Theatre Director Talks at Party

Miss Anne Mercer, director of the Little Folks Theatre, was guest speaker recently when the Gilmor Homes Recreation Center held its annual mother and daughter party.

More than 100 persons present heard remarks from Theodore R. Brown, senior recreation supervisor; C. C. Jackson, supervisor of boys' and men's activities; and from Mrs. Margaret Wheatley, manager's aide at Gilmor Homes.

Mrs. Frances Smith was crowned oldest mother present, and Miss Darlene Smith received an award for being youngest daughter present. Mrs. Erma Thompkins, chairman, presided.

Craft Exhibit

Persons participating in the craft exhibit held in connection with the party were:

Mesdames Frances Smith, Emily Utley, Ruth Rich, Maude Whyte, Minnie Smith, Lucy Swain, Elizabeth Morsell, Hattie B. Smith, Ruth Jackson, Eva Wynn, Emma Thompkins, Georgia Harris, also Misses Collie Harris and Mary Clarke.

The weekly skating parties at the project have been suspended for the summer season.

Dr. Goodloe Sentenced

so refused to grant bond for the physician pending an appeal to a higher court.

Also prior to the sentencing, Mr. Ford asked the judge whether he had received a report from the probation department as to the physician's character and whether he had taken into consideration the letters received from good sources.

Character Letters Cited

"The Court had received a great many letters. I have no doubt that this defendant has good aspects as to his character, but he has committed an offense on a mercenary basis.

"He must have had a reputation for this sort of thing. The captain (Capt. Andrew A. Gleason) went to him without hesitancy upon the recommendation of persons he did not even know."

And with those words, he pronounced sentence.

Reportedly Paid $350

Dr. Goodloe, who lives and had his offices at 1836 S St., N.W., was convicted on charges of performing an illegal operation on Miss Gloria M. Huffman, white, 26, of Baltimore, on Feb. 4. According to testimony given at the trial, Miss Huffman was brought to Dr. Goodloe's office by Captain Gleason, who said he paid $350 to the physician for the operation.

Miss Huffmann, it was revealed, remained in the physician's home for three days and was released, but had to return to Dr. Goodloe for treatment because of severe hemorrhages.

Bribe Charged

Later, when bleeding became more serious, Miss Huffmann was taken to Gallinger Hospital, where staff physicians reported that they had to remove tissues caused by the illegal operation.

Still later, according to other testimony, a Miss Alice Galusha, white, went to Baltimore at Dr. Goodloe's behest to offer Miss Huffmann money to go to California. Officers concealed in the Huffmann home testified as to bribe charge.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.— Stabbed numerous times, Leon Farrell, 21, of 78 Hammond St., an orchestra leader, received 22 stitches to close slashes on his face and head.

MUSIC GUILD ACTIVITIES

By MILDRED BRYANT

The regular monthly meeting of the Baltimore Music Guild, Inc., Margaret R. Franklin, president, was held Saturday, June 18, at the home of Miss Maude Laforest, 822 N. Bond St.

Business of importance included a discussion of the National Convention of the Association of Negro Musicians to be held here Aug. 24 to 29 and tickets were distributed for the Artists Night recital, Aug. 24, at 8:30, when Helen Phillips, soprano, will be presented.

Instead of the usual program, a memorial was held in honor of Mrs. Lovey Husketh, who died since the last meeting of the guild. She formerly worked with the Junior Department.

Fitting Tribute Paid

A fitting tribute was paid the deceased by Mrs. Katrine White, who described her life as an example for each member to follow. Taps were played by Gwendolyn Lassiter; a prayer by Veola Coleman; resolutions by Charlie Parker and a hymn was sung by the group.

Host and hostesses for the occasion were: Virginia Robinson, Martina Caster, A. Jack Thomas, Mary Hickman, Mary Wyatt and Miss Laforest.

Modeling School in New Location

The Carson School of Professional Modeling has moved to its new location at 345 W. Hoffman St.

Clarence Carter, who is in charge of the school, said the new quarters will make it possible for the school to offer Saturday morning classes for girls from 6 to 13 years of age.

New Models Accepted

These pre-teen classes will include instruction in proper walking, sitting, social graces and junior modeling.

The new location will also be home for the Carson Models. Candidates for membership in the Colored Models Guild will be accepted at 8 p.m. on June 26, 27 and 29.
