Paige Returns to Stadium on Sunday

Satchel Paige will be seeking revenge here Sunday, September 3, at Memorial Stadium when he faces the Elite Giants, as the Philadelphia Stars help ring the curtain down on regular-league play at 2:30 p.m.

Paige appeared here August 6, at Westport Stadium and was touched for four runs and as many hits in his three-inning stint, while Lefty John Coleman held his mates scoreless. Although the Philadelphians finally won the contest, Paige was not pleased with his performance and asked that he be given another chance to show Baltimore fans and the Elites that he still has something.

Praises Reed

Fleming Reed, Elites 21-year-old handyman, who has worked both the infield and outfield this summer, is said by Paige to be the best hitter in colored baseball at this time.

Said Paige: "The kid is a natural born hitter and as he goes along gaining more confidence in himself no one will stop him." Elite manager Hen Kimbro is much of the same opinion, as evidence by his placing the youngster in the batting orders cleanup spot.

The Elites, who had won eight in a row prior to dropping three in a row to the Indianapolis Clowns, will try getting back into the win column again. The Giants had also compiled the fine record of 17 wins in 22 starts. Kimbro will have Coleman, who lost a heartbreaker to the Clowns and Joe Black ready for mound duty, Sunday.

Althea-Torsten Win Another

son surrender at many as three points in one game.

Starred in Wednesday

The day previous, in her team's 6-2, 6-2 victory over Lois Felix (Malden, Mass.) and Ted Backi Jr. (Harvard), Althea dropped only three points in four games to serve.

Two of her service wins were love games, meaning the opposition was unable to score a point.

The scorching serves of the Miss Gibson, first of her race to crash the gates of staid Forest Hill, have lately become the talk of the tournament in the women's division.

Newsmen have voiced the opinion her service is one of the finest, if not the finest, in the game; and the women players themselves have been unstinted in their admiration of the Harlem girl's talent.

Credited With Assist

Aside from this, Miss Gibson was being credited Thursday with an assist in the women's single competition, even though she has been eliminated from that play.

Veteran tennis observers were expressing the view that the tremendous pressure Althea put on Wimbledon Queen Louise Brough, Wednesday, had taken so much out of her that the Beverly Hills star was primed for the knocking over she got from Nancy Chaffee, earlier in the day.

Miss Chaffee, obviously heartened by the manner in which Miss Gibson handled Miss Brough, even in defeat, took two straight sets from the blonde Californian.

Move to Quarter Finals

Thursday's victory meant that the Gibson-Johanston duo would move into the quarter finals against the crack pair, Patricia Cannon Todd, of La Jolla, Calif., and John Bromwich, Australian Davis Cup team captain.

The torrential rains which washed out Tuesday's play here proved the salvation, Wednesday afternoon, for Miss Brough, as the Wimbledon queen rallied to defeat Miss Gibson in the third and final set of their Women's National Tennis Championships match.

Over the ropes literally, and on the brink of becoming victim in the tennis world's most stunning upset on Tuesday, Miss Brough came back after an overnight reprieve to take three straight games and win the match, 6-1, 3-6, 9-7.

Rain Dampened Hopes

As had been feared, the Tuesday evening interruption was Miss Gibson's greatest misfortune. The nervousness which had gripped her at the outset, she had transferred to her more experienced opponent and there wasn't a soul in Forest Hills, who didn't agree Louise was on the way out.

A notoriously slow beginner, it was conceded, even by Althea's staunchest supporters, that the AJA titlist would not warm to her task early enough to run out her victory.

Toughest For in 8 Years

Miss Brough posed as the most severe test Althea has had in eight years in major tournaments, the blonde Californian is the current Wimbledon titlist, having beaten the U.S. champion, Margaret Osborne Dupont, in this year's London affair.

Louise also is a former national champ and three times—in 1942, 43 and '48—was runner-up for the crown.

Ahead When Rains Came

When the interruption came Miss Gibson was ahead, 7-6 in the third set. She had taken the second set, 6-3, after losing the first one, 1-6.

Miss Brough swept the first set in a manner typical of a 10-to-1 favorite, using her own assortment of shots to advantage, and at the same time capitalizing on the numerous errors caused by Miss Gibson's obvious nervousness.

The nightmare of the opening set over, however, Althea swallowed her heart and loosed some her overcautiousness. She began driving and serving as though the woman on the other side of the net was a playground guinea pig instead of one of the world's finest players.

Miss Gibson began shooting for aces on second serves as well as first, and slammed forehands with the abandon of a true master.

A surprisingly sympathetic crowd of 2,000—500 of whom lined the stadium roof after the grandstand seats were exhausted—lost hope when Miss Brough, following the intermission, ran through the first four games of the closing set.

Althea, tough, had not quit. She had apparently cooled off during the recess between the second and third sets.

Rallying from a 4-1 deficit, she closed to 5-5, then 6-6, and won her service to go ahead, 7-6, when the rains came.

After the match, Miss Brough admitted: "The rain was probably the only thing that saved me. Althea was playing magnificently and my game had all but completely collapsed."

Gibson sympathizers were disheartened by the break, for many feared that she had Miss Brough on the ropes and the overnight respite would do the more experienced Californian the greater good.

Triumphed in First Match

The first person ever to crash the gates of the National Women's Championships, the 19-year-old Miss Gibson won her first match of the tournament, Monday, in relatively easy fashion, defeating Miss Barbara Knapp of England in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

Only in the opening moments of the second set and in the waning stages of the match game did Miss Knapp show signs of rattling her.

Macs Top Stars In 2nd Round

To Meet Bisons for League Crown

The McCulloh Macs subdued the Senior Stars, 9-3, in a Sandlot Contest to capture the second round championship and the right to meet the Bisons for the Unlimited League Bowl.

The game, a four and one-half inning affair, called because of darkness, was a thriller.

N. Thomas hit a single, triple and home run out of three trips to the plate to lead the winners. Capt. Moulton, catcher, and W. Wilson, second baseman, secured two hits apiece to pace the losers.

The victory gave the Macs a record of six wins and no defeats in second round play.

The Macs will meet the Stars again Sunday on the P.S. 122 grounds for senior league honors, and then play the Bisons, Sunday, Sept. 10, for the Unlimited League championship.

Inter-City Baseball Tilt Set for Sunday, Sept. 10

Dennis Mello's Eastside Community Council team, which blasted its way to the City Unlimited baseball championship, trounicing Post Office, 10-3, in the Bureau of Recreation's finals will be gunning for another important honor on Sunday Sept. 10, when they engage the Washington Royals on Druid Hill Park, diamond No. 2 at 2:00 p.m. for the Baltimore-Washington Inter-City championship, the first annual Intercity play-off for which a trophy will be awarded annually.

The Royals posted an undefeated record in 14 games as they swept to the championship of the District of Columbia. Managed by Lester Pitts, the visitors are rated as one of the strongest Amateur Clubs in this area.

Harry Evans, ex-Armstrong high ace, is the standout pitcher for the D.C. Club which also boasts the league leading hitter, Mexico Stafford at .363. Bob Gilbert of the Royals lead the Washington League in home runs with nine and Terry Sullivan, flashy first baseman is rated the best in the District Area.

Have Impressive Record

The Eastsiders have taken 11 out of 12 games in Monumental League play this season and will be anxious to test their tremendous hitting power led by Swailes and Burnside and the nifty pitching of Fisher and the Brown brothers against the invaders.

Diamond followers will have the choice opportunity of the year to compare the brand of baseball played by the standouts of the two cities.

Next Week's Schedule

Games for Crown Loom in Rec. Softball League

forged their way into first place by upending the previously undefeated Crown Cork and Seal, 7-4, last Sunday in the Bureau of Recreation's tight Industrial and Trade School Softball League competition.

Later this week, New York Technical forfeited to Peyton Gray's rampaging Bombers to give them a second round record of six wins and one loss.

The Bombers will face the winner of the Crown Cork and Seal-Building Trade School contest, to be played Saturday, in a play-off game for the second round championship on Sunday, Sept. 3, at 11:00 a.m. on Druid Hill Bowl, diamond No. 1.

Watchmakers Eliminated

Archie Hicherson's Building Trade Schoolers eliminated Morgan Watchmaking School from title consideration by turning back the Watchmakers, 8-5, last Thursday at Druid Hill Bowl No. 122 Playground. This Saturday at 6:00 p.m. at Druid Hill Bowl No. 1, the defending champions will face a smarting Crown, Cork and Seal.

Building Trade, winner of the first round title, is assured a place in the playoff for the league championship, but can avoid a play-off by beating Crown Cork on Saturday and the AFRO Bombers on Sunday.

The Finos advanced to the West Baltimore Club League playoff finals with a hard fought, 4-2, edge over South Baltimore's Toppers, earning the right to meet Mohawks for the league championship on Sunday, Sept. 3, 2:00 p.m. at Public School No. 122.

Trotters, Sportsmen Poised

The Cherry Hill Trotters, winner in the Independent Club League, and Sam's Sportsmen, champions of the East Baltimore League, are awaiting the city championships slated to begin Sunday, Sept. 10.

The Northwestern Police Boys Club and Jr. Red Dogs each took a game in their best two out of three play-off series for the Cross-City Intermediate softball championship. Elmer Diggs Jr. Red Dogs beat the Club Jets slaughtered, 17-16, last Friday and Officer Walter Lewis' Clubbers blasted the Jr. Red Dogs, 17-12, on Tuesday to tie up the series.

The final game in the series is slated for Friday (today), 8:00 p.m. on Druid Hill Bowl, diamond No. 2. The winner will face the Crisco Tigers, champion of the Mid-City League, in a best two out of three series for the City Intermediate championship on Wednesday, Sept. 6, at Druid Hill Park, at 6:00 p.m., and on Friday, Sept. 8, at Swann Park No. 2, at 6:00 p.m. A third game, if necessary will be played Monday, Sept. 11, at Druid Hill Park.

Baby Asphyxiated Lying on Couch

WASHINGTON

A certificate of accidental death by asphyxiation was issued in the death of 2-month-old Frederick Joshua Wednesday morning.

The infant was found unconscious on a couch in the 200 block of 1 St., S.W., on Tuesday.

The child's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Joshua, told police that she had fed the baby and left it lying on its back. When she came back a short time later she found blood running from Frederick's mouth and nose. Mrs. Joshua said she got excited and ran around the corner to a friend's home where she called an ambulance immediately.

Frederick was pronounced dead en route to Providence Hospital. The accidental death certificate was not issued immediately pending results of the investigation.

Marv Williams Signed

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—The Sacramento Solons last week announced they have signed Marvin Williams, 27-year-old second baseman. He will be the first colored to play for the local Pacific Coast League club.
