lawn.

The school will close at 8 p.m. on July 30, with a special program and exhibit of pupils' work.

IN OUR CHURCHES

By LOUISE K. HINES

The Rev. C. Baker Pearle, pastor of Payne AME Church, will speak in Druid Hill Park at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday, in another of the summer park community services sponsored by the Council of Churches.

These events, held simultaneously in five parks, are staged in the area usually used for band concerts.

Several weeks ago, the speaker was the Rev. E. W. White of Providence Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Pearle may also be heard at 8 a.m. on Sunday over the Radio Station WBAL when he will preach on "Four Phases of Christian Giving." The Young People's Choir of the church will sing.

Three District Meets Set

To date, announcements have been received of three district conferences. In session since Wednesday is the West Baltimore District of the Washington Annual Methodist Conference, will close out its business on Sunday at Mt. Zion Church in Charlestown, W.Va. The Revs. Kelly Jackson and L. A. Dyson are respectively, superintendent and host pastor.

The North Baltimore District Methodists will begin their four-day session on Wednesday at St. Luke Church in Reisterstown, where the Rev. Mathias Williams is pastor. District superintendent is the Rev. F. F. King.

Meeting in Easton, Md., Aug. 3 and 4, will be the Eastern District of the Baltimore Annual AME Conference. One of the two succeeding days will be the District Sunday School Convention.

St. James Sends 20 to Va.

Memorial Baptist Church will observe its annual Men's Day on Sunday. Speakers there last Sunday were the Revs. W. H. Skipper and W. L. Johnson.

Some 30 members of St. James PE Church, 13 of them children, left on Monday to attend the St. Paul Conference being held at Virginia State College. Included were:

Misses and Mesdames Georgia Boston, Mae Carrie Brown, Lillian Jones, Che Diggs, Rosa L. Finney, Elinora M. Gaston, Ethel H. Beeney Grange, Eunice Hall, Mattie Heath, Thelma Jackson, Anna Martin, Rebecca Mills, Clara Overton, Florence Robinson, Margaret Woodward.

Elaine Zen, Alma France, Clara Jackson, Cynthia Lawson, Joyce Lawson, Lillian Lawson and Rita Young. Also Ralph Palmer, Robert Bennett, Warren Hayman, William Marshall, Damon F. Mills and Ronald C. Watts.

"Quotable Quotes" from the "Messenger" of Emmanuel C.C. Church: "Statistics from the Federal Bureau of Investigation prove that the Sunday school is one of the most powerful incentives for better community life in the world today."

"The Ideal practice and proving ground for democratic theories is the Sunday school where the element of compulsion has been removed."

The Rev. G. Oliver Wing of Star of Bethlehem AME Church in Mt. Winans, will preach Sunday morning on "The Love of Fame." Mrs. Dora Carey is superintendent of the Sunday school that is set for 2 p.m., to be followed by ACE meeting at 5 p.m. and evening services.

Guest pastor on next Friday night will be the Rev. Harrison J. Bryant of St. John AME Church.

The Rev. Roscoe C. Williams of Broadneck, Md., will preach on Sunday morning at Sharp St. Methodist Church. He will be the last of seven guest speakers there during June and July during the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Joshua O. Williams who is studying at the University of California.

Rounding out a series of 7 sermons, the Rev. E. A. Haynes of Ames Methodist Church will take as his subject Sunday morning, "Jesus's Seven-fold Plan of the Gospel."

St. John AME Church will hold an outdoor youth program at 6:30 p.m. on Sunday when Frederick Puller, Morgan State College student, will speak on "Christian Fortitude."

In charge of the service will be Miss Ann Calhoun. Music will be offered by the Vashti Singers. The Rev. Harrison J. Bryant is pastor.

Rev. Baddie Visits N.Y.

Leadenhall Baptist Church will hold a lawn fete there tonight (Friday) and Saturday which will feature the sale of refreshments and straw rides to Patapsco Park.

In the absence of the Rev. J. Timothy Boddie, the Rev. E. W. Williams of First Baptist Church in Fairfield, preached on Sunday morning and evening at the New Shiloh Baptist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Boddie returned to his home in New Rochelle, N.Y., where he served on the 60th anniversary program of Bethesda Baptist Church.

Ministers Hear Plea

Speaking this week to the Baptist Ministers' Conference, Miss Ellena Taylor of Unity Baptist Church urged ministerial support of the Young People's Department of the United Baptist Missionary Convention.

The regular sermon at the conference was by the Rev. N. H. Tayer of Mt. Zion Baptist Church, and the Sunday School lesson was by the Rev. T. C. Reddie.

The group was invited to attend a camp meeting on Aug. 1 at the church of the Rev. M. Jones in Harmons, Md.

Churches to Lend Aid to Anti-Draft Drive

NEW YORK—A day of prayer will be observed Sunday in colored, white and interracial churches throughout the country in behalf of men 18 to 25, who will refuse to register for the draft because of racial segregation in the Armed Forces.

The announcement was made Thursday, by A. Philip Randolph, chairman of the League for Non-Violent Civil Disobedience Against Military Segregation, who stated that 150 clergymen had united to lend "divine guidance" to young men who will act in obedience to conscience and the spirit of racial brotherhood.

District Methodists Plan Session in Reisterstown

Taking as its theme, "Our Faith," the 30th session of the North Baltimore District Conference of the Methodist Church will convene at the St. Luke Methodist Church in Reisterstown, Md., Wednesday through Sunday.

District superintendent is the Rev. Fairfax F. King. The sessions will be concerned not only with secular but also with lay activities, programs of the Women's Society of Christian Service and the Methodist Men.

Among highlight of the opening day will be the district superintendent's report, at 10:45 a.m., to be followed at 3 p.m. by an address by Bishop Alexander P. Shaw. At 4 p.m. the Youth and Adult Fellowship Hour will be observed.

Anniversaries to Be Marked

The Christian Workers School is set for 9 a.m. on Thursday. There will be a symposium at 10:45 a.m. on the conference theme, at which the Revs. M. M. Jefferson Sr., C. M. Seotl, Ely L. Lofton and M. Jefferson Jr. are to speak.

Mrs. Alexander P. Shaw will speak at 2 p.m., on the anniversary program of the Women's Society of Christian Service. The Methodist Youth Fellowship will observe its anniversary at 4 p.m. The Board of Missions and Church Extension will hold its service at 8 p.m.

The Rev. T. N. Hodges is to preach at the latter service. This will be followed by a vocal recital by Rufus Abernathy, presented by the Ministers' Wives. A popularity contest will end at the session.

Reports to Be Given

Another session of the Christian Worker's School is set for 9 a.m. Friday. During the conference session, at 10:45 a.m., the work of the Board of Education and the N. M. Carroll Home will be discussed.

At noon, the Rev. C. C. Nelson will preach. J. H. Touchstone and the Revs. R. E. Burnett and Ely L. Lofton will discuss "New Legislation adopted by the 1948 General Conference," at 2 p.m.

Factors in the rural church program will be presented at 4 p.m., by the Rev. I. A. Moye. Layman's Hour, at 8 p.m., will have as the speaker, the Rev. Walter Sewell.

On Saturday, the Christian Workers' School will hold its closing session. The Rev. M. M. Jefferson Jr. will serve as discussion leader of a symposium at 10:45 a.m. on "The Christian View of Funerals."

Outing in Piney Grove

Following the sermon at noon, by the Rev. J. J. Barnes, there will be an outing at Piney Grove.

At 9:30 a.m., Sunday, a model school will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Moye. The host pastor, the Rev. Matthias Williams, will preside at the morning service, at which the Rev. Mr. King will preach.

The Rev. Mr. Lofton will preach at 3 p.m., and the evening sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Albert H. Hammond.

Bishop Shaw, Wife to Visit Europe

As an alternate-delegate to the World Council of Churches meeting in Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 22 to Sept. 4, Bishop A. Preston Shaw, accompanied by Mrs. Shaw, will sail for Europe on Aug. 6.

To Visit France, England

He has promised to correspond with the AFRO about events of the trip and conditions abroad.

Delegates are being sent by the Baltimore Area of the Methodist Church over which the bishop presides.

The Shaws expect to spend some time visiting England, before the convention, and France, after the meeting.

Rev. Lehman to Attend Lutheran Conference

Representing the colored Lutheran Churches, the Rev. H. J. Lehman, pastor of St. Matthews Lutheran Church, Druid Hill Ave. and Robert St., will attend the Synodical Conference in Milwaukee, Aug. 3 to 6.

The Rev. Mr. Lehman will also attend the Immanuel District Conference of the denomination in Concord, N.C., Aug. 19 to 22.

HAB Credit Union Starts Operation

The Credit Union of the local Housing Authority, organized June 30, started business this week with an organization meeting in the Community Hall of Latrobe Homes, attended by 100 employees, including Oliver C. Winston, executive director; Simon E. Sobeloff, general counselor; and the Rev. Dr. Don F. Fenn, commission chairman.

The group was addressed by Dr. Fenn who stated that the Commission had been working to make the Housing Authority a model union of employees as a group is one and realized that the co-operative principal means whereby this goal may be achieved.

He stressed the fact that formation of the Credit Union evidenced the Authority, and he wished the new enterprise every success.

They Solved Segregation Problem Easily

By STAFF CORRESPONDENT

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. —GI's of the 307th Army Ground Forces Band (above) solved the "problem" of segregation in the Armed Forces here, last week, by simply working together as soldiers, without regard to race.

Only mixed unit in the 79th Infantry Reserve Division during summer field training, the band received more praise than other units, having been commended by Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall, as well as by Brig. Gen. Robert Wilson, division commander.

Whites Loomed Group Readily

The band is directed by M/Sgt. George W. Pondor of 1041 Christian St., Philadelphia, and is normally an all-colored unit.

However, three white soldier-musicians arrived at the encampment for summer training on July 10 and were told that the only band was colored and that they could serve with it if they wanted to.

Without hestitation the soldiers joined the band and pitched in to make it one of the division's smoothest-functioning units.

The three white soldiers are S/Sgt. Lee Weigand of 2526 W. Oakdale St., T/4 Joseph V. Georgi of 6331 Vine St. and T/4 Agostino P. DeBella of 6333 Vine St., all Philadelphia.

The band members lived in the same barracks and ate in the consolidated mess hall with the rest of the soldiers.

Others on Band's Roster

Other members of the band practically all from the city of Brotherly Love, are:

T/Sgt. Reginald A. Franklin, 1421 S. 20th St.; Sgt. James Burnett Jr., 1238 S. 21st St.; Sgt. Harry M. Campbell, 451 Robel St., Bethlehem, Pa.; T/4 Jerome L. Jones, 2043 Watkins St.; T/4 Robert O. Jeffers, 2150 N. 12th St.; T/4 Fred McArthur, 225 Madison St.; Sgt. Roy L. Hines, 1724 N. 17th St.; T/5 Leroy Lewis, 2000 Lambert St.; T/5 Jerome L. Lawrence, 2827 Olney St.; T/5 Winston O. Williams, 1319 N. 40th St.; T/5 Jacob A. Marsh, 1937 N. 23rd St.; T/5 Howard C. Cunningham, 107 Odgen Pl.; T/5 Robert L. Jones, 702 S. 19th St.;

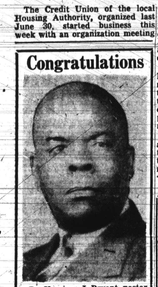
Congratulations



Dr. Harrison J. Bryant, pastor of St. John A.M.E. Church, Baltimore, Maryland, congratulates the A.M.E. Church upon the election of the great class of 1948, Bishops L. H. Henningway, D. O. Walker, Joseph Gomen, I. H. Bonner, W. R. Wilkes and C. A. Gibbs. These men are great scholars and able Churchmen who will help their Senior Episcopal Fathers safely guide the destiny of the African Methodist Episcopal Church through the critical years which lie ahead.

Having received a substantial vote for the Bishopric in Kansas City, Kan., Dr. Bryant and his many friends feel that he will be among those who will be elevated to the Episcopacy in 1952.

Jewish Congress Hails High Court

Rulings 'Most Liberal', Murphy's Record Best

NEW YORK — The race relations decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court during its last term were the most liberal of any term in recent Supreme Court history, Shad Polier, vice-president of the American Jewish Congress, announced this week in making public a detailed analysis of the decisions prepared by the Congress's commission on law and social action.

Of the nine cases before the Court, involving constitutional or eight resulted in rulings extending Constitutional guarantees, Mr. Polier said.

Only in the second Oklahoma Law School case, involving a case in which the Court declined to rule on the matter of law segregation was tantamount to discrimination, did the protection of civil rights for minorities receive a setback, he added.

Murphy Record Held Best

The American Jewish Congress report also analyzed the individual voting records of the nine justices, classifying them on a basis of a favorable vote on a narrow basis and an unfavorable vote.

The best individual record, according to this analysis, was that of Mr. Justice Murphy, who had six broad favorable and three narrow favorable votes in the nine cases.

The worst individual record were those of Justices Reed and Jackson, who each had one broad favorable, two narrow favorable and four unfavorable votes.

What Cases Covered

The cases involved:

Exclusion of colored persons from a Motel; the Oyama, the anti-Japanese-California Land Law; the two Oklahoma Law School cases; involving a segregated school; a Michigan steamship company which denied access to a colored person;

Religious instruction in public schools during "released time" in Champaign, Ill.; the four restrictive covenant cases; and the California Statute denying commercial fishing licenses to aliens ineligible to citizenship.

79H INF. DIV. IN FIELD: Pa. Reserves Training at Indiantown Gap

By RUFUS WELLS

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. — Heavy gunfire will echo through Pennsylvania's quiet countryside, this week, as the crack 79th Infantry Reserve Division winds up its summer field training.

Inspired by personal praise from Secretary of Army Kenneth C. Royall, who made an inspection tour of the unit last week, the reservists proved their guns in anticipation of actual firing, which begins Wednesday.

The Army Secretary commended the division during his three and a half hour visit last Wednesday as he looked in on classes study, drills regimental and battalion problems.

Royall also lauded the International 307th Army Ground Forces Band and expressed satisfaction, in general, with progress of the training.

Philly Regiment in Outfit

Known as the Cross of Lorraine Division, the 79th is the first Army reserve division to be ordered to the field for training as a unit.

The larger components of the division include Philadelphia's 315th Infantry Regiment, the 314th Infantry of Pittsburgh, the 307th Band and the all-colored 391st Field Artillery Battalion.

The reservists arrived at this military reservation on July 10, wearing civvies and were immediately issued military clothing and equipment. After going through the usual preliminaries, they buckled down to the rigorous training, which will last through July 24.

750 Men in Training

Maj. Carroll Fitzgerald, public information officer said the more arduous training that could not be given during regular sessions at the division headquarters in Schuylkill Arsenal in Philadelphia.

Though an Army division consists of some 15,000 men, the purpose of this experiment was to bring a skeleton division into the field to operate much the same as it would at full strength under wartime conditions.

Provisions were made for 1100 officers and men and 750 reported for the two-week tour of active duty. Early reports were that the experiment generally was a success, though several rough spots remained to be ironed out last week.

Practice Makes Perfect

One colonel explained that certain difficulties were to be expected. He said: "This thing is like a baby trying to walk . . . there is a period through which we must pass and for which there is no substitute."

The reservists were housed in the two-story wooden barracks of formerly lodged soldiers of World War II. Many of them were familiar with the terrain of this picturesque camp, having been stationed here during the last war.

Morale was high when I visited the camp last week. The mess halls and food and ill-fitting clothing were not heard. The men praised the food and spoke highly of the improved relations between officers and enlisted men.

Kitchen Police Banished

The "non-com table," long a thorn in the side of GI Joe, was a thing of the past. Non-commissioned officers, privates and company grade officers ate in the same mess hall.

There was no KP. Civilians handled the dirty work and the reservists were left to concentrate on the all-important training.

Most of the men are combat veterans of World War II, though a few are veterans, who joined the reserves before the recent draft law was enacted.

Band Inspires Praises

The band, headed by M/Sgt. George W. Pondor Jr., of 1841 Christian St., Philadelphia, also drew praise from Brig. Gen. Robert W. Wilson, division commander.

Within a few hours after the musical unit arrived at camp, Sgt. Pondor had it ready for parades, though many of the men had never played together before.

Last Saturday morning, the band led a division parade following which nearly 3,500 decorations and awards for service in World War II were presented officers and enlisted men.

The presentations were made by Gen. Wilson and Brig. Gen. Albert H. Stackpole, assistant division commander.

Medallion Leaders Listed

Col. Frank C. James of Harrisburg is in command of the division's artillery units. The 391st Field Artillery Battalion has the following Philadelphians as ranking non-coms:

1st/Sgt. LeRoy Francis of 1714 Edgely St.; 1st/Sgt. Matthew E. Gordon of 4857 Chesnut St. and M/Sgt. George O. Lawrence of 1946 Camac St.

Five of the 24 men who reported for training in this battalion are recruits, the others are seasoned combat veterans.

Group's Enthusiasm High

Both recruits and old-timers showed tremendous enthusiasm as they practiced on the 105 and 155 millimeter howitzers to be fired on Wednesday and Thursday. In all 10 types of infantry weapons will be fired.

They are the M-1 rifle, carbine, pistol, .30 calibre light and heavy machine guns, 60 and 81 millimeter mortars, and the 57 and 75 millimeter recoiless rifles—the latest type weapons used in limited numbers in the final stages of World War II.

Despite several days of rain, the intensive training schedule was maintained throughout last week.

The reverberating roar of the heavy guns may be a slight nuisance to some persons, but it will be a ringing assurance to all that Pennsylvania's own reserve division is prepared for any eventuality.

REV. J. J. BARNES, Pastor

TAYLOR—In loving memory of my beloved husband, Rev. Simon H. Taylor, founder and pastor of the First Mt. Calvary Baptist Church, Fulton Avenue and Winchester Street, who passed away one year ago, July 24, 1947.

He sides all and spoke of you.
When we are all alone.
Call Father, is the truly friend;
Who will be your friend?
Like try on the withered oak.
When all other things decay.
Our love for him will still keep green,
Our tears will not dry.
Our poetic pates were opened,
A gentle voice said, "Come".
And with heavenly unknown,
He gently entered home.
Devoted WIFE and FAMILY.
