LOCAL MATTERS

A Correction.—We inadvertently stated in our last issue that the sale of the Charles W. Copper property last week included the cement block dwelling and store occupied by Messrs. Hadaway Bros., as a meat market and dwellings on Kent street. It should have read the slaughter house and dwellings on Cross street. The property occupied by the Hadaway Bros. belongs to Mr. Ralph W. Barnett and is a valuable property.

SOCIAL WORLD.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland W. Huston, of Seaford, Del., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Lillian Strong, on Queen street.

Mrs. Rudolph Stam, of Baltimore, is the guest of Mrs. Annie H. Stam, on Princess street.

Mr. James H. Brice has moved his furniture and household goods to Chestertown and will occupy the residence on Washington avenue, now occupied by Mr. Charles Baxter and family. Mr. Baxter, we understand, will remove to Queen Annes near Chester bridge, on one of the Kent County Land Company's properties adjoining the property of Mr. James T. Anthony.

Mr. John Jester, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Jester, who had been in a Baltimore hospital for special treatment to one of his hands, returned home on Tuesday and is getting along very nicely. Mr. Jester underwent several operations while at the hospital. He will return to the hospital in about two weeks for an examination by Dr. Chambers. Meanwhile Dr. Frank B. Hines will give medical attention.

Miss Daisy Williams and Dr. Willse of Baltimore, were guests last week of Miss Bessie Brice, Chestertown.

Mr. J. B. McIntire is visiting relatives and friends in Baltimore.

Mrs. John Lindsey and children, of Media, Pa., returned home Friday from a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bacon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Masten and little daughter, of Harrington, Del., are guests of her mother on High street.

Mrs. Rumsey Anthony and little daughter, are spending a few days with Mrs. Anthony's parents in Delaware.

Misses Fannie and Elizabeth Stewart spent the week-end with friends in Baltimore.

Mr. Max Cohen, proprietor of the Globe Clothing Co., was operated on in Philadelphia last week for stomach trouble. At this writing he is improving steadily and hopes to be back next week.

A Favor.—The firm of H. F. Jefferson & Bro., have very generously allowed us the use of their three column space this week on account of a rush of new advertisements and important reading matter which could not be omitted. This is not only one of the best business firms in the county, doing a splendid business because of a store full of splendid goods, but they are co-operative in their relations and they never hesitate to do the TRANSCRIPT a favor when it is asked. We delight to assist such advertisers as H. F. Jefferson & Bro.

No Occasion For Alarm. — County Health Officer, Dr. George Jones, advises us to state that there is no occasion for alarm about the cases of diphtheria in Quaker Neck. Dr. Jones states that the attending physicians, Dr. H. Benge Simmons and Dr. Charles W. Whaland, have the cases under strict surveillances, and that the houses where the cases are, have been thoroughly fumigated. Dr. Jones made an inspection of the places on Thursday and he states that everything possible has been done to control the disease and that there is no occasion for alarm.

Violating Cull Law.—The Baltimore American is responsible for the statement that unless there is a more rigid enforcement of the oyster cull law, Maryland stands a good chance of losing the oyster industry. Never before, it is stated, has there been such an utter disregard of the law. The display of farm ..., fruits, flowers and honey was ... larger this year than ever, and ... est in these meetings is increasing from year to year. Instructive addresses, discussions, entertainments for the visitors by the Baltimore Board of Trade judging exhibits and awarding prizes made up a full week's program, and the farmers were delighted with what they saw and learned. Kent nor Queen Annes "got in" on the corn prizes, but Josiah Massey, one of the Rick Neck Farmers' Club's most successful farmers, carried off first prize ($5) for wheat. Corn prizes went to Talbot, Harford and Western Shore counties. The Rich Neck Farmers' Club won the prize of $100 for the most attractive booth at the show. Hurrah! for Rich Neck.

High School Basket Ball Team Wins.

By displaying better team work and all around playing and more aggressiveness than their opponents, the Chestertown High School basket ball team defeated a team from Washington College calling themselves the Independents, Saturday afternoon, by the score of 19 to 17. The line-up was as follows:

THE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Mr. Frank H. Howard is painting the home of Mr. John C. Davis on High street in attractive colors.

The Chestertown D. of A. were entertained at an anniversary supper by the Rock Hall D. of A. on Thursday night.

Dr. C. E. Graham chloroformed Mr. Harry R. Graham's big wagon horse this week on account of an incurable ailment.

The fine Indian Summer weather of the week has enabled the farmers to finish their fall work preparatory to the winter.

There is a rumor that the State Road Commission will replace the present Chester bridge with a fine concrete bridge in the near future.

The following are having new phones installed in their homes: N. B. Ashly, Rock Hall; Edgar Culley, Gratitude; Wilbert Kendall and Albert Lewis, near Fairlee.

Wild-ducks have been plentiful in Chester river during the week, and gunners have had good luck. A party killed large number off Skipper's Point on Monday morning.

The 115-acre Maxwell farm, near Warwick, has been bought by Mr. George Satterfield, the well-known horse trainer and breeder, of St. George's, Del., for $5500.

Bolgiano, Maryland weather prophet, predicts a severe cold spell and snow storm between November 22 and 27. Doesn't it make you shiver in this beautiful Indian Summer weather to think of such a thing.

Messrs. Stavely & Bowers, the hustling Lynch contractors and builders, are erecting commodious outbuildings on the Raymond Bonwell farm near Locust Grove, to replace those recently destroyed by fire.

Mr. Herbert Skipper is improving his property in Queen Anne County, near the bridge, by putting in concrete posts instead of the old wooden ones. This is quite a novelty in this section, being the only ones we have seen.

Mr. J. D. Bacchus had a bad fall at his office on Wednesday, sustaining a bruised nose a severe shaking-up. Mr. Bacchus was standing on a bundle of papers reaching for something in his office, when the bundle slipped from under him, causing him to fall.

Dr. Frank Smith's automobile turned turtle on the bay shore road last Saturday afternoon. The doctor was not injured, though the car was badly damaged. The going was mighty slippery for autos on Saturday on account of the rain, but fortunately there were no other accidents.

Former Sheriff, Wm. C. Money, of Townsend, had a narrow escape from being killed on Monday evening. He was assisting a fallen horse out of a ditch, when the animal kicked Mr. Money over his right eye. He was rendered unconscious for a time.

Mr. Benjamin Rust, section foreman on the local railroad, has had a bad right hand as a result of striking it against something and knocking off the skin. A bad boil set in upon that, causing him much pain. Bad and painful though it was, it did not prevent Captain Ben from going out Friday and killing eight rabbits out of nine shots.

Reports from the large cities state that the supply of cold storage eggs is much shorter this year than last and that the high price of eggs may continue until the spring months. It should be remembered that eggs are no higher
