MARBURY OUT OF FIGHT.

Announces That He Cannot Afford to Carry on Campaign for Senate.

TOLD PRESIDENT OF HIS INTENTION SEVERAL WEEKS AGO.

Hon. William L. Marbury, who entered the field as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator last spring against Senator John Walter Smith, Saturday night gave out a statement withdrawing from the race.

Mr. Marbury's action comes as a surprise at this time, although those who have been in touch with his candidacy have felt for some time that the situation was such that he would not continue in the fight. He bases his retirement upon the ground that the conditions have changed since he announced his candidacy; that at the time he had not expected the fight to be so prolonged, and that he has neither the time nor the means to make an 18-month campaign.

EXPLAINED TO PRESIDENT.

It is understood that Mr. Marbury had made his mind up to withdraw before he went to Europe and a few days after his return two weeks ago sent to President Wilson, whose sympathy he was known to have in his candidacy, a letter laying before the President the reasons why he decided to do so. It is known that Mr. Marbury would have remained in the fight had he felt that by so doing he would have been aiding the President or promoting the Progressive Democratic movement in the State. It is believed President Wilson is in accord with Mr. Marbury's decision, and that while he would still like to see him in the Senate he feels that it is not necessary for him to make the sacrifices involved in the fight.

COST TOO GREAT.

Mr. Marbury's statement is as follows:

"I have decided to withdraw from the contest for the Democrastic nomination for the office of United States Senator.

"The first, and, I am bound to confess, the controlling interest to me is that I cannot afford to carry on the kind of campaign which would have to be carried on in order to be successful for so long a period as a year and a half.

"Last spring, when I undertook to make this fight, conditions in that respect were entirely different. At that time the Seventeenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, providing for the popular election of Senators, had not been enacted, and it was expected that the Senatorial primary elections in Maryland would be held under the then existing law of this State in August of the present year, so that the campaign would have lasted only a few months.

LONG CAMPAIGN AHEAD.

"I began the campaign on that theory. In the month of April or May the amendment was adopted, and thereupon it became evident that there would be no election under the law for the long term until November, 1914. Under existing circumstances that would mean an active campaign for nearly a year and a half.

"To carry on that sort of a campaign would involve the expenditure of time and money, such as I could not afford without the risk of involving myself to an extent which my duty to my family forbids. In order to make such a fight as that, a man ought either to be a man of independent means and not depending upon his professional labors for the support and education of his family, or else he ought to have no family to support; and I do not belong to either of those classes.

CAN BETTER AID PRESIDENT.

"But there is another reason which has influenced me very strongly in reaching this determination.

"I am satisfied that if I am not a candidate for any office of any kind, and am asking no favors, I will be in a much better position to aid the cause of Progressive Democracy and to give to the Administration of President Wilson the kind of support which it ought to have than I would be if I were to continue my candidacy. Nor have I any reason to believe that my withdrawal as a candidate, and thus ceasing to ask anything for myself, will in any way diminish my ability, as it certainly will not diminish my willingness, to serve those who have heretofore attached themselves to my cause in this State.

NO PERSONAL SACRIFICE.

"I have always felt a great deal of uncertainty as to how far, in case I were elected to the United States Senate, I would be compelled to abandon the practice of my profession. I could not possibly abandon it altogether, and it has been a source of serious anxiety to me. For that reason my withdrawal involves no personal sacrifice whatever.

"I want to say further that my ceasing to be a candidate for office does not mean the least diminution of my interest in the question of who shall govern and who shall represent this State. I shall render all the aid in my power to the Democratic ticket.

PRIMARY FIGHT FAIR.

"The primary fight was a warm one in the counties and in the city of Baltimore, but it was a fair fight. The successful candidates, both those who were supported by the so-called organization and those who were opposed by the organization in the primaries, are undoubtedly the choice of the Democratic voters who voted at those primaries.

"In the city of Baltimore alone those Democratic voters numbered more than 30,000, and there is to my mind, no reason in the world why all the candidates thus nominated should not receive the unanimous support of Maryland Democrats.

"I feel absolutely sure that President Wilson would give his approval of this sentiment."

Prizes for Exhibits.

The apple and vegetable exhibit at the meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society in Easton, Md., next January, promises to be large and of excellent quality, more that $1,200 in cash prizes being offered for exhibits. The highest prizes will be for the best general display of fruit, three prizes amounting to $300, namely, $150, $100 and $50. There are also large prizes for single boxes, three box exhibits, five box exhibits and ten box exhibits; also $5 for the first prize on each and every one of the leading commercial varieties grown on the peninsula. There are also prizes for barrels and plates.

The highest prize for vegetables is for the best collection—25. There are also liberal prizes for all the leading varieties of vegetables.

The special prizes include $20 worth of nursery stock, given by the Delaware Nurseries, of Milford, Del., and it will be divided into small prizes for exhibits that are not included in the printed premium list. Four tons of Limiod, given by the Charles Warner Company, of Wilmington, Del., will be given for the best exhibit of all box apples. $10 given by Gen. Joseph B. Seth, of Easton, Md., for the best Martin House, made by a boy, the house to have not less than fourteen compartments nor more than twenty, judged by its beauty and workmanship.

Copies of the premium list may be had by addressing the Secretary, Dover, Delaware.

A Carelessly Treated Cold is the source of most sickness because drugged pills, syrups and alcoholic mixtures are uncertain and unsafe.

Scott's Emulsion has been relied upon by physicians for forty years as the safe and sensible remedy to suppress the cold and build up the enfeebled forces to avert throat and lung troubles.

Don't tolerate alcoholic substitutes, but insist on the Genuine Scott's Emulsion. One bottle usually lasts longer than a cold. Every druggist has it. 13 75
