Chesapeake Club Given Pointers

Alton Berry, secretary of the Pyramid Club in Philly, was guest speaker when the newly-formed Chesapeake Club met at the Druid Hill YMCA, Sunday.

Outlining the structure of the Philadelphia club, Mr. Berry offered hints for the organization of Baltimore's men's club.

The Chesapeake Club adopted a constitution at the meeting, and the housing committee reported on prospective sites for location of the clubhouse.

26 New Members

The membership committee reported that 78 new members had been acquired, bringing the roster to 235, just 65 short of the 300 quota mark.

July 1 has been set as the deadline date for applications from prospective members, and all men who are now pledged are expected to pay the initial $50 fee by this date.

The completion of payment of fees may be made to Dr. Bernard Harris, temporary chairman of the club, 1207 Caroline St.

Others empowered to accept funds are: Calvin Douglass, attorney, 1506 Pennsylvania Ave.; or any member of the membership committee, which meets every Thursday at 9 p.m., at 1533 Pennsylvania Ave.

At Sunday's meeting, $420 was collected. At the next meeting, which will be announced, the club will be incorporated and officers will be elected.

Problems of Health on Meeting Agenda

The Health Council of the Baltimore Public School will hold a meeting in the auditorium of Eastern High School at 3:45 p.m., Monday, to discuss "Practical Approaches to School Health Problems."

Among the groups invited to attend are Morgan State College and Coppin Teachers College.

The topic will be discussed by Dr. Fred V. Hein, consultant in health and fitness of the American Medical Association, and Dr. Allen O. Gruebbel, secretary of the Council on Dental Health, of the American Dental Association.

Purpose of the council is to serve as an advisory board of the system-wide school health program of the public schools.

Woman Drives Car Into Police Signal

Police report that a front seat occupant suffered a knee injury and a new police call box at Pine and Josephine Sts. was knocked down when an "unlicensed" woman driver backed an automobile up on the pavement Tuesday.

Injured was Miss Bertha Spriggs, 25, of the 600 block W. Saratoga St., who was treated at University Hospital for a sprain and bone injury of the right knee.

2 Fined in Case

Police charged the driver, Miss Mary White, 28, of the 1400 block W. Lanvale St., with operating the car without a drivers' license.

The owner of the car, Charles L. Bord of the 500 block N. Gilmor St., was charged with allowing Miss White to operate the vehicle without a license.

At a hearing in Traffic Court, the following day, both were fined $10.

Apologetic Cook Who Lifted Too Many Warned

Disorderly conduct charges were dismissed against an apologetic 35-year-old cook in Northwestern police court, who admittedly cursed patrons in front of an uptown movie, Wednesday.

The cook, David Hamlett of the 700 block Brune St., told the court that he had been drinking and was sorry the incident happened. Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzpatrick dismissed Hamlett with a warning that a similar offense would result in a jail sentence.

2 Short-Term Marriages Dissolved in Court Here

bruised her mouth and blacked her eye, and a honeymoon filled with nagging and lacking food.

Second Charges Beatings

Another wife, Mrs. Gertrude Thaxton of 901 Forest St., said that she left her husband, John, because she could no longer endure the beatings he gave her each week end.

The couple married on April 30, 1941 and separated on March 15, 1946. Her maiden name, Clement, was restored.

Divorces also went to Henry Taylor of 1524 N. Monroe St., who testified that Mrs. Florence Taylor deserted him on July 4, 1948 after their marriage on June 5, 1941, and to Mrs. Lillie M. Nance of 1416 E. Eager St., who said that she and Bennie Nance voluntarily separated in 1937.

Roy S. Bond, attorney, represented all the complainants in the cases above.

7 File Petitions

Petitions were filed by: Mrs. Eula B. Murphy vs. Carter, Roy S. Bond, attorney; Mrs. Willie M. Pinkney vs. Odel, Roy S. Bond, attorney; Mrs. Annie M. Grimes vs. Clyde, Roy S. Bond, attorney; Mrs. Evelyn V. Byrd vs. Robert J., Roy S. Bond, attorney;

Mrs. Alee V. Holloway vs. John, Ernest Perkins, attorney; Clarence vs. Mrs. Doris W. Owens, Ernest L. Perkins, attorney; Mrs. Anna R. Hadley vs. Roy, Roy S. Bond, attorney.

Stevedore Drops Dead at Work

A 47-year-old stevedore collapsed while unloading a ship in Lower Canton, early Monday, and was pronounced dead at City Hospitals.

Eastern district police identified the man as Archie Scott, 47, of 16 N. Bond St. His daughter, Mrs. Helen Scott Carey of 1408 Orleans St., claimed the body and is making funeral arrangements.

According to William Hendron, a foreman at Pier 11, Scott was piling bags on a hand truck when he "fell over backwards without sayin a word." Fellow workers called an ambulance after the efforts to revive him failed.

DEATH ONLY VICTOR:

Battle of Highways Begins as Reckless Drivers Speed

blame for the fact that every 26 seconds someone is injured in a traffic accident in America.

Then there is the "tough guy" type. You've seen him. Like a punch-drunk heavyweight, he bobs in and out of traffic and frequently ends up in the hospital emergency ward.

"Taxpayer" Type Road Hog

Countless accidents are caused by the "taxpayer" type driver, who feels that since he helped pay for the road, he has a right to drive on it as he likes.

Now that the summer driving season is moving into high gear, some 29 million motorists, many of them still in the beginners stage, will crowd the nation's streets and roads.

Every week end from now until Labor Day they will carry on the Battle of the Highways; and the casualties will be heavy. On holiday week ends, the death toll will be even heavier.

330 Killed on Holiday

Take last week's long Memorial Day week end, for instance. The National Safety Council reported that 330 persons were killed in traffic accidents from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Tuesday.

This is not unusual for the figures for holiday week ends usually run from 350 to 400 persons killed in highway accidents.

Though the cause of an automobile accident is frequently hard to determine, traffic experts say that in 38 out of every 100 fatal accidents, at least one of the motorists involved was driving too fast.

Speed No. 1 Killer

The American Automobile Association, the National Safety Council and automobile insurance agencies agree that speed is the number-one killer on the highways.

A large number of the "fast" drivers are young people. A prewar study indicated that 16-year-old drivers killed nine times as many people per 1,000,000 miles of driving as did the 45 to 50-year-old age group.

The fatality record for all drivers under 20 was more than five times as bad as the 45-50 age group.

Driver-Training in Schools

In an effort to cut down this highway death rate, Maryland authorities have initiated driver-training education in high and vocational schools. Nineteen of the 23 counties in Maryland now have such programs in secondary schools.

Both State and Baltimore City education authorities agree that the program shows promise and is worthy of wide expansion.

Though these programs may well reduce the traffic accident rate over a period of years, the only hope for an immediate reduction lies with today's drivers.

The Free State accident rate would drop sharply if motorists would remember this slogan adopted by the Maryland State police: "The pace that thrills is the pace that kills."

Templeton Heads P-TA Committee

Furman L. Templeton, AFRO personnel manager, has been named chairman of the Program Committee of the Co-ordinating Council of the Baltimore Public School Parent Teacher Organizations.

Other standing committee chairmen are Sen. E. Milton Altfield, budget; Mrs. Samuel Fried and Mrs. Joseph Burman, welfare; Mrs. Mae R. Gellman, health; Mrs. Aral M. Crowe, membership; Mrs. David A. Costine, publicity, and Mrs. Samuel Fried, bulletin.

Hires Executive Secretary

The executive board of the council announced this week it had employed George S. Robertson to serve as executive secretary of the council.

The Program Committee announced that the Leadership Institute planned for June will be held in September.

All program chairmen of each P-TA have been invited to a meeting for the planning of the Leadership Institute on Thursday, June 8, at 8 p.m. in the Board Room, 3 E 25th St.

Warrenton Man Freed in Slaying

WARRENTON, N.C.—Acting on the request of Solicitor Ernest Tyler to render a directed verdict of innocent, Judge W. H. S. Burgwyn, last week, freed Henry Eleaser, 49, on a charge of fatally shooting the father of his son-in-law during a family squabble.

It was brought out during the trial at Warren Superior Court that Willis Alston was killed at the door of Eleaser's home
