5 AFRO Newsies Win Camperships

The AFRO's top salesboys were cited recently.

Five carriers qualified for a week at Camp Druid Hill by their neatness, courtesy, sales ability, service to customers and other attributes which exemplify the model AFRO carrier.

Drawing Picks Winners

An impartial drawing was held of the nine leaders to determine who would be the winners of a week at the camp which is operated by the Druid Hill YMCA.

Lonnie Terry, Donald Jones, David Gorman, Edward Barnes and Leroy Simmons were the lucky winners. Joseph Thomas, Donald Lee, Gilbert Webb and David Pinock each received a pair of skates.

'First Run' Films of the Week in Review

"Father of the Bride," co-starring Spencer Tracy and Joan Bennett at the Regent, is the hilarious and heartwarming story of a father's trials and tribulations when his daughter announces her impending marriage.

The laugh-filled action revolves about what happens to him before and after the wedding.

Co-featured with "Father of the Bride" is a mystery thriller, "Take My Life," the gripping story of a man wrongfully accused of murder. Marius Goring and Greta Gynt are co-starred.

'MYSTERY STREET' NOW PLAYING HARLEM SCREEN

Ricardo Montalban and Sally Forrest head the cast of "Mystery Street," now playing the Harlem Theatre. Ricardo is seen as the police lieutenant. Miss Forrest as the frightened young wife of a murder suspect.

The unusual drama reveals for the first time on the screen the ultra-modern methods of crime detection as developed at Harvard's famous Department of Legal Medicine.

The ingenious story points out one of the causes of why several thousand murders pass unrecognized each year — the outmoded coroner system prevailing throughout the country.

GARY COOPER STAR OF ROYAL FEATURE

"Bright Leaf," starring Gary Cooper, Patricia Neal, Lauren Bacall and Jack Carson, is sharing the Royal Theatre screen with "State Penitentiary."

As Brant Royal, a devil-may-care southerner, Cooper returns to his hometown to woo again the aristocratic Miss Neal, whose father, played by Donald Crisp, will have none of him.

Cooper launches a tobacco empire which eventually ruins Crisp, and while he marries the girl, is never happy with her. Only Miss Bacall, another beauty of shady background, and Carson, playing a medicine show barker, remain loyal as the empire subsequently crashes.

Gateway to Gayway
By GEORGE D. TYLER

(By "Doc" Weingust, pinch-hitting for George D. Tyler, who is on vacation).

As Eye See It

David Hammond, the new king pin, and Brooks Dozier, show producer at Gamby's, giving the public a sizzling group of top entertainers. Here Marie prepares the best home-cooked meals served by Grace Murray, Sonny Williams, mixologist; Ruby Pinkston, Dimples and Ollie Mae also lend their personalities to make your visit a pleasant one. Which for the greatest show of em all on Labor Day.

Roy Jones thanking his many friends for the words of cheer while he is on the ailing list. . . The Sphinx Club's softball team won their second game on Sunday in 10 years at Druid Hill Park. It was an interracial tilt and went off smoothly without any discord. They had to win since Charles Tilghman threatened to send his boys to Korea if they didn't.

The Dixon clan of the Comedy Club with Ollie Mae are still the trail blazers along the Main Stem. Howard and the Jr., are following in Ike Sr.'s footsteps . . . Fayman's Cozy Corner blends with an atmosphere that you'll never cease to enjoy. Nanette's genial service and affable smile will surely captivate you. . . Finderkeepers, Trent and Dyer, in the model of the Twin-Pines, down Middle River way, are still catering to the meticulous. They are also building a private swimming pool.

Rudy to Vacation

Rudy Dixon, manager of the Frolic, planning to sneak away for a two weeks' vacation! Bennie Woods, who is now convalescing, will return to duty on Labor Day. . . Club Casino with Roger Ross and Walter Dow still makes them like the sweet way that they handle the most fastidious. . . Olde Mill's Carroll Lawson, with his excellent gang and Joe Mazer, breaking it up with their congeniality. Bill Swindell, the sax-mad man and his Maniacs keep the old cabin loaded. Carroll leaves in a few days on vacation.

Best For Your Money

Jones' Tavern, 1724 W. Lanvale St. with Theophilus the imperial nib, always presenting the best your money can buy in the entertainment swirl. . . Dorothy Peay, always smiling, ran out on a few days ago. That lady is going places. . . Your columnist is browsing at the lovely home of Dr. Bernard Harris Sr. on the Magnolia River. Mrs. Harris and her gang have gone to Connecticut, while the Dr. is holding a stag. With us here are Curtis from Hagerstown, Bernard Jr., Hi Ralph and Augustus Knox.

Capt. Kye Lewis, his nephew, Walter Rice, Frank Phillips and Yours Truly night fishing on Kye's palatial yacht for nine hours without getting as much as a nibble. The hock of a way to begin a vacation. . . Bertie Brooks still jammin' 'em in at his rendezvous down Annapolis Ave way. . . Wendell Wilson still crying about the trying times, but the Vilma is still going at top speed. Poor boy, just won't quit.

"Bye, bye. I'll see you next week.

Elks Band to Play in Chicago

Edward A. Prettyman

The Monumental Elks Lodge's 40-piece band and its organizer and director, Edward A. Prettyman, will leave Monday afternoon for the Elks' convention in Chicago.

Composed of some of the best musicians Baltimore has to offer, the band was organized three years ago. All are union members and members of the Monumental Lodge.

The band will represent the lodge at the convention as a paid unit, getting the regular union pay scale.

Gripping Drama on Screen at Met

A gripping drama set against the background of the San Francisco waterfront motivates "The Woman on Pier 13," RKO Radio's current screen offering, presents Robert Ryan in another dynamic role at the Met.

Laraine Day, Ryan and John Agar are co-starred in the exciting picture, with Thomas Gomez and Janis Carter heading the featured cast.

CONCORDS and DISCORDS

By W. LLEWELLYN WILSON

Local musicians seem to be busier than ever teaching in private studios. In all parts of the city may be found teachers of piano and voice with well equipped music schools and with instructors working throughout the summer at teaching and coaching.

Unfortunately, far too few students are seriously engaged in studying the stringed and the classic woodwind instruments of the symphony orchestra.

Our group is still far behind in the production of sufficient numbers of players upon such instruments as the oboe, English horn, French horn, bassoon, alto clarinet, Sousaphone, viola, cello, contrabass and the violin.

Difficult to Master

All of the instruments just enumerated are exceedingly difficult to master technically, moreover they are very expensive; and thirdly, they are little used except in symphony orchestras and in concert groups.

Our modern dance orchestra and entertainment ensembles seldom find use for them. Hence, their loud-sounding musical relatives, the trumpet, the trombone, the baritone and ever popular tenor saxophone, which are relatively easy to master, catch the popular fancy of both prospective patrons and performers.

We, however, are making substantial progress because a few musicians who have found it possible to earn gainful livelihoods in other fields than that of playing in bands in night clubs and for dances, have found it possible to purchase violins, violas, violoncellos, oboes and bassoons just for their own musical development.

These men and women have done much in helping in the Baltimore City Orchestra. This group gives two concerts a year.

Standford's Return Cheering

It is good news to most musicians that William Standford will teach here in his hometown. Mr. Standford will teach at Coppin State College beginning in September.

Since Mr. Standford's Douglass High School days, where he was concert master in the 40-piece orchestra which was the pride of the student body, he has been a skillful violinist.

During his days in Baltimore, Mr. Standford was a valuable member of the first violin section of the Baltimore City Orchestra.

Douglas Recital Planned

Ernestine Bannister, a graduate of the music department of Hampton and a pupil of Ernest Hays and Gerald B. Wilson, has opened a piano and voice studio in Northwest Baltimore.

This young teacher, who has developed several very promising pupils and pupils, has been invited to appear as a co-performer in a recital to be given at Douglas Memorial Community Church by Mary Fairfax, a local soprano.

KIND HEART — The savings club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Sarah Wilson, 527 Kirby Lane. Plans were completed for the group's first bus excursion to Ocean City, on Sunday, Aug. 20. Mrs. Sarah Wheeler is president and Mrs. Wilson, secretary.

JOLLY LADIES — The crocheting and knitting club met with Mrs. Florence Carr, 430 N. Eden St., this week. The club recently had a bus excursion to Conneland. Mrs. Sarah Booker is president and Mrs. Florence Carr is secretary.
