Klan Burns Cross, Smashes Glass in Pa. Capital

Medic Ignores Fiery Warning

HARRISBURG— Evidences that the Ku Klux Klan is on the march in Pennsylvania were buried last week when the familiar house being built here by Dr. Richard A. Brown.

Ironically, the cross burning took place within a stone's throw of Pennsylvania's capitol.

The cross, 4 feet high and 3 feet wide, was burned on a mound of dirt thrown up in front of the beautiful one-story, ranch-type dwelling being built on the corner of 16th and Verbeke St.

Windows in the front of the beautiful and smartly appointed house were also shattered by the hoodlums.

Officials Shrug Off Outrage

Local officials were quick to charge the incident off as child's play.

However Dr. Brown in a statement to the AFRO admitted that whites in the "exclusive" neighborhood had openly voiced concern, when construction work began several weeks ago, over the coming of a colored resident into the community.

Harrisburg is known for its ghetto housing districts in which over 90% of the city's colored population has lived for years.

According to reports, Dr. Brown is actually the first colored person in recent years to build outside of the section set aside in the capital city for "his" people.

Officials Strangely Mute

Several conscious-stricken citizens have telephoned Dr. Brown expressing chagrin over the terror tactics. It is significantly noted that not one major city official had made any formal comment or call.

A request for a statement from Governor Duff on the matter was not forthcoming, nor had any other State official commented.

The Browns expect to move into their new home around Nov. 1. Concern is being expressed by many as to what may happen on this date.

Medic School Board Member

Dr. Brown has been a practicing physician in Harrisburg for eight years. He formerly practiced in York. He is active in community affairs and serves on the City School Board.

The physician is a graduate of Lincoln University and the Howard University Medical School. His wife, Mrs. Grace Binford Brown, is a graduate of Fisk University. They have two children, Barbara, 5, and Patricia, 4.

Investigation Promised

The cross was described by Fire Chief Earl Swartz, at the scene of the blaze, as being about 4 feet high and 3 feet wide. It was of light lumber, with fabric material wrapped around the arms. Firemen from the Shamrock Company

Policy Chief Oscar L. Blough said an immediate investigation will be conducted over the burning of the cross and the vandalism of the property.

The blaze was extinguished the alarm.

Meanwhile, that handsome house were also shattered by the hoodlums.

2 Suspects Held in Hold-up Try

Minutes after a husband was pounced upon by five thugs, as his wife stood helplessly by, a Northwestern District patrolman answering the distress call captured a 21-year-old suspect.

A second man, allegedly fleeing with a pistol in his hand, was disarmed by another officer walking his beat, who elected to grapple with the gun wielder rather than to shoot him.

Police report that Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gibbs of 705 Druid Hill Ave, were attacked as they walked down the street, Sunday.

Police said the members of the gang knocked Mr. Gibbs to the ground and attempted to rob him, while holding Mrs. Gibbs at bay.

One Suspect Overtaken

Officer Isadore Glass testified in Northwestern police court, Tuesday evening, that the gang members fled as he approached, but that he managed to run down Samuel McCray of the 600 block Mulberry St.

Patrolman Stanley Jastrzemski reported that one of the thugs, whom he identified as Henry Dawson of the 900 block W. Lexington St., ran toward him with a gun in his hand and threatened to shoot if the policeman did not let him pass.

Officer Jastrzemski stated that he quickly grappled with Dawson, disarming him.

$6,500 Total Bail Set

After the Gibbses identified the two, Magistrate Thomas L. Fitzpatrick held Dawson under total bail of $4,000 on charges of pointing a gun at and attempting to rob Mr. Gibbs, attempting to shoot Officer Jastrzemski and carrying a deadly weapon.

Bail was set at $2,500 for McCray, who is also accused of attempting to rob Mr. Gibbs. Both cases were sent to the grand jury.

Beauty Shop Gets Face Lifted

This car driven by Nathaniel Williams, 31, of 1523 Stricker St., came to rest in a basement beauty parlor at 1530 Baker St., when Williams turned left from Gilmor St., Thursday night, and apparently lost control. William Blackwell, owner of the building and his son, Robert, look on as firemen survey damage of the beauty parlor patrons, Mrs. Florence Bussey of the 2000 block Pennsylvania Ave., was treated for shock at Provident Hospital. Also treated at hospital was five-year-old Edna Mae Lee of 232 N. Dallas Ct., who received head injuries from falling plaster.

'Let Stet Speak Committee' Asks Funds for Kennedy in Florida

Equal Rights Candidate for U.S. Senate Threatened by Klan, Demands Radio Time

JACKSONVILLE

Will Florida permit Stetson Kennedy to campaign for the U.S. Senate?

Anywhere else in the nation outside of the 17 Southern States any American can run for public office, especially if he is a Citizen of the United States and of the state in which he resides, is not too old, and counts himself a loyal defender of the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Kennedy is such a citizen, and in New York, New Jersey, Illinois, or Maryland he could campaign peacefully for the senatorship, but in Florida, it is a different matter.

Must Sign Segregation Pledge

Quite recently the Sunshine State has passed a law which "requires all Communists and subversives to register and get out of town in 48 hours."

Mr. Kennedy is not a Communist, but the new state loyalty oath requires all State employees, even public school teachers, to endorse the segregation laws of Florida. So far 1 teachers at Florida A. and M. College have signed this "loyal ty oath."

It is possible that the Florida police may consider Kennedy as subversive because he is campaigning openly in the newspapers and on the air for the equality of all citizens.

Was Accepted—Until

He was welcomed as a political candidate in the State until he said that he thought colored people and white people ought to be treated alike and jim-crow laws should be repealed.

The Ku Klux Klan stand attended his public meetings with bodyguards, and when they came, Kennedy had some colored veterans surround them and then pointed out the wizard to the audience present.

Later, he had to move his wife from their country home into Jacksonville for safety.

Let Him Broadcast, FCC Says

He has been denied the use of the radio although it has been given to the other candidates. Last week Mr. Kennedy got a ruling from the Federal Communications Commission to the effect that if radio time is given to or purchased by any other candidate then similar time must be given to him.

Last week he went to New York to talk to friends about his candidacy and he returned by way of Philadelphia and Baltimore, stopping off to see friends in both places.

Mr. Kennedy says, "I am not a Democrat nor a Republican. I am a write-in candidate for the U.S. Senate. My Democrat opponent is a lily-white, and my Republican opponent is a do-nothing.

Making Path Easier

"Whether I am elected or not, it will be easier for any candidate in Florida hereafter to say his piece on race equality because I have said so first.

"Even a friend of the colored people like Senator Pepper hedged on the subject when the lily-white got behind him.

"When his opponent, Rep. George Smathers, asked about his support of FEPC, Pepper took the lily white line too on the mater and 200,000 colored voters in Florida lost their enthusiasm for him. So Pepper lost.

"My candidacy ought to determine how many of the 200,000 voters in Florida are willing to vote for a person who stands up for them.

What AFRO-Readers Can Do

"There are two things the readers of the AFRO can do. They can support my campaign by sending dollar bills to P.O. Box 1176, Jacksonville, Fla., addressed to the 'Let Stet Speak Committee.'

"No sum is too little to help push this campaign. As long as I am permitted to speak I am going to buy radio time and continue to talk about the need of racial equality in Florida.

"Second, AFRO readers who have friends in Florida should write them rallying attention to my campaign, and ask them to vote for me."

Author of 'Jim Crow Guide'

Mr. Kennedy is well-known by his series of articles, "Jim Crow Guide to U.S.A.," which appeared in the AFRO.

He has prepared a new book for publication which he calls "The Birth of Damnation."

It is a reply to the "Birth of a Nation" film and deals with the Reconstruction Period.

It is based on the 1 volumes of testimony given before a Congressional committee during the Reconstruction Period.

Members of Congress went to Florida and listened to the story of the ex-slaves and the poor whites and the so-called carpet-baggers from the North who had been terrorized by the Ku Klux Klan and the former rebel slaveholders.

Shows Little Change

Mr. Kennedy took stories from this testimony, stories which he says indicate that the problems which the poor people had at that time are the same as those of the humble people in Florida today.

They still vote under some handicaps, they are provided with inferior public education, discouraged from serving on juries, fail to get justice in the courts and are barred from public jobs to which they are entitled.

Girl Killed, 6 Hurt in Truck Accident

RICHMOND

A 14-year-old girl is dead and six other Sunday school children were injured, one of whom may lose a leg, as the result of an unscheduled joy ride in a truck on Labor Day after being offered a ride by Bonnie K. Wilkins, 28, of 1730 W. Leigh St.

The dead child, Mildred C. Johnson, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Johnson of 1604 Brook Rd. She was killed instantly when the vehicle turned over three times after leaving the highway about 7 miles north of Ashland on Washington Highway.

The injured children are:

Jean Shaw, 11, of 1415 Webster St., leg and arm injuries which may necessitate amputation of one leg;

Lucille Johnson, 11, of 1604 Brook Rd., sister of the dead girl, head injuries;

Verna Langley, 11, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Ardell Langley of 1503 Brook Rd., badly lacerated leg, 16 stitches being required to close the major wound;

Herbert Johnson, 9, brother of the dead child, cuts and bruises of the right arm;

Thomas Taylor, 14, of 1606 Brook Rd., minor cuts and bruises;

Ernest Christian, 14, of 1005 Oak St., crushed fingers and bruises of the hands.

Lucille Johnson, Jean Shaw, Verna Langley and Ernest Christian were admitted to St. Philip Hospital but the others were treated and released.

The children had gone on a picnic with the Brook Road Baptist Church Sunday school to a spot in Byrd Park. Mrs. Nina Langley of Apt. 3, 1503 Brook Rd., told the AFRO, when a relative of one of children coaxed them into going for a ride in his truck.

They boarded the truck, Mrs. Langley, mother of one of the injured girls said, thinking they were to take a short ride around town, but before they realized the distance they were near Ashland, 16 miles distant, and still traveling.

Information pieced together by the AFRO indicated that the accident took place when the driver of the truck sought to turn off Route 1 into Route 602, a secondary road, the vehicle swerving out of control, turning over three times and landing in a ditch.

Name of the driver, who suffered only superficial injuries, was not known here until late Tuesday evening when State Trooper O. R. Price informed the AFRO that Wilkinson, janitor for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, had been arrested in connection with the accident.

Wilkinson, he said, had been booked on charges of careless and reckless driving, resulting in an accident, and with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of the Richmond girl.

Dental School Saves Day for Vet Trainees

WASHINGTON

A splendid example of how student-veteran training in a public school system is being effectively guided by institutions of high professional standards and recognized technical standing has been revealed.

The Veterans' Training Division of the Pittsburgh Board of Education posed a troublesome problem to Julius Kerpel, director of the Kerpel School of Dental Technology.

The closing of the Franklin School of Pittsburgh threatened to deprive many students taking the dental technology course of their chosen means of livelihood through training and subsistence under the GI Bill of Rights.

Offered Consultive Service

How could their education be continued and improved to help them achieve full basic training for their future employment? That was the problem.

Mr. Kerpel in offering his services in a consultive capacity placed at the disposal of the Pittsburgh Board of Education, the entire facilities of all three Kerpel Schools in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Technical advice was given freely and a new curriculum set up. Trained technicians to serve as instructors were sent to Pittsburgh.

Dr. Clair Bunting, representing the Dental School of the University of Pittsburgh, was employed as a full-time consultant. Thus, every possible assistance was furnished to keep the students of the defunct school in continued training.

On Long-Range Basis

The project was planned on a long-range basis. Mr. Kerpel has made regular monthly visits to check up on the program and see that it continued to function efficiently.

Today, Dr. Harry A. Snyder, director of the Veterans' Training Program of the Pittsburgh public schools, acknowledged that the administrative staff of the Kerpel School of Dental Technology has been extremely helpful during the organization period.

He stated that he had received a letter from a high veterans administrative official who said, "I think you have received guidance from officials of one of the best operated schools of its type in this part of the country."

As a result of this wholehearted co-operative venture, the Veterans' Administration has protected its original investment in competent training of student-veterans throughout the Pittsburgh area.

Adventists Retain Slate of Officers

POTTSTOWN, Pa. (ANP)—Record crowds attended the annual camp-meeting of the Allegheny Conference of the Seventh Day Adventists church, which met in Manatawny Valley here last week.

The delegates approved the nominating committee's slate, returning the entire officer personnel to its post for another year. The re-election of officers gives President J. H. Wagner, his fourth term.

Other features of the meeting were reports that financial gain, capital improvement and increased results in evangelism had been made during the past year.

Pine Forge institute was approved as a secondary school by the Pennsylvania department of education and also was accredited by the educational department of the Adventists general conference.

A souvenir edition of the Pittstown Mercury was published which highlighted the general features of the meeting.

Faces Drunken Driving Charge

Nathaniel Williams of 1532 Stricker St., sits in police care, smoking cigarett and holding sweat-drenched handkerchief; after police charged him with driving under the influence of liquor or drugs, driving recklessly and without a license. The car he was driving paid an unexpected visit to a beauty parlor in the 1500 block of Baker St., Thursday night, injuring a patron and a five-year-old child.

Man, Out on Bond, Killed by Victim

RICHMOND

Felled on Aug. 28 by a blast from a shotgun held by a man he had beaten in a dice game, Leroy, Charles Butler, 31, of 1846 Botetourt St., died the next afternoon in St. Philip Hospital as the result of his wounds.

Clarence W. Williams, 55, native of South Carolina, accused of shooting Butler fatally with a 12-gauge shotgun, was booked on a murder count by police following the man's death and was sent on to the October term of Hustings Court, grand jury following a hearing in police court Aug. 31.

According to detectives who investigated the shooting, Williams, who lives at 2055 Burton St., has been kicked and beaten in unconsciousness by Butler on Aug. 24, being struck on the head with a brick and kicked into insensibility.

Williams had had Butler arrested for beating him and the case was tried in police court that morning prior to the fatal shooting. Butler was fined $25 and given a 3-month jail term by Justice Jewett, but noted an appeal and was released on bond.

About 5:45 p.m. the same day, the detectives quoted Williams as saying, Butler came to his (Williams's) house and the shooting climaxed the argument between the two men. Butler was shot fatally as he stood at Williams's door.

Butler's relatives, it is learned, have employed Lynwood E. Smith, attorney, to serve as special assistant to Commonwealth's Attorney T. Gray Hadden in the prosecution of the charges against Williams when the case comes up in Hustings Court.

Funeral services for Butler were held Sunday afternoon at St. Paul Baptist Church, the Rev. J. A. Mosby officiating. Carter Brothers, funeral directors. Survivors include his father, five aunts, five uncles and other relatives. Interment was in Woodland.

Civic Leader Seriously Ill

PHILADELPHIA

Stricken two days after her return from an extended West Coast vacation trip, Mrs. Sadie T. M. Alexander, wife of Raymond Pace Alexander, attorney, and a well-known lawyer herself, is seriously ill in the Jefferson Hospital.

First national president of Delta Sigma Theta sorority, she was honored at its recent national conclave in Berkeley. She and her daughters, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth and Rae Pace Alexander, had continued on other tour of Mexico and convention.

Her husband, meanwhile, had flown to London and into Germany to speak on the anniversary program of the Army of Occupation. Notified of Mrs. Alexander's illness, however, he arranged immediate passage home.

A member of President Truman's famous Civil Rights Commission, Mrs. Alexander is nationally known for her participation in political, civic, and fraternal affairs.

For many years the only colored woman attorney in Philadelphia, Mrs. Alexander was the first colored woman graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and earned her Ph.D. there.

2 Governors Dead in Ethiopian Riots

CAIRO, Egypt (ANP)—Two governors have been killed in the Ethiopian revolt, according to reports leaking out of that nation this week. Tight censorship has held held down the volume of news coming out of the revolt-ridden nation.

Identified only as wealthy landowners. Their throats were slashed.

Causes for the revolution are said to be the high taxes and the rule of Emperor Haile Selassie. Peasants are reported to be dissatisfied with what they consider inadequate health and educational facilities.

Included among the revolting provinces is Gojjam, the largest in the kingdom, it has a population of more than 1,000,000 people.

Set Martinsville 7 Mass Meetings

RICHMOND

Simultaneous mass meetings in all sections of the city will be held at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in churches in the various areas in behalf of the Martinsville Seven, now in the death house at State penitentiary.

Announcement of the district meetings was made Monday by Dr. J. M. Tinsley, president of the local branch of the NAACP. The meetings, designed to raise funds for the men's defense, will feature parents or other relatives of the doomed men as guest speakers.

Further purpose of the mass meetings, Dr. Tinsley said, is to acquaint the public with the background and history of the case and that of the men involved. The seven men were sentenced to death in the electric chair for criminally attacking a Martinsville white woman in Jan., 1949.

The meetings are scheduled to be held at the same hour in the following areas:

West End — Riverview Baptist Chruch, 1515 Jaquelin St., John T. Drew and Henry W. McDougald, co-chairmen.

East End — Thirty-first Street Baptist Church, 823 N. 31st St., the Rev. I. H. Hines, pastor of the church, chairman.

South Richmond—Second Baptist Church, 107 E. Pilkington Ave., Kirk Cooke, chairman.
