Attacker of Policewoman to Face Jury

Michael Davis won the first round of a street-corner bout with a policewoman Saturday afternoon, but lost the second stanza in Northeastern police court, Monday, when he was held for grand jury in $500 bail.

The winner of the third, and final round, will be determined when the case comes up in Criminal Court.

The impromptu match was staged about 1 p.m. Saturday when the policewoman, Mrs. Carolyn Robinson was walking down Ashland Ave., after completing a tour of duty, just a block from the station house when a man, later identified as Davis, approached her using profane language.

Man Becomes Abusive

When the man became more abusive, the policewoman caught him by the belt and told him he was under arrest. The man struck Mrs. Robinson, then wrenched free from her grip, testimony at the hearing revealed.

Once free, the man did a few fancy boxing steps, then "squared off" a few feet from the policewoman, striking a Joe Louis pose.

Apparently reasoning that this was no weather in which to be boxing — the temperature was nearing the 100 degree mark — Mrs. Robinson made a strategic withdrawal to Northeastern police station where she picked up reinforcements.

Arrested at His Home

Meanwhile the pugnacious pedestrian disappeared. Mrs. Robinson obtained a warrant for Davis, however, and he was arrested at his home, 1724 Ashland Ave., late Saturday night.

The defendant seemed quite peaceful as he appeared before Magistrate August A. Kodlovsky on Monday. He entered a plea of not guilty to the charge of "assaulting and striking" Policewoman Robinson, but did not testify.

Witnesses said the man did not appear to have been intoxicated. They expressed a belief that his action could have been prompted by the heat or the humidity or a combination of the two.

Mother Donates Rare Type Blood

PHILADELPHIA

Mrs. Mary Carter of 1215 N. Eden St., was among Baltimore donors of the rare RH negative type blood to the newly established RH blood bank at University Hospital, this week.

So important is this type blood that if a person needing it is given the RH positive blood, the more potent RH negative blood would dissolve the other red corpuscles. The reaction would result, ultimately, in death.

If a mother possesses this type blood, as did Mrs. Carter, and her husband's is RH positive, there is some chance that the baby may escape the effects.

Babies May Be Saved

If both parents are RH negatives, their child, if it survives at all, may be a "bleeder."

In several instances, however, hospitals have been successful in withdrawing this blood in newborn infants and replacing it with RH positive blood.

To Make Regular Donation

Mrs. Carter discovered her blood type during pregnancy, and had regular examinations for the presence of "antibodies." Her baby is six months old.

She has promised to give a quart of her blood a year to the University Hospital RH Blood Bank.

Jim Crow Burials Continue a Year

This is the Baltimore National Cemetery at 5501 Frederick Ave., showing the roadway which separates the sections in which colored and white soldiers are buried. A War Department order has ruled out such segregation, but the change will not be effected here for another year, when these sections of the cemetery are filled and a new section is put into use.

Polio Hospital in N.C. Administers to All Races

Many Precautions Taken in Epidemic Area; 18 Nurses on Hand, Supervisor Needed

ASHEVILLE, N.C. — Polio victims from 19 Western North Carolina counties are brought to the Orthopedic Home here. There is no segregation — the small percentage of colored patients are cared for in the same wards with the white victims.

Nursing polio patients requires special skill, for not only the technical cases, which for the bulbar type means the iron lung, but for tiny children. Although polio strikes adults, the majority are children and those under 16 years of age.

Parents are allowed to visit the patients through open windows or outside the Army tent set up as an emergency hospital during the current epidemic, but the day and night comforts usually given by mother must be supplied by the nurse.

Nurses Released to Area

The Orthopedic Home is 11 miles from the Asheville Airport. When nurses are flown in, the Red Cross Motor Service brings them to the home. Most nurses are released by their hospitals and health agencies in non-polio areas for only a two-month period to do polio nursing.

Twelve Southern colored nurses volunteered for duty in July in response to the urgent need. Among those recruited is Mrs. Gladys Johnson, Fort Worth, Texas, former Red Cross itinerant nursing instructor in midwestern States, who is serving as supervisor in the polio wards at Kate Bitting Reynolds Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem.

Supervisor Needed

Miss Estelle Coles, recent graduate of Freedman's Hospital School, Washington, also has been assigned here. The latest report lists the number of colored nurses at 18. Currently a colored supervisor with supervisory and polio experience is needed for North Carolina.

Many precautions are taken against the spread of polio. Theatres and churches are closed. Swimming pools are forbidden to the public. Spraying with DDT and other precautions are observed. Traveling by young persons under 16, from polio-infected counties to those without polio, is forbidden.

Yet, in spite of all precautions, the patients continue to come to the Orthopedic Home—charming, round-faced babies—rich and poor alike. Most of the patients recover, but a few have died. For the majority, nursing care is given most credit.

War Dead JC Burials Stay

quoted the non-discrimination order as approved on Apr. 15, 1947. Robert P. Patterson, then Secretary of War.

"I am convinced that the policy recommended by the Quartermaster General under date of Jan. 22, is sound.

"This will result in no change in existing established sections of National Cemeteries.

"But in all new sections to be developed in established cemeteries and in all new cemeteries interment will be made in grave sites without distinction as to race or rank and without distinction as to facilities, care, maintenance, size of graves, etc."

Superintendents Advised

The superintendents of the various cemeteries have been advised about the policy change as was indicated by Mr. Dannahoe when he said that it will be effected at the Baltimore cemetery when the new section goes into use.

There are 80 national cemeteries within the boundaries of continental United States, including one at Sitka, Alaska, which are under jurisdiction of the War Department.

There are 12 others which are administered by the National Park Service because of their historical interest. These are:

Andrew Johnson at Greeneville, Tenn.; Antietam at Sharpsburg, Md.; Battleground at Washington; Custer Battlefield at Crow Agency, Mont.; Fredericksburg at Fredericksburg, Va.; Gettysburg at Gettysburg, Pa.;

Poplar Grove at Petersburg, Va.; Shiloh at Pittsburg Landing, Tenn.; Stones River at Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Vicksburg at Vicksburg, Miss., and Yorktown at Yorktown, Va.

150,000 Unknown Dead

According to the latest World Almanac, the 92 national cemeteries cover an area of 2,862 acres, with 504,346 interments of which 150,924 are unknown.

The United States constructed and maintains eight cemeteries in Europe, six in France, and one each in Belgium and England.

Five of those in France and the one in Belgium are on World War I battlefields. In each is a memorial chapel, on the walls of each are inscribed the names of American soldiers who lost their lives in the vicinity and who occupy unknown graves.

World War II List

The names of our soldiers and sailors who lost their lives at sea appear on the walls of the cemeteries at Suresnes, France and Brookwood, England.

A list of military cemeteries for World War II casualties is not available as the Quartermaster General is now in the process of reinterring the dead of that war, and it is not yet official as to which cemeteries will be maintained on a permanent basis.

Beautician Sues Bus Line for $12,000

WASHINGTON

When the declaration that she was cut off from her $60 a week earnings as a beautician when injured as she alighted from a stalled unlighted bus to a relief vehicle, Mrs. Anne K. Hendricks, 1026 Irving St., N.E., this week, sued the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, 1110 New York Ave., N.W., for $12,000 damages.

The beautician asserts that on Sept. 1, 1947, she boarded a bus for Wilmington, Del., but that the trip was interrupted near College Park, Md.

Highway Dimly Lit

She remained on the stalled vehicle until relief came. Mrs. Hendricks accuses the bus line or failure to exercise reasonable and proper precautions for transfer of the passengers from the unlighted bus on a dimly lit highway.

In a fall, she claims to have received numerous bruises of the arms and legs, and injuries of the back. Mrs. Hendricks states that she was unable to work for a month and a half, thereby losing $60 a week full-time wages, and incurred medical expenses of $193.30. After returning to work, the beautician asserts that she has had to lose a total of seventeen days because of injuries to her back, which prevent full time application to her avocation.

Volunteers Sought to Register Men of the 16 registration points in the city Wednesday and Thursday between 8 a.m. and 9, at noon between 12 hours of 4 and 5 p.m. Colonel Statwood has requested men who can conveniently register at other times to do so.

From 115 to 200 in 3 Days

At Douglass High School, Boards Nos. 4 and 5, 115 men were registered Tuesday, 150 on Wednesday and more than 200 Thursday. A similar increase in registrations was noted in other boards throughout the week.

Not Expecting to Serve

A heavy registration was reported at School 130, Draft Board No. 13 where 200 signed up Tuesday, 196 on Wednesday and some 250 on Thursday.

Few of the men registering expect to see active duty. Typical reaction was that of Bingham T. Harris, steel worker, 24, of 1022 Druid Hill Ave., who commented:

"I had enough in the last war when I served nearly three years in European and Pacific Theaters. I don't think they'll get me this time."

Henry Wilson, 25, a truck driver of 914 N. Parrish St., said he isn't eligible for duty under present laws either. Wilson is married and the father of four children ranging in age from eight to one year. Ex-service men, married men and fathers are among those exempt from conscription at present.

Benjamin A. Lee, 24, of 802 W. Franklin St., expects to be in the service soon. Interviewed immediately after he registered, Lee said: "I wasn't called the last time but they'll probably take me this time."

Lee is unemployed and single now and induction would not greatly upset his way of life.

Twenty men were waiting to be served at School 130 about 3:30 p.m. Thursday when Lenell Sanders, 25, of 1142 Argyle Ave., signed on the dotted line. An overseas veteran, Sanders does not expect to serve again unless a national emergency arises.

Many Report on Wrong Day

Registrars report that many men are reporting for registration on the wrong day. Selective Service has arranged a schedule whereby men are signed up according to age. No one can be signed up until the day set aside for his age group.

The schedule is as follows:

August 30—Men born in 1922 after Aug. 30.

August 31 and Sept. 1 — Men born in 1923.

Sept. 2 and 3 — Men born in 1924.

Sept. 4 and 7 — Men born in 1925.

Sept. 8 and 9 — Men born in 1926.

Sept. 10 and 11 — Men born in 1927.

Sept. 13 and 14 — Men born in 1928.

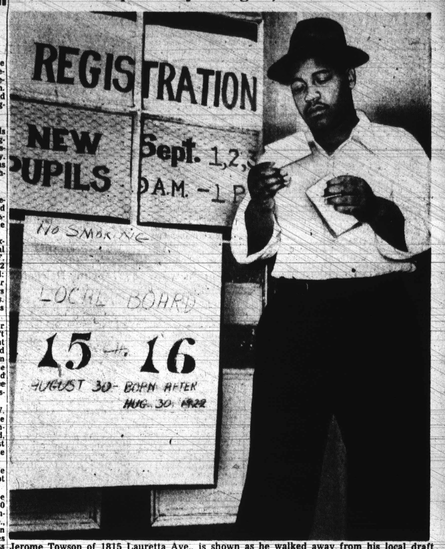
Sept. 15 and 16 — Men born in 1929.

Sept. 17 and 18 — Men born in 1930 before Sept. 19.

Men in active service of the Armed forces, in the active Reserve or the National Guard need not register.

Volunteer workers are urged to call Vernon 2423 and offer their services. Col. Stanwood pointed out that registration points must be closed at 5 p.m. because they are mostly in schools whose schedules require that their doors be shut at that time.

Graphic Story of August, 1948



Jerome Towson of 1815 Lauretta Ave., is shown as he walked away from his local draft board on Wednesday after registering. Towson is one of hundreds of young men who registered since the draft started on Monday.

John Young Released by Demos, Defender

CHICAGO—John H. Young III has been released from his duties as assistant to the director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee because of his failure to co-operate and take orders from his chief, Rep. William L. Dawson, assistant chairman of the committee.

Young, who was employed by the Chicago Defender and loaned to the Committee, has been released from the newspaper also for refusing to leave the Democratic headquarters in New York and return to Chicago when ordered to do so.

Rep. Dawson, who is also chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the Re-election of President Truman, last Saturday stated that Young had been hired to do publicity work for either the committee or the Democratic National Committee.

He denied further that Young was hired by the group, stating, "Nobody here is on anybody's payroll. We are working because we believe it is the thing to do from the ground up and every angle."

Today especially when aged whiskies* are scarce...
IT TAKES A SECOND LOOK TO FIND REAL QUALITY

FRONT LABEL
Symbol of Quality...
This label is your guide to quality—to selecting the brand you want.

BACK LABEL
Proof of Quality...
This label is required by the U.S. Government. It tells you the age and amount of base whiskies in the blend.

Today especially, with the shortage of fine aged whiskies, it's important to know the age and amount of straight whiskies in the blend you buy. That's why we urge you to make sure to look at the back label as well as the front label before you choose a whiskey.

Yes, especially today it's good news to discover that Three Feathers—backed by America's largest reserves of fine old whiskies—continues to give you the same generous quantities of five, six, and seven-year-old whiskies, blended with choice grain neutral spirits. Read this special formula:
