Film Industry Urged to Toss Ball for Peace

CLEVELAND—(Atlas) — The U.S. film industry, described as "the greatest instrument for influencing minds that man has ever created," was urged to throw its weight behind peace at last week's session of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization meeting here.

Dr. Jaime Torres Bodet, UNESCO director general, asked the American delegates "why not try to persuade your film studios to turn out a series of films explaining how ignorance imprisons man, how ignorance of other countries ways creates political tensions which might be avoided if all men made an honest attempt to understand each other."

Blanche Fury's Body Still Unclaimed as Date of Her Husband's Execution Nears

Who's to claim the body of Blanche Fury?

Who's to see that she gets a decent burial?

Who are her relatives? and where did she come from?

It's a short, shocking story . . . Blanche Fury came to town, arriving without funds and missing whoever was supposed to have met her.

Sealed Own Doom:

She managed to secure a night's lodging in a strange house in a town strange to Blanche Fury, but she was successful in immediately getting a job, but not the kind she wanted.

The widower with whom she had a room fell in love with her on first sight. She agreed to marry him although she didn't love him.

The man, she found later, was a hunted murderer. Finding her disillusionment more than she could bear, she threatened to turn him over to the police.

Body Still at Morgue —

Her husband, in turn, threatened to kill her. She sneaked out and informed on him, with the result that he is sentenced to hang.

A few days later, Blanche Fury broken in heart and spirit, died soon after giving birth to her doomed husband's son.

Do you know any living relatives of Blanche Fury? That's the name she continued to use, even after her wedding.

Her body is still in the morgue. Neighbors are taking care of the baby. Her husband writes from the death chamber that his last wish is that her relatives be found, so they can take care of his only son.

If the name of Blanche Fury registers with you, or, if you know any of her kin, call LAfayette 0624.

Talley Tunes Get Resounding Ovation

CHICAGO — An enthusiastic audience gave Thomasina Talley, internationally famous pianist, a resounding ovation following her recital at Kimball Hall here last week.

Playing under the auspices of Philruth Incorporated, Miss Talley included on her program selections from Scarlatti, Bach, Francke, Liszt, Chopin, Gershwin and Leoporov. Prolonged applause induced the artist to play several encores.

Television Show Eight Weeks Old

NEWARK

"Club Caravan," believed to be the first all-colored television show in America," currently is seen by video fans in the metropolitan area each Thursday from 9-9:30 p.m. over WATV, here.

Bill Cook, master of ceremonies on the half-hour show, has had as his guests in the eight weeks the show has been televised, such stars of stage, screen and radio as The Heathertones, Anne Vincent, Teddy Hale, Dinah Washington, the Orioles, Buddy Bragg, the Ravens, and Milt Bruckner. Grady Hodge and his Newark dance band furnish orchestra accompaniment for guest vocalists.

Bill also conducts a three and a quarter-hour radio disc-jockey show over WAAT-Newark daily.

Exclusive Honors to N.Y.'s. WHOM

NEW YORK (NNPA) — Radio Station WHOM was cited here last Friday for its efforts to promote democratic principles in employe-management relationships and for following a policy of fair employment practices in line with the State's FEPC law.

Eimer Carter, a member of the State Committee Against Discrimination, presented Fortune Pope, executive vice-president of the station, with a plaque commemorating the employment of such practices in brief ceremonies held in the station's offices.

The plaque was awarded to the station by Exclusive Records, and in making the award, Mr. Carter said:

"There is nothing in American life so encouraging as the part that young men are playing in the attainment of the democratic ideal. Mr. Pope is one of those young men who is striving to create an America free from discrimination, because of race, creed or color."

Starette at the Met

Cary Grant, Diana Lynn, Franchot Tone and Betsy Drake present a fourtsome for fun as co-stars in "Every Girl Should Be Married," now showing at the Met Theatre.

Flashing Comedy, Drama at the Met

A sparkling comedy calculated to keep patrons still chuckling in appreciation long after they've left the theatre is Don Hartman's production, "Every Girl Should Be Married," for RKO Radio, currently showing at the Met Theatre.

Starring Cary Grant, Franchot Tone and Diana Lynn and introducing a brilliant newcomer in the person of Betsy Drake, the Dore Schary presentation is based on the gay assumption that a modern maiden has a perfect right to pick the bachelor she wants and go after him without incurring any social censure.

As a theory this may be fine, but in the picture it develops unexpected flaws, due largely to the impetuous disposition of the heroine and to the wariness of the object of her affections, a successful doctor not unversed in women's wiles. The result is as funny an offering as has come out of Hollywood in a long, long time.

The couplet is "Johnny Apollo," with Tyrone Power and Dorothy Lamour as the co-stars.

Concords and Discords

By W. LLEWELLYN WILSON

Easter! What a joyous festival season for the Christian world. A time when the children of men sing some of the finest music ever conceived by the human mind.

Composers of all types have at one time or another essayed to write music to tell the story and its meaning of the miraculous resurrection of Christ Jesus Our Lord.

Songs, hymns and anthems have been the chief forms which have served as the media of expression of this happy holiday.

A Story in Song

Easter Sunday will find choirs of all types exuffiant singing music especially designed to tell the story of the Risen Christ. Some of the churches will sing cantatas which will tell in song and story the holy drama. Many of our citizens write original examples of the story.

This year at Enon Baptist Church, the Enon choir at the evening service will present The Crucified and Risen," a play with incidental music. This play was written by Vashti Christopher, one of the members of the choir. The opus will be enacted by the entire senior choir.

The incidental music will be supplied by the gospel choir of the church, under the direction of Lulu Richardson. Soloists will be Willa Mae Harrison, Odell Payne, Ruth Redman.

Other Characterizations

The Rev. Arbie Webb will portray the character of Jesus. Bartow Morman appears as Pilate. Edward Kerr, Alfred Williams, Harry Parker, Alma Gardner, James Bobbie, Jackson Scott and William Pollack. Elizabeth Mumford, Alma Gardner, Lillian Hamlett and Thelores Jones will be seen in other characterizations.

Florence Morman and Bertha Seay are responsible for costumes and Bartow Morman will have charge of the scenery and the lighting effects.

Clara Jones is president of the choir and the Rev. A. Arthur Payne is church pastor.

Another sign of local musical progress is the ever-increasing number of choirs who are giving joint programs of musical services. The choirs of St. James PE Church and the choir of Madison Ave. Presbyterian Church joined in presenting one of John Maunder's works, "From Olivet to Calvary."

Grace Presbyterian Church continues to give its annual presentation of DuBois's "The Seven Last Words of Christ" and each year the group improves its presentation.

'Deep Are the Roots' to Be Sponsored by D.C. Sorority

WASHINGTON

Theta, local chapter of Lambda Kappa Mu, business and professional women's sorority, is going big time.

Since its founding two years ago, the group has confined its activities to observing Founder's Days, sponsoring a health project and other community activities.

Now, however, Theta is ready to make its debut as a big scale producer when it breaks Capital theatrical ice with a presentation of the Greenwich Theatre, "Deep Are the Roots," on May 6 and 7 at Armstrong High School.

Funds raised from the presentation, which will be sponsored here by the Armstrong Alumni Association, will be used to boost the Lambda Kappa Mu national scholarship fund, out of which young women are enabled annually to pursue careers in the professions and business.

While it may seem that the sorors are sticking out their business and professional necks, there is a worthwhile purpose in their ambition.

A capacity group of sponsors for the May 6 presentation has already been obtained. Press and radio have been alerted, and interest in the drama is spreading.
