Transcript Complimented.

We have heard only the most favorable comments of the issue of the TRANSCRIPT last Saturday. One gentleman said last Saturday evening in Betterton that it was the best issue of a newspaper ever gotten out in Kent county. Asked his reason for saying so, he replied: "It was the most convincing issue that I have ever read, and it was full of sound food for thought for the people."

Another gentleman, living in Chestertown, was so aroused by the declarations of the paper that he declared that he intended to get more actively into the paper's fight for the people, and that he would begin to do more work among his friends, for what he believed to be for the interests of the people.

Still another gentleman said that he believed that that issue did more to open the eyes of the people of the county as to what is going on, than any issue of the paper since this campaign started.

One of our most intelligent tax-payers, and a man of wide acquaintance with county affairs, stated that the article on "Outside Interference" was one of the most powerful articles he has ever read, and that it cannot fail to have a far-reaching effect. And so the people manifest their confidence in the paper, because they believe it is sincere in what it says, and while one of our good friends in Chestertown says we are a little "harsh" at times, we value his criticism, because he simply construes the plainness of speech as a harshness of expression, not intended to be anything else than the unvarnished truth. You know there are some people who prefer "veneered" truth to the genuine article, and if at times we seem harsh, it is simply our plain, blunt way of stating the truth in such a manner as not to be misunderstood. Better tell the truth in a straightout way than to put any polish to it. In all things let us be in earnest, and in all things let us be honest.
