

To Market and Back

with the same load is often the fate of the farmer without telephone service. When he takes a load into town he runs the risk of having to sell at a low price or haul it back.

With a telephone on the farm, he can secure prices and make the sale before starting.

The telephone has saved the farmers in your section many useless trips to town.

Why not let it do the same for you?

HOME IS WHERE WIFE IS.

New Ruling That Upsets Old Theory of Man's Residence.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 13.—Comptroller of the Treasury George E. Downey, with a mark of the pen, today did away with the old idea that a man's home is where he hangs his hat up, or where he has his washing done. "A man's home is where his wife is," Mr. Downey said. United States Marshall H. R. Love, of Alaska, turned in an expense account carrying an item of $3.50 a day paid to his wife, who lives in Seattle, and the Comptroller of the Treasury would not honor it.

Love brought a number of insane persons from Alaska to Seattle and for several weeks lived at an apartment house with his wife. The Comptroller decided that the house maintained by Mrs. Love was Mr. Love's home, and that he could not have travel allowance while staying at home. His comment was that a man's home was where his wife is—or should be.

Appreciations.
